Training class graduates will be asked to give a minimum of one full work day per week at chapter house headquarters, 1200 South Vermont Avenue, Mrs. Longueil stated. Duties will include the verification of requests for emergency furloughs and obtaining material for filing reports on conditions at home sought by men in the armed forces.

Women who have at least two years of college training, or its equivalent program, are asked to call FItzroy 5261, Ext. 124.

Letter to the Churches

Madonna House, Cumbermere, Ontario.

Dear Friends in Christ:

Five hundred children—that is the number of children we want to gladden this coming Christmas. Those of Cumbermere and near-by places. Last year we had a wonderful Christmas for 100. Others were left out. It would be wonderful if each of you could "adopt" one child, or more, for this year. Ages range from 6 months to 18 years. Just select your favorite age and sex and send us your parcel, marking the age and sex, and sign your name and address. (Kids love to thank folks.) A toy, maybe a piece of wearing apparel, candies. God bless you.

In His infinite charity,
Catherine Doherty.

Plans Fall Agenda

The Main Street P.T.A. met recently in a mid-summer session to discuss and map out plans for the coming school year. Mrs. Otrie Taylor, newly-elected president, chaired the meeting.

The theme, "Planning Together, Building Together, To Face Tomorrow's Complex World," was chosen as an appropriate one to describe their future endeavors.

Several board members who have been vacationing were welcomed back, namely: Mrs. Esther Shultz, who has been in North Platt, Nebraska; Mrs. Ophelia Beckwith, Cleveland; Mrs. Ann White, Yosemite Park; Mrs. Bertha Stein, several points east; and Mrs. Frances Hoxie, La Jolla, California.

The next meeting is slated for the middle of September.

Red Cross Center Watts Addition

Permission to use the Watts Youth Recreation Center at 10123 Beach Street—during the war years the local USO club—as a headquarters for Red Cross home nursing classes was announced recently by Mrs. Lloyd Aldrich, chairman of the home nursing committee for Los Angeles chapter.

The building was made available to Red Cross through the courtesy of the Los Angeles City Recreation Department, Mrs. Aldrich said.

The initial Red Cross home nursing class to be conducted in its new quarters gets underway Friday afternoon, August 6, when a standard course, combining "Mother and Baby Care and Family Health" and "Care of the Sick," is slated.

The class will meet every Friday afternoon from 1:30 to 3:30 o'clock.

This particular course is being sponsored by the Los Angeles City Health Department and Dr. Robert Koltz, Watts District health officer, has urged "every mother in this area and every prospective mother to take advantage of these Red Cross courses."

Red Cross nursing certificates will be awarded all who complete the instruction. There are no class examinations and there is no charge for the course, it was pointed out.

Registered Nurse Lois Peterson, member of the Los Angeles Red Cross teaching staff, will serve as the instructor. Women desiring to enroll in the August 6th class may do so by phoning JEfferson 1931, or Red Cross chapter headquarters, FItzroy 5261, Ext. 68.

Swimming for First Again

A total of 6,259 Red Cross beginners' certificates this summer were presented to boys and girls and men and women, who last June "couldn't swim a stroke."

Last year, it was reported, metropolitan Los Angeles rated first in the nation in the number of swimming certificates granted, based on the available facilities for conducting free instructional classes.

"When all the results are tabulated across the nation, we hope that this area again will hold a top place in the 'learn to swim' ratings," Plaisted and Nichols declared.

Service Men's Group Plan Benefit for Community Aid

While the Club "34" is rated among the newer Service clubs of this city, the dramatic circumstances under which the club was formed have a compelling appeal for fair minded people whose interest is aroused by efforts to combat bigotry and prejudice. The club takes its name from the 34th Div. of the Seabees and was organized on Hawaii in the South Pacific. Many of the men of the Division were humiliated by the unfavorable conditions under which Negroes endured in their native land of their country and determined to work for a better life for Negro Youth. This determination was translated into a tangible tool for service when Club "34" was organized in Los Angeles in 1947. The club's sole purpose is to work for Community betterment and a wider opportunity for Negro Youth. On Friday November the 12th Club "34" will present Lorenza Jordan-Cole in a piano recital. Aside from being America's ranking Negro Pianist, Miss Cole has maintained a long and sustained interest in the Youth of this city and has been cited for meritorious service rendered to this community in the field of music. The concert will be held in the Embassy Auditorium.

Lionel Hampton Will Appear at Avodon Ballroom-Big Dance and Show Tonite

GERTRUDE GIPSON

THE INSIDE JOTTIN'S FROM A NEWSGIRL'S DIARY: Dear Diary! Why is it that these folks who deserve the largest orchids rarely ever receive them? Just left Andre's" Holly'-d Star Modeling School, where he so generously has donated several of his models in another of his wonderful fashion shows and "all for free" too. . . . Enjoyed the wonderful party thrown the other nite for the King of the Vibes Hamp given by Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter along with their other associates, really put on a party, with many of Lionel's friends and members of the press present . . . Funny how folks when first starting out in anything will go ALL out of their way to make an impression, usually works too, then they build up their friends, business, etc., and they no longer need anything, they are capitalizing on their "connections." We received two letters today dealing with this sort of stuff, both men are doing well, one in radio business, the other a professional man. They don't realize how important that "mouth to mouth" talk can be. There are so many others that can gain the spotlight, fellas, so be careful how you treat folks, be careful how you talk to them, 'cause there are some who remember when you first came here and also when you received that job you now have . . . it always holds true. "You'd better be careful how you treat folks on your way up, 'cause you're bound to meet those same folks on your way down" . . . There's no argument about it at all, the Melody Club has the most entertaining show in town (or mebbe I jus think so), but with such artists as the Trenier Twins, Mabel Scott, Jimmie Witherspoon, and Ray Wheaton as M.C., plus the swingational combo of Gene Bilbeaux, who could ask for anything more? . . . You haven't heard anything at all, until you hear the Trenier's version of "Good Rockin'" tonight. . . . and it's nothin' as good as "Elevator Boogie" with La Scott on hand to give it the works . . . Heywood Jones tells me he's the man in charge of everything at "The Barn." He still says he's got the best Mexican food in town . . . Jimmie Witherspoon, who'll open with Cornshucks out at Billy Berg's, has a new recording, "Juice Head Baby," that's a wiger . . . Talkin' about parties, and a surprise one at that! . . . Walter Pier gave his attractive wife, Izola, a surprise birthday party that was one for the books; all kinds of food, drinks and EVERYTHING . . . Even had PINK champagne flowing like water!! . . .

NOTES, NEWS AND NONSENSE . . .

Pal Jacquie Vasquero, now in Guam, oh, so salty because he had to leave Honolulu and one of those cute Hulu Honeys . . . Now when Halloween comes, don't say I haven't been reminding you of "Flossie's" wedding at the Elks. You've never seen anything like it any place . . . Jack Marshall, still the handsomest bachelor in town (and he knows it too, ha, ha) . . . Wild about Nat's new tune, "I Got a Way With Women But Somebody Got Away With Me" . . . By the time of this print that Pepsodent girl, "Irma Rameriez" and hubby Nick will be deep in the heart of Texas . . . Lil Randolph, who's started back to work in full swing again, now appearing at Larry Potter's Supper Club, followed by the Redcaps, and then Lil will return for another indefinite engagement there . . . Marie Bryant, the Hip Hurler, being mobbed by admirers as she emerges from the Last Word, where she's laying 'em in the isle with her terrific torso twisting. Do I hear someone say "In that case you must think she's the greatest torso twister in the nite club circuit?" The answer is a blunt "You saddit!" . . . Les Dames social and charity have completed plans for their "Story Book Ball" at the Club Congo, Nov. 6th . . . Members of the club will depict the various story book characters with your's truly as "Little Red Riding Hood" . . . (only everything is gonna be in the swing and modern version) and in a case like that I know the fella who'd make a swelluva WOLF!! . . . Janet Reese birthday'd Sat. last. Hubby Lloyd presented her with one of those wonderful "Kirbys" . . . Harry Lather is grounded temporarily at his westside apt from a rundown condish (and at his age, too) . . . Also birthdaying in a gay way, attractive Betty Jones, whose hubby presented her with one of those new record recorders . . . When you hear the "Lovin' of Percy Morgan real soon now, a newcomer to these parts, don't say that I didn't tellya the fella is sing-sational . . . Angelle Stratton, pretty spouse of Dr. Ed. Stratton, entertained the other even'g with one of those wild creole gumbo dinners . . . food was fit for a king . . . Dr. Lincoln Shumate's newest cutie is a lovely who answers to the name of "Ada" . . . Sunday afternoon all find most folks at The Tailsman Girls' Benefit Tea at the Club Congo for the benefit of Laura Slayton Youth Foundation . . . Promises to be an afternoon of right solid entertainment . . . SUDDEN THAWT: I'm most inclined to agree with Alice Bernstein when she says "The trouble with men is they think that every girl in the world is here in order to listen to their opinions on every subject" . . . Kenny Washington back from the Big Star and enjoying one of those Johnson Baths . . . Lucky-Milton band still doing one-nighters in the southern apples, will soon move into one of "the apples" theaters for a two-week engagement . . . The band of Diz Gillespie on return to the coast in a couple months where they are signed to do a flicker, has something to do with Be-Bop (natch) . . . The famed Nicholas Bros., who have been entertaining in London and other states abroad, are expected home around the first of the month . . . All of the Angel City dress-conscious folks rate Dr. J. W. Johnson as the best dressed man in town . . . Jacquelin DeLavalade decided to add a little color on the other side of town and has now taken up residence on Virginia Road, ahem!!! . . . An Aside to Harry G.: "If you can't stand solitude, maybe you bore others too" . . . Well, it's about that time again, which reminds us to tell you that next week you're having as a guest columnist "Duke Williams," the fella that did such wonderful acting in "Anna Lucasta," and now working in "As the Twig Is Bent." You won't wanta miss it, 'cause he's got some awful good news for ya . . . J. T. Gipson will M.C. the Talisman Girls' Social Club "Stars On Parade" show Sunday afternoon at the Congo club. An afternoon cabaret Party with the net proceeds going to the Laura Slayton Youth Foundation fund. His "side-kick," Joe Adams, will assist The Gip! . . . In closing, remember this thought: Illness isn't always Golden, sometimes it's just plain Yellow!

There'll be a hot time in the Avodon ballroom tonight! Lionel Hampton and his band and show will be on hand to make music and entertainment for five solid hours, with things getting under way promptly at nine.

Date of the dance is tonight, Thursday, Sept. 23. Place is Avadon ballroom, and if you don't know where the Avadon ballroom is then you have no b'sness attending a smart dance-arena such as the Avadon. But just in case you have no business attending a smart dance-arena such as the Avadon, but wanna go anyway, we'll peak in our little black book and stool-pigeon the location to you. It's 843 S. Spring st.

Trilly on an Iron Horse or grab a petrol heap, or get there the best way you can. But GET THERE! It'll be a date to remember. Lionel Hampton, Swing's Handy Man, will play and entertain you in his last ballroom appearance in California before leaving on his Eastern tour.

On hand also will be Red and Curley, Shorts Davis, Lurlean Harris and his entire show, featuring top acts.

It's tonight at the Avadon ballroom, for a real musical and entertainment treat!

Dave Hendricks In Elsinore

Dave Hendricks, popular California musician has moved to Elsinore where he is now operating apartments and cottages for tourists.

Mr. Hendricks, long rated one of California's top sax stars, will also inaugurate a series of weekly dances at a local hall featuring his own band, with Nat Jones on piano.

In his real estate enterprises, he is aided and assisted by his wife, Edith.

Be-Bop Blues Is Dedicated To The Theatrical Editor

Ralph Bass, who leads a top Be-Bop orchestra, has dedicated a Be-Bop blues tune to his friend, JT Gipson, Eagle Theatrical Editor. The tune will be called "Gip's Blues," and the idea came last week when Bass and his band appeared on Joe Adams' "Mayor Of Melody" show from the Ambassador hotel in Santa Monica. Adams played a song for Gip, recuperating at his home following a slight illness.

Adams, who broadcasts daily from 12 to 1 over station KOWL, asked Bass to dedicated his next band tune to Gipson, and Bass replied that he had a better idea.

"I've a new Be-Bop blues we're playing now, and it hasn't a title, so we'll just call it 'Gip's Blues' and record it under that name."

"Good," cut in Mr. Adams, "and Gipson will be cut in on the royalty from the record sales, and donate his share to charity."

"And now, kiddies," continues Mr. Adams, "will Mr. Gipson be pleased with the record dedication? Will Mr. Gipson donate his share of the record royalty to charity? Will Mr. Gipson—"

"Ah," cut in Gip to his pal Joey, drop DEAD!

Visitors To Visit Hollywood Studios

Mrs. Nathan Thatcher, wife of the popular Kansas City Mortician, and her daughter-in-law, Carmen, are California visitors, and house-guests of Florine Payne, 819 E. 32 St.

They have been extended many social courtesies, and were feted with a dinner party Tuesday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Nelson, Dunbar Hotel proprietors.

Eagle Theatrical JT Gipson will take them on a tour of the various Hollywood studios before they depart for Kansas City and home.

Nat Cole to Play Philadelphia Spot

Nat Cole will leave his honeymoon mansion to come east to play the Click restaurant the end of September. Two years ago exactly, Nat refused to perform at the Click (in Philadelphia, Pa.) because they chose to segregate their customers, and in some cases, not allow Negroes at all. After arguing the issue, Nat and the Trio went into a smaller club and a white 'name' band moved in instead. This time, there's an understanding in front that Nat's friends and many of his admirers will be seated as patrons—along with the rest of the crowd.

CABARET PARTY

The Talisman Girls social club will stage a cabaret party Sunday afternoon at the Congo club from 5 until 8 p.m. Stars of the entertainment world will be on hand. Funds will go to the Laura Slayton Youth Foundation.

Roland Jones Doing Good Managerial Job At Bill Robinson Theatre

The other night to get away from the noise of the various blasting swing outfits in the various smoke-filled nite spots, I waddled over to the Bill Robinson theatre on Central avenue with a little Deb to see a show with Alan Ladd. Oh, No! I don't mean Alan Ladd went with me to the show, I mean—you see, he was playing—oh, the hell with it.

Anyway, first person I ran into while trying to duck the guy on the door taking up tickets, was a tall, handsome, distinguished looking gentleman named Roland Jones. I've always wanted to do a story on Mr. Jones, but could never catch him when he wasn't busy. This night was no exception. He was as busy as a one-armed paperhanger with the hives!

Mr. Jones, for the benefit of the cute little kiddies in the second row, is the manager of the BR theatre, and has held that position for more than 11 years!

Since the information hasn't been tucked away in the New York Fair Times capsule for posterity, we may as well beat Ripley to it and tell you Jones is the fellow who suggested the changing of the name Tivoli to the Bill Robinson, in honor of the famed Negro dancer.

Under his management, the Bill Robinson has sailed to stratispheric heights. They boast of having the most comfortable loge theatre seats in town, and the little deb with me had no argument with the management on that question.

The show is well managed, and when you realize it is located in a block known as "Hell's Little Acre," one of the toughest block on Central avenue, and still is one of the few places you can take your mother, wife, sweetheart or friend without fear of being molested by some Schmell, you can tip your hat to Roland Jones and the Bill Robinson management. There's never a fight at the BR. And never any disturbance of any kind.

The BR recently changed hands, but retained their present manager, Roland Jones. New owners are Jack Chazen and Al Orlando. When the present owners arrived on the scene, they walked into a theatre well-managed by a well-mannered guy, Roland Jones.

That's why ever so often we take time out from many duties to give a serious big hand here to the Central avenue theatres, the Florence Mills, Bill Robinson and Lincoln shows for having Negro managers, especially in a Negro neighborhood.

They're all on the ball!

The XF-89 has a wing span of approximately 50 feet. It is approximately 50 feet long and 15 feet high. The design gross weight is over 30,000 pounds.

Patrolling The Bronzeville Beat: Champ Joe Louis is due here any day, apparently on urgent b'sness—but nobody knows what b'sness and he isn't telling. . . . The Wm. Anderson's (Kay Lyman) of the Pasadena social set have cancelled their divorce and are hey-ninety-ninety and hotcha-cha, again. . . . They say Clarissa Bell has the social coterie all a-twitter—over her romance with a commoner from Our Side of The Tracks. . . . Jean Lee's shrewd observation: "You find in other men what you expected to find in your husband!" . . . Ramona Locke's heart is reserved solely for a track star out at Los Angeles City College whose initials are Billy Mitchell. . . . Gloria Hemphill is studying Music at USC, when she isn't, dreaming out loud over a Douglass named Henry. . . . Finger Snap: Apollo was chasing a Nymph and she turned into a tree. Wotta lucky guy. Those I chase usually turn into a nightclub or restaurant! . . . Don't be fooled, we love flattery—and this just about knocked us out: Visitors to the Lake Shore Beach (Elsinore) are shown the table where JT Gipson wrote his col'm during his vacation. And with a hawker, yet, pointing out where we sat! . . . Marie Davis, whose shapely figure nudges your attention, is the newest singing star to come to town. Her style of chirping, like the new music, Be-Bop, is something you'll either love whole-heartedly or not at all. . . . They're saying Jimmie Wilson, who isn't too popular anyhow with the Central crowd, ought to get some brains and omit those personal remarks about certain people. Or at least, where he isn't overheard. . . . The fact that his expenses there cost $15 ev'ry 24 hours, may have had something to do with Boyd Thompson's speedy recovery from his recent hospital siege. . . . A scandal was hushed the other two in the ayem when a Law Enforcer caught a prominent Medico petting in the park with a teen-age tot. Told the thug-hunter he was the col'm family physician—which he isn't. . . . Sidney Harris has a new Buick, which had nothing whatever to do with Eloise Wooten's decision to kiss and make up.

An Open Apology: None of the other Theatrical Editors carried the story. I did. So what happened? The Last Word—Little Miss Cornshucks story was incorrect. In the presence of several witnesses, the little blues song stylist gave me verbatim the item I foolishly ran here last week before checking my facts beyond the shadow of a newspaperman's doubt, which I usually do. She confided to me that War Perkins owed her record royalties, which she never received. I spent over an hour with War Perkins, looking over receipts, contracts, statements etc.—which disproved Little Miss Cornshucks' charges! Her story on the Last Word was incorrect, thus making a liar outuve my article.

I can't, for the life of me, figure the thoughts in an entertainer's alleged mind who will attempt to use the friendship of a newspaperman-friend to hurl personal stones at people they don't like, merely because the newspaperman is a friend of any underdog. To Esvan Mosby, the Last Word management, Fred Coleman, Charles Thomas and War Perkins, I personally retract the article. The first retraction in our more than ten years covering the nightclub beat from Harlem to Hollywood! A 10-year perfect record soiled because an entertainer wanted to use my friendship to "get even" over something or other, when the only case she had was a slight case of the Flu!

About People And Politicians: I have a free hand in scribbling this drivel. Nobody tells me what to write. I write as I like, but usually leave political and editorial scribblings to the Editorial Dept. This week, however, I wanna write a couple lines about a Presidential candidate. His name is Henry A. Wallace. I have been asked on numerous occasions and via hundreds of letters through the mails, what Presidential candidate gets my vote in the coming elections? If it was any of your business, I would tell you my vote is being cast for Henry A. Wallace. They call Henry A. Wallace a communist. What, I would like to know, is a communist? Nobody has ever clearly and definitely defined the word. Is a communist a person who believes sincerely that all men are created equal regardless of race, color or creed? Is a communist a person who believes in equal opportunity for everyone? Is a communist a person who hates discrimination, despises lynching, loathes Jim-Crowism and poll-tax? Is a communist a person who has no use for the late Senator Bilbo, Rankin and others who tried and still are trying their darndest to disrupt American Unity? Is a communist a person who loves God? Then, ladies and gentlemen, I guess I am a communist. Providing, of course, a communist is a sincere American who believes in America, and practices Democracy—not just talk about it. Resting my case with this thawt, "May You and I Live To See the Day When All Men Who Are Created Equal Will Have Equal Rights!"

Loose Notes From a Newsboy's Notebook: Gloria Wolf Porter looks even lovelier since she became a bride. . . . Plug here for Marian Thomas, of the Walter L. Gordon Law Firm. She reminds you of the song, "Sweet and Lovely." . . . Love Letter of the Week: "Dear Gip, your open letter to Hedda Hopper is the greatest I've read yet! Great work, ol' man, keep going! Be my guest at Billy Berg's whenever you have a chance. Your friend adn fan, always, Joe Lutcher." . . . Camille Cannady's col'm is something to enjoy. Writes in a breezy and entertaining style. . . . Pretty Eddie Mallory in town on a vacation visit. . . . Joan Adams, who enters San Francisco State college, is Lena Horne, Betty Grable and Marva Louis rolled into one. And wotta pr. of lgs! . . . "My Happiness" is my happiness whenever Ella Fitzgerald sings My Happiness. . . . My book, "The Laff's On Me," (with a foreword by Rochester) rolls off the press within a few wks. Tome deals with zany interviews I have had with various screwballs and celebrities over a period of 10 years. Most interesting chapters, according to those who read a sneak preview, are on Rochester, Walter Winchell, King Cole, Lena Horne and Milton Berle.

Memos From Melrose: "Dear Mr. G.: You have no idea how proud I am to report that the State examiners board for civil service examinations, called your good friend, Charles Williams, at the CALIFORNIA SCHOOL OF PHOTOGRAPHY t'other morn asking if the school could spare one of its instructors for a day to sit on the board to assist in interviewing applicants for several photographic positions. Gilbert Olmstead was chosen for the assignment to represent the CALIFORNIA SCHOOL OF PHOTOGRAPHY much to the surprise and pleasure of the board, who expressed a desire to have him sit with them in the future. . . .

Oh, say, boss, you always mention nice things about nice people, but never a columention about a nice guy named Rufus Tannehill, who clks at the 42d St. Jewelers. Fine fello. . . . MAUDELLE'S DANCERS ACCLAIMED AT COMPLIMENTARY RECITAL

More than 100 enthusiastic patrons of the dance attended Maudelle's complimentary preview dance recital held Sunday, August 29th, at the estate of Arthur and Leontine Verhelle in Santa Barbara.

Maudelle's group exhibited not only a mastery of the technique of primitive, Latin-American and modern dance forms, but also an unusual interpretation of folk mood and folk background music.

A command performance was requested of Maudelle's group later Sunday evening by the eminent art patrons, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hillman, of Montecito; Maudelle danced a variety of her favorite numbers with great success; also appearing was Clarence Muse in some dramatic interpretations and songs. Appearing with Maudelle were Judy Holder, Zenobia Pope, Sandra Ross and the drum artists.

Maudelle plans to add courses and instructors to her dance activities because a thorough study of the dance assumes a need for knowledge of various dialects, languages, drum making and other crafts. Maudelle plans to conduct some of her classes in Santa Barbara. Among the many prominent people present from Los Angeles and Santa Barbara was Mrs. Bessie Graves Raynau of the Harmon Fiundation, who expressed deep interest in Maudelle's dancing.

Mrs. Epps Wins Divorce and Property

After a bitterly contested divorce trial, pretty Mrs. Ella Epps of 402 E. 42nd Place, has been victorious in receiving not only her divorce, but all of the community real property. After she brought suit for divorce on the grounds of extreme cruelty, her husband, Jasper Epps, retained counsel and filed a contest claiming a community interest in the home at the above address.

Mrs. Epps contended through her attorney, Curtis C. Taylor, that although the property was purchased after her marriage the money for the purchase did not come from community funds, despite the facts that the evidence showed her husband had sent her an allotment of $80 per month while he was in the service, the case was tried before Judge Alfred Bartlett in Dept. 51 of the Superior Court who ruled that the property was not community property but was the separate property of the wife.

After awarding her a divorce decree he made an order quieting title in her favor and enjoining the husband from ever asserting any claim to the property.

PARAGRAPHING THE NEWS

In last week's column we ran an "exclusive" on George Moore. We stated he was the man responsible for breaking down racial barriers at the Hollywood American Legion and Madison Square Garden, N.Y. Since the article appeared, we have had numerous letters and phone calls, each giving someone else (other than the dapper Mr. Moore) credit for paving the way for the first mixed bout in the Garden and Stadium.

Take it from me, Mr. Moore is the man responsible, and he rates the orchid! One scolding letter from a confrere in the field of Journalism (who claims to be a writer; but is out of a job) said: "You're nuts. You don't know what the hell you're writing about." Mebbee not. But at least I'm Sports EDITOR of the California Eagle. No other Sports Editor can make that statement!

VERNONDALE GOLF CLUB

The members of the Vernondale Women's Golf Club wish to thank all of you for your generous cooperation in assisting the club to promote a very successful tournament for Sept. 24. The trophy award dance will take place at the Conog club the same evening. Louise Nicholson is Tournament Chairman, and rates a great big orchid from our Sports flower garden for the wonderful job in promoting the tournament.

BUDDY GARCIA BEATS ANGELO

Don't get excited, it isn't the Buddy Garcia you know. The Buddy Garcia you know works as a "right-arm" assistant to Attorney Walter L. Gordon, Jr., and couldn't lick his lips. The Buddy Garcia I'm writing about is a clever leather-slinger who rates right up there with the best of them. He easily trounced Joey Angelo last week in New Orleans, and drew a gate of $3334.

WHAT'S HE GOT?

Somebody wants to know what Satchel's (Paige) got that the others don't have. BM Atkinson Jr., of the Louisville Times tells 'em: "Well, for one thing," snaps Atkinson, "there's 22 years' experience. Among other things there's Boudreau and Gordon."

JES' THINKING OUT LOUD

Instead of fighting each other, says Charlie DeMangin, Walcott and Lesnevitch should be fighting for their old-age pension.... Lloyd LaBeach, great Olympic track star, arrived in the States Wednesday morning from Europe.... Wotta man he is!... In addition to being just about the best dentist in town, Dr. Nat Fearonce is also one of the town's top Sportsmen. Ask him about fishing, baseball or any other sport and he'll prove to be a very capable and interesting conversationalist! Only thing he knows much less about than nothing is boxing. He thinks Joe Louis will beat Walcott again! (Oh, NO!—Doc!)... There's good hunting up around Lake Elsinore. Oh, fevvensakes, we're not talking about Brownskins, etc. We mean the kind of game you hunt to kill to eat. Which is one reason we're leaving the noise of the city Thursday evening for a quick coupla-a day stay at the Lake as guest of Dave and Edith Hendricks. Dave, a very popular sportsman and all-around grand guy, is also a musician and expert fisherman. (We'll see how good you are at fishing, when we come up Thurz, Dave!).

NO DISCRIMINATION

The attorney for three Sepia pro golfers (barred from the Richmond (Cal) open last January said today he had won a pledge of no further "discrimination" by the Professional Golfer's Association.

Bruce Woodcock knocked out Lee Oma in he 4th round of his heavyweight "comeback" bout after 17 months in splints and bandages.

NO EXCUSES, GIP!

We never like to make excuses for our writings, but if the Gipson scribblings in these pages aren't up to par this week, it's because we're feeling under par. An unavoidable accident. Thanks, Dave and Edith Hendricks for the Elsinore invite! We'll be there Thurz evng with bells on! (Of course, we'll wear clothes!—but the bells'll be 'cause we'll be so happy to get away from our Managing Editor, John M. (for Mean) Lee for awhile 'til we'll be jingle-jangle-jangling all over the place!)

Inform TR Yarborough of our arrivls in town, and mebbe he'll fry us a Fish!

He's muh pal!

(PS: The story on George Moore, who piloted the great Henry Armstrong's ring comeback campaign, will appear here next week.)

Jimmy Garcia On LACC Track Team

Jimmy Garcia, Manual Arts High School track star, enters Los Angeles City College, with the news being somewhat unwelcome to LACC rival school track teams.

Garcia, son of the popular Buddy, of Walter Gordon's Law Firm, was the only undefeated 100-yard track star in dual meets last season. Last year Garcia ran against Jefferson's Oliver Gordon and Herb Fisher, with the race ending in a 3-way tie. They ran the 100 9.9.

Garcia tied Manual Arts 100-yard dash record set in 1936 by Gene Farley, he also set a new track record at Wilson Field when he ran the 220 in 22.4—on a curved track!

"Little Jimmy," as his teammates call him, plays baseball, football and basketball. He will major in Business Administration, and go out for track—natch!

After school season ended last year, Garcia participated in the CYO meet and set a new record in the 100-yard dash, running bare-foot!

According to his track coach, "He runs like a rocket!".

Rams Organize Knothole Club

Formation of the Los Angeles Rams Knothole Club to enable 10,000 or more boys of the area to attend each of the team's six remaining home games in the Coliseum as guests of the Rams was announced Saturday by President Daniel F. Reeves.

Membership in the Club will be open only to boys unable to buy their own seats. Admission will be through membership cards wit hthe boys seated in a special section. Attendance will be arranged through youth organizations and membership card distribution will be handled through the offiec of Bill Lopez, athletic supervisor for the Los Angeles Board of Education.

Details of the Knothole Club operations were mapped at a meeting of youth group leaders and Ram representatives this week. The plan was enthusiastically hailed as a definite step forward in the city's youth program.

Hamp In Headliner

HAMPTON, Va.—Shaw's defending CIAA champions, loaded with 30 returning lettermen, meet Hampton Institute's unpredictable but potentially dangerous Pirates Saturday on Armstrong Field in Hampton's first scheduled night game. Hampton and Virginia Union this year become the first CIAA teams to install lights on their home fields.

Thompson Dies Following Fight In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA. — Bill Thompson, 21-year-old Philly heavyweight, died here Tuesday from injuries suffered in a fight against Johnny Haynes of New York here last Thursday.

Thompson was floored by Haynes three seconds before the end of their scheduled 8-round bout at Topoi Stadium, and never fully regained consciousness.

He underwent a brain operation last Friday and seemed someewhat better until early Tuesday morning, when his condition grew worse.

Emlen Tunnell On N. Y. Giants Team

Youth, speed and exceptional aerial power are prominent characteristics of the 1948 New York Giants, who will open their 24th championship season in the National Football League against the Yanks in Boston Thursday night. The New Yorkers represent one of the biggest rebuilding undertakings in pro football history.

The Giants assembled a record rookie crop of 38 eager candidates. In that group were numerous 1947 college stars. Never before was so much high-class campus material gathered on one pro club. Mississippi's Charles Conerly, who shattered records to lead 1947 college forward passers, Tony Minisi, Pennsylvania's All-American halfback; Bill Swiacki, Columbia's spectacular All-American end; Joe Scott, dynamic fullback from San Francisco; Emlen Tunnell, Bruce Gehrke, Columbia's star Iowa's Negro triple-threat ace; end; Don Ettinger, Kansas; Bill Erickson, Mississippi, tackles; Carl Fenneman, Washington, center.

Salas Fights at Legion Friday

Two ten-round bouts will feature the weekly card at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium Friday, when matchmaker Baron Von Stumme brings together Charley Salas and Irving Steen at 145 pounds, and Harry Kid Mathews against Bobby Seamon in a middleweight joust.

Salas is fresh from a victory over the Texas welter king, Bert Linam, and in fighting Steen, will endeavor to erase a previous loss at the hands of the San Diego clouter. The clever Mexican is fighting in rare form, and has established himself as solid choice at the Legion, where he has yet to appear in a dull match.

Steen is the youngster who recently kayoed Richard Jones and whipped Regino Aguila. He intends to hang around for a while and for that very reason will go all out in his bout with Salas.

There'll be four bouts on the undercard Friday, with the following boys hooking up in four-rounders: Vernon Jordan vs. Rocky Corkins; J. J. Cracknell vs. Freddie Garcia; Flash Gordon vs. Elmer Beltz; and Duke Chronister vs Davey Martinez.

Next Friday, October 1st, the card will be topped by Francisco de la Cruz and Enrico Bertola, heavyweight champions of Mexico and Italy respectively. More information on this important bout will be forthcoming.

Keith Nuttall in First California Ring Battle

Keith Nuttall, protege of former triple boxing champion, Henry Armstrong, has attained his 18th birthday and can now fight in California. Sacramento Promoter-Matchmaker Jackie King signed the Utah wonder boy of boxing to a match this week with Felix Ramirez after Nuttall applied for and received a license.

Several months ago Nuttall signed for a bout in Sacramento but the commission refused to license the fighting little featherweight because he had not reached his 18th birthday.

Armstrong is as pleased with this blonde-haired lad as a sports editor is over a red card draw to a red card flush in a Saturday night poker game. He fights on the order of his former manager, Armstrong, and ring idol. Nuttall. He has been belting over all the 126 pounders in and around Utah and the middle west. He has stamina, youth, speed and packs a punch in both mitts.

New York Sports Editors last year named him the Boy Wonder of Boxing, but he has been permitted to box in only a few states because of his age.

Now that he's 18, "look out, Featherweights!"

Muh pal, Armstrong's, quotes.

Freshman Aspirants Number Forty-Five

A couple of triple-threat backs head the list of 45 freshman football aspirant sebing looked over at Pepperdine College this weetk by Coaches Bud Adams and Joe Sarver.

Joe (Lefty) Orlando, a right half, and Jack Bighead, a full, have been the fair-haired boys in early drills. A scooter of the Terry Bell type, Orlando weighs 155 and stands 5' 7". He hails from Jersye City, N. J., where he played three years of single-wing bal at Dickinson High! and took all the backfield honors in sight. Coach Adams thinks Orlando, with his portside passing, might be quite a threat operating at right half in the Waves' single wing.

Bighead, who is part Indian, is a 205-pounder from Los Angeles Polytechnic High. As a T-formation fullback and offensive end with the Parrots he made All-Northern League selections two esasons. He can punt and pass with the best of the Wave frosh candidates.

ON THE TURF

By Geo. A. Ramsey

Caliente, Old Mexico: A goodie was put over at Caliente last Sunday when trainer R. Robinson sent Augie Silveyra's Indian Watch to the post in the feature race of day called "The Independencia De Mexico" at six furlongs. Bought in Mexico City sometime ago by Augie from the Rancho Ojo de Ahua, Indian Watch was given a long rest.

Being a handicap winner some time ago before he went wrong, the good son of Apprehension-Little Indian came back to the races last Sunday and scored an easy victory over some of the best sprinters at the border course. Held at five to two on the morning line he paid the overlay price in the mutuels of $22.40, $11.20, $5.00 across the board. The time for the six furlongs was 1:11 4-5.

The secondary event was won by Novelito, another good thing. He opened at six to one on the morning line but was cut to three. In the mutuels he paid $7.20. The daily-double combination of Count Boot, winner of the second race, and March Sun, victor of the third, paid its lucky holder of the winning combination $63.80, while the Quniela backers of Ima Clown and Count Nasslyn, who finished in that order, received $15.20.

Nut Van was the big surprise of the day when he got up in the last jump to defeat the favored Reply Collect by a nose to pay $45.60 for two. Six favorites were able to score out of the twelve-race program.

This Sunday general manager Walter C. Marty has arranged two big features to support the twelve-race card. The feature attraction wil be "The El Camino Real" at one and one-sixteenth miles, supported by "The Santa Barbara" at six furlongs. The ever-popular presiding steward, Judge George Shillings, returned to his former position from Canada and received a great welcome from the horsemen as well as the fans. Greyhound racing is still the big night sport south of the border and the popular general manager, William (Bill) Collier spares no expense to give the public the best greyhound races ever sen in these parts. Some of the fastest hounds in the country are at Caliente with more coming.

Beach Comber is about the fastest hound ever sen. He has won all of his races except one. Plans are in the making for a match race between Mixed Harmony and Beach Comber in the near future. In winning last Sunday night Beach Comber won his tenth race out of eleven starts.

L.A. Playground Activities

After a busy summer of vacation activities, Los Angeles municipal playgrounds are now swinging into their fall programs with many feature attractions in the offing for children, youth, adults, and families, the City Recreation and Park Department announced today.

Municipal playgrounds and recreation centers are open the year around in Los Angeles, changing their programs and schedules to fit vacation periods and seasonal recreation needs.

After-school and weekend play for children and evening activities for youth on outdoor lighted play areas and in community clubhouses are planned for this fall. Games, sports, tournaments, arts and crafts, hobbies, and boys' and girls' club activities will be included.

Man Destroys What He Needs The Most

"Our Plundered Planet" is the title of a new and highly interesting exhibition which will be on view to the public at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park from September 25 through to October 24, according to an announcement made by James H. Breasted Jr., director of the Museum.

The exhibition will reveal in a most startling manner how the valuable resources of the world such as soil, water and forests, have been and continue to be destroyed by man. Also will show a pattern for cessation of such destruction and recovery.

Marcel Cerdan New Champ

Marcel Cerdan, the fighting Frenchman, dipped his gloves in dynamite Tuesday evening at Jersey City and blasted the living daylights out of Tony Zale for 11 torrid rounds to wrest the middleweight crown from the courageous fighter from Gary. Cerdan won on a TKO when the semi-conscious Zale was unable to answer the bell for the 12th round.

A left hook to the chin dumped the 34-year-old champion on the back of his lap just as the bell rang ending the 11th round. Zale was unable to continue.

During the first half of 1948 the consumption of margarine was about 35 percent larger than a year earlier while the output and consumption of butter were about 15 percent smaller.

About 53 percent of the total fats and oils used in oleomargarine in 1947 was cottonseed oil, and 38 percent was soybean oil. Only 2 percent was animal fat.

Last Word Night-Club Denies Charges Made by Corn-Shucks

By JT Gipson
Theatrical Editor

(Editor's Note: In this identical position of the California Eagle's Sept. 16 issue, under caption, "Mosby and Company Loses First Round in Battle With Miss Cornshucks," 'appeared an article written by JT Gipson, EAGLE Theatrical Editor. Because the article was, as Mr. Gipson learned later, unfounded, erroneous in its entirety anad reflected unfavorably to Mr. Mosby, F. William Coleman and the Last Word Cafe management, we offer our apologies and sincerely regret any unfavorable repercussions the article may have caused these principals. My statements refuted by true facts (which I have checked and double checked!) printed in black-face type, follows)

GIPSON'S CLAIM

Commonly known on the AGVA board dockets as Mildred Cummings versus The Last Word nitespot, the matter was concluded last Wednesday with the AGVA handing down a decision favoring the song stylist you know as Little Miss Cornshucks, whose $750 weekly salary check was held up three weeks ago by Esvan Mosby and the Last Word management on a complaint filed by the Word against Miss Cummings that she had missed three shows and wasn't entitled to compensation.

THE TRUTH

Miss Cornshucks' weekly salary of $750 was not withheld by Mr. Mosby. On the singer's closing night, Monday, September 6, Mr. Mosby was confronted by War Perkins, record distributor and personal manager of Miss Cornshucks, who presented a signed note demanding payment of $175 from Miss Cornshucks' first week's salary at the Last Word Cafe. However, admitting her signature on the note, the artist refused payment and the management referred clearing the matter through the AGVA. Tuesday, September 7 at noon Miss Cornshucks' full check was deposited in the AGVA Hollywood office.

GIPSON'S CLAIM

Okay, so Little Miss Cornshucks, according to Mr. Bosby, who happens to be a front man (and nothing more) for a white syndicate operating the Last Word, missed three shows. She wasn't docked. Her salary was held up.

When an entertainer is late for a performance, no one gets fired, you're docked. Mr. Mosby, or I should say, Mr. Fred Coleman (because his is the name on the checks the Last Word gives out for services rendered), told the AGVA board he lost money on Cornshucks. There's another statement that makes about as much sense as Joe Louis trying to cross Lake Erie in a hollow tooth.

THE TRUTH

The Last Word Cafe is operated by the Harlem Amusement Corp., of which Esvan Mosby was elected vice-president by the corporation's board of directors. He is employed on a salary to manage the Last Word Cafe. Fred Coleman, white, the club's bookkeeper, acts in an advisory capacity and on rare occasions when Mr. Mosby is not available, does sign payroll checks. Mr. Coleman is not a stockholder in the corporation and has never been. Ninety percent of all checks are signed by Esvan Mosby. Bookkeeping records shows that during Miss Cornshucks' first week appearance the club suffered a loss of more than $400 and during her second week there, a loss of more than $500 was recorded.

GIPSON'S CLAIM

The only other act to ever outdraw Little Miss Cornshucks at the Last Word is a Walker by the name of T-Bone.

No, kids, here's the way I figure it. The Last Word management, while not necessarily in the red, didn't make the sum of money they had hoped for during Cornshucks' personal appearance at the club. Business was bad in every night spot in town, but the Last Word garnered all of the Central avenue trade. One of the alleged manager's had a personal argument with Miss Cornshucks, and holding up her check was the one way he had hoped to even the score, but thanks to the AGVA and other organizations, people like Mosby, Coleman and others can't just go around for no reason whatsoever taking advantage of entertainers.

THE TRUTH

At no time has there been any conflict, personal or otherwise, between Miss Cornshucks, and the Last Word management.

GIPSON'S CLAIMS

The AGVA board listened to both sides of the story. Little Miss Cornshucks told the board she was late for three shows, but had never missed ONE! She had witnesses, Last Word show performers, too, to verify her statement.

THE TRUTH

The AGVA board meeting was never attended by Mr. Mosby or anyone else representing the Last Word, neither had they at any time filed a claim against Miss Cornshucks.

Editor's Note: Mr. Mosby, current "Mayor of Central Avenue," and for 15 years a stage performer, was shocked when first learning of Mr. Gipson's article, but was quick to forgive—like Mr. Gipson was quick to offer a retraction upon learning he had been duped! Mr. Mosby revealed that he and Gipson at one time were associated with the same dance orchestra, and further stated that their long experience in show business should have been sufficient so that Gipson would have consulted him for true facts about the case before releasing his story.)

IN THE SOCIAL SET

in gowns of every tasty creation. The bride, who has been Mrs. Sharpe now for some four weeks, wore a true Grecian creation of white ciffon. The drapes were a perfect compliment to her peitite figure. Her sole attendant was Mrs. Clara Taylor, who wore taffeta all done up in the new look manner and delightfully colorful in different hues of fuschia and French lavendar. Helen Wright, who greeted most of us at the main door, took us by surprise when we noted her raven black locks have been shorn into the bobbed hair style that is taking the fashion note of the day.

Out by the swimming pool, guests mingled and enjoyed the refreshments that were highlighted by a sparkling drink, served in frosted copper cups. Euvalda Morris was breath takingly smart in her new fall outfit of navy blue. So happens that the outfit completed a wardrobe that the popular Doll Leaguer had gotten for her trip to New York. She planed out Tuesday evening, to stay with Ed and Edith (Jones) Boyd, formerly of L. A. By the way, Hariette Wadley, was most striking in her new fall outfit that claimed the eyes of most of the reception crowd. The suit breathed the finesse of a French Conturier and her hat would make any woman's heart skip a beat.

Muriel Brewer came on the scene in a new black crepe topped by silver fox, and her good friend, Ida Bowman, did her felicitating in a grey knit suit toped by a jaunty tam. Jewell Hall, sister of the bride, was head hostess and was as busy as could be, however not too busy to show off a lovely creation in delicate pink taffeta. Assisting with the gifts, were Mrs. Herman Hill and Mrs. Frances Smith. Esther Marriweather and Mary Lou Roberson were in evidence at goodly part of the evening. Both are busy with the teaching profession. On departing the delightful ingathering, had brief hellos with Dr. and Mrs. Warner Wright, Irene's other brother and sis inlaw; also chatted a spell with Libby Clark, who is all up in the air over her coming assignment Thursday when she joins President Truman's entourage in Pasadena.

Back in the Angel City, from what proved to be a very delightful honeymoon, from the sound of the facts are Mr. and Mrs. William George Morris who took vows on August 20. The bride is the former Paullyn Garner, recently back from her Red Cross work in the Far East. The couple's honymoon leisurely took them to New Mexico, Salmon City, Idaho, Wyoming, Yellowstone National Park, Chicago, New York and many another place. By the way, this marriage news has taken quite a few of us by surprise. Best of luck and much happiness are in order for the newlywed. . . .

When Eddie Mae Armstrong entertained on Sunday afternoon, two charming young ladies were honored guests. Both of them Eddie's AKA sorors and both hailing from Northern California. Jane Gray, former basileus of the AKA chapter on Cal campus, was down visiting from Oakland, California where she is a laboratory Techinician at the Highland Hospital, sharing honors was petite Helen King, Carl King's younger sis, from Tularie County. Jane recently attended the Chicago University's school of social work. Like Jane, she is a graduate of Cal University. The hostess also graduated from Cal, and is now a student of law, in our dear old Angel city. . . . Some 24 ladies, wearing the latest in fall creations were in attendance. . . .

HERE AND THERE

Dr. N. Bingham and charming wife Cora, sent hellos from N. Y. to the John Somervilles, Rufus Portwigs and several other Angelenos who made their way to the East coast during the summer months. Mrs. Bingham, formerly of Long Beach, California is well known by many in these parts. So happens that during Marion Jackson's sojourn in N. Y., a few weeks back, The Bingrams were hosts to a yacting party that did honors to national Iota prexy, Alice P. Allen and Alpha Phi's Marion Jackson. In the very near future the Binghams will leave for the three months vacation in Haiti. . . . Clara Taylor hies off for San Francisco over this week-end, a brief rest from local doings. . . . Clifford Clark Jr., is back at UCLA persuing his pre-medical studies. . . . One of the most interesting couples in the younger set is the combo of Haroldine Browning and Bobby Brewington. Wonder if wedding bells loom in the offing. . . . While enjoying the installation reception of the new business and athletic women's club Sunday evening at the Manuel Reyes, thought it was interesting to see Mmes. Sul Te Wan, oldest member of the dance chatting with Jeni LeGon, one of the youngest dance leaders of the world today. Both women are famous as entertainers. . . . Mrs. Ruby Dandridge was all over the place showing pride in her talented young grand son, at the recent Buttler's Kiddie Capers. . . . Marcela and Donal Miller, not long back from Chicago and other points east, are busy as can be, getting their house in shape for a busy fall and winter season of entertaining and what have you. . . . The Crop 'N' Tail riding club girls are back in the swing of meeting again. Already the girls have planned a trip to Catalina Island for the second Sunday in October. . . .

Gloria Roberts won the hearts of all attending her recital on last Sunday. It won't be long before the young artist returns to Julliard. Lovely Yvonne Cummings will also be leaving for the Julliard Institute in two weeks, more voice training in store. Elizabeth Garrett, who completed the Julliard threesome, will in all probability return the following semester. At the present, her interest runs hand in hand with that of Wilber Fisher, of Fisher and son . . .

Am looking foreward to the Vernondale Golf Club trophy party on Friday night at Club Congo. The women are doing a super job of interesting the youngsters of the community in the grand game of golf. . . . Here's wishing Carolyn Henninghton a speedy recovery. . . . Dorothy Byrd will be installed president of the Favorette Social and Civic club at the annual installation dance on Saturday evening at Alpha Bowling club. . . . Deadline. 'Til Next Week

Danellen Mabry, graduate of Manual Arts, is a second-term winner of the Delta award. At USC she was chosen as one of the 10 outstanding freshmen for the Freshman Women's Council and serves as corresponding secretary of the Trojan YWCA.

Consuela Scott, Poly High graduate, was a member of the Scholarship Society, Girls' Athletic Association and Guild of Organists. She has entered UCLA and conducts a weekly radio program of organ music on a local station, after school hours.

Zoe Wise, one of the city's talented young violinists, graduated from Belmont. There she was concert mistress of the school orchestra, member of the All Southern California high school orchestra, member of the Latin club, World Friendship club, Museum club, Tri-Y, Bel-Science club and the Eulexian Honor society. She also won the PTA music scholarship.

Another Jefferson graduate, Alma Torrance, served on the Senior-A cabinet, Latin club, Ladies of the Round Table and Hospitality Committee. She will be on the Westwood campus.

Agnes Moreland, first-prize winner of the Daily News Oratorical Contest ($1000), comes from Jefferson High with a straight A average, to enter the University of Redlands. She made Who's Who, World Friendship and Tennis societies.

Don't Take Chances Dial the Operator

Sunday — Westchester Market in flames—no fire department—employee calls for help and is informed by voice on wire, fire is out of their district.

Moral: If you live in the city limits of Los Angeles your fire protection is furnished by the Los Angeles Fire Department, not by the County or suburban departments surrounding us on all sides.

To avoid delay when reporting fire, dial "116" on your telephone and when the Operator answers say, "I want to report a fire to the LOS ANGELES Fire Department."

Progressive Party Mobilizes Support for Maritime Workers

The Independent Progressive Party, 15th Congressional District has announced its support of the striking maritime workers. Urging cooperation of all its members, the IPP set up its headquarters at 1542 West Jefferson Boulevard as a depot for food for the strikers.

Requests for contributions of money and canned or packaged food went out to all IPP clubs in the 15th C.D. In addition, the maritime unions are being invited to send speakers to IPP meetings to strengthen community support for the current strike. All other organizations, fraternal, trade union, social, etc., were requested by IPP to support the waterfront workers in their demands for better wnrking conditions and union security.

Maynard J. Omerberg, candidate for Congress in the 15th District on the IPP ticket, stated, "The waterfront employers have refused to deal with the maritime unions because they hope to shatter them completely with the help of the infamous Taft-Hartley Law. My party stands firmly opposed to the Taft-Hartley Act and to any attempt to destroy trade unions."

Frances Williams, candidate for Assembly in the 63 District, said, "The maritime workers are striking to better their working conditions. Certainly their demands for Sundays off and eight-hour shifts are understandable and justifiable to any one except perhaps the employers. The fate of all organized labor in the United States is tied up with the success of the maritime strike. We of the Independent Progressive Party support wholeheartedly the demands of the waterfront workers."

Candidate for Assembly in the 65th District, Neal Pettibone, issued the following statement: "I am an active trade unionist myself. I know what trade unions mean to the workingmen. My union, the ILWU, and my party, the IPP, are solidly behind the fight of the maritime workers to better their conditions and to maintain their organization."

Taking a Bath Is Illegal

Certain families in Los Angeles county will take their baths Saturday night in the future rather than wait till picnicking along the streams of San Gabriel canyon Sunday, according to Hesper MacMillen, mountain and rural sanitarian for the Los Angeles county health department, following the arrest and conviction of three persons charged with wading in the canyon streams.

Acting Justice of the Peace Thomas B. Reed of the Monrovia township assessed a $20 fine after a plea of guilty by the people arrested. Two of those fined were from Pasadena and one from Gardena.

CARE Shipped Six Million Packages Out

Six and a half million CARE packages have been shipped overseas, according to an announcement by Edward J. Flynn, Los Angeles CARE Director, in release of latest figures on CARE, non-profit, government-approved distribution agency.

Over 96,000 individual packages have gone from the Los Angeles area, it was revealed. Of the total packages shipped for the relief and recovery of devastated countries, over 90% have been in food (12,000,000 pounds).

100,000 "Free" packages, valued at $1,000,000 have been paid for and distributed out of saving CARE has made on bulk purchases, reductions on overhead, ocean freight and insurance rates. Between 16 and 20c of every $10 CARE order goes into a special fund for distribution of "free" packages.

Originally conceived by 26 non-profit welfare organizations to send packages to designated individuals, an increasing number of CARE sales are going towards general relief in areas of greatest need in 14 European countries. Orders for undesignated packages amount to $1,200,000.

Los Angeles Center for CARE is located at 217 West Ninth Street.

Chapman Adds New Building And Staff

LOS ANGELES—Dr. George N. Reeves, president of Chapman College, announced this week that a new two-story building and additions to the faculty makes possible the accommodation of 100 more students this fall without overcrowding.

The two-story frame annex, across the street from the campu at 766 North Vermont Avenue, is arranged to provide studios and class rooms for the Music Department on the second floor. Mr. John Browning, Director of the Department, stated that the added facilities will provide ample space for orchestral, ensemble, private and class instruction in all areas of music. The lower floor will be occupied by the Physics Laboratory and class rooms for instruction in history and science.

A Box of Matches And a Curious Child

"Children with matches" is a frequently reported cause of fire. Beyond obvious personal danger to a child, there is the consideration that because of reluctance of a child to incriminate himself, he often fails to report such fires until they have assumed dangerous proportions.

Strict discipline on the subject of matches plus putting them well out of reach of children's hands may well prevent all such tragedies.

U. S. Intervention In Greece Deplored

At a mass meeting held at the Embassy Auditorium recently, a resolution was passed condemning American intervention in Greece and demanding self-determination for Greece. Copies of the resolution were sent to President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall.

Say You Saw It in the EAGLE

REFORMERS

It is a sorry way to go through the world—forgetting that others are capable of coping with life in their own way; expecting perfection of simple human beings, not realizing that your own way of living may not stand investigating.

Some people make themselves very unhappy by expecting too much of their friends and associates. They try to make them over — to conform their standards to what they consider the correct way or mode of living.

These "Reformers" usually have a sad time of it, studying the shortcomings of others and condemning them rather than praising them. Beware of this habit if you are inclined to let your mind run along these lines, remember no one wants to be in your company if you are constantly finding fault!

Dear Prof. Herman: I have been a contant reader of your column for some time, and have found it very interesting. Will you help me with my problem by answering the following question. Will my plans be successful? R.M.F.

ANSWER. If you have the determination and courage to overcome the obstacles that may confront you, I feel that you will attain the success that you so desire, for the success of your plan will depend greatly upon your own personal effort.

R.H.—Do you think J. N. is too old for me?

ANSWER. My friend, age makes little difference where there is true and deep affection between two individuals. Altho I feel that you should not be too hasty in making a decision in regards to J. N. you should not let difference in age stand in the way of your future happiness.

F.L.W.—What does the future hold for me?

ANSWER. Probing into the matter I find that some one else will come into your life who will bring you the happiness and true love which you are seeking. Therefore, I wish to encourage you to not let your previous disappointment in romance make you despondent. Profit by this mistake, my friend, by letting it be a stepping stone to your future happiness.

E.G.P.—Will I get this man for a husband?

ANSWER. I am of the opinion that there is a possibility that you may be successful in obtaining the one you so desire in marriage. This, however, will depend upon the development of your friendship in the future and the understanding created between the two of you.

Free Art Exhibit At Community Center

An exhibition of "Non-Objective Paintings" will open Tuesday, September 28 at 8:15 p.m. in the Sarah Singer Art Gallery of the Beverly-Fairfax Jewish Community Center, 8008 Beverly Boulevard. Thirteen Los Angeles artists who are considered to be among the leading exponents of abstract painting will be represented in the exhibit.

The exhibition is open to the general public without charge and will be on view in the Gallery until October 15.

Civil Service

With the demand for policewomen, policemen, and finger-print clerks being made by the Civil Service Commission, Professor R. C. Jackson has included course of instruction as preparation for these examinations. Classes are held at the 28th Street YMCA every Thursday and Friday evening at 7:40.

Instruction for Mail Carrier and Clerk examinations is also given, and application blanks for these civil service positions are available at the classes. Stress is placed on both written and oral parts of the examinations. Details may be obtained by calling ADams 17906.

Advisement Service Moves to Belmont Hi.

On Tuesday, the Advisement Service of the Los Angeles City Schools moved from the City College Campus to Belmont High School. According to David H. Dinglian, head supervisor of the Service, the new quarters will provide additional facilities and a more central location for the vocational and educational guidance service.

Tenants Refunds Held For Claimants at OHE

LOS ANGELES—There's a pot of gold waiting for you—if you happen to be one of the Southland tenants who never claimed the rent refund check secured for you by the Office of Housing Expediter.

Some 36 checks, totalling $1451.44 and ranging in size up to $127, are awaiting their claimants, local OHE officials report.

Old Age Pensions

About 185,000 old age pensioners will get a five dollar per month raise in their allotment beginning October 1, according to the state social welfare department. In most cases this will mean a $65 a month allowance although many of the pensioners will not get that amount because they are on a budget arrangement that presupposes some income from other sources.

Blind pensions will go up to $80 per month, and the state will get an increased payment for children which may not be passed on for direct benefits.

POLICE TERRORIZE WATTS MEETING

ETHIOPIAN DIPLOMAT BOOTED OUT OF CONSTITUTION HALL

RAS (PRINCE) H. S. IMRU—Booted out of Constitutional Hall.

THE SIDEWALK

By C. A. B.

At the 68th national Baptist convention meeting in Houston, Texas, last week, Dr. D. V. Jemison, president, using as his theme for his annual address, "The Signs of the Times," criticized white pastors for not being able to face the facts in their pulpits, and he outlined the duties that both pastors and laymen owe to the church.

"We pity the white pulpits in this crisis because they cannot preach their conviction as it relates to the present condition." "The Negro preachers are the freest people in the world. They are not bound by a cord of prejudices and the fearfulness of losing their job because of telling the truth in this present crisis," the Baptist head said.

"Another thing that is greatly needed at this time is that instead of having what we call revivals to get in new members, we need to resort to having this old bunch already in the church made over."

This prelate's double-edged thrust at some of the hitherto un-attacked evils in both the Negro and white church groups—(And pardon my digression, in my opinion, since we are planning to go to the same Heaven, there should be no division in the church, such as white and Negro.) But to go back to the subject—reminded me that I have just finished reading a little volume written by Frank Loescher entitled "The Protestant Church and the Negro."

In my opinion the author, a Protestant and a member of the Society of Friends, has clearly set forth that his highest aim is to correct what is detrimental to Christianity within the church structure, rather than destroy its influence.

Whether or not one agrees with the conclusions which the author draws from the facts set down in the book, the facts themselves must be faced. They are bitter facts.

No argument can be produced to refute this fact that that on purely religious grounds, can there be any defense for segregation within the Church.

"In the presence of God the divisions of race are transcended."

Again I am reminded that too often preachers, especially Negro preachers, pronounce an aversion to politics in the church. They lose sight of the fact that the church as a social institution provides a medium for human association in all walks of life—social, political, religious and economic.

When one of the inter-dependent functions is isolated or segregated from the others, there is a weakening rather than a strengthening of the whole. And more than that, if such a pattern is adopted by a group, that group more often than not is made the object of discriminatory attacks and furnishes an excuse for segregation in and outside the church.

The author of "The Protestant Church and the Negro" points out that of the fifteen bodies in the Federal Council of Churches, the Southern Baptists and the General Conference have an inclusive membership of approximately 25,000,000, about 80% of the white Protestants in the United States. No denominations that are predominately Negro are included.

The Negro Church accepts segregation, but does not segregate.

Over a long period, pronouncements and resolutions against religious segregation

Wallace-Baldwin:

Protest the Firing of Dr. DuBois

NEW YORK — C. B. Baldwin, secretary of the Progressive Party, this week joined Henry Wallace and Paul Robeson in criticizing the dismissal of Dr. W. E. B. DuBois from his post as research director of the NAACP for his support of Wallace's presidential candidacy.

Baldwin said that "on behalf of the entire Progressive Party I express my shock at the summary dismissal of Dr. DuBois for exercising his rights as a free American."

Earlier, Wallace, addressing 19,000 persons at Wrigley Field, Chicago, said that "the firing of Dr. DuBois is a tragic example of how American fascism is creeping into all facets of our life."

Declaring that Dr. DuBois was dismissed "because of his courageous stand on behalf of the colonial peoples of the world," Wallace said that "Dr. DuBois thus takes his place alongside other American scholars who have felt the axe of reaction because they have proclaimed their faith in the working philosophy of the Progressive Party."

Speaking even more strongly, Robeson told the Chicago audience that it was Dr. DuBois "who refused to permit the NAACP to be utilized as a tool for the Truman administration in the prosecution of a foreign policy that would enslave Negro peoples throughout the world while paying lip service to democracy at home."

Constitution Hall, Washington, D. C., has again enhanced its reputation as being the outstanding national example of bigotry and racial discrimination.

During the Roosevelt administration the noted Negro contralto, Marian Anderson, was not allowed to sing in Constitution Hall. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President, demonstrated her resentment for this insult by withdrawing her membership from the organization which controls the hall — the Daughters of the American Revolution.

About a year ago internationally famous pianist, Hazel Scott, wife of Congressman Clayton Powell, was denied a concert appearance at Constitution Hall. Congressman Powell attacked on

Police Attempt Intimidation At Brutality Protest Meeting

Police attempts to intimidate and terrorize citizens who gather to protest police brutality was made evident Tuesday night when a rally held jointly by the 67th A.D. Progressive Party and the Youth for Wallace at the Pastel Room at 10302 Grand Avenue was literally besieged by uniformed and plainclothes officers.

The meeting was held to protest the Burns killing and the arrest of Elmo Clark and Maurice Santano. Plainclothesmen stationed themselves in the hall early in the evening. Later a sergeant appeared and took samples of the literature being passed out. He went into the hall and when he came out with a plainclothesman he remarked: "There's too damn many people in that hall."

ANEMIA

A diminution in the number or quality of the red blood corpuscles or in the amount of hemoglobin or in both. It may be local or general, or it may be primary or secondary. Anemia results from a failure of the bone marrow to produce a normal amount of red blood cells, or because there is an increase of blood destruction. Early diagnosis of all anemias is important for satisfactory treatment, curative or symptomatic; prognosis differs in the various types. Chronic secondary anemia is the most common form.

CHRONIC SECONDARY ANEMIA or chronic microcytic anemia is characterized by a reduction in the number of red blood cells with lowered percentage of hemoglobin; there is a definite cause. SYMPTOMS — Muscular weakness, loss of strength, dyspnea, palpitation, vertigo, and occasionally edema of the ankles are noted.

PERNICIOUS ANEMIA is a form of anemia, characterized by remissions, and a marked reduction in the number of red blood cells and hemoglobin, associated with achlorhydria and changes in the spinal cord. The condition is due to the failure of the stomach to secrete an adequate amount of substance necessary for the maturation of the red blood cells. SYMPTOMS — The affection begins insidiously with increasing languor and pallor, muscular weakness, cardiac palpitation, dyspnea, attacks of syncope, edema, and swelling of the ankles follow.

LEUKEMIA is a disease in which there is an enormous increase in the number of white blood corpuscles characterized by hyperplasia of the white blood cell-forming tissues throughout the body; it is a fatal disease. SYMPTOMS—The onset of lymphatic and myelogenous leukemia is insidious and in the early stages the manifestations may be identical with those of simple anemia. In the lymphatic variety there is enlargement of the glands with pallor of the body surface. Hemarrhages into the skin may occur. The spleen and liver show moderate enlargement. In the myelogenic variety, the bones, especially the ribs and sternum, are tender on pressure and the patient presents a waxy appearance. There is an increase of metabolism, elevated temperature, and tachycardia. In all varieties, emaciation, weakness, loss of appetite, poor digestion, diarrhea, cardiac palpitation, dyspnea, and edema of the ankles and eyelids are observed. Shortness of breath may be severe, due to pressure phenomena in the medistinum. Hemorrhages into the skin, or from the mucus membranes, may be early symptoms or may occur near the termination of the disease.

ARTHRITIS

RHUMATISM—NEURITIS—MISERY

Arthritis, rheaumatism, neuritis and other miseries can never be corrected until the blood stream is cleansed of toxic poisons. "Putrefaction germs produce highly poisonous toxins, many of which closely resemble the venom of snakes and minute quantities are capable of producing the most alarming and distressing symptoms. A good example of the ill effects of these poisons is expressed by contact with odors arising from a dead mouse in a closet or under the floor. Although greatly diluted with air may give rise to headache, nausea, loss of appetite and other unpleasant effects. If breathing these diluted poisons, will produce unpleasant effects, how much more grave must be the effects when through the retention within the body (constipation) of these foul substances their poisonous contents are sucked up into the blood. In other words, when a person through constipation throws off through the lungs, kidneys and skin a large part of the poisonous matter which ought to have been discharged through the bowel, how great must be the mischief done. The ultimate effects are colitis, biliousnss, gastritis, gallstones, skin diseases of various sorts, Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure, apoplexy, paralysis, nervousness, insomnia, mental depression and even insanity. Every case of constipation is curable."

DIABETES

KIDNEY STONES—BLADDER—GALLSTONES

Diabetes should be definitely understood by both patient and doctor, and immediate steps taken to remove the cause. The cause of sugar diabetes is due to an insufficient production by the pancreas of a substance known as insulin. This substance is capable of burning (oxidizing) glucose, a form of sugar which the blood carries throughout the body to produce heat and energy. Since glucose supplies about three-fifths of the body's food requirements it is easily seen how disastrous to health a partial inability to utilize this form of food can be.

The disease usually develops so slowly that no symptoms are noticed for months or even years. The most typical complaints are; Increase in the amount of urine, considerable thirst, weakness and loss of weight, general itching of the skin, parched mouth, the appetite is variable, at times excessive, at others absent. The diabetic also complains of feeling very weak and languid, having headaches, is irritable, and constipation is the rule. Certain complications are common and they are: Boils, eczema, cataracts, ringing in the ears and acidosis.

Autointoxication, toxic poisons, must be corrected first before the diabetes itself will respond. A non-function of the pancreas and liver always exists together with the impacted bile in ducts and gall bladder. This disease results in an effort of the body to eliminate waste, mucous and toxemias.

BODY ODORS

BAD BREATH—HALITOSIS

Many are not presentable to themselves or friends, owing to the putrid smell of their bodies or bad breath. Physiologists give many reasons, but this reason outweighs them all. If the colon is clogged (constipation exists) the penned-up acid permeations of the stomach and duodenum must seek other outlets, which is indicated by the putrid smell of the body and or a foul breath, and finally biliousness, torpid liver, etc. An impacted colon is a prolific hotbed for the wholesale breeding of disease germs, microbes—organisms which enter the blood stream eventually forming that which Science recognizes as "blood sludge."

The skin is such an important excretory organ that the importance of keeping its innumerable infinitesimal outlets free from obstructions cannot be overestimated. The skin consists of two layers, the derma or true skin, and the epidermis or cuticle. Within or imbedded beneath the second layer are organs with special functions, viz., sweat glands, follicles, and subaceous glands. Through them vast quantities of aqueous and gaseous refuse matter is conveyed from the body. It is estimated that there are 3800 of these glands in each square inch of skin and that their total length would be 10 miles. Dr. Jaeger says, "disease is a stench. Nature gives a diagnosis thru bad odor, which indicates how far the inside decomposition has progressed."

ASTHMA

HAY FEVER—CATARRH—SINUS

ASTHMA cannot be corrected until the cause is removed. The cause first should be understood. Difficulty in breathing may be the result of toxic poison being carried to the lung tissue by the blood. This poison irritates the mucous glands causing them to throw up a mucous barrier. The excess mucous causes a lack of oxygen and an excess of poison gas. The final result is an oxygen starvation of the entire body. Imagine a sponge soaked in paste or glue! When the patient, through faulty metabolism throws into the blood stream waste matters that should be thrown off through the bowel or kidneys, the result is that these undigested foods pollute the blood stream and cause these toxins to be delivered to the weak part of the body. When bronchial mucous is present in the lungs the treatment, while slower, is none the less certain. Long standing cases seem to heal as quickly as those just beginning. Don't think you are an exception because you have tried all other methods.

GALLSTONES

ULCERS, CONSTIPATION, GAS PAINS

Heroic efforts should be made to remove gallstones without removing gall bladder by surgery. GALLSTONES should be understood. Gallstones are thickened stagnated bile accumulations which pack hard and block the gall ducts.

When the bile stops flowing one finds a tender spot between the navel and ribs, a coated tongue, yellow skin, nausea, sharp or colic pains.

Many patients suffering with gall bladder disorder, come to us believing they have ulcers, gastritis, etc. We find that many of these cases have been improperly diagnosed as ulcers by other doctors. Many such cases have responded immediately to our treatment of gall bladder derangements and lose all symptoms in a few days. Gallstones have been removed from many of our patients without surgery.

SKIN DISORDER

Eczema; Psoriasis, Acne, Ulcers etc., cannot be corrected unless the cause is removed.

ECZEMA: is caused by irritants in the fluids which seek outlets through the skin and mucous membranes because of the inability on the part of the sufferer to throw off waste matters through the bowels. How grave must be the effects through retention within the body of foul substances, some as poisonous as the venom of snakes, when sucked up into the blood stream and circulated through the body. In other words, when a person through constipation throws off through the lungs, kidneys and skin, a large part of the poisonous matter which ought to have been discharged through the bowel, how great must be the damage done.

PSORIASIS: must be treated the same as eczema as it is a white, mother of pearl scaly condition which forms a red base. It occurs mostly on hair growing skin. Local treatment gets temporary results but psoriasis is never cured until the systemic causes are removed.

ACNE: blackheads, inflammatory red blotches that appear on face, neck and back. The cause is a bad state of blood, plugging up of pores and sebaceous glands which is skin constipation. To correct, the blood must be cleansed.

CAUSE OF DEATH

"Metchnikoff has clearly shown," says Dr. Kellogg, M.D., of Battle Creek Sanitarium fame, "that these putrefaction germs are the cause of early degeneracy, premature old age and death. Among the worst of the putrefaction germs which are commonly found in the intestine in the deased conditions of adult life are Welch's bacillus, bacillus proteus, bacillus subtilus, streptococcus, entrococcus, bacillus putreficus, bacillus paracoli, and sometimes the typhoid bacillus. All of these germs produce most virulent poisons, and when present in the feces in large numbers they are certain proof of the existence of chronic intestinal autointoxication, even though the characteristic symptoms of autointoxication have not yet appeared. A coated tongue, a sallow complexion, dark circles around the eyes, appearance of brown spots upon the hands or other parts (the so-called liver spots), offensive breath and perspiration, the discharge of foul-smelling gases from the bowels, putrid stools, a thin, inelastic, parchment-like skin, dullness of mind, inability to concentrate the mind, mental irritability or depression, without cause, cold hands and feet, perspiration of the hands and feet, chronic headache, attacks of migraine or sick headache — these and a score of other symptoms which might be mentioned are certain indications of chronic poisoning, prompt attention to which may prevent the development of later more serious conditions, such as hardening of the arteries, Bright's disease, with albumen and casts in the urine, or apoplexy with paralysis. Grave symptoms of autointoxication do not appear until after the mechanism of the body, through which nature deals with poisons, destroying and eliminating them, has broken down and failed to accomplish its purpose as a result of the overwhelming amount of work which has been thrown upon it. Hence, the appearance of symptoms of autointoxication indicates that the body has already become crippled and that the matter must receive serious and immediate attention.

"THE COLON NOT INTENDED TO BE A SEWER. Nature never intended that the interior of the human intestine should be degraded to the condition of a privy vault or an obstructed sewer, flooding the blood with brain-and-nerve-paralyzing and disease-breeding poisons. Clean blood is a first essential for health of body and mind. Clean blood is impossible without a clean colon. Constipation is a fundamental and almost universal evil which is the root of more human ills and perhaps more human misery, moral and mental as well as physical, than any other cause. Fortunately it is not an incurable condition. The average civilized colon is badly crippled, but it may be greatly helped. An intelligent application of up-to-date knowledge of colon conditions may attain success in the most discouraging cases.

"EVERY CASE OF CONSTIPATION IS CURABLE, but not by means of any panacea. Each case must be studied and individual conditions must be dealt with in an intelligent and rational manner. The successful treatment of chronic constipation requires a careful study of each individual case in the light of modern knowledge of the physiology of the colon. The truth is that the "kinks," and most other morbid conditions which are thought to require surgical interference, are results rather than causes of the fundamental mischiefs, which MUST BE CORRECTED before any permanent benefit will be secured.

"That these measures are successful has been demonstrated by the experience of the Battle Creek Sanitarium where they have been systematically employed in the treatment of more than ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND INVALIDS within the last forty years, most of whom were suffering from chronic constipation and its consequences."

Trial Treatment $3

No Further Obligation Whatsoever

TO CORRECT THE ABOVE DISORDERS, THE CAUSE MUST BE REMOVED

Dr. Charles A. Tyrrell, M.D., says, "The physician can no more perform cures than the farmer can make his crops grow. In each case, all that can be done is to employ all the methods that cumulative wisdom can suggest to make the conditions as favorable as possible, and leave the rest to Mother Nature, who is not in the habit of making mistakes, and whose unerring methods would cure 90% of all diseased conditions, if her beneficent intentions were not frustrated by well meant, but nevertheless pernicious, drug interferences."

"My object in publishing this statement is to point out the true cause of disease, together with the means for its prevention and cure, and that, too, by a simple and inexpensive method of hygienic treatment, which has proved eminently successful in tens of thousands of cases, which is perfectly harmless and natural in its action, and absolutely free from even the suspicion of a drug. An impacted colon is a prolific hotbed for the wholesale breeding of disease germs, microbes — those organisms which science has demonstrated to be the cause of many phases of disease, or rather, the toxins (poisons) they produce, cause disease."

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of disease is to wash it out. Chest Drive Benefits All

"Barring no race or religion, the 159 health, welfare and veterans agencies, national and local, are what make up the Community Chest," said Mrs. Gertrude Hicks, in requesting volunteers to give a few days, half-days or evenings work.

Mrs. Hicks is Vice Chairman of Headquarters replacing Mrs. Mabel V. Gray who did such excellent work before finding it necessary to resign due to other interests, stated Mrs. Josephine Brown, Eastside Red Feather Chairman.

Mrs. Brown announced the new Chest Headquarters today. They are located in the Vernon Branch Public Library at 4504 South Central Avenue.

Persons interested in giving some of their time for the good of their community should go to Headquarters offices or phone ADams 3-4186.

Furniture for Headquarters was donated by Mr. Robert B. Newman, 1109 E. Vernon Avenue, Los Angeles.

Director for the Eastside Chest these past three years, Mrs. Ruby Shelby, and secretary Mrs. Mary Fisher, will be in Headquarters to aid workers and those seeking information.

INCURABLES

We have had many so-called incurables, visit our offices after having examinations, and X-rays time on end that did not disclose any organic disease and where the doctor making the diagnosis was baffled as to the cause of the patient's condition. We have found that the patient was suffering from some form of self poisoning as a result of faulty metabolism, the poisons not being eliminated through the usual channels necessary.

To correct many so-called INCURABLE diseases, the cause must be removed and can only be removed when the cause is known.

EXAMPLE: — "Putrefaction germs produce highly poisonous toxins, many of which closely resemble the venom of snakes and minute quantities are capable of producing the most alarming and distressing symptoms. A good example of the ill effects of these poisons is expressed by contact with odors arising from a dead mouse in a closet or under the floor. Although greatly diluted with air may give rise to headache, nausea, loss of appetite and other unpleasant effects. If breathing these diluted poisons will produce unpleasant effects, how much more grave must be the effect when through the retention within the body (constipation) of these foul substances their poisonous contents are sucked up into the blood and circulated through the body. In other words, when a person through constipation throws off through the lungs, kidneys and skin a large part of the poisonous matter which ought to have been discharged through the bowel, how great must be the mischief done. The ultimate effects are colitis, biliousness, gastritis, gallstones, skin diseases of various sorts, Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure, apoplexy, paralysis, nervousness, insomnia, mental depression, and even insanity. Every case of constipation is curable."

Bus Driver Segregates Passenger

No discrimination in travel in the North? Especially California and the Southwest generally? Then what do you think of this?

Mrs. Aline Hawkins, 1141 East 55 street, Los Angeles, a prominent member of the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church, was returning from the bedside of her seriously ill uncle in Phoenix, Arizona, September 16.

She boarded a greyhound bus, No. 156, in Phoenix, and took her seat near the front of the bus. The bus driver beckoned her to step outside. After complying with his request, he asked her if she wanted to go to Los Angeles. Her reply was, "Yes."

He then told her that she would have to move to the rear of the bus, or get her ticket back and get off. She complied with his command, and went to the rear of the bus.

Then, unable to pick a fuss, or perhaps sensing what he had done, he went to the rear where she was sitting, and told her that she didn't have to sit that far back. She remained where hse was, however, but all the way to Indio, California, Mrs. Hawkins said that bus driver kept his eye on her.

This statement was taken by Rev. E. A. Anderson, minister of the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church.

No discrimination in travel in the pure North? Oh, no, not at all!!

Chamber Announces 60th Anniversary Committee Members

Appointment of committeemen who will help publicize the celebration next month of the 60th anniversary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, was announced this week by Charles E. Arnn, publicity committee chairman.

"This anniversary, which represents 60 years of achievement, certainly is a noteworthy one. For, of course, the Chamber has played and continues to play a very important role in the business, industrial, and agricultural development of Los Angeles county," Arnn said.

His committeemen include Floyd Maxwell, chairman of the Los Angeles Newspaper Publishers' Association; Jim Bishop, public relations counsellor; Jimmy Vandiveer, American Broadcasting Corp.; John R. West, West-Marquis, Inc.; and D. M. Rutherford, editor of the California Citrograph. Worth Larkin, publicity director of the Chamber, was named secretary.

Make a Call As You Ride Along In Your Auto

Mobile telephone service in Southern California has been extended to cover highways along the costal plain generally between Los Angeles and San Diego as The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company made available its new facilities to provide two-way communication between telephones in vehicles and other telephones that connect with Bell System lines.

A combination of both radio and telephone lines, this service will be avaliable to vehicles, provided that they are in range of the radio-telephone stations. Initially this new service will be on a very limited scale as only one channel of communication is available.

The radio-telephone facilities, which are an integral part of the telephone system, consist of transmitters located on Verdugo Peak (north of Glendale) and on Mt. Woodson (near San Diego) and pick-up receivers at strategic points in the serving area. Subscribers to the service will have a radio-telephone receiver and transmitter in their vehicles.

Watch Our for Kids Scooting to School

The back-to-school period presents an added load on Los Angeles' already critical traffic problem with thousands of children going to and returning home from school. For maximum safety of school children, the motorist must slow down, drive carefully and be especially alert in residential and school areas, the Police Department says.

A particular problem this year will be caused by the increased number of motor scooters and powered bicycles being used for school transportation. Many junior and senior high schools reported an increasing number of power cycles and motor scooters as a means of transportation to and from school by teen-age students at the end of the last school year.

All motor scooters and power cycles must be registered with the Department of Motor Vehicles, according to the California State Vehicle Code, say the Police, and any person operating these vehicles on the highway must have in his or her possession a valid operator's license at all times.

Open Letter to Churches Poses Question: Radio Time or Human Beings?

(Editor's Note: This open letter was received this week by The California Eagle, and was deemed sufficiently important to be presented to the public for serious consideration.)

To the Churches, Especially the Air-Minded Churches and Ministers, and the Serious-Thinking People of Los Angeles and Other Cities and Communities:

Dear Friends:

I am sure there are a lot of people who enjoy listening to radio church programs. You can turn your dial every hour of the day on Sunday, and get a Negro program from 7 a.m. to 12 p.m. We who are able to have radios enjoy comparing these programs. Some of us write in to the stations, and get our names on the air.

There may be a few who are really sincere in doing these things. But is the satisfaction and the joy we get sufficient to justify the large amount of money spent on these programs, when there are hundreds of small children living and playing on the streets of Little Tokyo, Fifth street, and in other districts that are unfit for the proper rearing of children? The unfortunate parents who live here cannot find other places to live because of those children. They cannot get anything but scrubbing and other menial jobs that pay the lowest wages. This, too, prevents them living in more desirable sections of the city.

But most of these families have radios. If we or they should visit the radio stations, however, whose programs we listen to so eagerly, would we find Negro technicians, Negro announcers, Negro secretaries at the desks? Why do we pay in our money to these radio stations, merely in order to get our names on the air? Why not pool the finances we are spending on radio stations, and eventually get one of our own? There would be some point, then, in listening to a Negro program coming from a Negro station.

On almost every other corner among our people, you will find liquor stores, not owned by members of our race, which take away huge sums of money thereby making our people poorer and poorer. We fret about businessmen not giving our people jobs. Do we want our young folk coming out of school with learning and ambition, only to find that the only positions open to them are liquor stores and night-clubs? Yet these places get a large proportion of our hard-earned money.

How about the winos on our streets? They are sick, and need our help, and if you search among them you will find well educated people who with no opportunity have lost their grip on life. Some of them got their education through the hard labor of parents who were poor but who wanted their children to have the opportunities they could not enjoy. But they wandered into the liquor stores, and now lie in the gutters of the streets which they should be walking proudly with heads up.

We need institutions for these people, to help them get back on their feet again. We need institutions that will teach our young men and women to be good fathers and mothers, and how to rear their children in the right way.

Ministers: Leave your cars in the garage two or three times a week, ride the street cars and busses, and observe the conduct of too many of our people. You have a fine opportunity to teach our people how to live as well as to die. Teach them how to ride a street car intelligently. Get up early some morning. Go to the street car line, and see our old mothers boarding the street cars going to work. Some carrying sticks, who should be retired.

Ministers, and other leaders: We need you so badly. We need to be taught to buy homes instead of expensive automobiles. "The things thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also." And in another Scripture, we find this: "How shall they know, unless they be taught?"

We talk about the sick and the shut-ins. What are we doing to help? Our radio singing may be good, but how much help? Why not orgainze our shut-ins and old age pensioners into neighborhood groups to help one another? The old ladies could make themselves as useful by piecing quilts, making diapers, bands, etc.

Ministers: Who among you will be a Moses for our people, and lead us to Canaan? We need your help so badly. Get down with us. Know our needs. Know your congregations, and how they earn their money. Visit around among some of those places where there are five and six or even more living in one room. If you did, I believe you would ask yourself the question then: Will I do more good helping one of these families; or by buying time from a radio station?

Ministers Aid Urban League Member Drive

Messrs. Bernard Jefferson and Bonar Dyar are reportedly very enthusiastic about the hearty response that has been received from the ministers of the various churches in establishing September 26 as Urban League Sunday. Several ministers have stated:

"I am very willing to have Urban League representatives come to my church to solicit memberships because I believe that the work done by this Agency is a very worthwhile contribution to the community."

"Certainly every member of every church should join the Urban League. Their membership fee is not a contribution; it is an investment. Thousands of new jobs not previously occupied by Negroes have been made available through the efforts of this Organization."

Chairmen Jefferson and Dyer received an unusual letter of appreciation from a man who had received a job through the Urban League twenty years ago. He recently met a member of the Urban League staff and reminded him that the Urban League had been responsible for securing his first job.

More than 200 persons have recently joined the Urban League friends circle. These new members are also inviting their friends to join the League.

Pettis Perry Sees Fascist Terror Here

Indictment of the Communist Party's top leadership, like the police terror against minorities, is a prelude to wiping out democracy in the United States.

This was the charge made today by Pettis Perry, head of the Minorities Commission of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, as Los Angeles awaited Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, member of the Communist Party's national committee.

Mrs. Flynn, veteran defender of civil rights, will speak at the Embassy Auditorium Monday, September 27, 8:15 p. m.

Among 12 leaders indicted and up for trial Oct. 15 is Benjamin Davis, New York City's only Negro councilman, Henry Winston, national organizational secretary of the party, also a Negro; Irving Potash, general manager of the International Fur Workers Union, CIO, and Carl Winter, well known as a leader of the unemployed movement during the depression of the early 1930's.

As national chairman of the International Labor Defense she was active in defense of the Scotsboro boys, the fight to save Sacco and Vanzetti, martyred labor heroes, and in defense of William Z. Foster, now head of the Communist Party, U. S. A., arrested at the height of the Palmer Raids following World War I and one of the 12 now indicted.

The Monday night rally will protest this "thought control" move as a move toward fascism.

All attending the rally are being urged to bring canned food contributions for embattled maritime and oil strikers.

TOLEDANO ASSAILS IMPERIALISM IN "UNDERGROUND" SPEACH TO AMERICAN LABOR

Over 3,000 persons heard Vincente Lombardo Toledano, fiery leader of Latin-American labor forces, deliver a speech commemorating Mexico's fight for freedom last Sunday afternoon outside the CIO building at Slauson and Avalon. Toledano had been denied a visa to enter the United States from his native Mexico, but his voice was there in person, through transcription.

Acting as proxy for Toledano at the closing session of the three-day Freedom Fiesta held by the CIO Council in observance of Mexico's liberation, was Braulio Maldonada, who is the Baja, California, representative in the Mexican national congress and a former law student of Toledano's.

Charlotta A. Bass, editor-publisher of the California Eagle and a local and national official of the Progressive Party, joined with Philip M. Connelly, secretary of the Los Angeles CIO Council, and William Lawrence, CIO Council president and chairman of the occasion, to salute the Mexican people and to protest the denial of a visa to Toledano.

The full text of the "underground speech delivered by Toledano follows:

Compatriots and brothers of Mexico that live in California; friends and fellow workers of the United States:

On two occasions we, the workers of Mexico, have commemorated on Mexican soil the independence of the United States. I had the honor and satisfaction on these occasions to express our judgment regarding the historical significance of the birth of Washington's great country and of the special influence that this event had on the revolutions for independence from Spain by the colonies in the western hemisphere. I pointed out the similarities and differences that have united and disunited Mexico and the United States in the course of their history and concluded by stating the need to make of the relations between our peoples, ties based on the economic progress of Mexico and the rest of the Latin-American countries, and the extension of their democratic institutions, the reciprocal respect between all nations of the continent so that we might achieve an exemplary association of 20 free and sovereign nations instead of an empire of 20 colonies.

For the first time, thanks to the invitation of the Los Angeles CIO Council, I was offered the opportunity to speak on United States soil to a great meeting honoring Mexico's independence; but I will not be able to do so in person because the United States embassy in Mexico has denied me a visa. Never before has this happened. Even in the periods of strained relations between Mexico and the United States, United States authorities never denied me entry. It is today, when this happens, at a time when the ties between our peoples are closer and more sincere than ever, since in the last few years are CIO, as well as the CTAL, have determined to build the neighborliness of the United States and our people of Spanish origin, a neighborliness that is friendly, sincere, profound and permanent despite those incidents that might occur today or tomorrow in the relations between our governments.

The prohibition against my entry into the United States does not offend me. It honors me because I well know that the denial does not come from the democratic forces of your country, instead from those that would like to make of Mexico an abject colony to the imperialistic monopoly. The prohibition honors me because it means that I am discharging my work as a Mexican patriot through my efforts to prevent the influence of those foorces upon the life of my country, influences that have deformed the course of Mexico's history and that have impeded its economic and social progress and do everything possible to prevent Mexico from becoming a nation with complete independence.

I opposed the so-called Clayton Plan since the Chapultupec conferences held in February of 1945, because that plan had as an objective making us a dependence of the United States and transforming our country from a semi-colonial nation that we unfortunately have always been, to a satelite colony of the great American power. I opposed what is known as the Truman plan which constitutes the subjecting of armies of the Latin-American nations to the armies of the United States.

At the same time increasing the armaments of our poor countries to improve the backward agricultural economy and the development of industry to produce at least, articles of prime necessity for the food and shelter of the people; instead of guns, ships and war planes. No nation threatens us and an armament program in Latin-America in the face of the poverty in which we live, would deepen dangerously the plight of the great masses and would stop at once the feeble advances that we have been able to make in industrial growth.

I opposed, and continue to oppose, the idea that our nation should accept the Havana agreement which, in new form, is the old Clayton Plan as presented at Chapultupec, which has as its objectives making us rotate forever within the economic orb of the United States, making impossible the emancipation of our nations. I opposed, in the same manner, the American monopolists that engage themselves in a violent fashion in the internal affairs of our nation, trampling our democratic institutions and avenues of development. I have opposed all the dark forces that try to make impossible the economic welfare of the masses and the industrial development of our nations as well as the true independence of all Latin-Americans.

On the other hand, I have been a soldier in the service of individual liberties, and collective rights for the independence of the colonial and semi-colonial peoples of all the world; a soldier fighting for the democratic institutions of all nations based on the inalienable right to self-determination. This essentially is my political creed and has been the motivating objective of my life. Against my conduct over a period of years an avalanche of interminable, libelous attacks have been directed, depicting me as I am not and trying to destroy the organizations that I have helped to create among them the CTAL.

But nothing or no one can stop the struggle in Mexico nor in the rest of the Latin-American countries, because the force that impels us is not alone a personal conviction, but the underlying spirit of our history and the drive of our people's efforts in our dramatic history.

The program of the CTAL is inspired by the experiences of many struggles for national independence over a period of more than 100 years; independence that we have not as yet achieved completely. It is history that has fixed our objectives. It is the people, themselves, that have advised us and have given us the words to say at the opportune moments; like buck privates of our peoples, we are invulnerable because even though our lives might end, this would not stop the desire for the emancipation of our country, nor would it extinguish the burning anti-imperialist spirit of the 120 million Latin-Americans.

This is why I have not been permitted to enter the United States on this occasion. This is the crime that I am guilty of. Of defending the living traditions of our peoples and defending achievements of Miguel Hidalgo Costilla, of Jose Maria Morelos, of Benito Juarez, of Francisco I Madero, of Simon Bolivar, of Jose de San Martin, of Bernardo O. Higgins, of Francesco Morazan, and of Jose Marti. Toward this objective I have contributed in the building in my country a popular party that has thousands of militant individuals from the various groupings of our society and that far from being an obstacle to the better relations between Mexico and the United States, constitutes an ideological avenue, such as the other institutions in which I have taken part for the understanding of our peoples.

The great Abraham Lincoln was a true friend of Mexico. Franklin D. Roosevelt was also a sincere friend of my country. They were the founders of the good-neighbor policy. Others, whose names I do not wish to remember now have been the founders of the bad-neighbor policy that is being renewed once more at this time.

In spite of this, I hold to the conviction that this present international policy of the United States that carries with it violence, discrimination and enmity toward our peoples will be transitory and that very soon we shall return once more to the relations that existed between our peoples in the spirit of Lincoln and Roosevelt.

Thank you, friends and United States fellow workers of the CIO for commemorating Mexico's independence. Thank you for carrying out the magnificent work of the CIO that tends to make of our American continent, just as we desire, an association of friendly nations each respecting the other without intention to dominate or to subject the weak to the strong.

The world is living through a difficult period but I have the hope that there will not be a new war imminently but that instead we will live very soon in a period of constructive peace for the welfare of all. If the imperialist forces that try to provoke a new war are powerful, the ones that struggle for peace are even more powerful and are determined to stop a new catastrophe that would effect all equally; the small and the great, the rich and the poor, the backward countries and those that have reached the highest point of development. In the American continent from everywhere there is a resurgence of new political forces that have as an objective the maintenance of peace and the fulfillment of the needs of Latin-America.

The fight for peace is our common objective at this time. Unmask the forces of war. Move the positive peace forces in each country in order to stop the criminal determination of the forces of retrogression and barbarianism. Peace means moral and material welfare. It is synonomous with economic, social and cultural development. War stands for hatred, and division, and the loss of our best material and human rights.

Remembering the many centuries of my people in order to forge a nation and afterwards to make the weak nation an independent one in all of its phases of life, I pay tribute, not only to the heroes of my country in all periods of history, but also to the millions of humble men and women that fought and died in 1810, in 1847, in 1857, in 1862 and in 1910 to build a motherland for the Mexican people.

Fellow workers and friends of the United States, the Mexican people are a great people, a people made up of Indians and other nationalities with a fighting spirit, with a high feeling of personal decorum and with a profound pride of heritage. If, as of today, we have not achieved an equality in civilization nor a full culture, it is due to our internal and external enemies.

Mexico is a rich country. Our land is full of oil and of precious metals. Our forests have fine woods and botanical riches that have been envied since the 16th century by many. Its oceans hold within them riches that we have scarcely touched. But all this natural wealth is insignificant when compared to its greatest treasures, the Mexican people. Have confidence in them. Understand them. Learn about them. And the day will come when the emancipated Mexican nation and its people will be in a position to contribute not only in the relations between nations in the western hesisphere and to the peace of the world, but also to the general orientation of thought that will some day guide all men regardless of race, religion or language.

Long live the friendship between the people of the United States and the people of Mexico. Death to imperialism. Long live eternal peace between the peoples of the world.

scholar as "the most forceful spokesman of the rise of the common man of the American Negro," Robeson praised him for working out "the historic NAACP petition to the United Nations, pointing out America's role in oppressing the Negro people of this country while pretending to espouse the cause of American democracy abroad."

"This patriarch of the Negro people will not be silenced," Robeson said. "His voice will not die. For, as long as he shall draw breath he will be heard. Dr. DuBois's faith in the Progressive Party, which is the real basis of the anger thus vented against him, will be vindicated by all progressive people who hold dear his leadership and inspiration."

DuBois Fired By NAACP Trial Over Politics

His Failure to Agree On White's European Jaunt Is the Reason

NEW YORK, — Following unauthorized publication of the contents of an intra-office memorandum assailing the NAACP's acceptance of an invitation to send a representative to Paris to serve as a consultant to the U. S. delegation at the General Assembly of the United Nations, the NAACP board of directors passed a motion declaring "that it will not be in the best interest of the Association to continue the employment of Dr. (W.E.B.) DuBois as a staff member beyond the term of his present contract," which expires on December 31. The board's action, NAACP president Arthur B. Spingarn said, was taken "with deep regret."

In a memorandum, dated September 7 and addressed jointly to Walter White, secretary, and the board of directors, Dr. DuBois, the Association's director of special research, said he was "unable to comply" with Mr. White's request to attend a small meeting of staff and board members to discuss matters likely to come up at the Paris meeting to which the NAACP secretary was being sent as a consulant.

Dr. DuBois, who, along with Mr. White and Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, served as a consultant at the founding conference of the United Nations in San Francisco in 1945, expressed disapproval of the acceptance of the invitation to again be represented. Participation, he charged "ties us in with the reactionary, war-mongering colonial imperialism of the present administration."

In announcing the board action, Mr. Spingarn made the following statement:

"I am sure that I express the opinion of all the members of the board when I say that it is with deep regret that they felt the necessity for passing this motion. Dr. DuBois was one of the founders of the Association and for many years his voice was the voice of this organization.

His contributions to the Association and the cause have been inestimable. He is one of the greatest leaders of his race and will long be remembered gratefully by all who value human freedom."

NAACP Dues Raised to $2

New York, — Confirming the action taken by the annual conference, the board of directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People voted to raise the minimum membership dues to $2.00 annually. The vote, taken at the regular board meeting on September 13, marked the first increase in the basic membership fee of $1.00 since the founding of the organization in 1910.

Asserting that rising prices had forced the change, Gloster B. Current, director of branches, said: "In this period of inflation, every citizen interested in civil rights and the program of the NAACP will understand the necessity for the increase in dues. Many of the branches have long recognized that a dollar a year is too cheap a price to pay for freedom."

Prosecution Requested in Nixon Death

NEW YORK,—Prosecution of the two brothers responsible for the Georgia election day slaying of Isiah Nixon, 28-year-old Negro, was strongly urged by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in a telegram sent to Governor M. E. Thompson of Georgia.

Mr. Nixon was killed because he insisted on voting in Georgia's Democratic primary election on September 8 after he had been advised not to do so.

In the telegram to the Georgia governor, NAACP Special Counsel Thurgood Marshall urged Governor Thompson to use his full authority to intervene in the election slaying and to push vigorously the presecution of the guilty men.

Name Candidate Against Nixon In 12th District

Pioneer Housewife 'Extremely Happy' To Accept Nomination

Mrs. Una W. Rice, Rosemead housewife, has been named Congressional candidate of the Independent Progressive Party in the 12th district, to be the only opponent of Republican Congressman Richard Nixon, member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Nixon won both the Republican and Democratic nominations in the primaries and would have been unopposed in the November election if there had been no Independent Progressive Party candidate. The Independent Progressive Party is the only party legally able to place a candidate on the ballot in opposition to Nixon.

Mrs. Rice was recommended by Independent Progressive Party leaders in the 12th district including State Committeemen Edwin Jobe of Covina; Louis R. Friedman of Temple City, who also is IPP candidate for State Assembly from the 50th district; Robert Kennard of Monrovia; Richard H. Crockett of Puente; Russell M. Ruffner of Wilmar, and IPP County Central Committeemen Fred D. Darden of Monrovia; Paul G. Worthy of El Monte; Earl M. Edison of Alhambra, and Robert W. Large of San Gabriel.

Acting on the recommendation, the State Executive Committee of the Independent Progressive Party in a special meeting in San Francisco, formally appointed Mrs. Rice and has complied with all legal requirements.

Mrs. Rice, member of a pioneer American family who came West in a covered wagon, tonight said she was "extremely happy" to accept the Independent Progressive Party nomination to run for Congresswoman in opposition to Nixon.

"I have held no public office," said Mrs. Rice, "but neither had Mr. Nixon before he was elected two years ago. If I can't do a better job for my district than the present Congressman, then I don't know how I've been able to solve the problems of managing my household and raising a family."

The meeting proceeded without interruption with Frances Williams, Progressive Party Assembly candidate, representatives of the striking longshoremen and others speaking. Support was voted for the longshoremen's strike, and plans were made to demand Grand Jury investigation of the Burns killing and other instances of police brutality.

Rayfield Lundy, a young attorney, told the meeting he plans to sue the city for false arrest, and he offered to represent any organization free of charge in a fight for civil liberties.

Spokesmen for the group plan to continue the campaign against police brutality in the Watts area, and a meeting will be held there in the near future.

The fight against the so-called loyalty check has been going on since August, 1947, when the Board of Supervisors ordered all County Employees to sign an affidavit listing affiliation and support of 142 organizations compiled by the Tenney Committee.

It has been intensified by dismissal of 17 employees who refused to sign the affidavit. These 17 are appealing for reinstatement to their jobs. Seventy-three employees who refused to sign the list of organizations are being subjected to discrimination and intimidation.

the floor of the House this policy of discrimination against Negroes at Constitution Hall.

Now insult has been added to injury in the following incident:

Ethiopia's minister to the U. S., Ras (Prince) H. S. Imru, was politely ejected from the diplomatic section of Constitution Hall, Washington fortress of the D. A. R. and white supremacy, Monday night. The affair, which may yet attain the status of an international incident, occurred at the opening session of the meeting of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

The AAAS, headed by Dr. Harlow Shapley of Harvard University, sent box seat tickets for the meeting to all of the Washington Embassies and Legations, including the Ethiopian Legation. Ras Imru arrived alone, presented his ticket and was shown to his box. A few minutes later, however, an usher entered the box and explained to the Ethiopian diplomat that a special section in the orchestra had been reserved for members of his race. Ras Imru smilingly thanked the usher, left the hall, got into his automobile and drove back to the Legation.

The incident occurred just as President Truman was entering the hall to make an address of welcome to the scientists, and in the stir caused by the Presidental's arrival the diplomatic incident went unnoticed except by a few persons nearby.

Ras Imru is a close relative of Emperor Haile Selassie. He was commander-in-chief of Ethiopian troops on the Shire front in the war with Italy and was captured and imprisoned for six years.

He has been Ethiopia's chief representative in the U. S. for the past two years, during which he and members of his family have several times been humiliated because of the capital's Jim Crow practices. Last night he had not decided whether or not he would make an official protest to the State Dept. over the Constitution Hall incident.

Fingerprints Help Find Lost Persons

A missing person needs help before he is lost!

To protect those who are dear to you, assist the Missing Persons Detail of the Los Angeles Police Department by observing the following protective measures.

When a person is missing, call public agencies, the Receiving Hospital, and the General Hospital for information. Then if you can obtain no information, the nearest police station should be notified and given a good description and history of the missing person. Remember that such information is confidential, and will be given only to those who need it to help you.

The best protection is to have fingerprints on file. A criminal is afraid of fingerprints, but for the missing person and their families, fingerprinting is a friend in need.

Congresswoman Advises 'Yes' On 13 and 14

1500 voters from the 14th Congressional District heard the Rev. Clayton D. Russell, pastor of the People's Independent Church of Christ, call for a decisive defeat of reaction in the district by the re-election of Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas. The district rally was held at Embassy Auditorium with Councilman G. Vernon Bennett presiding.

Assemblyman Glenn Anderson and Fay Allen, former Board of Education Member, also spoke, and the choir of the People's Independent Church sang several selections.

Mrs. Douglas called for 'YES' votes on propositions 13 and 14, and an emphatic 'NO' vote on proposition 3. She assailed the 80th Congress for its do-nothing record on matters of housing and price control and for flirting with big business.

had worked closely with and advised Count Bernadotte.

Bunche, who was the head of the political science department of Howard university in Washington, D. C., is a Ph.D. from Harvard with a political science major. He was an honor student at the University of California, and he is remembered there as a brilliant athlete.

During the late war Dr. Bunche was associated with the Office of Strategic Services and the State Department. He is considered a highly trustworthy and capable government attache.

Charged, as he is now, with the responsibility of negotiating in a conflict that might well precipitate World War III should it get out of hand, Bunche is one of the present day's most vital personalities. Much of the success of the whole peace offensive depends upon his handling of the Palestine crisis.

It is not likely that he will deviate from the tendency toward partition with complete UN backing that was reportedly the position favored by the late Count Bernadotte. There is some indication reported that it was Dr. Bunche's influence that strengthened Bernadotte's belief in partition.

Speculation regarding the United States' position on De Jure recognition of the Palestine State has cropped up again, since Bunche's elevation, and in some quarters it is believed the likelihood of recognition, so appealingly asked for by Dr. Chaim Weizman in Geneva earlier, is closer.

manded the two ladies to "drive where I tell ya'." He was seated comfortably in the back seat, menacing the two ladies with a very ugly looking pistol.

After driving around for a few hours (really, it was actually a few minutes; it just seemed that long to Geraldine and Marie) the dapper bandit asked the ladies to please remove all cash from their purses and hand it back to him, which they did. He released the two of $59.00 cash, but overlooked more than a thousand dollars in jewelry the two women were wearing. He politely thanked the ladies, got out of the car and walked slowly toward Vine street.

Geraldine and Marie drove fast toward home!

There they reported the incident to the police.

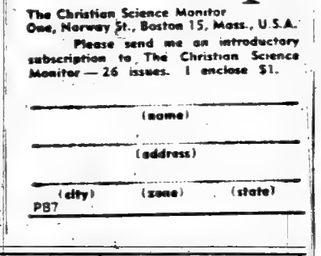
Democrats Hit Truman, Pledge Wallace Support



Publicly proclaiming that free Democrats cannot support Harry S. Truman for president because of his record, the Los Angeles County Committee of Democrats for Wallace have warned Democratic officials that local candidates will be defeated if they are tied to the Truman collapse.

The committee's statement appearing in a four-page brochure, titled "Why Democrats Must Be For Wallace," bluntly charges that Truman does not have the support to get out the votes of Democrats, and that only Henry A. Wallace has such support and can get out the Democratic vote. The leaflet further charges that Tweedledum Truman and Tweedle-Dewey are both nominees of Wall Street with identical aims, and credits Wallace with being the only candidate who carries on the good fight of F. D. R.

The published bill of particulars against Truman outlines 14 major points wherein Truman almost wrecked the Democratic Party, and it reveals what allegedly went on behind the scenes at the Republican and Democratic National Conventions at Philadelphia.

The brochure was issued by the local group of Democrats for Wallace, comprising duly elected members of the Los Angeles County Democratic Central Committee from all nine congressional districts, through its Educational subcomimttee.

Allen to Back Investigation Of Burns Case

Councilman Suggests Citizens Group Seek Grand Jury Action

City Councilman Don A. Allen has announced that he will back up action of a citizens committee which is pressing for a Grand Jury investigation of the police killing of a Los Angeles Negro war veteran. The veteran, Herman Burns, 28, died Sunday, August 22, while being beaten by Los Angeles police officers. He was attempting to take his brother, Julius Burns, to a doctor after an argument in a dance hall.

The delegation to Allen from the Justice for Burns Citizens Committee was headed by Frances E. Williams, candidate for Assembly in the 63rd District on the Independent Progressive Party ticket. A letter from the group asked Councilman Allen to introduce a resolution for further investigation of the case in the City Council.

Allen recommended that the delegation ask the Grand Jury for such an investigation. "If you find it necessary I will write a letter to the Grand Jury backing the committee's request. I approve of an independent investigation.

Members of the delegation included Dr. W. Z. Gordon of the Independent Progressive Party, Mrs. Mae Goldman of the Hollywood Women's Council, Frances Lym of the Mexican-American chapter of the Civil Rights Congress, George Gusman, business representative of the United Electrical Workers, Local No. 1421, and Seymour Mandel, attorney from the American Veterans' Committee.

A White American Denounces Black Jim Crow

I shall not live at peace with Jim Crow.

So states a pledge taken by members of the Civil Rights Congress.

As a white American, with an abiding faith in our Constitution and a democratic hatred for practices which degrade and humiliate men because of race, religion, nationality, or color, I refuse to live any longer with the shame of our nation—white supremacy.

Its evils have plagued our fair land too long. They have defiled all decent ways of living for decent Americans. They have sapped our people's moral strength and, in the eyes of the rest of the world, have turned the torch of liberty into a symbol of racist arrogance.

I know that our country cannot survive and flourish as a free land and remain a land of Jim Crow.

Therefore in the spirit of Thomas Jefferson, who swore "eternal hostility against every form of tyrany over the mind of man," I pledge eternal hostility against discrimination, segregation and prejudice.

I pledge to refuse to abide by laws, rules, customs, that degrade my fellow Americans through discrimination segregation or Jim Crow.

I pledge no peace with those who support the alien and abhorrent evils. Instead, I shall work daily to abolish hatred of man by man and to create a respect for human rights and the dignity of all men.

This is a pledge that can and should be signed by everyone, whether a member of the Civil Rights Congress or not.

Let's At Least Be Fair

Some months ago when Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, spoke at the Second Baptist Church in this city, he definitely and in no uncertain terms criticized Henry Wallace in these words: "Henry Wallace is going about saying brave words about discrimination against Negroes. We wish he could have been as explicit when he was Secretary of Commerce, and did not appoint a single Negro to office in his department."

While Mr. White did not openly endorse either Truman or Dewey, his veiled recommendations were to the effect that either of these, but never Henry Wallace.

Dr. W. E. B. Du Bois, the rock on which the N. A. A. C. P. was built, is a strong man. He never works in the dark. He is a true advocate of racial advancement and human rights.

This week Dr. DuBois, who is research director of the N. A. A. C. P., accused "various members of the N. A. A. C. P. of carrying on political activity in violation of the organization's announced policy of non-participation in partisan politics.

His charges were contained in a memorandum which he sent to the N. A. A. C. P. Board of Directors, explaining his refusal to do research for Mr. White's trip to Europe as a consultant to the United States delegation to the United Nations General Assembly which meets this month in Paris.

Opposes Tie With Truman

Dr. DuBois told the board that acceptance of the consultantship without a clear, public declaration of its position on foreign policy would tie the association to the foreign policy of the Truman Administration.

The board met later and approved Mr. White's going to Paris as a consultant.

Dr. DuBois, who is also foreign policy director for the association, was called upon Tuesday by Mr. White to attend a committee meeting and to furnish a memorandum for use at the Paris conference.

Dr. DuBois refused to attend the meeting called by his superior officer. He declared that the no-political rule of the Associaton should apply to all officials and not only to a few. "If we are to be ...ded on the Truman band wagon (as ...hould be by attending the Paris con... in his opinion) with no chance ...n of our own, we are headed ...e"

Wallace Arouses Desire to Vote In Dixie

Henry Wallace's campaign below the Mason and Dixon line, if it has done nothing else, has at least aroused a desire among the Negroes of the South to exericse their American rights to help elect the officials of their government.

Many are still afraid, however. They remember what has happened too often when a Negro has attempted to approach the ballot box. "Go 'way from here," said a Negro, when a reporter asked him how he felt about Wallace. "We got to live down here."

Nevertheless politicians predict that at least 700,000 Negroes will vote in November in Dixie. And that Henry Wallace will get most if not all of those votes. The Progressive Party has a person-to-person drive on to get people to register and vote. The big majority of these register Progressive.

Even if Henry Wallace is not elected president, even if he does not "carry the South," as we believe he could if the voters were given a real opportunity and were not afraid of their lives if they dared approach an election booth, the fact that he has aroused in these Southern citizens of America a desire to take a greater part in their government, is a service whose benefit to real Americanism cannot be overestimated.

West View Moves On

West View Hospital, at 54th and Main streets, the first inter-racial, non-sectarian, non-profit hospital in Los Angeles, was the grateful recipient of a check for $1000 from the West View Hospital Women's Guild last week.

This hospital, which was begun last May, represents the hopes and dreams of thousands of people in Los Angeles. Its building has been called the story of Democracy in action.

It was begun through the efforts of a group of prominent citizens, realizing the shocking shortage of hospital facilities for the people of Los Angeles who did not always have the means to pay, demanded by too many of the hospitals of the city. More shocking was the realization that many times members of minority groups, especially Negroes, were refused admittance to these private places of healing. And the General Hospital could not accommodate all.

Everyone was asked to join in this noble enterprise. For, if West View was to be a hospital for all, it should be a hospital in which all the people had a part in building.

The response was immediate and heart-warming. More than 85 of the city's best-known leaders became interested at once, and the people of the city gladly followed their leadership. Paul R. Williams, well-known architect, was engaged to design the hospital, and ground was broken for the building on May 23.

That was last spring. Difficulties have attended the erection of West View, however. No matter how eager the hearts of the people were to give to this splendid monument to real democracy, the high prices of food, the next to impossible feats of ingenuity required to get a home, sapped the strength and the financial means from those who had hoped to help, and the money to build did not come in as expected.

In thanking the Women's Guild for its magnificent check of $1000, Mr. Allen C. Woodard, 3rd, president of the Board of Directors, pointed out that "this money comes at a time when it is most needed." Mr. Woodard then explained that although work on the construction of the first unit has been slowed up because of lack of funds, the contract for the building of the hospital is still in existence, and it is hoped that enough money will soon be raised from the people of the community to resume construction by the first of the year.

The money which has been donated thus far by the friends of West View has made possible the completion of a 5000 square-foot basement consisting of 19 rooms, with plumbing and electrical work, and a portion of the exterior and interior walls of the first floor. This represents an investment of more than $150,000.

Mrs. Glenna Hayes, president of the Women's Guild, who presented the $1000 check, said that the money was earned through the active work of the members of the Guild and included the proceeds from a fiesta held recently.

So West View can depend upon its women, if upon no one else, to secure the wherewithal to build its walls. By fiestas, suppers, rummage sales, luncheons, dinners, by ringing door bells and soliciting from house to house, the women of the community will raise the funds somehow. The men, we hope, will not let themselves be outdone by their wives and sisters and sweethearts, and united all will carry West View on to completion, and the service it will render this community.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

"The pattern of cooperation between the pro-fascist forces in the United States and the American Legion leadership is conclusive," writes Justin Gray, former assistant director of the American Legion's Americanism Commission, in a recent article in The New Republic.

"Just as the Stahlhelm led the German veterans into the Nazi movement following World War I, the American Legion, under its present leadership, might well become the channel through which the American veterans were mobilized behind a fascist cause in this country."

This attitude of the American Legion, Gray traces directly to the baneful influence of a veteran by the name of Homer Chaillaux who served as director of the National Americanism Commission from 1934 to 1945, and dominated the Legion hierarchy until his death in 1946.

The ideal of Americanism under such leadership as Chaillaux nominated as heroes for the youth of America to emulate, men like Martin Dies, Hamilton Fish, George Sylvester Viereck, who served a jail sentence for being a Nazi propagandist; and of course Bilbo, Rankin and their ilk.

And although Chaillaux is no longer in the ranks of the Legion, his "ghost remains much in evidence," says Justin Gray. The YMCA, the YWCA, Eleanor Roosevelt, Albert Einstein, Justice Frankfurter, and scores, even hundreds, of lesser lights in our American way of life have been characterized by him, and are still so labeled, as being subversive and "Red." Mrs. Roosevelt, according to Chaillaux, was an agent of the Kremlin.

The Legion keeps a filing system on "subversive activities" at its national headquarters in Indianapolis. This includes lists not only of organizations which the Legion deems subversive, but also the names of individuals who are "suspect." Letters from all sorts of crackpots are carefully filed away, even though there is not a shred of evidence that the accusations they voice against persons they do not like, have any truth in them.

Mr. Gray says he has seen letters referring to Gerald L. K. Smith as "that fine Christian American," and others which dubbed Walter Winchell as "a Russian Jew and a Communist." Others praise the Ku Klux Klan, and slander the memory of Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Not one letter from any one thus verging on the lunatic fringe, is thrown away. All are carefully filed away for future reference. And some are taken seriously enough to warrant an investigation by the National Americanism Commission.

Mr. Gray tells how his boss "Doc" Sherwood showed him some correspondence from an individual of the screwy type, who declared the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) was "dangerous and insidious." And the director of the American Legion's Americanism Commission told him, Gray, to follow up this letter with research into the "subversive" potentialities of the UNESCO!

Now what can we do about this? The members of the American Legion, of course, must be aroused. But, says Mr. Gray, "all men of good will in America should begin to give some serious consideration to the danger of allowing the American Legion to remain under its present leadership. Today we can no longer turn our backs on potential fascism. The Legion leaders exist and they rule. They will not relinquish their control of the Legion membership unless strong, concerted pressure is brought to bear upon them — both from within and without the Legion.

"It won't be easy," continues Mr. Gray. "The Chaillaux mentality will not die without a fight. But unless the American Legion is freed from this type of leadership, the worlds of past National Commander Alvin Owsley may prove to be even truer than he realized.

"'Do not forget,' Owsley said, 'that the fascists are to Italy what the American Legion is to the United States.'"

And as we read the clouds grow darker, and fear holds up spellbound. What can we do? We must elect a government which will stamp out with ruthless determination this spreading danger to real Americanism. We must elect Henry Wallace, of course. But we must do much, much more than that. We must elect a Congress that will go all down the line for the four freedoms for all the people, for liberty and the pursuit of happiness for all. To do less would be a tragedy.

The August Report

Mrs. Geraldine Bates, 2864 Clay Avenue reported to president Dennis V. Allen the following: She was employed as an "alteration expert" at Flagg Cleaners, 3108 Fairmont Avenue, and that the plant owner insisted upon usuages of the word "nigger" in her presence when referring to colored citizens, therefore, she resigned her position. At the local State Employment Office in applying for another job, she was told by a clerk she had no good reason to quit her job, therefore, she disqualified herself for employment consideration for a period of six months. Mrs. Bates brought her case to the attention of president Allen who promtly took her to Mr. Burt Allen, manager of the local State Employment Office where he defended her in resigningf. After examining facts in the case, the manager immediately restored her as eligible for ready employment.

Mrs. Carl Saunders, her daughter, and a youth, all of Dulzura, Calif., called for and were denied table service at Johnson's Spa, a cafe located at 317 University Ave. This case was reported to the Society and now being handled by Bert Brown, Race Relations Attorney who will prosecute.

Mrs. Susie Watkins, Mrs. Osceola McWilliams and six other colored persons were refused counter service at Newberry's Department Store in El Centro, Calif., May 14, 1948. While arguing their rights for cafe counter service, two policeman were called in and assured the manager they were at his service if these colored people "disturbed the peace. Bert Brown, the San Diego Race Relations Attorney was given this case by president D. W. Allen. This case was originally submitted to another organization which did nothing about it, so the complainants recently submitted their case to the San Diego Race Relations Society which will definitely prosecute same.

A woman auto bus driver of the San Diego Electric Railway Co. was charged with cursing a colored couple in usage of unprintable words. This incident was reported to the S. D. Race Relations Society which filed a complaint against the woman bus driver, and the following is a reply:

Sept. 3, 1948, Mr. Dennis V. Allen, 2844 Franklin Ave., San Diego, Calif. Dear Mr. Allen: Sometime ago you contacted our office regarding a complaint which was filed with you against one of our employees, who was accused of improper conduct.

Although this employee was not on duty at the time, it was obvious by remarks made, they were employed by the San Diego Electric Railway Co.

Quite a time has elapsed since this occurrence and this employe

The Parable of the Snowflake

Stand, even in your imagination, and watch snowflakes, frisked by a brisk breeze, scurry over fields, lakes and trees, settling when and wherever they touch, but never forming a solid pack—and you get a picture of what is happening in the so-called Negro community.

The real enemies of unity within the group and those who keep the Negroes hopelessly segregated and divided are those who profess friendship but cleverly use every device, especially in political campaigns, to poison the minds of one faction against another.

Think what a power the million snowflakes would be, collected into one huge snowball, should that ball come rolling down into the sea! The splash would be so great it would sprinkle a continent.

On the other hand take our immediate community in which there live some 250,000 Negro people. $250,000 invested in a shoe factory would put at least a hundred people in employment getting incomes on their own investments.

250,000 voices lifted in one chorus, protesting discrimination in public places would destroy that evil.

United we live. Divided we perish.

W. J. Wheaton Says

THEY'RE OFF AND RUNNING! Not the horses but the entrants for the Presidential Handicap, that will be decided by Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Voters on November 2, 1948. Earl Warren, the Governor of California, and aspirant for the vice-president's job, has started on a whirl-wind campaign that will carry him through some 42 states, to preach the gospel of GOP perfection and defend the omissions and commissions of the political sins which, according to the accusations of the incumbent president (Truman) they have committed.

President Truman and his challenger, Governor of New York, Tom Dewey, will, almost, come face to face, when their special trains park in California. Henry Wallace, the third contestant for presidential honors, is badly handicapped from the fact that while his competitors are riding de luxe, and haranguing the public from the rear ends of their luxurious 14 car specials, literally speaking, poor Henry is walking the political crossties.

Seriously, this promises to be the hottest campaign for the tenancy of the White House waged in decades. During the early months of this year, the elephant believed that he was a "Citation," that all that was necessary was to get out on the track, trumpet, and the race would be won. But what he believed was a "pushover" came to life suddenly and came back swinging. Of course there's only the three entrants: Thurman, candidate of the Dixiecrats won't have a call. He will never leave the starting post.

Rather than see the Elephant worse the Donkey the rank and file of the Bourbons will ignore the leaders and vote as of yore. They will figure they have nothing to gain by bolting the ticket of the Dems, but should the Donkey win the race, without their support, they will lose their political perstige. They would be a political nonentity; no place to go and politically homeless. Some political observers are of the opinion that the Wallace vote in the State of New York will have a determining part in deciding the result in that State.

It is doubtful from which party, the Democrat or Republican, his (Wallace) adherents will draw. That his strength is not to be ignored is proven by the enthusiastic crowds that greet him. It has been hinted that, knowing the political ill feeling between Wallace and Truman, the GOP's are making secret overtures to enhance the Wallace efforts, to a certain degree, with the hope that it will prove beneficial to the Republicans. Personally, we believe that the accusations they voice against persons they do not like, have any truth in them.

Mr. Gray says he has seen letters referring to Gerald L. K. Smith as "that fine Christian American," and others which dubbed Walter Winchell as "a Russian Jew and a Communist." LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

Thought Control Has Arrived

Most of us have forgotten about the Hollywood Ten: those ten screen writers whose railroading by the Thomas Committee made the whole subsequent mess of spy hunting and terrorizing of progressive-thinking Americans possible. Without the fascist-like victory of the Thomas Committee over the Hollywood screen writers, there would have been no further comic-opera activity for the headline-hunting, 'gimme a cut of your pay check,' head of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

JOHN M. LEE

Actually, the committee has achieved just one thing: it has served to make a lot of people lose their jobs, by innuendo, libel, slander, and appeal to prejudice. In the case of the Hollywood Ten, the spotlight was focused on the astronomical salary figures, in what was planned as a strategy to alienate the sympathy and affection of the little man who works for an ordinary two figure weekly pay check. It worked to the extent that the masses of workers had little interest in the fate of the screen writers, or were prejudiced against them because they made more in a week than most workers make in a year.

National labor leaders like Phil Murray of CIO moved, about this time, in the direction the Thomas Committee planned he should; Murray set about to clean out left wing influence in his organization, and thus made the first direct step toward splitting CIO wide open, and fitting his neck into the halter of thought control. Wth labor divided and engaged in open warfare, the work of the Thomas Committee was cut out for it; set the stage so the labor people could kill each other off. That's what is happening now.

The successful barring of Vincente Lombardo Toledano, President of the Confederation of Latin-American Workers, who was to have come here to speak at the Fiesta held by the Los Angeles CIO Council last weekend, is, I submit, a direct consequence of the lethargy and indifference of labor in the case of the Hollywood Ten; had we courageously defended the right of those men to continue on their jobs without having to reveal their political thoughts and opinions, Toledano could have passed across the Mexican-American border with the same ease enjoyed by some of the thugs on this side who go to Mexico to extend the influence of American gangsterism and hoodlumism.

Murray, it has been reported, plans to blast hell out of Henry Wallace with some previously reported propaganda about his failure to wipe out discrimination in the airport lunch room in Washington. Henry Wallace needs no defense on this one, nor will he need defending on any of the race-baiting issues that Murray and Slim Jim Carey have all ready to shoot at him. Murray must remember that few Negroes travel by air, but multiple thousands are members of the CIO, and right now there are rank discriminations being practiced in the CIO of which both Murray and Carey are aware, and which could be wiped out on order of either one.

It will do no good to the CIO for Murray and Carey to go off on that tack; some of us have facts and figures, and when the blasting starts, the repercussions will show up CIO more unfavorably than it will Wallace. Right now, the national CIO is concerned with the increasing shortage of jobs, and the suspicion that it is more of a political organization than it is a labor upion; if it isn't concerned, it should be.

And it should be concerned with fighting against the thought control ideal that dictated the refusal of a visa to Toledano. If left-wingers and non-white workers, like Negroes and Mexicans, are to be discriminated against in the CIO, then they ought to consider leaving and saying to hell with a labor organization that can't give a fair shake and full protection to ALL of its members. When Murray and Carey start blasting Wallace on a racial issue, some of us will be busy giving out the true facts of how minorities fare in the CIO.

Truman's Brutal Treatment Of the Negro Workers in Panama

(Note: Because of the controversy about the 'Silver-Gold' workers, the Eagle reprints this informative article as a means of shedding further light on the subject.)

By Benjamin J. Davis
Member, New York City Council

The letter below was received from the "Committee to End the Jimcrow 'Silver-Gold' System in the Panama Canal Zone." It was signed by Charles P. Howard, eloquent Negro keynoter at the Progressive Party convention in Philadelphia; Charlotta A. Bass, distinguished editor of the California EAGLE; W. E. B. DuBois, eminent author and co-founder of the NAACP; and the noble Paul Robeson—all officers of the committee. Truman uses demagogy to cover his anti-Negro policies on the home front. But his imperialist treatment of the Panamanian Negroes is naked, savage appression, which the monopoly press of the United States refuses to publish.

To present Truman as a "champion of Negro rights" is a crime against truth and elementary intelligence. It is the first time in our modern elections than an open persecutor of the Negro people has been touted as thier friend, yet that is what such Negro misleaders as Lester Granger and Walter White are doing.

The CIO United Public Workers is leading the battle against the oppression of the Panamanians and is showing how a trade union fights for a colonial people against the imperialists of the home country.

Financial and other assistance can be sent to the Committee at 2 Lafayette St., Room 1015, New Yorw City 7. The letter follows:

Dear Friend:

Did you know that the government of the United States is the official sponsor and protector of a complete pattern of Jimcrow social and economic discrimination involving more than 20,000 of its employes—Negroes, Panamanians and British West Indians in the Panama Canal Zone?

Did you know that our government, through the Department of Justice, is now engaged in a campaign of intimidation and terror equal to any ever attempted by southern racists in an effort to prevent these workers from winning equal rights and a better standard of living.

We call to your attention a few startling facts which have recently come to our attention.

For nearly 42 years the "silver" (colored) workers in the Zone (as contrasted with the white "gold" workers) have suffered starvation wages, unsanitary and inadequate housing, primitive school facilities, etc. The government set the wages for the "silver" workers. The government provided all other facilities—but never enough and never the same as it provided for the white "gold" workers.

Two years ago the "silver" workers organized into a trade union—the United Public Workers of America, CIO. Within a short period, through aggressive action and through negotiations with the local administration, the union won wage increases, overtime pay, a grievance procedure, maternity leave, sick pay and a host of other benefits. The union also prevailed upon the government to remove the hateful signs designating all facilities "For Silver Workers Only" —"For 'Gold' Workers Only." These signs appeared on toilets, on drinking fountains, everywhere in the Zone until the union succeeded in having them removed.

The union is still fighting for a program to improve the standard of living of the silver workers.

Naturally, the union has been under severe attack. English-language newspapers, AFL unions of white foremen and others have tried to destroy the union.

Some months ago these forces were joined by representatives of the Department of Justice. The local district attorney, Daniel E. McGrath, a Department of Justice appointee, has been in the forefront of the drive. In an effort to discredit the union, the district attorney succeeded in sending to jail a former financial secretary of the local on a charge of "forgery."

The most recent incident occurred in July when the district attorney indicted an organizer of the union, Joseph Sachs, on a charge of criminal libel. U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark assigned one of the department's ace prosecutors, Tom DeWolfe, to handle the prosecution. As a result of a viciously handled trial, before an all-white jury, Sachs was sentenced to nine months at hard labor in the Panama penitentiary. He is now out on bail pending appeal.

At the present time, McGrath is suing the local and the international union for $75,000 damages arising out of the same libel case.

We are pleased to report to you that the "silver" workers have not been intimidated by this latest attack. They have rallied in unprecedented unity to free Joe Sachs. Out of their meager earnings they have pledged a day's pay for the defense fund.

We believe we have an obligation to raise our voices in this situation. Ultimate responsibility for the Department of Justice drive to protect Jimcrow in Panama rests with the President of the United States. Maintenance of economic and social discrimination in the Zone is a function of the executive branch of the government. States' rights are not involved.

Will you join with us in a petition to the President urging an end to "silver-gold" discrimination in the Zone and an unconditional pardon for Joe Sachs, one who devoted all of his energies toward that end?

Will you joint with us to take other measures which may be necessary to secure a Civil Rights program—not in fine words, but in action — for 20,000 "silver" workers, employes of the United States government?

judices and lose sight of any complex. Sorry to say that those complex ideas are not confined to any racial group but this one incident concerns persons who belong to a group which can ill afford to be antagonistic, but should encourage friendships.

Some times the antagonist ideas are heightened through ideas and talks of would be leaders, who often take "liberty for license," and incite feelings revengeful when they should be trying to create feelings of amity and friendliness. We were on one of our main thoroughfares at noontime when the employes were swarming out for lunch. There was much rushing and jostling. A ponderous lady of one race was jostled, unintentionally, by a slim girl of a different race, the ponderous lady turned and deliberately slapped the girl in the face. The jostling was unintional; could not be averted. The only thing that prevented a riot was the congested condition of the thoroughfare.

People were so closely wedged that the motion was at the minimum. The incident is regretful, it is destructive of that amity and friendship which has always prevailed in this city. When the occurrence has been reported to that girl's friends, a feeling of animosity will grow for all of that womans group.

Her individual self will be forgotten, and the group, of which she is a part, will suffer from her brutish attitude. It is to be hoped that the victim of one persons ignorance of decency will not cause her to believe that all persons of that racial group are alike in that respect. She can rest assured that there are many refined and intelligent men and women in the group, of which that woman is a part, than can be found among any people. The woman who showed such ignorant ideas of common decency, is one in thousands.

Lincoln Figures in New Book "By Secret Railway"

In her new book "By Secret Railway" (Thomas Y. Crowell Co., September 21; ($3.00) Enid LaMonte Meadowcraft describes Lincoln not only as a national hero, but as a human and lovable man as seen through the eyes of an American boy.

The Lincoln incident in "By Secret Railway" is an authentic one, described also in a book by Carl Sandburg. And this story of the underground railroad, which was no railroad at all in the ordinary sense, but a means of getting fugitive slaves from slave states to freedom, brings to life again one of the most exciting and momentous periods in American history.

Two American boys, one white and one a Negro, are the travelers in "By Secret Railway" from Missouri to Illinois. Through their eyes the America of 1860 is seen, teeming with vitality and color, divided against itself, with the great figure of Abraham Lincoln always in the background.

Through the eyes of the two boys is also seen a special aspect of America which we are seeing again this year—a presidential election. That year, too, was a crucial year and its events are vividly re-created in "By Secret Railway."

The author, who lives in Connecticut, is well-known for her books on America's past, including "On Indian Trails With Daniel Boone" and "Silver for General Washington."

For any child under 16 years of age working in agriculture the child-labor provisions say that if he is legally required to attend school he may not be employed during the time the laws of this state say that he should be in school. This means that no farmer may ship farm products or other goods in interstate commerce if within 30 days before the removal of these goods he has employed a child under these circumstances on the farm where the goods were produced."

Henry Wallace, in his tour of the South, has shaken all America to a rude awakening as to the state of our country's moral strength, political integrity, and national sense of justice. History has now recorded his answer to the question of "Am I my brother's keeper?"

Regardless of how one views the political beliefs of Henry Wallace, his fellow citizens recognize that he has come to grips, as few men have, since Lincoln, with the fundamental cancer that is destroying our American heritage of freedom.

Let no man or woman in America delude himself that what has taken place in the Carolinas, Alabama, Georgia, and Mississippi, affects only the relations between white and Negro Americans. This is much more than the issue of race relations.

The progressive people all over the world will not regard it in this light and we, here in America, cannot so consider it.

Henry Wallace has sought only to apply the Constitution of the United States and the Declaration of Independence to our daily lives, in all parts of our great country. If the answer that he has received in the South is to prevail, then the last great hope of democracy will have gone.

For our country must be an entity—as one nation. This country cannot survive half slave and half free.

The organized mob violence of the South will conquer the Nation, or democracy will prevail equally everywhere. It must be one or the other. It cannot be both. We the undersigned, of differing political views, believing these truths must be universally accepted, align ourselves beside Henry Wallace in this issue.

In this respect, Wallace stands with Abraham Lincoln, Frederick Douglass, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and other great American champions of democracy and human dignity.

Farm fires claimed 3,500 lives and destroyed over 100 million dollars worth of property last year, said Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan in announcing that Fire Prevention Week will be observed October 3-9.

Councilman Kenneth Hahn has announced that a traffic signal will be working at 55th and Hooper Avenue this week.

The signal at 55th and Compton should be completed within two weeks.

The 64th Assembly District Democratic Club will sponsor a rally in honor of Helen Gahagan Douglas, Congresswoman from the 14th Congressional District, in the Rosemont School, Temple and Rosemont street, one block west of Alvarado, on Thursday, September 30, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Douglas, candidate for re-election, will speak on "Housing." The motion picture, "Magic State," depicting graphically why California should be reapportioned for the election of state senators, will also be shown. The reapportionment initiative No. 13 will be on the November ballot.

Nearly 600 local landlords last month were authorized by the area rent office to raise their rents, Ben C. Koepke, area rent director, announced this week.

Rent-increase petitions approved during August totalled 578, covering 1073 dwelling units, Koepke reported. The average rent boost amounted to about 17%. Some 267 petitions were denied as ineligible for increase under the Federal rent law.

NEW YORK CITY—The September 1st NLRB decision in the Times Square stores case "is in effect a denial of our traditional right to strike because it holds that when a worker exercises that right, he loses the right to his job."

So charged Rowland Watts, secretary of the Workers Defense League's legal committee on the Taft-Hartley law in a letter to Robert N. Denham, NLRB chief counsel, in which he said that the League "stands ready to join in the court fight against it, which has been announced by Arthur J. Goldberg, CIO general counsel."

The board held that workers on strike for higher pay cannot vote in collective bargaining elections if their jobs have been filled and that the strikebreakers in their jobs can vote.

Watts pointed out: "If this ruling stands, an anti-union employer can use the facilities of the NLRB to break any strikes by merely calling for an election as soon as he has recruited a sufficient number of strikebreakers."

PHILADELPHIA — The Philadelphia police censorship, which was inspired by certain church groups, has drawn a protest from 146 ministers from 28 states. The protest was initiated by Rev. Donald Harrington, national chairman of the Workers Defense League.

The censorship was featured by a series of raids which resulted in the confiscation of some 2,000 books from more than 50 booksellers, including many which have been recommended reading in universities for more than a decade and which are to be found on the shelves of Philadelphia libraries. Among these books are "Studs Lonigan" by James T. Farrell, "God's Little Acre" by Erskine Caldwell and "Sanctuary" by William Faulkner.

The ministers' protest says: "We protest against the attempts of these church groups to impose upon an American community their private views and standards of good taste and morality. The right of free speech and freedom of the press are basic to the existence of any democracy."

In addition to Rev. Harrington, signers of the statement include Rev. Henry C. Nation of Los Angeles.

History Repeats Itself

By Paul French

To the student of history who must be a student of revolutions else he understand nothing of history, some of the current events and characters like Lizzie Bentley, Budenz and Chambers—the three "patriot" stool-pigeons featured in the farces staged by the Un-American Thomas Committee, seem, as does that Committee itself, strangely to resemble similar characters out of the century-old drama of the "Communist Trial" at Cologna, Germany, in 1852.

True, the Thomas Committee has improved greatly upon the idiocy of the Prussian political police. For example, where last year Gerhardt Eisler was featured as "the No. 1 Underground Communist Boss," the Thomas Committee, with a dexterity peculiar to itself has, this summer discovered still another "No. 1 Underground Communist Boss," named Peters. And, without dismissing either of these, is more recently hot on the trail of still a third "No. 1 Underground Commuist Boss," some person said to bear the name of Adams. The jurisdiction of all three "No. 1" supreme "Communist bosses" thus obviously overlapping if not utterly contradicting each other, the Thomas Committee makes no explanation as to how many more "No. 1" men it intends to introduce into its high comedy of anti-Communist witch-hunts.

But to get back to the eleven Communists who were put on trial at Cologne following the abortive petty burgeois revolution of 1849 against the Prussian monarchist-feudal state. As Marxists they were, as Frederich Engels explained in the New York Tribune of Dec. 22, 1852, by no means guilty of any "plot or conspiracy" against the existing government, but, if guilty of anything, of planning to overthrow" its probable successors." In certain circumstances, said Engels, only a coward would refuse to conspire, but in this case, only a fool would do so, and the Cologne Communists were not fools.

They were held in jail, nevertheless, for eighteen months, while the Prussian police tried vainly to find some evidence which, after eight months, these police admitted officially that they had nothing of. Ten months later, when their trial opened, not a single act of treason was proven against them. But, notwithstanding this, they were convicted.

Plots blossomed out in the newspapers of that day with the regularity of a Hearst reporter covering the testimony of Elizabeth Benfley. A police officer named Stieber hired a man named Reuter to burglarize the premises of a group in Paris which, composed of loud-mouthed imbeciles but artfully and secretly managed by some French capitalists, called itself "Communist" but were in no way connected with the Marxists of Cologne.

This furnished some headlines, but no evidence against the prisoners. So Stieber went to London, and established there in the Prussian embassy, an anti-Communist police spy named Greiff. This Greiff at once got some helpers. One named Fleury, a wealthy London merchant, and another named Hirsch. This Hirsch, coming fresh from Germany to London, was spotted as a spy by the German Communist refugees, but they—upon his pretense that he was a sympathizer—admitted him for a time the better to obtain proofs of his duplicity. Obtaining these proofs, he was kicked out from their circle.

But, with Fleury, Hirsch retired to Keniston, where, every week, he manufactured, out of a vivid imagination, weekly "reports" of a wholly imaginary "Central Committee" and its imaginary "meetings." Naturally, the "minutes" of these "meetings" gave absolute "proof" of the "conspiracy" that the Prussian police charged against the unfortunate Communists in Cologne.

Of course, such weekly forgeries could not escape being as easily seen through as the same kind of forgeries which, today, are cooked up occasionally against Communists, notably by anti-Soviet Germans who are serving the American State Department in western Germany. The Hirsch-Fleury forgeries were absurd. No real person's name was spelled correctly, not a single one was recorded as speaking in a manner he would be likely to speak. But the Prussian government, like the Thomas Committee listening to the ravings of Elizabeth Bentley, thought these silly fabrications were hot stuff.

"When the trial came one," said Engels "Mr. Stieber got into the witnessbox, swore to all these absurdities, and with no little self-complacency, maintained that he had a secret agent in the very closest intimacy with those parties in London who were considered prime movers in this awful conspiracy.,,

The agent, Hirsch, was very secret, indeed: as he hid out and was deathly afraid of meeting one of those parties whose most secret thoughts, words and doings he pretended to report each week. The "reports" of the imaginary "Central Committee" having such splendid reception in Germany, Messrs. Hirsch and Fleury invented another imaginary Communist body called "The Secret Supreme Committee," and worked over their past reports into an "original minute book." Officer Stieber, as Engle wrote, "found that this book wondrously agreed with the reports already received from the same parties, at once laid it before the jury, declaring on his oath that it was genuine."

It was at this point that most of these forgeries were published, and the astonished German Communists who were living England, found things said about them which they never knew of before. Sofe who were baptized William were, by the forgers, called Louis or Charles. Others were said to have made speeches in London at times they were at the other end of England. Some, who were reported by the forgeries to have read letters, never received such letters. All were reported to have met regularly on Thursday, when, in fact, they used to get together on Wednesday for a convivial schooner of beer. A scarcely literate worker was put down, in the forgeries, as "the taker of the minutes." And all spoke a language known only to the Prussian police, but used by no Communist.

For a while, some of the papers stolen by Reuter were claimed to have been written by Karl Marx, himself. But, finally, even the prosecutor admitted they were forged. Finally, Hirsch himself was hailed before a London judge and admitted his forgeries, then fled the country. But then, as now, any lie against Communists was legal tender in the capitalist courts. So the Cologne jury of six noblemen, four bankers and two petty government officials said that seven Communists were guilty, and deserving of from three to six years in prison. Four were, for no visible reason, acquitted.

Today, in the same atmosphere of red-baiting and spy-hunting, the Thomas Committee cannot be said to have been very original. It was done first, and just as clumsy one hundred years ago.

This party thoroughly understands that should there be a similar occurence they will be terminated. Due to the terms of the contract, this is all of the information that I can give you, but should it be necessary, I would be glad to discuss this matter further with you in person. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

I am outraged by the slanderous statement made by Jim Henaghan in his Rambling Reporter column in the Hollywood Reporter, September 9, 1948. Mr. Henaghan wrote, ". . . We've been swamped with protests from the Sunset Strip area the last couple of days objecting to the "impromptu" show put on by Actors Lab players . . . Labor Day night. The report has it that mixed dancing, colored and whites, and the overall tenor of the program was pretty party-linish. . . ."

As an actress and student at the Lab, I am anxious to know if Mr. Henaghan considers the democratic policy of the Actors' Lab wherein students are selected on the basis of ability, rather than on the color of their skin, a subversive policy. If he does, then he advocates a policy which is inherently un-American and subversive and fans the flames of race hatred. I have just returned from Europe where I was received with cordiality and respect both professionally and socially. In answering queries about the Negro artist in America, I was ashamed to admit the humiliation to which we are subjected. Europeans are suspicious of pious mouthings about Democracy for other countries when right here in America the most abominable discriminatory practices and ideas are still being perpetuated as reflected in the Hollywood Reporter column.

Very sincerely,
DOROTHY DANDRIDGE.

My dear Mrs. Bass:

As a former student, actor and instructor at the Actors' Laboratory, I feel compelled to challenge the irresponsible and slanderous remarks made in the Rambling Reporter column of the Hollywood Reporter. Jim Henaghan, the writer, in describing the annual Labor Day festival held by the Actors' Lab, at Laurel and Sunset, stated there was "mixed dancing" of colored and white and characterized this occasion as having a tenor which was pretty "party-linish," whatever that may mean.

The struggle of the Negro actor in Hollywood against discrimination has been a long and arduous one. Statements such as this place in jeopardy the advances being made in the industry. The Actors' Lab has been the only theatre in Hollywood to provide the Negro actor with equal opportunity to develop in his craft and to perform freely as an artist.

With police brutality running rampant in the Negro communities and where the association of Negro and white people becomes the basis of intimidation and attack, the encouragement of such practices by articles of this kind can only create unwarranted suspicions between races and ment unnecessary discord.

Sincerely,
JOEL FL[illegible]

Gloria Roberts, Pianist

Mr. McNeil

Gloria Roberts, talented daughter of former Assemblyman and Mrs. Frederick Roberts, was presented in piano recital last Sunday afternoon in the historic First A. M. E. church. Miss Roberts recently returned from a year of graduate study in the Juilliard School of Music, New York; she is a graduate of the University of Southern California.

The audience which greeted Miss Roberts was extremely enthusiastic and unusually attentive. Opening with an intricate Bach "Toccato" the pianist demonstrated her ability to control intervening fugal voices, particularly emphasizing entrances of fugal subjects and answers. The meticulousness of exposition was highly commendatory. Beethoven's "D Major Sonata" followed with the same intensity of purpose and interest. An unusual control in velocity was demonstrated in the florid Beethovian passages. We felt a sense of hesitancy, however, in the third movement of this works. The remainder of the program included selections from Schumann, Chopin, and the monumental selection, Gershwin's Concerto in F, an obvious favorite of Miss Roberts, assisted on the accompanying instrument by Robert V. Edwards, organist-director of the First church.

In essence, Miss Roberts has great control so essential in the basic equipment of a concert pianist. An emotional feeling for nuance and subtlety, however, was lacking. Artists of any description can effect a near perfect performance by actually communing as it were with the score devoid of a conscious effort to produce mechanically pure pianistic ornamentations. This we recommend as the criteria of performance after of course the initial learnings are consummated. The music should live with the artist, as a consequence it will live with the listeners. Miss Roberts has an enviable future, and boundless opportunities for advancement.

Eighth Notes

Roena Savage, former San Bernardino resident, will make her Town Hall debut Sunday afternoon, September 26, at 3 o'clock. A complete account of the recital will appear in next week's column. . . . Included on the musical staff of the Lincoln Congregational church is a pair male quartet under the direction of Willie Starks; we understand that this group has replaced the regular choir.

We feel confident that Rev. Mr. Galloway will establish a precedent which other ministers might emulate. . . . Your writer will direct a 100-voice choir this evening at the Truman rally in Gilmore Stadium. . . . Prof. John Gray deserves the plaudits of the community in building fine musicians. Miss Roberts is an example of his abilities.

Jean Junel and Donald White play Sunday afternoon in Zion Hill promptly at 4, while Anna Morrow directs her choir chorale at 3:30 p.m., featuring six of the community's most outstanding choirs. . . . The Kappa recital goes off at the same time at the Philharmonic. . . . How about a music clearing house? We can't possibly make them all.

have highlighted many conventions or other religious gatherings, only to be forgotten at the close of such meetings.

In such gatherings Mr. Loescher studied approximately 120,000 white Protestant churches in 17 denominations; and secured the facts for his book.

It is interesting as well as enlightening to note that "gradually over the past 40 years Protestantism has become sensitive to America's race problem. After the first World War it condemned lynchings and brutality; during the depression it called for equal opportunity.

With World War I came the recognition of racial discrimination in economic, political, and civic affairs. Since World War II, Protestant pronouncements have spoken for the growing ranks of those who believe that the heart of the problem of Negro-white relations is segregation—in employment, in education, in housing, and in the church. There is little evidence yet that the convictions of the rank and file membership of Protestant denominations are greatly influenced by these official actions.

Some facts in the life of the church are set forth in figures in "The Protestant Church and the Negro." A probable 8,300,000 of the 14,000,000 Negroes in the United States belong to some Christian church. 8,000,000 are Protestants and 300,000 are Catholics. Of this 8,000,000—7,500.00 are in separate Negro denominations. The remaining 500,000 are members of Negro churches under white church control or domination.

There are other interesting facts about which little is known by the general public, set forth in the book. But the conclusion I have reached after a careful perusal is this: that the church because of its practice of racial segregation in all of its departments, is not in a position to aid in the attainment of that precious peace that is the one great need in the world now.

"Go into all the world and preach the Gospel to all the people," was the command Jesus gave his disciples. Not to the Jews, Gentiles, or other peoples—but to all the people of whatever race or clime. This was Jesus' admonition.

At a recent Southern Baptist convention, Negro Baptists who came to bring fraternal mesages to the convention, were segregated.

In some cases Negroes attending white or mixed conventions, were denied food and other accommodations.

And again I say that the Church, both Negro and white, must stop complaining about the Russians driving God out of their [illegible]. We must demonstrate by our acts rather [illegible] that we [illegible] awa[illegible]

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

THE ATWATER KENT award winners who will appear in concert on Sunday at Philharmonic will bow before a capacity audience, thanks to the hard working committee of Kappa men, their pledges and wives. Caught a little glimpse of the patrons list at the early part of the week, when the programs were going to press, and believe ye old cronicler, the names fall in line like an official who's who in the social, civic and religious realm. The all out support that the men of Kappa are receiving from the public gives them the grand old feeling that their popularity doesn't hold sway solely during the season of the famed "Black and White." According to Robert Green, one of the hardest working men of the committee, and by the way, the graduate prexy and committee head, all proceeds from Sunday's affair will be used for the Kappa Scholarship fund, as well as the fraternity housing effort. Aside from swelling the coffers of Kappadom, this Sunday concert is offering another big chance for five young singers, who stand on the threshhold of brilliant futures, and for the rest of us, Sunday's concert offers another cultural note to our seasonal events of special importance. By the way, it will be the pleasure of the patrons and a host of others who have received invitations, to spend the after-concert hours at the Kappa Reception, honoring the artists. With the preliminary enthusiasm so high, we rest assured that the Kappas will be drowned in encouragement and praise when they present their concert on Sunday....

The Greek "Rush" season is at hand, giving way for many freshman students to get the true thrill of being in college. S. C. students returned to the studies a week or two earlier than their fellow Bruins, so it isn't surprising to learn that already the Alpha Kappa Alpha women have welcomed the new women in grand style. Dolores Bell, back from her Connecticut sojourn and Patty Wilson, who has spent most of the summer months in Kansas City, Mo., and also changed her name to Mrs. Winston Smith, were much in evidence at the "Hello" gathering that took place in the form of an all day picnick at Griffith Park. A host of the new girls attended the affair, and most of them will be invited to the official "Rush" party....

A few Sunday's back, the joint undergrad chapters of Delta Sigma Theta from S. C. and UCLA went into the funfest of rushing neophytes on campus. This week-end they will join their Kappa brothers who have scheduled a Smoker and dancing party for all male and female newcomers.

Chatted a brief spell with Shirley Spencer, Weldina Hefflin and a few others from the Alpha Gamma Chapter of AKA on UCLA campus. The coeds have planned a gay dancing party for Friday night, all for the gayiety of meeting the new comers, and welcoming them into the fold of the social life of the campus.... So for the freshmen a week-end of much partying looms ahead....

While mentioning greeks, the Iota Phi Lambda members met on Saturday to form an agenda of serious work for the ensuing year. An auxiliary club will be organized in the very new future and their rush party was listed for the first week of Oct.

OF SOCIAL IMPORT

A select group of friends were invited to congratulate the Clarence Sharps at their elaborate wedding reception on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Sharp, is the well known socialite Irene Wright. Surprise Party For Izola Piere Is Gay Affair

On last Sunday afternoon, Sept. 19, Walter Pier celebrated his wife's birthday with one of the gayest surprise birthday parties of the year. Everything done up quite lavishly, he spared no expense to see that food and drinks were plentiful, for the nearly 60 guests that were present. The table surrounded with gifts for the honoree, with the center piece being the huge birthday cake.

Upon arriving, guests were served with any kind of cocktail wished, then late rserved with fried chicken, barbecued ham, hot rolls, squash, salad and other delicacies. Nell Dobson Plant to Be Star in Celebration of Mu-So-Lit Anniversary

Nell Dobson Plant, one of the leading dramatic sopranos of the day, will be featured by the Mu-So-Lit club in concert on October 19, at the People's Independent Church.

This concert marks the tenth anniversary of the Mu-So-Lit club that has carried on work in the musical, social and literary fields.

The club that was first an adult music class taught by Professor R. C. Jackson, now advisor had Mrs. Vendora Smith, now president, and Mrs. Gladys Allen, who served the club as president seven years, as charter members.

The organization has responded to many calls of help in various community projects and has helped to keep the spirit of lifting as they climbed, alive.

In 1943 the club filled the medicine shelf of the Canteen at 45th and Central, gave linen for the Independent Boys home, the Carver Day Nursery and cash gifts to the YWCA. The National Council of Negro Women and the West View Hospital Building Fund have also benefited the efforts of this worthy group.

The committee and members are expecting the full support of the community on Oct. 19, when they celebrate 10 years of club work, by presenting Miss Plant.

Arthur Rubinstein Sees Brilliant Future for Pianist Lois Towles

LOS ANGELES—"She has the soul of a genius, magic in her fingers and the ability to accomplish much." Thus speaks Artur Rubinstein of Lois Towles, promising concert pianist.

Assistant professor of Music at Fisk University and destined to become one of the nation's outstanding concert artists, Miss Towles left Los Angeles recently for New York and Nashville, after three months of extensive training under the world renowned Rubinstein.

Considered the world's greatest concert-pianist, Rubinstein first became interested in the attractive and talented pianist when she played for him at a private session in Nashville, during the southern leg of his concert tour last winter. He immediately detected her capabilities as a concert artist and invited her to Los Angeles so that he might supervise her artistry and ready her for the national concert circuits.

Miss Towles postponed her trip to Fontainebleau, France, where she planned to study under Robert Casadesus, when she accepted Rubinstein's invitation to Los Angeles for the summer months. However she plans to continue her studies abroad next summer.

High strung, with a winsome smile and affable disposition, Miss Towles is equally as talented in fashion designing and sewing, and has the habit of designing garments and trimming them with bars of music from a score she particularly likes. Her latest is an eye-catching creation with princess lines, and a half pleated skirt. The shoulder features a grand piano—a replica of the one on which Rubinstein first heard her play—and a complete bar of music from Bach's "Chorale" circles the hemline.

The talented musician plays with great emotional depth and has the ability to integrate herself into her music.

From proceeds of the Jabberwock, which was given earlier in the year; three local chapters, Pi Upsilon and Nu Sigma, of Delta Sigma Theta, national sorority, awarded six ranking women students with scholarships, this week.

Speaking for the undergraduates, Joan Pierson declared that it was more difficult this year to make selections due to the high scholarship of the students, generally.

"We had so many girls from which to choose that screening them was boiled down to very fine points. They all brought in splendid records of scholarship and leadership in their respective high schools," she declared.

WALLACE HERE SATURDAY

Nisei to Hear:

Wallace In Major Rally At Gilmore

At a recent meeting the Los Angeles Nisei for Wallace Committee approved plans for the participation of the local Nisei group in the gigantic "new fashioned" election to be held this Saturday evening, October 2, at Gilmore stadium.

According to the plans as released by the Independent Progressive Party headquarters, the Gilmore rally will feature floats, songs, band music, all local IPP candidates, and a colossal torchlight parade, and will have Henry Wallace as the only major speaker of the evening.

The local Nisei Wallace group was invited by the planning committee to participate in the parade as one of the many groups actively campaigning in behalf of Wallace and other Progressive candidates.

Plans for a colorful float with distinct oriental flavor and scores of Nisei marchers is being formulated by the Gilmore rally committee headed by Mary Kitano and Chris Ishii.

For tickets to this mass rally, call AN. 2-9244 (LANWC) headquarters, or DR. 5211 (IPP) headquarters.

Radio commentator Averill Berman will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Los Angeles Nisei for Wallace Committee to be held Wednesday, October 6, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mary Kitano, 1241 S. Ardmore ave. (near Pico and Normandie).

Berman, whose broadcast can be heard regularly over station KGFJ and KFOX, will analyze the present political situation with special emphasis on the coming election and the role to be played by the Progressive Party.

AFL Cries Down Proposal to Elect a Negro

Climaxing a bitter battle on the floor, a resolution introduced at the State AFL convention held in Long Beach this week, calling for the designation of a Negro vice president of the body was defeated.

Highlight of the discussion was the red-baiting and dubious consideration given to the feelings of Negro workers. Opponents of the resolution said it would be the rankest kind of insult to elect a Negro vice president merely because he was a Negro; so a lily-white slate of top officials was elected.

Significant was the cries of 'treason' and un-American, that greeted those who spoke in favor of the measure. The AFL has been notorious for its Jim Crow and Negro exclusion policies, and the defeat of the democratic proposal that a minority force in the union be recognized with a high office is indicative that the AFL is prepared to die hard.

HENRY WALLACE—Fearless, earnest, sincere, comes to Los Angeles again. To speak in Watts at 103rd and Central Saturday afternoon; to be the only speakers at the 'new fashion' rally at Gilmore Stadium Saturday night. See story.

Nixon Killer Prosecution Is Promised

NEW YORK—M. E. Thompson, outgoing Governor of Georgia has given assurance of his "willingness to do everything I can as long as I am Chief Executive to see that those violating the law of this state are brought to justice."

The Governor's position was expressed in a letter to Thurgood Marshall, NAACP Special Counsel, who had protested the election day slaying of Isiah Nixon, 28-year-old Negro of Mt. Vernon, who had voted in the recent Georgia Democratic primary despite the threats and warnings of white persons. Two white men, brothers, M. A. and Johnnie Johnson, were arrested and charged with the murder.

Mayor to Hear Delegation On Brutal Police

A delegation of citizens and leaders will visit Mayor Bowron at City Hall on Friday, October 8th to protest the growing pattern of police intimidation and brutality. It is planned to lay instances of police terror before the Mayor and ask him to act to protect the hundreds of law-abiding citizens who have been humiliated in recent weeks.

All citizens who have been stopped and searched, or who have been unnecessarily molested or brutally treated by police, men are asked to send affidavits to the Civil Rights Congress at 307 S. Hill St. All that is necessary is that the affidavit tell who the person is, when the incident occurred and where it occurred; it need not be sworn to.

IPP district clubs and the CIO will accept the affidavits also. The California Eagle will assist any citizen who desires to make such an affidavit.

The Los Angeles County Civil Service Commission held a hearing last week to review the cases to the 16 county employes who were discharged for failure to submit to a loyalty test, the foundation of which, they claim, is an inquiry into their private beliefs.

Coroner's Jury Exonerates Man Held in Slaying

Tommy Riggins of 1413 East Vernon Avenue, who was charged with the murder of William Lyles, Jr., was exonerated by a coroner's jury last week.

Riggins was represented by Attorney Everette M. Porter of the office of Porter and Ragland.

William Lyles, Jr., was born in Shreveport, Louisiana and was of the age of 24 years. His wife, Verdia Lyles, 1658 East 27th St., from whom he was estranged, testified at the hearing.

The killing occurred at 1:30 a.m. Saturday, September 18, at Vernon and Lima Streets. Attor-

Dr. Somerville Says:

U N Session Must Act On Darker Races

By DR. J. ALEXANDER SOMERVILLE

The present and future status of the American Negro and other black peoples of the world, especially those under Colonial domination, is of equal importance to any other matter on the agenda of the General Assembly of the United Nations, because it deals with the moral decency of nations.

At the last meeting of the Assembly, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and other liberals made efforts to bring up for discussion the matter of the curtailment of civil rights of Negroes, but was effectively blocked by the United States delegates.

Now the General Assembly is again in Session in Paris and Mr. Walter White, secretary of the N.A.A.C.P., has been appointed by President Truman as a consultant to the United States delegation.

The American delegation and the Administration has shown no evidence of a change of heart nor has the N.A.A.C.P. formulated a line of strategy to press the matter before the Assembly. Neither the Secretary nor the board has declared their stand on Africa.

They have not sought the council and advice of those who are best qualified to speak on the subject. Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, Director of Research for the N.A.A.C.P., who is without question the world's foremost authority on the Negro and Africa, was not consulted nor was he taken into their confidence. Instead of utilizing his knowledge and instructing Mr. White to contend for those rights for which Dr. DuBois has so consistently fought, he was summarily dismissed by the Board.

"Can it be that the NAACP has turned about-face to create a miniature Thomas Committee which tried Dr. DuBois for his liberal views in the interest of black peoples?" is the question being asked.

"Can it be that getting rid of Dr. DuBois is a go sign for the proposal of Governor Dewey to return millions of black folk back to the bondage of Italy, or does it mean that there will be no protest when the Truman delegates try to pussy-foot on the issue?" is another question being asked.

"Can it be that the secretary and the board of the NAACP penalizes Dr. DuBois for wearing a Henry Wallace button in the same place where they wear a Dewey or a Truman pin?" some NAACP members want to know.

On all sides one hears that dropping Dr. DuBois from its staff is the most colossal blunder that the NAACP has made in its entire existence. The whole affair savors of a type of imperialism and fascism that surely will not help the organization.

THE SIDEWALK

By C. A. B.

I am concerned with human rights for all mankind. It is natural for me, however, to be deeply concerned with what goes on in my country that affects the life, liberty, and happiness of my people. I mean the fourteen million Negroes living in the United States, who are just as much American as Rankin, Parnell Thomas, Mundt, Nixon, or Jack Tenney. As a matter of fact, as to time, tradition, service, and devotion to the ideals upon which this government was founded, the Afro-American is next to the American Indian in heritage.

I mention this, at this time, because I see clearly what is happening in our country, which will be the deciding issue whether we shall exist as a free people in a free state, or whether the closing chapter of our existence shall be millions of slaves driven and beaten by a few masters.

I am thinking of a letter John Kinloch wrote me when he was in the American Army in France in 1944. In this letter he described the condition of the French people under a reign of terror by their German masters—men were beaten and thrown into concentration camps, women were raped by German occupation soldiers, and little children, like animals of prey, crawled through the underbrush in search of crumbs of food in order to exist.

If the French people and state had not permitted the politicians within and without its government to divide the people and their interests, this condition perhaps would not have come about.

And here is a risky statement, and one which perhaps will excite the animosity of some. But it seems to me what happened in France and the same in Spain before and during the late world war, is happening here and now in our own United States, in Palestine, in Indonesia, in Greece, in Italy, and again in France.

In order to drive home what I am saying, I illustrate the point with a personal experience I had last Saturday afternoon while traveling at a moderate rate of speed in company with my nephew Ellis Spears, who was a soldier in World Wars I and II, and another friend.

We turned left at 103rd

Attorney Not a Negro, Court Refuses Hearing

Daniel G. Marshal, a member of the Los Angeles Bar Association, and an official of the Lawyer's Guild, might have won State Supreme Court consideration of his fight to compel the Bar Association to accept Negro attorneys as members, had he been a Negro.

The Supreme Court, sitting last week on the matter, declined to hear Marshal's arguments on a petition for a writ of mandate, accepting instead

Rev. Brown To Try For Seat In Congress

Rev. William Thomas Brown, pastor of St. George's Methodist Church in Maxton, North Carolina, has become the second Negro to be nominated for the U. S. Senate by Henry Wallace's new party.

Rev. Maxton has been nominated for Senate by the Progressive Party of North Carolina. Larkin Marshall, Macon, Ga., editor, was previously put in the race for U. S. Senator from Georgia by the Progressive Party of that state.

Watts to Hear Henry Wallace Saturday P.M.

Henry Wallace will be in the Watts area Saturday afternoon. The Progressive Party candidate will address an open air mobilization of the 67 A. D. Progressive forces at 103rd and Central.

This will be the second mobilization in the Watts area against police intimidation and brutality. Previously a meeting held in the section to protest the Burns killing was terrorized by a dozen policemen; last week an open-air meeting at 103rd and Graham went off without incident although it was necessary for a sergeant to "bawl out" policemen who hovered over the meeting with obvious intent to intimidate.

Wallace's appearance in Watts will precede the "new fashion" rally at which he is to be the only speaker at Gilmore Stadium Saturday night.

Guinier Named On Progressive National Board

Ewart Guinier, international secretary - treasurer of the CIO United Public Workers, has been elected as a labor representative in the national committee of the Progressive Party, it was announced this week by C. B. Baldwin, Progressive Party secretary and Henry Wallace's campaign manager.

Guinier was one of 13 Negro members of the committe which just concluded a meeting in New York at which they mapped plans for Wallace's campaign and called upon Attorney General Tom Clark to take Federal action to enforce freedom of speech and assembly in the South.

The committee also called on the government to end its Jim Crow system in the Panama Canal Zone.

Connelly Demands Retraction Of Article in New Republic

Demand for a retraction of "untrue, misleading and eminently unfair" references to the Los Angeles CIO and its officers, was wired to New Republic Magazine this week over the signature of Philip M. Connelly, CIO Council Secretary-treasurer.

Connelly's wire to New Republic read in part:

"Your unsigned article, entitled 'Helen Gahagan Douglas,' in the September 20 issue, is untrue, misleading and eminently unfair as respects myself and the CIO in Los Angeles.

"I am, therefore, calling upon you to print the truth as promptly as you have displayed your misinformation.

"Helen Douglas has run for Congress three times, each time with endorsement of the Los Angeles CIO Council. I am the elected Secretary-Treasurer of that Council and, as its executive officer, have actively carried out support of Mrs. Douglas on each occasion.

"This Council's most recent endorsement was in the primary election this year. Mrs. Douglas was recommended on the Democrat and Republican tickets. She did not file on the Independent Progressive ticket.

Rabbi Magnin Asks Support For Blood Bank

Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin, as Chairman of the Board of Rabbis of Southern California, this week appealed to the Jewish community of metropolitan Los Angeles to begin the Jewish New Year by paying a visit to local "Blood for Israel" headquarters, 604 So. Normandie Ave.

"With the New Year, Israel enters the most critical period in its history," Rabbi Magnin said. "Whatever the future holds for her, whether Peace or War, she needs our aid now.

Wilkins Meets With NAACP Executive

Mr. Roy Wilkins, assistant executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, New York City, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Los Angeles Branch, Monday evening at local headquarters, 4272 So. Central Avenue.

There was a serious discussion, at this meeting, of the DuBois case, with diversified opinions being expressed. Dr. W. E. DuBois, one of the founders of the organization, was dismissed from his position as research director of the NAACP, last week.

Some of the members felt that due to his long association and service to the National Associa-

Ask Action To Halt Georgia Kidnapping

Repeating charges that the Ku Klux Klan "is unquestionably involved in the terror campaign against the Progressive Party in Georgia," C. B. Baldwin, Progressive Party secretary and Henry Wallace's campaign manager, asked Atty. Gen. Tom Clark "to take immediate federal action to halt the kidnapping of Progressive Party workers in Georgia."

NAACP Requests Investigation Of Burns Case

The executive board of the NAACP has recommended that a Grand Jury investigation be demanded in the Burns case. This action came out of a meeting held early this week when a report for the legal committee was made by attorney H. L. Richardson. Because of the absence from the city of several members of the legal committee, Richardson

Wallace Comes to L. A. Friday; Speaks In Glimore Stadium, Sat. Oct. 2, 8 p.m.

"Henry Wallace's tour of California, beginning October 1, will be in marked contrast to the quick tours of the old party candidates," Hugh Bryson, Independent Progressive Party state chairman, said yesterday.

"When Henry Wallace comes to California on October 1," Bryson said, "he will open a six-day tour of the major economic areas of the state.

"His schedule, which includes two days in the Los Angeles area, will take him into Bakersfield, Fresno, Sacramento and San Francisco for extended visits," Bryson continued.

The tentative itinerary for the Wallace party in central and northern California includes these appearances:

Sunday, October 3—7 p.m., at Sam Lynn ball park, Bakersfield.

Monday, October 4—8 p.m., at Memorial Auditorium, Fresno.

Tuesday, October 5—8 p.m., at Memorial Auditorium, Sacramento.

Wednesday, October 6—8 p.m. at Civic Auditorium, San Francisco.

"Our preliminary reports on all meetings indicate that ticket sales are reflecting the enormous interest in and support for Henry Wallace and the program of the Independent Progressive Party." Bryson noted.

He continued:

"IPP campaign workers are amused by the reluctance of the Democrats to book Harry Truman into the Cow Palace for a no-admission meeting. They remember the historic meeting of 10,000 people in that building last May for Henry Wallace—a meeting for which admission was charged and a collection taken.

"Throughout the state our campaigners are finding enthusiastic response from voters who welcome the opportunity to hear Henry Wallace in person in a major address.

"Mr. Wallace's addresses in California will touch on such vital issues as the current oil and maritime strikes, public ownership of power and development of the enormous potentials of our great state.

"In addition to major public appearances, Mr. Wallace will confer with farm and labor leaders, will personally investigate housing and agricultural conditions in the state, and will appear before student and business audiences. Already scheduled in San Francisco is an address to the Commonwealth Club at a special luncheon meeting on October 6."

Tickets for the Wallace meetings are available at the following IPP offices:

San Francisco — Independent Progressive Party, 617 Market st. YUkon 6-3717.

Oakland — Independent Progressive Party, 2403 San Pablo. GLencourt 2-0432.

GALLSTONES

ULCERS, CONSTIPATION, GAS PAINS

Heroic efforts should be made to remove gallstones without removing gall bladder by surgery. GALLSTONES should be understood. Gallstones are thickened stagnated bile accumulations which pack hard and block the gall ducts.

When the bile stops flowing one finds a tender spot between the navel and ribs, a coated tongue, yellow skin, nausea, sharp or colic pains.

Many patients suffering with gall bladder disorder, come to us believing they have ulcers, gastritis, etc. We find that many of these cases have been improperly diagnosed as ulcers by other doctors. Many such cases have responded immediately to our treatment of gall bladder derangements and lose all symptoms in a few days. Gallstones have been removed from many of our patients without surgery.

INCURABLES

We have had many so-called incurables visit our offices after having examinations, and X-rays time on end that did not disclose any organic disease and where the doctor making the diagnosis was baffled as to the cause of the patient's condition. We have found that the patient was suffering from some form of self poisoning as a result of faulty metabolism, the poisons not being eliminated through the natural channels necessary.

We correct many so-called INCURABLE diseases, the cause to be removed and can only be removed when the cause is known.

EXAMPLE: — "Putrefaction forms produce highly poisonous toxins, many of which closely resemble the venom of snakes and minute quantities are capable of producing the most alarming and distressing symptoms. A good example of the ill effects of these poisons is expressed by contact with odors arising from a dead mouse in a closet or under the floor. Although greatly diluted with air may give rise to headache, nausea, loss of appetite and other unpleasant effects. If breathing these diluted poisons will produce unpleasant effects, how much more grave must be the effect when through the retention within the body (constipation) of these foul substances their poisonous contents are sucked up into the blood and circulated through the body. In other words, when a person through constipation throws off through the lungs, kidneys and skin a large part of the poisonous matter which ought to have been discharged through the bowel, how great must be the mischief done. The ultimate effects are colitis, biliousness, gastritis, gallstones, skin diseases of various sorts, Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure, apoplexy, paralysis, nervousness, insomnia, mental depression, and even insanity. Every case of constipation is curable."

SKIN DISORDER

Eczema: Psoriasis, Acne, Ulcers etc., cannot be corrected unless the cause is removed.

ECZEMA: is caused by irritants in the fluids which seek outlets through the skin and mucous membranes because of the inability on the part of the sufferer to throw off waste matters through the bowels. How grave must be the effects through retention within the body of foul substances, some as poisonous as the venom of snakes, when sucked up into the blood stream and circulated through the body. In other words, when a person because of constipation, throws off through the lungs, kidneys and skin, a large part of the poisonous matter which ought to have been discharged through the bowel, how great must be the damage done.

PSORIASIS: must be treated the same as eczema as it is a white, mother of pearl scaly condition which forms a red base. It occurs mostly on hair growing skin. Local treatment gets temporary results but psoriasis is never cured until the systemic causes are removed.

ACNE: blackheads, inflammatory red blotches that appear on face, neck and back. The cause is a bad state of blood, plugging up of pores and sebaceous glands which is skin constipation. To correct, the blood must be cleansed.

TO CORRECT THE ABOVE DISORDERS, THE CAUSE MUST BE REMOVED

Dr. Charles A. Tyrrell, M.D., says, "The physician can no more perform cures than the farmer can make his crops grow. In each case, all that can be done is to employ all the methods that cumulative wisdom can suggest to make the conditions as favorable as possible, and leave the rest to Mother Nature, who is not in the habit of making mistakes, and whose unerring methods would cure 90% of all diseased conditions, if her beneficent intentions were not frustrated by well meant, but nevertheless pernicious drug interferences."

"My object in publishing this statement is to point out the true cause of disease, together with the means for its prevention and cure, and that, too, by a simple and inexpensive method of hygienic treatmnet, which has proved eminently successful in tens of thousands of cases, which is perfectly harmless and natural in its action, and absolutely free from even the suspicion of a drug. An impacted colon is a prolific hotbed for the wholesale breeding of disease germs, microbes—those organisms which science has demonstrated to be the cause of many phases of disease, or rather, the toxins (poisons) they produce, cause disease."

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of disease is to wash it out. With me, it has passed beyond the theoretic stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my directions, with the most astounding results, scarcely a disease known to humanity but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

Daniel C. Munro, M.D., says: "If I were to write the story of all the cases in which colonic irrigations seem to lift the patient from the very jaws of death, it would fill volumes."

Prof. Ehret says, "Disease is an effort of the body to eliminate waste, mucous and toxemia. Not the disease but the body is to be healed; it must be cleansed, freed from waste and foreign matter, from mucous and toxemias accumulated since childhood. This system is not a remedy, it is a regeneration, a thorough house-cleaning, the acquisition of such clean and perfect health such as you never knew before."

Residents of Los Angeles are fortunate in having an office that practices NEW YORKER TECHNIQUE. This office is a haven for those who suffer; where the cause may be removed. We specialize in thoroughly cleansing and eliminating from the colon all waste matter causing toxic poison. Rid yourself of toxic poison. If suffering come to our office at once for a thorough cleansing using the NEW YORKER TECHNIQUE. Office treatment only. No medicine, drugs or surgery. Consultation free—no obligation. 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. We practice NEW YORKER TECHNIQUE. ACCEPT NO SUBSTITUTE. 355 So. Broadway, 2nd floor. TR-7031.

street and Central ave., and had gone the distance of two or three blocks when a car approached on the left and ordered us to drive over to the curb. In unison we three gesticulated: "What has happened? We certainly have not violated any traffic law!"

In the car that stopped us were two uniformed officers. One got out, came to our car, while his brother officer remained in their car.

Upon demand the officer was shown our driver's license and registration card. Mr. Spears asked, "What is the trouble?"

After hesitating some seconds, the officer came up with the flimsiest charge imaginable—that we had taken the right of way, contrary to traffic rule or law.

As a matter of fact there were two cars directly in front of our car turning off Central at 103rd, just as we were. There was another car directly back of us. The car the officer claimed we should have stopped for, was travelling at a rapid rate of speed, as were the stream of cars behind it. Had we stopped or even hestitated, there would no doubt have been an accident.

Now I know, and a lot of other people know why those officers stopped us. We were on our way to a mass meeting in the Watts area, protesting police brutality against Negro and Mexican-Americans.

Los Angeles has a mayor, a police commission, and a police department. These heads and departments are paid for their service by the tax-payers, and I am among them. The fact that these law enforcement departments of government exist, shows that we have need for them. Certainly among our nearly three million population there are criminals.

As a newspaper publisher, and a citizen who believes in law and order, I stand ready at all times to serve in my capacity to help bring about a condition of good, clean government in Los Angeles that will incite the admiration of other cities and states within the United States.

On the other hand I declare, Mr. Mayor and the Police Department, I am about as bitter with resentment at the present police attacks on Negro and Mexican GI's and civilians as it is possible to be, and I want you to do something about it.

And to Negro and Mexican organizations and individuals who are too high and mighty up there on your social and business pedestals to come down to the level of the masses and help fight the battle to live, the hand is writing on the wall for you: "Weighed in the balance and found wanting."

There is no use in saying, "It won't happen here." It is happening here. Now. No need to think, "Oh, well, I'll be safe." You won't be. No one is safe when anyone is endangered innocently. You may be next. You and You and You. We must unite. We must fight together to protect the freedom we still have. And work for the return of the freedom and liberty and rights that have been taken from us.

And then together we must keep on fighting and working for those freedoms promised in our Constitution and our Bill of Rights. Granted all of these, we shall be first-class citizens of the United States of America, as we should be, and we shall take our place proudly beside our white brother, as we do in time of war, to fight for continued peace, security, and prosperity in time of peace.

Crouch and Harry P. Petrie sitting as members, the commission heard John McTernan, attorney for the discharged 16, characterize the loyalty check as "merely the pre-conceived notion of four men on the loyalty check commission who have been made dictators."

McTernan tried vainly to have the review taken out of the jurisdiction of the Civil Service Commission when he pointed out that the secretary of the commission, Clifford D. Amsden, is also a member of the loyalty check commission.

President Mack overruled McTernan and stated: "My colleagues and myself are not responsible for the activities of the secretary." Observers point out, however, that it is hardly fair for a member of a body that has passed on a matter to be a member of another body considering an appeal on the same metter.

The review hearing lasted over three hours, and it was announced that a decision might be handed down early this week; McTernan and Ben L. Cohen, representative of the American Association of Social Workers, sought to have a decision held up until the constitutionality of the loyalty test had been passed upon by the court. They asked that the discharged employes be reinstated pending such action. Their request was denied.

Mayor Bowron, who has frequently been referred to as "the man whom nobody likes except the voters," said the years of good government in Los Angeles is the result of "teamwork and cooperation."

"Without the support of all the citizens, without their insistence and demand for good government, very little could have been accomplished," he said.

The mayor referred to Los Angeles as a community made up of "representatives of all races and all faiths." He spoke emphatically when he said, "There is no color line in good citizenship—no first-class and no second-class citizenship in Los Angeles."

"Los Angeles," he stated later in his speech, "is the center of the greatest mass migration in the history of the human race, and we welcome that migration." He poined to the problems of housing, transportation and traffic as a source of concern, but he noted that civic-minded citizens were cooperating to overcome these problems. "The future of Los Angeles will depend in no small degree on transportation by air," he said.

Among the speakers and notables present were: Louis B. Mayer, head of MGM; Lt. Gov. Goodwin Knight, Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin, Archbishop J. Francis A. McIntyre, Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz, District Attorney Simpson, Charles J. Harding of the CIO; Dr. James W. Fifield Jr., Dr. Francisco Villagren, consul general of Mexico in Los Angeles and chairman of the Latin-American Consulate Corps in Los Angeles, Charles H. Matthews, former deputy district attorney and a member of the police commission, members of the Board of Supervisors and the City Council.

the argument of proponents of the liy-white policy of the Association who set forth that Marshal had no standing before the court because he is not a Negro.

Justices Jesse W. Carter and Roger J. Traynor voted to give Marshal a chance to argue his petition, but they were outvoted. Marshall sought to have the State Bar Association cancel the certificate of the Los Angeles Bar Association because it bars Negroes.

It is expected that leading attorneys here will join together and support another attempt to get the petiion before he State Supreme Court. In order to preclude another attempt to get the petition before the State Supreme Court. In order to preclude the possibility of failure because of the racial angle, it is planned to have a Negro attorney present the matter.

Basis of the request is a series of columns written by Drew Pearson charging that Thomas loaded his office payroll with relatives, and that employes had to "kick back" or else.

NAACP Requests

submitted an individual report that provoked discussion.

Several members of the board joined with Charlotta A. Bass, California Eagle editor-publisher, to oppose the recommendation that the matter be referred again to the legal committee. Mrs. Bass proposed that the remains of Herman Burns be exhumed for re-examination if necessary, and that a cause of death be established. She pointed out that it was the responsibility of the NAACP to protect the civil liberties of minority people, and this view was concurred in by Roy Wilkins, acting executive national secretary who was present at the meeting. He later commended the board on the position it has taken in the matter.

It was noted that the NAACP has been receiving an increasing number of complaints about police intimidation and brutality, and it was this fact, coupled with the desire to see justice done in the Burns case, that prompted the position that was finally taken.

IPP Protests Police Terror In Watts Holds Peaceful Meeting Saturday

The Independent Progressive Party this week termed last Saturday's demonstration against police terror in Watts a "real victory for the people." The rally, held on the corner of 103rd pl. and Graham, drew more than 300 Negro and Mexican and Anglo-American spectators.

The meeting was called to protest "brutality, intimidation and open interference of Los Angeles police in a legal political campaign."

Police assertedly have arrested and threatened Wallace supporters distributing handbills and Tuesday of last week patrolled a Wallace meeting at the Club Savoy in Watts, warned prospective participants not to attend and searched many of those in the audience.

Police also tore down a picture of Henry Wallace placed on the outside of the building, observers said, and demanded that another, depicting police brutality, be removed.

IPP spokesmen said that in recent days police, wearing crash helmets, have been patrolling the Watts area in increasing numbers.

Following police interference with the Tuesday meeting, a group of 10 prominent citizens signed telegrams to Mayor Fletcher Bowron and all police officials stating the police action reflects "sweeping violations of civil rights" and announcing they would "closely observe the activities of the police in Negro and Mexican-American communities." The telegrams read the citizens would "particularly observe" the Saturday rally.

There was no police interference at the meeting. Co-chairmen were James Allen, IPP candidate for assembly in the 67th district, and William Elconin, regional director of the CIO Electrical Workers' union.

Speakers included Philip Connelly, secretary of the Los Angeles CIO Council; Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, publisher of the California EAGLE; Wilbur Jerger, Democratic candidate in the 60th assembly district, and Frances Williams, IPP assembly candidate in the 63rd district. The meeting was sponsored by the IPP in the 67th assembly district and the Young Progressives.

Prudential Agents Plan Strike Vote

A strike authorization vote will be taken among Prudential industrial insurance agents, members of local unions in the West Coast Region, United Office and Professional Workers of America within the next five days, following a unanimous decision of an emergency Regional Insurance Conference held in San Francisco last Sunday.

The conference was attended by delegates from locals representing almost 100% of Prudential agents in cities in which Prudential operates in the states of California, Washington, Oregon and Utah. The agents have demanded that the company sign a new contract and re-open negotiations immediately.

Catholic Youth Pledge Support To Negro Aims

3,000,000 Students Assail Prejudice See Remedy In Study

NOTRE DAME, INC. (Special)—More than 3,000,000 Catholic students were pledged to service in the fight for social justice for American Negroes at the close of the 13th national conference of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade here.

Held at the University of Notre Dame, the four-day conference was attended by 3,600 student delegates representing CSMC units in thousands of American communities. The conference was the largest meeting of its kind ever held in the United States.

Maintaining that "prejudice and unjust practices against Negroes are based fundamentally upon ignorance of the history of this group of Americans and a lack of regard for the Christian ideals which demand recognition of the God-given rights of all human beings," the resolution put the CSMC on record as recommending the continued general study of the history of American Negroes in each area where the CSMC has a unit with the view of helping to remedy unsatisfactory conditions.

Trillingham, Superintendent of Los Angeles County Schools.

Wallace Workers Terrorized Baldwin Protests to Clark

NEW YORK — Charging that since Herman Talmadge won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination Georgia authorities have "instituted the worst terror campaign the Progressive Party has met to date," C. B. Baldwin, Henry Wallace's campaign manager, telegraphed Attorney General Tom Clark demanding immediate federal intervention "to guarantee free elections in the state of Georgia."

"We are asking that you at once implement the civil rights act to guarantee constitutional rights in Georgia," Baldwin wired Clark. He also asked Georgia's Governor Melvin E. Thompson and Atlanta's Mayor W. B. Hartfield to take action.

Baldwin said that "it is now literally impossible for a Progressive Party member to go on the main streets of Atlanta with our petitions without being arrested, and in many cases having petitions already filled with signatures seized and destroyed."

The Progressive Party of Georgia is collecting signatures to place the party on the state ballot. Sixty-five thousand signatures have already been collected despite police terror, Baldwin said. Fifty thousand valid signatures must be filed by Oct. 2.

Baldwin charged that since the victory of Talmadge in the Georgia Democratic primary for governor "the Atlanta police force is definitely conducting a campaign to keep us off the streets."

Oppose Talmadge

If sufficient valid signatures are obtained, Talmadge will be opposed in the final election by James Barfoot, Progressive candidate for governor.

Fifteen Progressive Party members, including Barfoot, have been arrested to date, Baldwin said, merely for attempting to speak or circulate petitions.

Population Method Best For Election

"In its present method of electing its state senators, California is in bad company. Only one of the 12 principal states has the same indefensible 'area' system that California has. That one state is New Jersey, where 'bossism' under Boss Frank Hague of Jersey City holds full sway."

This statement was made public this week by Hon. John W. Preston, former Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of California and chairman of the Committee supporting Proposition 13 on the November ballot for reorganization of the California State Senate.

"All of the other 12 leading States of the Union have the same or similar 'population' method of electing state senators as we are proposing in Proposition 13. These states are: New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Massachusetts, Missouri, Indiana, Texas and North Carolina," Judge Preston said.

Intersection traffic accidents usually head the list. Slow down before you get to an intersection.

Farmers Active In Campaign to Elect Wallace

"The nation's farmers are not to blame for high prices. Instead of trying to pass the buck and put the blame on the farmers, the monopolists themselves should stand up and have their profits counted."

This was the keynote resolution passed unanimously in Chicago last week when 50 farmers from every leading farm state in the nation met with Henry A. Wallace to map out farm policy for his presidential campaign.

A Farmers for Wallace Committee is now being organized in California. Henry Wallace will spend three days in the Central Valley during his tour of California in October. His schedule takes him to Bakersfield October 3, Fresno October 4 and Sacramento October 5 before his October 6 appearances in San Francisco.

The conference was emphatic in stating that price support not only remains the basis of its agricultural policy but must be extended to every crop, particularly to California's fruit and vegetable crop now excluded from consideration.

Rex Ingram Gets Hearing Tomorrow

Rex Ingram, outstanding stage and screen actor, is free under $2500 bail following his arrest last week in New York for an alleged violation of the Mann Act. The charge has to do with a report that he arranged and paid for the transportation by air of a 15 year old Salina, Kansas girl to New York for immoral purposes.

Ingram will come up for a hearing Friday. It is believed that the actor met the girl when she visited in California. They corresponded and her trip to New York followed. Attempts to reach Ingram in New York were unavailing, but a spokesman who represents a studio where Ingram recently completed a picture pointed out, that the actor is entitled to the same consideration shown actor Robert Mitchum who was arrested recntly on a marihuana smoking charge.

"We hope the public will hold back its criticism until all the facts are known," the spokesman said. "After all, Rex is vulnerable, and some people will do anything for money," he concluded.

Progressives Will Support Holifield

The Independent Progressive Party released a statement, part of which follows, concerning its policy in the 19th Congressional District election campaign:

"The Independent Progressive Party reaffirms its announced intention to campaign for the re-election of Congressman Chet Holifield, the Democratic nominee in the 19th Congressional District, on the basis of his record and of his own statements as to future policies made to Independent Progressive Party leaders and other community groups.

"While the name of Jacob Berman, Independent Progressive Party Congressional nominee, must legally remain on the ballot, he and all other Independent Progressive Party members and supporters will ask the voters to defeat Republican Joseph Francis Quigley and return Holifield to office."

Supreme Liberty Life Insurance Coming Here

Truman K. Gibson, President of the Supreme Liberty Life Insurance Company, of Chicago, Illinois, has announced plans for expansion of the work of that company into Pennsylvania and California.

He said that W. Ellis Stewart, Secretary of the company and also President of the National Negro Insurance Association was completing work on new health and accident policies for those and other states in accordance with recent approval by the Board of Directors authorizing this action. These new policies will supplement the full life program now offered—thus making it possible for the agents of the company to offer a complete and well-rounded program.

The authority from Pennsylvania to write business in that state was received this week from the Director of Insurance.

The entry into these new areas to 14 the number of states and the District of Columbia in which Supreme Liberty Life now operates. This company now has $104,686,830 insurance in force and employs 800 employees with a total yearly payroll of $1,067,050.

Supervisors Put Ban on Crime Pulps

Crime pulps were given the old heave-ho in Los Angeles County last week, as Supervisor Leonard J. Roach prevailed upon colleagues on the Board of Supervisors to adopt an ordinance outlawing such publications.

Concerned over the influx of pernicious literature done up to resemble comic magazines that are being sold to children, Roach had sought an opinion from the County Counsel as to the legality of an ordinance forbidding sale of the questionable literature to minors.

Although expecting test suits by the purveyors, the Board unanimously adopted the ordinance proposed by Roach on the basis of a United States Supreme Court decision that such regulation is valid under the police power.

Remember, We Told You

Candidates for public office at the general elections to be held this year on Tuesday, November 2, are being warned this week by the Los Angeles Board of Public Works that posting political signs and cards upon poles, trees, curbs or sidewalks in public streets is a direct violation of the law, it was announced by Louis M. Dreves, President of the Commission.

Black Plans Operation Of Vet Cab Co.

Amos Black, founder and president of the Negro Veterans Taxicab association, issued a clarion call this week to all Negro veterans to organize and request the city fathers to grant them a franchise to operate, as their right. He is issuing a call to all veterans to meet with him at a dinner on Friday night, October 1, at the Morris Hotel, at 9 o'clock, where he will outline to them future plans whereby they might secure a franchise. Mr. Black says he wants only those who are actually interested in a franchise and not in a "bootleg" taxicab company.

Association headquarters are at 819½ E. Fifth st., MAdison 0789. Mortelia L. Womack is executive secretary.

Kenny Prefers Ham To Football Togs

If he can get the kind of screen roles he wants Kenny Washington, former All-American grid star at UCLA and now with the professional Los Angeles Rams, will put his football togs in mothballs for good.

Washington, currently playing a French Foreign Legionnaire in Universal - International's the "Rogues' Regiment," would like to get some more genuine acting roles of this type. If he sees even a fair possibility of this he will stick to acting, following in the footsteps of his father, Blue Washington, who enjoyed a very active screen career through 10 years of silent films and the early days of the talkies.

Mayor Bowron Objects

Creation of a new community of approximately 2,000 homes in the Encino area of the San Fernando Valley, was vetoed last week by Mayor Fletcher Bowron who termed the proposed project "a return to the evils of the past."

Watts Pioneers Demonstrate Community Pride and Spirit

The Watts Pioneers proved that it could be done, for Sunday, Sept. 26, at 2:45 p.m., the Watts residents and merchants began a page in history that made history for the entire eastside area. Many predicted that none of the officials invited to participate in the parade and church services would be present, but Watts always is very sure that their invitations are well under way before they make any public announcements.

Leading the 1¼-mile parade were such noted horsemen as Bobby Johnson and Bob Scott. The Silver Spur Riding club, headed by their president, Mrs. M. Medwell, made the women's peza. Other riders from Bob Scott's and Jackson's ranches were included along the lineup.

The Fred Whittaker post, American Legion; The Daps; the Knights and Daughters of Tabor Juniors headed by Mrs. Walton; nine cars carried members and families of the Watts Chamber of Commerce who served as escorts to his honor Mayor Fletcher Bowron, who was present in person and honored the founders and the president of the Watts Pioneers by extending the invitation that they ride with him during the line of march. Those receiving this honor were Mrs. Susie Holvay, Mrs. Laura Fowler, founders, and Mrs. Felix Spurlock, president.

Supervisor Leonard J. Roach with his good wife led the motorcade as grand marshall, wearing the real '49er regalia that added the proper atmosphere to the Founder's Day celebration.

Councilman and Mrs. George H. Moore followed as district representatives and completed the Los Angeles governmental family.

Local, social, civic, religious, YWCA and other business groups aided by participating with decorated cars, and the queen of the day was placed on a float donated by the Willis Brown Biltmer Florist.

The church program was indeed a page of history greetings from all officials publicity chairman Edna G. White, organizations and other representatives. The services were held in the auditorium of Grant Chapel A.M.E. church, corner of 108th st. and Central ave., Reverend Allen, pastor. Mrs. Carrie Daniels and Mrs. Maxime Hughes Scott furnished vocal solos and whistling numbers for the afternoon's program. Grant Chapel A.M.E. Choir aided the congregational numbers.

After the church services, a public reception was held and refreshments served the hundreds attending.

Hats off to Watts Pioneers for staging a Founder's Day program that placed Watts at the top of the eastside list, proving that it could be done and public relations could be worked out with cooperation and coordination from all groups.

The officers, committee and general chairman, Mrs. Faustina N. Johnson, wish to thank all for their untiring efforts in trying to make this day perfect.

A total of 379 homes—the largest figure for any month since the record year of 1946 — were purchased for California veterans through the low-interest State Farm and Home Purchase Plan during August, the State Department of Veterans Affairs reported.

Golden State in Annual Contest For Agents

Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company kicked off on its 22nd annual football contest production this week. Goal of the hotly-contested campaign is $11,000,000 in life insurance production, and a $300,000 increase in company assets. The contests will close on November 30.

Agency Director and Board Chairman George A. Beavers Jr. supervised the kickoff in Los Angeles, and President Norman O. Houston officiated at the opening of the contest for the company's two Chicago divisions. Houston will handle the contest start at Fort Worth, Tex., for the Fort Worth and Dallas offices later this month, and he will also open hostilities at Houston, Tex.

California and Illinois agents will compete for the famed "Walt Gordon Trophy," football autographed by the noted University of California star who was a member of Camp's all-America of 1918. Texas winners will receive a football autographed by the famous "Wildcats."

Simultaneously with the "kick-off," the company announces two new accident and health policies to be issued soon. These policies will show more liberal benefits and have higher maximum face values than policies now issued by the company.

Resurfacing Begins On Main St. Soon

This work consists of resurfacing the former street car tracks of the "O" line which has been replaced by a bus.

The Street Maintenance Engineer advised Councilman Hahn that as soon as employees return from their vacation a crew will be dispatched to begin that work.

Ministers Support Demands of Striking Coast Longshoremen

The Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance, meeting in Oakland, California, on September 21, 1948, went on record to support the strike demands of the Pacific Coast maritime unions.

Mr. Jackson Green, representative of the East Bay Joint Action Strike Committee, appeared before the Alliance to explain the issues of the strike. He submitted a statement outlining the strike demands of the unions which was signed by the Reverend A. O. Bell, President of the Alliance, and the Reverend H. T. S. Johnson, Alliance Secretary, in the name of the membership of the Alliance.

Other ministers strongly approved the union statement and also signed it, including: Reverends H. Holmes, R. D. Garrison, G. Linwood Fauntleroy, Fred E. Stephens, W. M. Clark, Lee A. Fields, and Chaplain Spurgeon J. Mayfield. The statement is being circulated for other signatures and will later be issued in the form of a bulletin to the community. The text of the statement is given below:

STATEMENT

The International Longshoremen's Union has made the following demands upon the Waterfront Employers' Association, and awaits their acceptance in order that the worker may be secure in his work and that good unionism may be preserved in America.

1. Retention of the union dispatching hall. (This agency for dispatching men to their jobs on the waterfront, each in his turn and according to the number of hours worked, was established fourteen years ago by an arbitration board appointed by President F. D. Roosevelt. The Board was headed by Archbishop Hanna of the Holy Roman Catholic Church. This dispatching hall—now under fire of the Waterfront Employers' Association—protects the waterfront worker from discrimination as to race, creed or color, and safeguards his other union rights to an equal share of the work and prompt dispatch to the job).

2. Liberalization of the present vacation schedule of two weeks off for every 1344 hours worked.

3. Sundays off so that workers may rest and attend church services.

4. Continuation of semi-annual wage review procedure. (Wage increases, if any, are to be recommended by governmental agency after statistical research into cost of living levels).

5. The official safety code prescribed by the Federal government and designed to protect longshoremen from avoidable injury in an extremely hazardous industry should be adopted.

The International Longshoremen further call upon the Waterfront Employers' Association to abandon its insistence that union leaders should sign optional affidavits of the Taft-Hartley Bill that would turn a free and democratic American labor union into a company-dominated union. The Oil Workers' Union and the Teamsters' Union of New York are now fighting for their very lives because their leaders were deceived into signing these affidavits. The so-called non-Communist affidavit is only one of many, but it's a legal case of "sign one, sign all," although none need be signed if the union membership so decides. The International Longshoremen hold that it would be ridiculous as well as suicidal to invite the Waterfront Employers Association to dominate its affairs, which would be the case if it instructed its leaders to sign the Taft-Hartley affidavits.

We, the undersigned ministers and duly designated spokesmen of various humanitarian and public bodies of the community, find the above listed proposals of the International Longshoremen to be eminently reasonable and just, and trust that an equitable settlement may soon be reached in order that the worker may be as secure in his rights as the employer is in his, and in order that work vital to the welfare of the nation and the world may be resumed as soon as possible on Pacific Coast waterfronts.

(end of statement)

The maritime strike is now in its 21st day and there is no immediate prospect of settlement. The Waterfront Employers are refusing to negotiate despite the readiness of the various maritime unions. The employers are using the excuse that "they will not do business with Communism." The maritime unions declare that this is an employer smokescreen to confuse the public and split the membership of the unions. The unions declare that "the real issues of the strike are the preservation of the dispatching halls and the maritime unions, better wages, an improved vacation clause, Sundays off so that the members can go to church, protection of the worker's right under the recent decision of the Supreme Court on overtime, and safe working conditions on the waterfront.

Two of the five unions involved are the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union and the International Union of Marine Cooks and Stewards. These organizations forbid discrimination because of race, creed, color or political opinion in the union or on the job. There are thousands of Negro members in the two unions and they get equal work from the halls.

"Negro workers have won equality in some parts of the maritime industry because of strong unions and fair hiring and working rules," said Ray Stewart, Publicity Committeeman. "Segregation and discrimination will certainly creep back into the industry if the employers succeed in their efforts to smash the unions and destroy the hiring halls."

A recent effort by the U. S. Army, which segregates soldiers, to by-pass the halls and hire longshoremen from the street, which the maritimee unions termed strike-breaking and scabherding, was defeated by the united action of Negroes and whites in the Bay area. Demonstration lines were set up by hundreds of white-capped longshoremen and cooks and stewards in front of the Army employment office in San Francisco and before the Army base in Oakland. These men explained to job applicants that the Army was not hiring "civil service" workers but was recruiting men to break a strike. The Army finally ceased its efforts when its program failed. It is now hiring longshoremen directly from the dispatching halls as it has done for fourteen years, and military cargoes are on their way.

West Los Angeles will soon have the finest, most modern mortuary in Southern California, it was announced this week by Edward C. Strong, long prominent in local mortician circles and president and general manager of the West Lawn Corporation, sponsors of the project.

The new edifice will be built at a cost of approximately $175,000 and will be located on the corner of Jefferson blvd. and Norton ave. on a site measuring 263x130 feet. Adaptation of the site for mortuary purposes has the approval of the city zoning administrator and the Superior Court.

Report of IPP Com. Lauds Wallace's Tour of South

"Henry Wallace's recent tour of the South is the most important contribution to the welfare of our country made by any political party in the last 80 years," states the report of the subcommittee on the Negro vote to the National Committee of the Progressive Party.

"During Wallace's tour of the South he spoke at 30 public non-segregated meetings in 28 cities in seven states and made 12 radio broadcasts, all within a period of seven days, traveling an estimated 4,000 miles.

"We must not make the mistake of assuming that this tour was just a matter of improving race relations or insuring a larger Negro vote for the Progressive Party in November.

"Henry Wallace, exercising his great courage, honesty and integrity, has exposed the whole rotten system of Jimcrow, even as the leaders of the two old parties try to ignore it. He has proved to himself, to America and to the world that the system which breeds Jimcrow is the system which has kept the United States from exercising its great strength through the United Nations, in behalf of world peace."

Space does not permit the publication of this report in its entirety. We leave to our readers' imagination to fill in the details suggested by the gist of the splendid tribute to Wallace's courage and the determination of the Progressive Party to fight Jimcrow wherever it shows its ugly head.

Acid Hurling Self Defense Wife Claims

On complaint of her husband Purvis Atkinson, comely Mrs. Mae Atkinson of 10031 Croesus Ave., has been arrested and jailed on a double charge of assault with a deadly weapon and the throwing of caustic chemicals. The husband who was rushed to the General Hospital for treatment, charges that Mrs. Atkinson threw the corrosive acid in his face narrowly missing both eyes and inflicting very serious injuries to his face.

The trouble allegedly grew out of a quarrel between the pair who have recently become estranged. Mrs. Atkinson has retained Attorney Curtis C. Taylor, who has secured her release on bond which was fixed at $2000. He claims self defense for his client.

Appeal Ruling Which Permits Housing Bias

NEW YORK—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has joined with the American Jewish Congress and the American Civil Liberties Union in filing a brief asking the Appellate Division to reverse a lower court decision which affirmed the right of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company to exclude Negroes from its semi-public Stuyvesant Town housing project in lower Manhattan.

The appeal involves two cases: one on behalf of three rejected Negro applicants, and the other by Shad Polier, vice-president of the American Jewish Congress, suing as a taxpayer.

Wallace Itinerary For California Set

"Henry Wallace's tour of California, beginning October 1st, will be in marked contrast to the quick tours of the old party candidates, "Hugh Bryson, Independent Progressive Party State Chairman, said this week.

"When Henry Wallace comes to California on October 1," Bryson said, "he will open a six day tour of the major economic areas of the state.

"His schedule, which includes two days in the Los Angeles area, will take him into Bakersfield, Fresno, Sacramento and San Francisco for extended visits," Bryson continued.

The tentative itinerary for the Wallace party in central and northern California includes these appearances:

Sunday, Octover 3—7 p.m. at Sam Lynn Ball Park, Bakersfield; Monday, October 4—8 p.m. at Memorial Auditorium, Fresno; Tuesday, October 5—8 p.m. at Memorial Auditorium, Sacramento; Wednesday, October 6—8 p.m. at Civic Auditorium, San Francisco.

Slavery Charge Snares Farmer

ST. PAUL, Minn.—56-year-old George Stark and his 80 year old mother have been charged with keeping a 38-year-old Mexican in slavery for six and a half years. Stark was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury last week after the Mexican-American, Francisco Rodriguez, had spirited a message from the isolated farm where he was held. A travelling salesman who visited the farm and talked with Rodriguez told the story to County Sheriff Albert Volinatky.

FBI officials arrested Stark who owns three isolated farms that are without electric lights, radio, telephone and calendars. Starke did not permit newspapers on any of his places.

Rodriguez said he had been hired by Stark in 1941 for $100 per month. He never received more than the price of a shave and a haircut. Stark kept him constantly under guard, he said, and frequently beat him with a pitchfork, a bucket and his fists. Bail was set at $5000.

Progressive Party Summons Support For Re-election Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas in 14th District

"The third party is proud of its record of promoting Negro candidates for election to office all over the nation.

"Henry Wallace's trip through the South stimulates courage for such action, and drives fear out of Negro people to aspire for what is justly their due and this will be the policy of the IPP after Nov. 2.

Bert Witt

I was present at a meeting at the YWCA Friday evening, when a statement of withdrawal from the congressional race in the 14th district was made by Sidney Moore and a resolution offering support to the candidacy of Helen Gahagan Douglas. It was the unanimous opinion of those present that this move was made in the best interest of the community.

P. Price Cobbs, M.D.

The present political situation needs the progressive leadership and courage of Helen Gahagan Douglas. I commend the IPP in the 14th Congressional district for making such a move.

Rev. A. A. Peters
Pastor of Victory Baptist Church

Sidney Moore, who has dropped his candidacy for Congress in the 14th Congressional district to work for the re-election of Helen Gahagan Douglas, has definitely shown the real spirit of patriotism and true Americanism.

Why can't our diplomats in Paris do likewise in the dealings with the Soviet Union?

Marian Inglewood

I think that this move on the part of the 14th Congressional IPP district, in withdrawing their candidate, Sidney Moore, is indicative of the whole feeling of the Progressive Party to support candidates working in the interest of the people.

Alyce Key

There is no one to my knowledge who is more qualified to fill a position better than Mrs. Helen G. Douglas for Congress. We in the 14th district, both large and small men, should support her 100 per cent.

M. K. Thompson
Personality Barber Shop

If all the Progressive forces would stand together, America will be saved from a terrible fate. This should be a lesson to trade unions, Republicans, Democrats, and all people who are interested in a free America to join hands and not be divided by party labels.

A. T. Patrick
Dental technician

In withdrawing his candidacy from the Congressional race in the 14th district, Sidney Moore has placed the interest of the people above self-interest. He and the IPP are to be congratulated for this progressive step forward.

Bertha Angle
ACWA Local No. 278

I think it was a very wise move for the IPP in the 14th Congressional district to withdraw their candidate, Sidney moore, in favor of Mrs. Douglas, who has been a stalwart champion of the people. I personally congratulate them.

H. A. Howard
President Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Assn.

In working with the public as a seamstress and being 100 per cent for Wallace, I would like for the Wallaceites to stop saying, "I would vote for Wallace but he can't win." He can win. As for Helen G. Douglas, after reading about her supporting certain issues involving the Negro people, I will give my support to her.

Mrs. C. P. Conley
Owner, L'Tanya Dress Machine Shop

I think that the Progressives exercised good judgment in withdrawing their candidate from the Congressional race in the 14th district. It will assure the election of Mrs. Douglas, who has a good record as far as one group is concerned.

E. W. Rakestraw
Pastor, Wesley Methodist Church

Congratulations on your very wise decision to leave one of the most dynamic liberals unopposed by the IPP in the 14th Congressional district. Helen Gahagan Douglas deserves the support of every progressive in the district.

Leon Steward
Member of NAACP Exec. Bd.

Helen Gahagan Douglas from her past record has definitely stamped herself as a liberal . . . as a Congresswoman who believes in the practice as well as the theory of democracy. I feel that the action by the IPP in the 14th Congressional district is very well taken.

George Cannady
Attorney-at-Law

The Progressive Party is exercising the true democratic way of life in withdrawing its candidate, Mr. Sidney Moore, from the congressional race in the 14th district. I consider this a wise and a sacrificing move on the part of the progressive party. The election of Mrs. Douglas will insure the common people against a reactionary person in office which would mean a huge step backwards. Here's hoping victory will be hers.

Jessie Mae Brown
Women's Editor, California EAGLE

As director of the Los Angeles CIO Council Political Action Committee: "The unity which has been achieved, combined with a proper campaign on the issues, can guarantee the defeat of Wallace Braden."

James Burford

"I think the IPP has arrived at a wise decision in the interest of the people of the 14th district. Mr. Moore is to be commended for his stand in agreeing to withdraw as a candidate and support Congresswoman Douglas."

Edward E. Elliott
State Assemblyman

Fourteenth Congressional District Takes Its Stand

"The American people want peace, but the old parties' obedience to the dictates of monopoly and the military prepare for war in the name of peace."

"With a firm conviction that the principles of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States set forth all fundamental freedoms for all people and secure the safety and well being of our country, the Progressive Party pledges itself to safeguard the principles of the American people."

Such statements of policy set forth in the preamble and body of the Progressive Party's Constitution is the guiding post for the new party.

This policy determined the recent course pursued by the Executive Council of the 14th Congressional District of the Independent Party.

Last Friday evening, September 24th, the members of the Council invited citizens representing all walks of life,—business, church, civic and political,—to sit with them and aid in the making of a momentous decision.

These citizens and members of the Council came to the realization that in order to keep the peace and establish unity, it was advisable to withdraw their candidate, Sidney Moore, from the Congressional race and throw the weight of the Party's strength behind Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas, the Democratic nominee.

The Progressive Party feels that the interest of the people could not be served by the election of a reactionary member to Congress. This move is made, therefore, in order to insure the defeat of the reactionary, Wallace Braden, candidate on the Republican ticket for Congress in the 14th District.

Sidney Moore, in a statement, issued after the decision, said:

"I am withdrawing from campaigning on my own behalf because a split in the liberal vote may elect the reactionary candidate over both Douglas and me. I am determined to continue Progressive Party organization to unite progressive forces for the election of Wallace and Taylor. I urge the support of Mrs. Douglas, a liberal who has voted right on domestic issues. Under no conditions is this a compromise on our principle."

Mr. Moore pointed out that although Mrs. Douglas voted for the Marshall Plan, a measure opposed by the Progressive Party, and in several other instances did not act according to the principles of this Party, he nevertheless felt the differences were not enough to warrant his opposition to her candidacy. Especially in view of the fact that a split in the Liberal vote might result in the election of reactionary Republican Wallace Braden.

What the Executive Council has done in this matter should furnish an outstanding example for the future conduct of voters in the 14th Congressional District. By this act, members of the New Party have set an example which, if followd by the voters in this district, will wipe out the evil forces which by certain political maneuvers have always kept the people divided, at enmity with each other, and has defeated our purpose of sending to Congress people who would fight against the destructive forces in our government such as the Un-American Activities Committee, Jim Crow methods in the Army, Navy, and other government agencies, and general discrimination against peoples because of race, creed or religion.

The example has been set. Let us march forward along this line.

Voice of a Pioneer

I heartily concur with the action of the IPP in withdrawing the name of its candidate for Congress in the 14th district in favor of the progressive liberal, Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas.

Dr. J. A. Somerville
Dentist

I wish to congratulate the IPP in the 14th Congressional district for withdrawing their candidate, Sidney Moore in the Congressional race and offering wholehearted support to Helen Gahagan Douglas whose record as a liberal and interest in all the people is good.

I have reached this decision because Mrs. Douglas is a supporter of the forces in our government that stands for human rights.

M. Frederick Mitchell
Pastor of Christ Cosmopolitan Christian Church

The citizens of the 14th district could give their support to no finer candidate at this time than Helen Gahagan Douglas. We are proud of her and the record she has made in the House of Representatives. The IPP has my support for making this unselfish decision in the interest of the people.

Lorenzo Bowdoin
Angelus Funeral Home Director, Pioneer Los Angeles Businessman

Sidney Moore has met the supreme test of real human leadership. He has shown great reasoning intelligence inspired by the ideal of devotion to all humanity at the cost of tremendous personal sacrifice. What more can you ask of a leader!

Hugh E. Macbeth, Jr.
Attorney-at-Law

The IPP has said that they would support any candidate regardless of party if they were working in the interest of the people. I believe this gesture is proof that they mean to keep this pledge.

Robert W. Lyon

I've always been proud of the work done by Helen Gahagan Douglas, and I want to commend the IPP in the 14th Congressional district for withdrawing their candidate, Sidney Moore, to support and win more votes for Congresswoman Douglas, whose record in Congress is outstanding.

Hazel Schumat

I commend Mrs. Douglas for her fine work and I think it was wise in the IPP candidate, Sidney Moore, for moving aside and giving her full sway. She has my support. Negroes should stick with Wallace because he's sticking with them.

Rev. M. McLaughli

I've known Sidney Moore for many years. He has the people's interest at heart. It was altogether correct to do this splendid and generous thing.

C. W. Easte

I heartily endorse and approve the action taken by the Executive Committee of the 14th Congressional IPP district and feel that it is a desireous move.

H. Claude Huds

I voted for Helen Gahagan Douglas in 1946 and I'll vote for her again. But I'm with Wallace 100%.

"A grand and noble act," was the way Sidney Thomas, prominent realtor characterized the decision of Sidney Moore to relinquish the race for Congress in the 14th District, and to lend all his support to Helen Gahagan Douglas. "I like Mrs. Douglas very much, and I will give my best support to that of Sidney Moore's to keep her as long as possible.

Sidney C. Thom

....The decision of the IPP candidate in the 14th Congressional district to withdraw in favor of Mrs. Douglas is certain to have far-reaching and beneficial results. Sidney Moore and the Progressive Party is to be commended for this stand.

"I feel it is wonderful that you have reached this decision. The IPP statement prevents the reactionaries from getting the idea that they have prevailed over us when they tried to get Mrs. Douglas to crossfile in the IPP primaries.

Mrs. Elma Morg
Democratic Co. Central Committ

"I am sure we can achieve a great amount of unity in the AFL through this decision. We can't take a chance on electing another congressman who would be in favor of the Taft-Hartley law."

Thomas Bankhe
Legislative Chairman, Local 6

"Sidney Moore has done a great thing. It takes a big man to step aside and sacrifice to advance a cause. We, like Henry Wallace, are fighting for the understanding of all common people—not just until November 2nd, but from now on. I hope Mr. Moore will continue to be a leader in this district and help achieve even greater unity.

Charlotta A. Ba
Editor, California EAG

I am happy to hear that the Progressive Party in the 14th Congressional district has unselfishly withdrawn candidate Sidney Moore to reassure the election of a proven liberal in the seat of the House.

EDITORIALS AND COMMENTS

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

Jim Crow in Canal Zone

"The American press is the eyes and ears of the American people. It brings the world in word and picture to the humblest citizen."

Unfortunately in too many cases the words used by the press are thrown to the humblest citizen after the fashion of Babe Ruth or a Satchell Paige, who curve or twist the ball in way so that the batters can't hit it.

Writers like Westbrook Pegler and one Major General David Prescott Barrows endeavor to twist their words, so that the people can't catch the real meaning.

The humblest citizens in most part are too busy keeping body and soul together to find time to read other than the newspaper. Hence their source of information for virtually everything is the newspaper.

They have an abiding faith in the honor and integrity of the press. Too often one hears: "It is true. I read it in the paper."

"What a tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive."

Often a scribe reads articles written by other writers that are heart-warming because they breathe the truth. But there are others whose sole purpose is to deceive by cleverly changing or coloring their words and phrases to make them deceive.

An apt example of this latter type of deception is found in a column in the Monday morning, September 27, issue of The Los Angeles EXAMINER, by one Major General David Prescott Barrows.

By the length of the gentleman's title and name, one would judge Mr. Barrows an important person.

In his column he states that he came across a letter carrying the signatures of such men as Paul Robeson and Dr. W. E. B. DuBois.

This letter, the writer claims, is an instance wherein a worthy effort is exaggerated with false statements about the silver-gold system in the Panama Canal Zone.

To build the canal, says Barrows, 5000 skilled American craftsmen were needed. These men had to be induced to enter the Panama field. However, the wages were considerably higher than they were in the United States, with good food and mosquito-proofed houses.

The men were recruited locally. Most of them were Negroes from the overpopulated British islands of Jamaica and Barbidos, but there were also many Spanish and Italians. They were paid more than they could earn in their own country.

"It would have been incorrect to have called these two classes of workmen, white and colored, so they were designated gold and silver—"gold" meaning white, and "silver", Negro, Spanish, Italian, etc.

Mr. Barrows states that both classes were well cared for as regards food and shelter. Meals for "gold" workers cost 40c a day, and for the "silver" workers, 27c a day.

"There was no pretense to remunerating both classes alike," said Barrows. "The gold workers came from a country where wages and living conditions were high. The silver workers, meaning Negroes, etc. from countries where homes are mere shacks, and the food must be known to be understood."

Mr. Barrows, in his EXAMINER'S review, seemed to think that it was disgusting to describe the system in the Canal Zone as being Jimcrow, and caustically scored the signers of the letter—Dr. DuBois, Charles P. Howard, Paul Robeson, and Charlotta Bass—for condemning the Department of Justice for persecuting and convicting a labor organizer who had recently attempted to organize a CIO labor union.

This body of silver labor, so says Mr. Barrows, was "contented, faithful in its work, and better off than it had ever been before."

"What is the motive and where is the justification," he asks, "for stirring up dissatisfaction and discontent among such a class as these silver workers?"

That was the exact attitude of the slaveholders in pre-Civil War days.

Major General David Prescott Barrows, military authority and former president of the University of California, cannot see why anyone's position should be improved. Other than his own.

Those "silver" workers were not so happy, they were not so content with their lot as Major Barrows thinks. If they had been they would not have followed so eagerly the suggestion of the CIO organizer that they unite to better their condition.

The Justice Department of the United States, in prosecuting that young labor leader, is following in the footsteps of the Simon Lagrees of history. Neither Tom Clark nor Major Barrows seem able to understand that shackling human beings within a certain "class" is imposing upon them the same kind of slavery as that practiced by the chattel slaveholders of our history not quite a century ago.

IPP Marches On

The report of C. B. Baldwin, campaign manager for the Henry Wallace-Glen Taylor ticket, is most encouraging.

"Neither editorials nor tomatoes nor eggs will stop us," he says, and produces figures and facts to show the people of America are awake at last to the danger of Fascism threatening us, and that they are determined to stop that threat in its tracks.

There is strong evidence that the Progressive Party will be on the ballot of all but four of the states in the Union. These are Illinois, Oklahoma, Missouri, and Florida. The IPP went into court to fight for the right to be on the ballot of the first three states, and believes it will win. In Florida, however, the law for a new party to win a place on the ballot is so severe that it has been termed "political murder."

More than 1,000,000 signatures were obtained in the various states to place the Progressive ticket before the people in November. This alone shows the great interest the people of the United States are taking in the new party, and how sick and tired they are of the two old tweedle-dee and tweedle-dum parties.

Answering the criticism that the Progressive Party is splitting the liberal vote, Mr. Baldwin points out how the Progressive candidates have uniformly refused to file in opposition to any liberal candidate running on the Democratic ticket. He explains the situation in California by saying that the IPP was forced to file candidates for Congress in the 14th and 19th Congressional districts, because the Democratic candidates—Mrs. Douglas and Chet Holifield—refused to crossfile IPP.

"We had to do this to protect our place on the ballot," said Mr. Baldwin.

Mr. Baldwin noted that in 8 California districts, the Republicans won the nominations on both the Republican and Democratic tickets, and if an IPP candidate had not filed the people would have no choice whatever in November. As it was in too many instances in November, 1946.

A special tribute was paid by Mr. Baldwin to the energy, the hard work, and the enthusiastic support given the Progressive Party by the Negro people.

"It would have been impossible to achieve anything in the South without the intense participation of Negro workers and farmers," he reports. "For the first time since Reconstruction days Negro candidates for Congressional and State offices will be on the Southern ballots, placed there by the Progressive Party. But it is not true only of the South. Everywhere in the North and West the Negro people are integrated into the Progressive Party. They function on national, state, and local staffs and committees. They run for office as candidates, they share in the day-to-day job of canvassing, without which our party is nothing."

Equally glowing tributes are paid to the Youth Department and the Women's Division, and the report ends with the declaration that "Election day will be simply a milestone in our progress . . . No matter what the size of our vote, we know our country needs the new party. And knowing that, we will build it strong and make it live."

White 'Liberal' Claims So. Must Have Jim Crow

John Temple Graves, rated as a liberal, writes for the October NEGRO DIGEST, that "great advances can be made for the Southern Negro" if segregation is continued.

"This is a very practical situation in the South and whites believe that segregation is the best way and the only possible way for the races to live together in such proportions."

Note that "liberal" columnist Graves has not consulted the Negroes of the South in coming to this decision.

How Much Longer?

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

The reactionary forces of the state of California are all up in arms in opposition to Proposition No. 13 which will appear on the November ballot. You might think such an innocent proposition as that would escape their wrath. But not so. Combing everything with a fine-tooth comb these days, hunting for the least trace of anything of a bright hue, they have come out with the assertion that they have found a tiny bit of red in this proposition.

Proposition No. 13 would reapportion the state of California in so far as the election of a state senate is concerned. As California is apportioned today, no county may have more than one State senator, and no more than three counties may unite, if these counties have a very small population, to form a senatorial district. As a result Los Angeles county with a population of almost 4,000,000 is represented in the California State Senate with only one senator—Jack Tenney!

On the other hand, two of California's little populated counties, Mono and Inyo, have united. But they together have a population of only some 12,000. Yet these 12,000 people elect one state senator the same as the 4,000,000 of Los Angeles county do.

Now you might think that the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce would go all out in its efforts to secure equal representation for the city and county it has been boosting for more than 40 years. But it isn't. It is uniting with the California Associated Farmers to oppose this measure. And they are basing their opposition on the question of area, not of people. As if those barren acres of land, some of them pure desert, others with only cattle grazing on them, should have as great a representation in the Senate as the acres in Los Angeles with millions of people living on them!

the way, do not represent the real farmers of California. They are the farmers who live in the city, but who have invested their money in farms from which they reap this profit which the workers on those farms earn for them. They are the boon companions of the Big Business men and factory owners in the city. And of course their representatives in the State Senate unite with the representatives of Big Business in the city to pass or to frustrate any legislation as their masters wish.

Time and again progressive legislation has been passed in the General Assembly of the State Legislature, only to be blocked by a handful of senators in the Senate. There are only forty senators, all told, the majority coming from the "cow" counties, where the votes can and are easily influenced.

For example when Senator O'Gara from San Francisco proposed a veterans' housing measure in the 1947 legislature, the fight to defeat it was led by a man who was elected by only 13,000 votes. Senator O'Gara was elected by 157,000 votes. See what we mean?

We need more representation for people. Not desert lands, or cattle. Under Proposition No. 13 Los Angeles would have the privilege of electing at least ten state senators instead of only one. Ten cannot be influenced by a reactionary Chamber of Commerce or other organization as easily as one. Progressive legislation could no longer be blocked in a reactionary senate, the majority of whose members are elected by a comparatively few voters.

We need to bring the law-making body of California back to the people. We need equality of representation. We need equality of men. We need equality of rights, of burden, of benefits. We can get much of this through the reapportionment of the State Senate. So vote for Proposition No. 13. And get your friends to vote for it.

To get away a bit from political matters, The California Eagle and this column wishes to congratulate the IBJOEW and its Grand Exalted Ruler, J. Finley Wilson, upon the Golden anniversary of that Order celebrated recently in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Fifty years of Elkdom, fifty years of progress, and of consecrated effort for the welfare of mankind, is the milestone that this organization with a membership of 500,000 Negroes has reached. Congratulations, IBPOEW! And congratulations, Grand Exalted Ruler Wilson. For Grand Exalted Ruler Wilson has also completed a milestone of service of 27 years as "The Grand." May there be many more years of service for both.

"The New Men of Power"
Analyzes Labor's Leaders

CIO leaders are younger than AFL chieftains; more AFL than CIO leaders believe labor groups should unify. Highest paid CIO man gets $20,000 yearly ($10,000 less than highest paid AFL leader), while lowest paid CIO head rates $2,400. Horatio Alger has a toehold among union hierarchy; 60% of its executives came from the ranks against 10% in business.

These are some of the findings in a revealing and unusual book about labor, "The New Men of Power," by C. Wright Mills (Harcourt, Brace & Co., Sept. 23, $3.50). The author teaches sociology at Columbia University and is director of Columbia's Labor Research Division of the Bureau of Applied Social Research. He has studied at the University of Texas and the University of Wisconsin and has also taught at the University of Maryland. Professor Mills was a Guggenheim Fellow and contributes to many publications.

Professor Mills has tried to answer the question "What are labor leaders like?" through exhaustive statistical and factual studies. But despite, or perhaps because of the fact that the book is based on statistics, it is unusually vivid and interesting and probably will be heatedly discussed by the public, labor and management. "The New Men of Power" might be considered a "collective biography" as well as a political statement of what has been happening in American industry and political life.

Labor (particularly the CIO) believes that business organizations have greater influence than their own unions. "The New Men of Power" reveals. Some 30% of CIO executives believe that fascism is a serious threat while 20% of AFL leaders agree.

Congressman Engle Against Prop. Three

Congressman Clair Engle (2nd Dist.) today declared his opposition to Proposition Number 3 while accepting an appointment to the executive board of the California Committee for Railroad Safety.

Calling the Kettle Black

So—the United States of America itself is involved in the ugly implication of having official spies in other countries. (Matter of fact, we do. All countries have. But they are called intelligence officers. Not spies.)

This particular U. S. embassy cultural attache' to Buenos Aires, Argentina, has been accused of planning a revolt in Argentina, and of plotting to assassinate President Peron and his charming wife Eva. This, of course, goes far beyond anything expected of any intelligence official, and if this person is guilty he should be punished.

We cannot help but note the difference with which this "story" of spying has been treated by the Hearst Press, et al, in comparison with whatever grist comes to their mill of false rumors concerning some one from the Soviet Union who may have been caught slightly out of bounds.

Had this person been a Russian official, no headlines could be black enough or large enough to spread it screaming acros the front pages of virtually every newspaper in the country. But he was an American. So the story is "buried" on one of the inside pages.

This business of calling the kettle black, when our own pots and pans are not so clean and shining, is one that may prove a boomerang in the end.

Homes for White Orphans, Jails for Brown

At least ten couples and one orphanage are ready and waiting for the nation's 150,000 homeless white children, an October EBONY photo-feature declares. But for the little brown orphans, there seems to be no homes, no foster parents.

In Illinois alone, the "Children's Home and Aid Society was hit by the refusal of 90% of the state's 106 institutions to accept Negro children."

"As a result these unfortunate children grow up unwanted and friendless in unfit homes," the story adds, "or are kept in penal institutions for lack of a better place."

And they are taught to sing, "MY Country, 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty!"

W. J. Wheaton Says

THEY CAME, THEY SAW: But they will not know who CONquered until the ides of November, which in this case, will be the second instead of the Roman 13th. Rival candidates for the presidential toga, and free tenancy of the mansion on the hill, incumbent Truman, and aspirant Dewey, almost bumped their 17 coaches of state in their agerness to convince the voters of California . . . Dewey . . . that they should kick the rascals out and let the ——— in. Candidate Dewey made a bid for the Wallace support when he said that he would welcome the support of such of that clan who felt kindly toward his candidacy. Just before making that statement he had excoriated Communism, and what steps he would take to crush it out. Wallace supporters have been branded as appeasers of Communists. Politics make strange bedfellows!

The comedy is the tragical bid of the Dixiecrat candidates for national recognition. Governor Long of Louisiana called a special session of the tSate Legislature to place the name of President Truman on the ballot and give him an opportunity of wresting the 10 electors votes from the Dixiecrat aspirant, Thurman of South Carolina.

When one reads the history of the founding of this nation, South Carolina looms up as a sore spot, a pimple on the neck. She vetoed every act to abolish slavery, proposed by Jefferson, and which had the sympathy of Washington. Had slavery been abolished at that time there would have been no Sumpter, no war between the states, no needless destruction of property, nor loss of lives.

The State has produced more fomentors of racial hate than any other of Uncle Sam's nephews. It stands at the top for its illiterecy, has no peer in its racial intollerance, and in producing such characters as the late "Pitchfork" Ben Tillman, and "Cotton" Ed Smith, has disgraced this nation in the eyes of civilized peoples the world over.

How decent minded southerners can give their political support to such a hopeless cause, is an enigma. Even to an Alabaman. By openly opposing the programs of President Truman for equal opportunity, and equality and justice before the law for all citizens of the nation, the Dixiecrats have done more to give aid and comfort to Communism than any other plan that may have been adopted.

It has created such feeling among nations abroad ,that even our purported friends look askance. tI has given that Russian firebrand of Communism, Vishinsky, ammunition for his onslaught of, or against, our democratic form of government. In the face of such exhibitions as put forth by the exponents of Dixiecrat ideas of a democratic form of government, it will be hard to cinvince other nations of our sincerity.

The Congressional candidates are receiving more attention than usual. Those who favor the repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law are getting the support of the labor organizations, and vice versa. Of course, such aspirants, and their political friends are classed as "Reds." This is not always the case. Franck R. Havenner, incumbent congressman of the Fourth District, and Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas of the 14th District, have voted with the President in all his humanitarian efforts (efforts to subordinate property rights to that of human rights), are citizens of loyal repute. The United States has given to this nation no more loyal, patriotic law makers than Franck R. Havenner and Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas.

Regardless of whatever else, it is the hope and wish of many, that they be returned to Congress to resume the work for human welfare. Party label has meant nothing to them. The welfare of the people as a whole has ever been uppermost in their minds and they have acted accordingly. It is the kind of legislators you and I want, legislators who care as much for the interests of the housewife and the family producer, as well as that of the corporations of big business.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

Random Thoughts, Random Harvest

JOHN M. LEE

"All that serves labor serves the nation. All that harms labor is treason to America. No line can be drawn between the two. If any man tells you he loves America, yet hates labor, he is a liar. If any man tells you he trusts America, yet fears labor, he is a fo'ol. There is no America without labor. And to fleece the one is to rob the other. Thank God, we have a country where workingmen have the right to strike."

Abraham Lincoln would be called a communist were he alive today, for it was he who made the sensible and human observation reported above. It was way back in 1860 when the ideal of human slavery was fostered less subtlely than it is today. Always the struggle between those who work and produce and those who finance and exploit, has pivoted on the simple question of how much for each. Essentially, the struggle is to keep the balance dangerously out of proportion on the one hand, and to adjust it to a more equitable level on the other; it has nothing to do with patriotism or loyalty or political thinking. It is simply the human quest for reward and security. . . With one third of our people slowly dying from starvation (or under-nourishment or malnutrition if you prefer) we can hardly afford to speak boastingly of feeding the 'starving peoples of Europe,' as the Republican candidate for the presidency is wont to do. We must first wipe out hunger here at home. As superior as our form of government might be to those governments of the rest of the world, it has not yet found a way to protect the workers from the parasites who own the system and consequently control the finances.

We are a nation of materialists, dedicated to, and completely influenced by the force and majesty of the dollar; it is typical of us that we have invented a system that multiplies wealth for the wealthy while it further impoverishes the impoverished. We have adulterated our milk, our butter; cheapened the grades of our bread and meats and lessened the quality of our materials in the name of greater profit; yet we have consistently raised prices out of proportion to the ability of the workingman to pay. Salaries have been raised, but always the worker gives it back in the form of taxes or increased costs.

The Taft-Hartley Law was conceived and forced upon us by the guardians of the system, to throttle labor and to enhance the position of those who amass fortunes on the sweat of labor. It is a treasonable law, for it harms labor, and will eventually destroy what unity there is left in the nation. It can be repealed by NOT sending back those men who passed it, or who now favor its continuance, to administer our government. The Republican candidate, recognizing the overwhelming opposition to the Taft-Hartley Law has promised to make some changes in it 'when he is elected.' It is well not to trust him. No person who works for a salary, and who must bargain for his rights, should vote for the Republican candidate for President, nor for any Republican or Democrat who favors the Taft-Hartley Law.

To those who would call you names because you dare to oppose the system and the men who (though they shout of patriotism and one hundred per cent Americanism), promulgate it by preying on the workers, say simply this: 'TO FLEECE LABOR IS TO ROB AMERICA.' Your vote is a precious right; use it to your and the nation's advantage. You can do this by NOT voting Republican.

IMPORTANT MEMO: The Urban League membership campaign should be a vital concern to labor. It is the one organization that has effectively functioned to open new sources of employment for Negro workers. It is a valuable friend of labor's. Join it Now! Send your membership to 2510 S. Central Avenue. Get your local to join; ask the CIO COUNCIL to get behind this drive.

Progressive Condemns Georgia Law

C. B. Baldwin, Henry Wallace's campaign manager, said that the "shockingly light three-year sentence" of the man who killed a Wallace leader in Charleston last May 7 was "the tragic product of the current anti-Wallace hysteria in a state which denies Negroes their rights as human beings and which even lacks the secret ballot."

Baldwin's comment followed last week's sentencing of Richard Serreo, waterfront habitue, to three years in prison after he pleaded "voluntary manslaughter" at his trial for slaying Robert New, chairman of the Charleston Wallace for President Committee. Serreo, who had conducted an "anti-Communist" campaign against New, a maritime union official, stabbed him to death with a knife. New was white.

People who toss eggs at political speakers have no concept of fair play—or the price of eggs.

☆ POTPOURRI ☆

The state executive committee of the Independent Progressive Party in special session September 16 designated Mrs. Una Rice, housewife, of Rosemead, Calif., as the IPP candidate against incumbent Republican Richard Nixon in the 12th congressional district.

The announcement was made by Elinor Kahn, state director of the IPP, who declared: "We have entered a candidate against Richard Nixon and plan an all-out campaign to defeat the man was was 'proud' to co-author the infamous Mundt-Nixon bill."

At the same time, Miss Kahn announced that a mail ballot to the State Central Committee had confirmed the designation of James B. (Bert) Willard, newspaperman of Vallejo, to oppose incumbent Republican Leroy Johnson in the Sacramento-San Jooquin district. Like his Republican college, Nixon, Johnson having won both old party primaries, would otherwise have been unopposed in the general election.

"Why the Do-Nothing 80th Congress Did Nothing About Housing" will be the subject of a talk by Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas at a rally sponsored by the 64th Assembly District Democratic club in the Rosemon school, Rosemont and Temple sts., one block west of Alvarodo, this evening (Thursday) at 8 o'clock.

A motion picture, "Magic State," advocating the reapportionment of California according to population for the election of state senators, will also be shown.

Mrs. Gladys Frazier, chairman of the 64th Assembly District club, will preside.

The national radio committee of the Progressive Party has produced a 12-program series of transcriptions (eight five-minute shows, and four 15-minute shows) which it will send to any club or organization for a radio program. The committee will deduct 10 percent and 30 percent from the cost, $500, leaving a total to be paid of $315. Henry Wallace will broadcast at 8:30 p.m. every Monday, instead of at 7:30 p.m. as announced previously. Reason for the change is that the east has gone back to standard time, while here in California we're still on daylight time. NBC network, KFI Los Angeles.

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—Four party officials of the Progressive Party were arrested at a street corner meeting here recently, but were not booked.

The policeman who did the arresting said they were violating a city ordinance by using a sound truck. The meeting was one of a series to drum up interest in a speech to be delivered by Henry Wallace.

The New Republic recently gave a very graphic illustration of the great gulf that exists between the rich and the poor in the United States.

Picture to yourself, it said, a train of ten passenger cars. Each car represents one-tenth of the wealth of the country. In the rear Pullman there are five persons, lolling in comfort and luxury. In the second car there are 15 people; in the third, 25; in the fourth, 30; and in the 5th, 35.

These five care are Pullmans. But beginning with the sixth, the remainder are day coaches. In the 6th car there are 45 people; in the 7th, 50; 8th, 60. In the 9th the passengers are standing in the aisles. There are 75 of them. And in the 10th, there are 160 hanging from the luggage racks, standing wherever they can crowded the way our street cars and busses are at 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

That's the difference. Five in a luxurious Pullman, and 160 in a crowded smelly day coach.

"Shades of Jefferson!" wrote a distinguished lawyer of New York and a leading layman of the Episcopal Church, when he heard that the U. S. Department of State refused to permit the Dean of Canterbury to enter the United States and tell what he knew of Russia. "An elderly clergyman who holds one of the most distinguished ecclesiastical posts in the world, who loves peace and ensues it, is forbidden to enter the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave to tell us what he saw on a recent visit to Russia and to urge us, as he urged his own countrymen, to do all in our power to maintain good relations with the Soviet Union! . . . What is most shocking is the fact that scarcely a voice is raised in protest . . . From Andrew Hamilton (who won a fight for freedom of the press during the early days of American history) we have descended through A. Mitchell Palmer to Tom Clark and from Thomas Jefferson to Harry Truman. God save the state."

It seems The Daily News can't make up its mind whether to vote "Yes" or "No" on Proposition No. 14, the Housing Initiative which will appear on the November ballot.

Well, if Manchester Boddy, or Leslie Claypool, or any other member of the Daily News had ever been served with an eviction notice, and couldn't find any place anywhere to go, or if he had lived in a garage with no floor or windows; or in a shack with the rain pouring in; or slept on a bench in a park; or done any of the other things ex-GI's and civilians, too, have been forced to do right here in Los Angeles because of the housing shortage, he wouldn't debate long how to vote. He'd vote YES a thousand times YES. And no one could change his mind.

P. S. The California Housing Initiative Committee, Inc., urges you to write to The Daily News, and tell them you want everybody to vote YES on Proposition No. 14.

SHARPS & FLATS

By
ALBERT J. McNEIL
Music Critic of the California Eagle

Rapidly Los Angelenos are becoming aware of the contributions of good music. Last Sunday was indicative of the trend; three muscial events were in the offering, all of which were contributory to the promulgation of good music. It is interesting to note that the presentation of artists has become almost an obsession with fraternities and sororities. Almost in the same phrase we add that unless organizations with definite musical aims and objectives are awakened to this trend they will have little to do insofar as artist presentations are concerned.

ATWATER KENT WINNERS

Kappa Alpha Psi demonstrated at the Philharmonic Auditorium last Sunday afternoon its ability to present an artist presentation of unusual significance. The five Atwater Kent winners, all singers, were of both groups all extremely talented and well prepared.

Reaching the zenith of performance was unassuming Georgia Ann Lasiter, dramatic soprano, whose renditions of Ponchielli's "Suicidio" and Sibelius' "The Tryst" were superb. The young woman has an excitingly warm voice, decidedly well controlled. The possibilities for future success are multiple. Let us hope that further study will result in a New York debut and the endorsement of the nation's critics.

Kenneth Chapman, baritone, the possessor of an interesting voice, was musically successful in his rendition of Verdi's "Credo."

Felix Uribe, another baritone, is an opera singer of rare quality. Uribe has a big voice replete with the dramatic flare. He sang the "Nemico Della Patria" from Giordano's "Andreau Chenier" as though he were actually performing with an opera troupe.

The well-worn "Divinities du Styx" from Gluck's "Alceste" was the initial offering of Katherine Hilgenberg Chapman, mezzo-soprano. Her feeling for form was obvious; we were little impressed musically.

As usual, William Valentine, popular gifted young bass, took Handel's "Why Do the Nations" from "The Messiah" at such a pace that the diction became incoherent, and the pronounced florid passages light and not bass-like in character. Mr. Valentine's tendency toward a coloratura-like imitation in ornamental passages is rapidly becoming habitual. The "Le Sais Tu Bien" of Pierne's was an improvement, however. The spiritual was devoid of warmth and interpretation.

SECOND ANNUAL CHOIR CHORALE

Again church musicians were given an opportunity to share the experiences offered by singing together and as individual groups. Sunday, last, at 3:30, Anna Griffith Morrow and the Second Baptist Senior Choir, Geneva Bass Moore, organist, were the hosts to a choral festival. Opening with the combined choirs totaling 250 choristers singing Mozart's "Gloria" directed by this writer, the program moved forward with each choir presenting two selections.

Among the participating groups were the Trinity Baptist Ensemble, the Progressive Baptist Senior Choir, Edna H. Porter, director-organist; the Independent Cathedral Choir, A. J. McNeil, director; the First Baptist church St. Francis Singers, John Burke, director; and the Albert McNeil Choir.

Arthur Leslie Jacobs, head of the department of music of the Los Angeles Church Federation, gave an interesting talk on the "Value of Good Church Music." His emphasis was on the spiritual, educational, and moral effects of music in divine worship. Dr. Henderson, Second Baptist pastor, reiterated and added that congregations have been duped into accepting music of inferior quality to such an extent that their powers of prudent musical discrimination have been lessened.

IRMA JUNIEL AND DON LEE WHITE

Miss Juniel, pianist, and Mr. White, organist, were presented in concert last Sunday afternoon at Zion Hill Baptist church under the auspices of the Progressive club. The concert opened with Tschaikowsky's "Andante" from the "Sixth Symphony" and Demarest "Fantasie," both compositions for organ and piano. The monumental qualities of both works were greatly reduced by the limitations of the small organ and its limited capacity. The synchronization was commendable, however. Palmgren's "May Night," generally an encore selection, opened Miss Juniel's piano group, while Mozart's "A Major Sonata," which should have been the initial piano selection, concluded the group.

The elements of program planning which were lacking were made up in intensive enthusiasm and genuine musicianship.

☆ That Berlin Situation

By PAUL FRENCH

A threat of war — repeated daily, constant commotion in the American newspapers, declarations at Paris that the matter will be taken up in the United Nations Assembly, ultimatums to Moscow to "lift the Berlin blockade"—or else. All these make necessary to expose the truth about this so-called "Berlin situation."

How di this "Berlin situation" arise, in the first place? Berlin is entirely within the Soviet zone of occupation—a hundred miles inside. How, then, did the American, British and French get into Berlin in the first place?

The answer is very simple. Berlin is the capital of Germany. After Germany was defeated and all Germany occupied, the eastern part by the Soviet army, the western part by American, British and French troops, Truman, Stalin and Churchill (with Attlee as prime-minister elect) met at Potsdam, and signed an agreement. The Potsdam Agreement provided for many things. But, as to Germany, and regarding Berlin, it provided:

1. A supreme and central authority for all Germany, called "The Control Council," should be set up, on which the Soviet, America, Britain and France should have military representation.

2. Since all Germany was to be governed by this Control Council, this Control Council should be located in Berlin, the national capital.

3. In order to provide for the military staffs participation in this all-Germany Control Council, the Soviet occupation authorities granted the U. S., Britain and France, to occupy certain sections of Berlin, which, it must be repeated, lies one hundred miles with the Soviet zone. However, since 1945, when the Potsdam Agreement was signed, Truman turned over previous Roosevelt policy of cooperation with the Soviet Union, to the gang of generals, bankers and monopolists that now run the U. S. Government, and these gentlemen have proceeded to violate the Potsdam Agreement flagrantly in every particular. They didn't do this just for fun, but because they, as agents of Wall Street imperialism, intend to dominate and exploit all Europe (indeed, the whole world), and to allow the Soviet Union to share in any control of Germany would prevent this imperialist scheme, which since then has come to be organized as "the Marshall Plan."

General Clay, as agent of the State Department, began a policy of constant sabotage of the Four-Power Council in Berlin, refusing to carry out the detailed provisions of the Potsdam Agreement about every possible thing, the confiscation of and nationalization of big factories owned by big-shot Nazis and war criminals, the right of workers' unions and political parties to organize, and all manner of things.

Instead, the scheme to form a separate "German Government" of American and British hand-picked stooges, mostly Nazi and all anti-Soviet scoundrels, at Frankfurt, began in American and as the thing to do. The American occupied section of Berlin became a center of anti-Soviet spies organized by U. S. Intelligence men. Some of these spies, one named Lohrenz, a Social-Democrat, was caught and confessed. Another, Richard Grundig, who worked as furnaceman in the Soviet military office building, told how U. S. Secret agents tried to get him to do spying. Of course, as par of his scheme, all differences within the Control Council were charged, in the lying propaganda put out in America, to be the fault of the Soviet authorities. And when, in early June 1948, the U. S., British and French—violating the Potsdam Agreement by doing so—held a secret conference in London, and "decided" everything about Germany, but particularly the details of splitting Germany—indeed all Europe. Secretary Marshall issued an "explanation" falsely charging this to be the result of "Soviet thwarting efforts to arrive at agreed solutions."

However, the falsity of this is apparent, when we see that, when in 1947 at two meetings of the Foreign Ministers' Council of the four powers, what happened when the Soviet delegations proposed the following:

1. That the Council condemn all plans to set up separate governments in any zone, and declare in favor of a single, democratic German government. The Americans, British and French refused.

2. The Soviet delegation proposed to prepare at once a peace treaty with Germany. The Americans, British and French refused.

3. The Soviet delegation proposed that the provision of the Potsdam Agreement for central Germany economic department, be carried out. Again the Americans, British and French refused.

The reason they refused was that they were already preparing to split Germany. And, in the early days of June 1948, at a secret London conference, they decided on practical measures to do just that. A separate "German" government was to be established at Frankfurt; but it was to be bossed by a so-called "International Authority," on which there should be American, British, French, German (Nazi industrialists), and even Belgian, Dutch and Luxembourg representation—but the Soviet Union is excluded.

More, this "International Authority" at once, on June 18, proceeded to introduce a new and different money in all Western Germany. This, despite the fact that, when in December at the Foreign Ministers Council, Molotov had exposed this illegal action in advance, both the American and British diplomats vowed that no such separate currency was contemplated.

This splitting of Germany was bad enough, when carried out by zones, and its purpose was announced baldly enough in the declaration that "the findings of the International Authority shall be consistent with the Marshall Plan." Wall Street imperialism, in short, was gobbling up the rich resources of the Ruhr—excluding all Soviet share or control of that immense industrial area, so useful for war, Wall Street imperialism.

This was bad enough, to split Germany and create a separate government excluding the Soviet, and to introduce chaos between the two Germanies by putting out a different kind of German money from that uniform currency previously used in all Germany. But to make matters completely impossible, the "allies" brought this west-German money into Berlin itself, completely snarling all trade and commerce, and trying to wreck the economy of the whole eastern, Soviet occupied zone within which Berlin lies.

It was, then that the Soviet authorities were compelled to act—and still it was not and never was a "blockade," but a provision that all traffic between the western zones and Berlin had to be subjected to search, to prevent the smuggling of worthless western money into the Soviet zone where is might be passed off for good money. During one week in June 19, more than 5,000 persons were caught trying to smuggle this money in, some of them with as much as 400,000 marks.

However, though this search ing of all people and traffic obviously necessary, the American military refused to submit to it and so began the "air lift" to supplying Berlin by air, so began the grand row about the "Berlin blockade."

But here comes the pay-off. Since the Americans, British and French were permitted to come into Berlin by the Soviet in the first place, only because they signed the Potsdam Agreement to share with the Soviet the authority over all of Germany, they very clearly forfeited that permission when they went off by themselves and set up a separate government in western Germany, which they already ruled, and from which they exclude the Soviet Union.

When the Soviet imposed the so-called "blockade," it was discovered that, although the Americans, British and French had, by the Potsdam Agreement been allowed to occupy part of Berlin, nowhere was there any agreement as to them having any roadway, air corridor, or other means of traffic from or to Berlin and their western zones. Legally, the Russians have the complete right to close down all traffic completely.

And, if the Americans, British and French have given up the right to share with the Soviet Union the rule of all Germany, just why should they remain in Berlin at all? That is the real question about "the Berlin situation."

An Open Letter To His Fellow Americans

By a Man Who Cannot Give His Name

I am a political analyst.

At present I am writing for an organization committed to the support of Harry S. Truman for reasons which it believes will further its immediate self interests better than would the election of Thomas E. Dewey.

Yet the heads of this organization show in many ways that down deep in their hearts and even in the better and more usable portions of their minds they know that only the election of Henry S. Wallace could give their great and outstanding organization—and the members of this organization, themselves, as Americans, the peace at home and abroad, the security, the wholesome and decent moral, spiritual and economic climate in which they can live proudly and happily and constructively as human beings—contributing their quiet share to the making of this a better and a stronger land in a world sincerely devoted to the advancement of the welfare and the dignity of the individual.

The organization for which I write cannot say this out loud, nor may I, as one of their spokesmen—because today, the people of America have been intimated and browbeaten and cajoled and misled into believing that to work for the welfare of the country as a whole and for the great mass of their fellow citizens is to work against Amesrica's best interests.

They have been sold this lie by those who fear that the welfare of the many will interfere with the continued welfare of the few—the few who are working for war because of the profits of war.

And the lie has been deepened and spread by those whose incomes are derived by represnting the interests of those who are not satisfied with the profits of peace but look greedily and impatiently for the greater profits of war.

The spokesmen for those interests—among whom, consciously or unconsciously must be included Harry S. Truman, the present President of the United States—and Thomas E. Dewey, who now smiles benignly when he is introduced at political rallies as the next President of the United States—have done a good job persuading a vast and sad number of our people that Henry A. Wallace represents something which we should oppose in our country's best interests — when what they really mean is that Wallace is opposed to the selfish special interests of the few who cannot prosper as greedily as they would like unless we can be led to act like sheep and do what they tell us—unless we can be persuaded to act against our own best interests and give our pocketbooks and our lives over to them—unless we can be led to give them that which is rightfully ours—which the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution and all the other great historic American documents and covenenants with the people of this land and the generations of the future have assured us were our inalienable rights—the very rock on which our land is founded.

So—since I, as an American, as native as the city of New York, a veteran of one world war and a campaigner in the other, may now not speak up freely and speak of what I see and know—may not speak up freely in this land which has been called the land of freedom—may I speak softly and quietly to your hearts and beg you as fellow citizens — as intelligent and thoughtful Americans — may I beg you to vote for your own best interests at this next and perhaps most crucial election in our history . . . may I beg you to vote for the welfare of yourself and your family and your loved ones.

May I beg you to vote for sanity and peace . . . for world harmony instead of gathering tension . . . for economic security rather than increased labor friction in which those at the top will be able to whittle down salaries steadily . . . for an attitude in which prejudice may be abated and controlled and finally eliminated . . . for political honesty not only on the civic but national levels.

There is NO TRUE PROFIT for AMERICA which can come from the broken bodies and the blasted cities of war.

There IS profit for the MAKERS OF MUNITIONS and for the INDUSTRIALISTS who do not want to lower their prices or turn their plants to the making of the materials of peace at peacetime profits.

But the MAKERS OF MUNITIONS, although they control the reins of government today, are NOT AMERICA . . . THEIR PROFIT is NOT OURS.

WE ARE AMERICA.

Let us show that we realize this, at the polls, next November 2nd.

It is WE who LOVE AMERICA.

Let US say which way our country should go—whether toward the chaos of war and fascism—or toward the peace of democratic progress—toward a land of mental and material freedom for all of us.

The Road To Health

FOOD POISONING
By George D. Cannon, M.D., New York, N. Y.

Every summer the newspapers carry accounts of numerous picnics and outdoor suppers. Reading about them recently, I was reminded of a church supper a few summers ago when a good time was not "had by all" because it caused an outbreak of illness among most of the people who were there.

Poor Mrs. Jones! It was she who organized the supper to raise money for a new church organ, and it was also she who baked the cream puffs that made everyone sick. To add to her embarrassment, she was too busy serving at the supper to eat any of her own cream puffs and was one of the few who did not become ill.

At this particular church, the minister was having a birthday in the fall. Mrs. Jones phoned some other parishioners in the middle of the summer and suggested that money to start a fund for a badly needed church organ could be raised with a church supper. The supper was planned for the end of August so that the minister could receive the fund by his birthday.

Mrs. Jones' cream puffs were very popular in the neighborhood, so she made a good supply as a special treat for the party.

But even before the guests got home after the supper, many of them were ill. The children started to complain first, with pains in their stomachs. There had been about 30 people at the supper, and that night, every doctor in town was busy treating the parishioners for food poisoning.

Fortunately, no one was too seriously ill, although some of the children had to be kept in bed for a few days after the disaster. There was an investigation of the foods that were served at the supper, and to the dismay of Mrs. Jones, the illness was traced back to her cream puffs.

It was the poor woman's generosity and attempts at being efficient that did the damage. She knew she would be busy with other last-minute preparations so she made the cream puffs three days in advance. Busy with her own household duties, she left them on the kitchen table to cool after baking and filling them. Then the following day, she brought the mover to the church basement and left them on a shelft, to make sure she wouldn't forget them later on. In that warm temperature, the cream puffs "went bad" and made the supper guests ill.

Most outbreaks of illness caused by foods at picnics or suppers can be traced back to bland, moist dishes, such as macaroni or farinaceous foods, turkey and chicken stuffing, custards, cream-filled pastries, and creamed dishes of various kinds. Such foods permit the growth of germs that cause illness if they are prepared too long in advance, are not properly cooked or refrigerated, or if proper precautions of cleanliness are not observed in their cooking and preparation.

When planning a picnic or supper for a number of people, it is wise to arrange for such foods to be prepared at the place to be served, or, if this cannot be done, to substitute foods that do not spoil easily. Whenever possible, any food that can cause trouble should be prepared immediately before serving. Only well individuals should prepare and serve the food since those with skin infections and other illnesses can spread their germs through food.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

My Dear Mrs. Bass:

Your issue of September 16th in the Letters to the Editor column, written by Mattie Mae Stafford has plagued and worried me so much, I decided to attempt an answer to both she and Mr. Knott of the Knott's Berry Farm.

The answer of course must be incomplete because to answer fully would call for a discussion of almost every Sociological and Anthropological question in the books.

To Mr. Knott who writes that many unhappy experiences have been created by Negroes, I'd like to say perhaps I agree, but it would be most unusual serving so large a patronage as he does that no whites have created unhappy experiences also. Second, Mr. Knott tells us that Negroes create a problem for him by not being willing to be segregated and seated next to other Negroes, when there are available seats next to members of the other Race.

I am sure that in securing a license to operate Mr. Knott agreed to abide by the laws of the State of California, which grants the same treatment to every individual regardless of race, color or creed, so in catering to the whims, prejudices of a few white guests who resented being seated with Negroes, Mr. Knott created the problem himself.

For the best example I can give to the controversy of the policy of the Berry Farm is Clifton's in Los Angeles where patrons of all races are seated according to first come, first serve policy. Mr. Knott will find the rules for governing his establishment in Section 51 and 52 of our Civil Code which lays down the rules for governing public places.

Furthermore Mr. Knott will find that democratic treatment to all patrons will pay unusually high profits, which in the goal of a business investor I again cite Clifton's.

Now Miss Stafford, Negroes are on trial, but not because they are Negroes but because they are members of the human race. It is a tremendous test to organize and activize ourselves so that one may have compassion in one's heart for one's fellowman, display some intelligence, recognize and act on the issues of the day and tend to one's own business. Unfortunately it is very presumptious for any individual white or colored to believe any single Negro displays all of the virtues or faults of the group and the sooner we stop thinking along those lines, perhaps the better our relations with our white brothers become.

Each member of the other race I chance to meet is responsible for his acts and his alone, let me hope he realizes the same about me. It must work for I have many friends, White, Mexican, Negroes, Chinese and Japanese.

Sincerely,
Juanita Cassius Macklin.

Dear Mrs. Bass: On behalf of the University, I wish to thank you for your cooperation in making available the news of activities at the University to the public during the school year, 1947-1948.

I wish also to express my personal appreciation for your cooperation with the Office of Public Relations during its first and most difficult year of operation. It is sincere hope that your publication will continue to exert its worth-while influence for the benefit of all worthwhile projects and institutions of the race.

Sincerely yours,
RALEIGH P. PLAYER,
Office of Public Relations

Dear Madame:

Just a letter encouraging your magnificent courage in campaigning for Mr. Wallace for president. It is women like you that make me proud of my Negro heritage. That through your efforts the California EAGLE has told people the truth about conspiracy the two major political parties are attempting to shove down our throats. That war is necessary when in reality war is based on profit for capitalists.

You have been called vile names by papers both Negro and white, but don't be in dismay. Their untruthful lambasting only shows you giving out with the truth where it hurts most, their rich profits that have been made by keeping the people asleep.

But you need help in your efforts . . . to help enlighten the people so they may help themselves in the coming presidential election by voting for Mr. Wallace. Respectfully yours.

CORNELIUS B. SMITH.

Apr. 7, 1948

Mrs. Charlotta Bass
Editor, California Eagle,
Dear Mrs. Bass.

"We are not running a taxi service."

This was the answer given me by the Los Angeles Transit Lines when I complained about the ever-crowded buses which inadequately serves the patrons of the Jefferson Boulevard — Exposition Boulevard route (No. 18).

This snippy reply was given me during the course of a 5 minute conversation over the phone with a complaint clerk of the Transit Lines. I had been prompted to call by seeing over twenty-five adult persons wait for a westbound "V" car at Central and Vernon, about four p.m. several days ago, and by seeing them get the "bum's rush" when the street car finally approached. (Less than five persons were able to get on before the conductor shouted, "Thass all!" and gave the signal for the motorman to start.)

In my conversation with the Transit Lines clerk, I listened to some very feeble cliches about "rush hours" and "traffic in a big city." I told her bluntly that these were not valid excuses and that passengers were entitled to seats and regular, adequate, frequent service. I then gave her my name and address and hung up.

Stepping outside the store where I had made the call, I noticed that the people were still there and waiting patiently for another car. Their numbers had increased to twenty-nine.

During the next five or six minutes, while waiting for the car, I talked to the elderly gentleman selling candy bars on the corner. "Yes," he told me, "sometimes people wait here for about an hour . . . so they can get a seat."

Soon the old and dirty, but fast "V" car arrived and I elbowed my way on, almost knocking over several people.

Sincerely yours.

De Jure Recognition of Israel

On the day of its proclamation, May 14, 1948, the Provisional Government of Israel was accorded de facto recognition by the Government of the United States. Though almost four months have elapsed since that date, a full so-called de jure recognition is still being withheld by our Government from Israel.

It is often argued that the withholding of de jure recognition from Israel by the Government of the United States is due to technical reasons, notably to the "provisional" character of the present government of Israel, to the absence of clearly defined frontiers and to generally unsettled conditions in that country. This argument is used to indicate that the withholding of de jure recognition does not denote any animosity on the part of the policy-making officials in the Department of State toward Israel.

The argument is totally incorrect. Full de jure recognition has often been accorded in the past by the United States to foreign governments which were provisional in character, and have ruled over an ill-defined territory amid disturbed conditions. These were the circumstances in which the provisional governments of Poland and Czechoslovakia were given full recognition after both World Wars. The Government of China and the Provisional Government of France were given de jure recognition in similar circumstances.

The withholding of full recognition from Israel after more than of proven stability cannot therefore be justified by reference to precedent. It is, on the contrary, an indication that the Department of State, who hostility to Israel is well known, has prevailed up the President to withhold from Israel even the measure of cooperation which is normally extended to other countries.

The situation will appear even clearer if one considers that out of fifteen countries which have accorded diplomatic recognition to Israel, thirteen have granted full recognition. The only country besides the United States which has given its recognition a limited de facto character is the Unoin of South Africa, a Dominion of the British Empire which, of course, is anxious to know how to the desires of the London government.

Red Cross Needs Blood

During the month of August the Los Angeles Red Cross blood service program operated at only 33⅓ per cent efficiency!

"In other words," Chairman Sesnon said, "Los Angeles Red Cross was forced to curtail the delivery of whole blood to several of the hospitals making requests for its use in transfusions." He urged residents of this area to make appointments at the Los Angeles blood service headquarters, 925 South Western Avenue.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

A VERITABLE EPIDEMIC of chic events has kept many a person in the social set constantly on the go. The Fall season opened at quite a pace, and believe me it will be some time before the pace slows down even a little bit . . . The Vernondale Golf club activities are now on the mouths of many sports enthusiasts, especially those interested in golf. It so happens that the Open Golf Tournament sponsored by Mae Crowder and her group of diligently working women, is the finest ever held in this locale. Your Cronicler is led to believe that the men, with all of their golf have yet to top this well planned tournament, that offered expensive prizes and had representation from golfers up and down the coast. Martha and Oscar Clisby, the golfing husband and wife team of Crown City, made sensational shots to win over Al McDaniels and Mary Woodyard. Verna Hickman, the efficient public relations lass up at Golden State, also knows her stuff on the golfing green, and did all right in walking off with a runner up prize. Maudell Richardson, Atty. H. L's better half, didn't get off to her usual good start, however she enjoyed the whole tournament. Maethilde Kenner, one of the newest and youngest members of the club, took a third place in her flight. The golfers Nadine Cole, Hazel Shumate, Louise Nichelson, and the rest of the club members who number around 30 were much in evidence throughout the tournament Friday, out at the Western Avenue Golf club. As a climax to the events of the day, the Trophy dance held at the "Congo" the same night was such an overwhelming success it was quite impossible for the group of late comers to get in. Ye scribe fell in that number, however J. T. Gipson, lets us in on the info that it was quite an affair. So at this point, our hats are off to the Vernondal girls, with hopes for even a brighter future.

KAPPA SUCCESS

The Atwater Kent concert, gave way to the gents of Kappa dropping the cultural shadow over many. Sunday's event proved to be of interest not only in the Greek realm, but throughout metropolitan L. A. and are the Kappas proud this week. Just before curtain call, had a chance to chat a brief with Mable Scott, just back from an engagement in San Francisco, also exchanged hellos with Althea Warren and Edgar Bishop. During intermission, glimpsed Dr. Frank Peterson, back from an Eastern Jaunt, chatting with Dr. John Halloway, who was as pleased as punch over the arrival of his baby daughter earlier Sunday morning. John felt the concert was the greatest ever, in fact he felt good about everything that day. So congratulations were in order for the young dentist . . . Retha Beck, Essie Tucker, Vivian Wilson, and Ersula Murrell, all committee workers for the coming Carol Brice Concert, doffed their hats to the men of Kappa, for the very delightful afternoon of music. Last year, around November, hats were being doffed to this committee after having successfully presented Miss Brice to an L. A. audience for the first time. In fact, the Brice concert will be the next Philharmonic event on many a calendar of events . . . Dessie and James Reese (Atty.) spent a gay time in the lobby during intermission. Glimpsed the Olympic star, Mal Whitfield, seated up front center. The man of the hour shyly held his seat during intermission, while his charming sitser and another lovely lady in the party, milled through the lobby crowd . . . The reception that followed at the Peterson Manse on S. Harvard was quite the event going hand in hand with the concert. The Silhouettes were charming hostesses to the many who arrived on the scene to congratulate the five stars of the day. The Willie Pattersons, Felix Williams, Julius Browns, Bob Green, and we could go on naming, for the concert and reception were the important happenings of the day and the people were there.

Child Care Centers Fight Of Homes Avenue Parents Council

The Parent Council of Holmes Avenue extended Day Care got under way this year with a bang! The council met on Sept. 6, and elected the following officers: Mrs. Sadie Brown, president; Mrs. Edythe Wynn, secretary; Mrs. Margaret Jones, treasurer; Mr. Walker Groves, committee chairman.

Mr. Wayne Bowen, the principal of Holmes Avenue school and Mrs. Juanita Macklin, the head teacher of the Extended Day school were present and pledged their aid and support to the Council.

The Council recently sent Mr. Cornell Ridley to the California Legislation of Child Care Centers in Fresno. At the Holmes Avenue banquet, Mr. Ridley brought to the group a very fine report of the convention. The Council is out 100% to see that the much needed child care centers become a permanent part of our educational system.

Mr. Ridley stated that his fraternity, Phi Beta Sigma, whose theme is the abating of Juvenile delinquency, had closely observed that child care centers are our greatest weapon for controlling delinquency and it had been noted that in the areas where there are centers, there is less delinquency among the children.

The council heard remarks from Mrs. Allen, the PTA vice president who urged all parents to double their efforts this year.

Too much credit can not be given Mrs. Macklin for her art in community organization.

The Holmes Avenue Child Care Center is well staffed with efficient teachers. At present the center has in addition to the principal and head teacher, Mrs. Geneve Crawford, Mrs. Pearl Moulder, and Mrs. Lorain Henderson.

Mrs. Sadie Brown is president of the Council; Mrs. Edythe Wynn, secretary; Mrs. Margaret Jones, treasurer and Mr. Walker Groves, chairman.

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

The two major circuses of our country have just been in our town. They attracted crowds of thousands and thousands. On their programs appeared many celebrities and known guests. In the big stadiums we have seen many clowns and tricksters. The old acts are always new to the public, and they go on molding the public attitude.

Now in this big show, actually two but now one, in 1948, we had comedians and acrobats on motorcycles in the parade. We heard the barkers calling loudly and clearly, announcing the programs of the big shows. And behind the steering wheel of each, two men, working together for control of the royalties for some years to come. It has been a fine show, all right, the best many of us have ever seen along that line. For such a grand aggregation of pretenders don't get together very often. No, there isn't another circus in our country like RINGLING BROTHERS AND BARNUM AND BAILEY! (I wouldn't dare head this column talking about Republicans and Democrats . . .)

RUSSIA ACCUSES U. S.

Last September 25 found Russia's top delegate, Andre Vishinsky, up before representatives of all the nations in the world pleading with the United States not to make atomic war on Russia, and destroy all the big cities. It seems that Mr. Vishinsky asked for reduction of arms and the out-lawing of the atomic bomb as an instrument of war. As a matter of fact, most of the things the Soviet Union is asking from us could be found in Henry Wallace's Open Letter to Stalin earlier in the year. Now if statistics don't fail me, over that same letter a great deal of confusion within our own country was aroused.

Certain sources will tell you that at the United Nations General Assembly, Russia is trying to shift the blame on the United States for the present cold war. But Stalin did answer Henry Wallace's open letter, and said he was anxious to comply with the terms it set forth. There was much talk of a meeting between the allied powers, including Russia, to decide what steps should be taken. But that was bad for the big military play up Big Business was carrying on in he United States, so Mr. Truman, it seems, had the whole thing called off for good. Had the allies met then, it might have prevented the Berlin Blockade and that awful "CRISIS" as so many like to call it, amongst the United States, the Western powers, and Russia.

But it seems to me that the U. S. and the U. S. S. R. are alternating their positions. Here we have Russia begging for peace and the United States—well, just what are we doing but going to the circuses? At the U. N. we want a change in the veto rights. When the United Nations was being formed, it was Russia that argued against the veto power. We were in favor of it. We might have originated the idea. So far when we accused Russia of making war plans, it looked truly justified. But now that they're accusing us, it's beginning to look "fishy" and silly. And what's silly about wanting to out-law the atomic bomb in warfare? What would have happened had they not out-lawed poison gas before? And why did all nations comply with the ruling, even Adolph Hitler in his most ruthless purge of the world in history? He knew, simply, that the same would be used on him if he used it first. Why not the same with atomic energy? Does the United States want it? Now we can't say we're trying to pass the ruling and Russia is blocking the suggestion. The USSR would have outlawed it from the beginning. Are we planning to wipe out Moscow, Leningrad, Kharkov, Odessa? Finally, DOES ANY NATION IN THE WORLD WANT PEACE? If you have an answer to these questions, please get in touch with me through the EAGLE and I'll be glad to have them printed here!

DEWEY'S SPEECH

There was nothing in what the Governor of New York said in his HOLLYWOOD BOWL address that would make the average young college student want to lay down his life to defend, other than America itself. He used a tone of voice that was highly persuasive, and to the thousands of Republicans it was good. But unless you're wealthy, I'm afraid you couldn't afford Mr. Dewey's type of America. The people found that they couldn't afford Mr. Hoovers' kind in the late twenties and early thirties. The price of the experience was nearly starvation for more than the already poor.

A great deal was said by the Republican presidential candidate about Communists. But he made no attempt to define his version of a Communist. My version is: A term, like a rubber jacket, that can be stretched to any size or form to fit anyone—any deed. And Dewey went on to say that the "Communists" would be kept out in the open at all times so the people would know what they were up to. Who would decide who the Communists are?

And he talked about jailing them and making new legislation to apprehend the "Communists." Frankly, the idea isn't a good one, for a law is not justice; justice is the proper administration of a law upon the offender. And why should we make new laws to design the country for Republicanism?

Now get this: he said the country would not be made into a police state.

I'm afraid that with a new set of laws, we would catch—as in the fisherman's net—more than fish. It's comforting to know that the country won't go Republican this year.

Seek New Trial For Imprisoned Youth

WASHINGTON — Charging that Samuel Taylor, imprisoned Alabama youth, had been prevented by lower court decisions from following normal channels in efforts to secure a new trial, NAACP lawyers have filed a petition seeking intervention of the United States Supreme Court in a special proceeding for a review of the lower courts' findings.

Taylor, who has been under sentence of death for nearly two years, was convicted by an all-white jury in Mobile in November 1946, charged with the rape of a 14-year-old white girl. A confession, which he later repudiated, claiming that it was extorted by police beatings, was used to convict him.

Youth Clubs Serve In School Recess

Boys and girls clubs are keeping thousands of Los Angeles youngsters busy and happy during after school and other leisure hours under guidance of municipal playground directors, according to a summary of reports today to the City Recreation and Park Department.

The clubs are divided into various age groups to include children of elementary school age, and junior and senior teenagers. They especially appeal to boys and girls who have no other youth club affiliation, and their character-building programs enable these youngsters to have fun while developing good future citizenship.

Train 'em Better Get Better Results

CHICAGO—Are teen-age drivers as reckless as older folks say they are? The National Safety Council this week says the answer is "yes."

The 1948 edition of "Accident Facts," the council's statistical yearbook, includes studies made of accident rates of drivers in various age groups. These studies show that the fatal accident rate in terms of miles driven by youngsters under 20 was 89 percent higher than the average rate for all drivers.

The council believes driver training courses in high schools and colleges are a big part of the answer to the problem. Better examples by parents and other older drivers would help a lot, too, it says.

Following too close to the car ahead has caused many an accident.

Dr. Stoddard Speaks On Education Mark

Being concerned with the problems of other people is one of the five "Hall Marks" of an educated person, declared Dr. Alexander Stoddard, new superintendent of Los Angeles city schools, when he spoke at an assembly of East Los Angeles Junior College students Thursday, September 23.

Confidence in oneself was stressed by Dr. Stoddard as the second most important hall mark.

"Don't ever underestimate your own ability but certainly never over-rate yourself," he advised. "Don't think what you do doesn't matter. Take pride in your part, however small it may be."

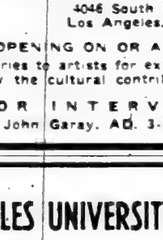
The Los Angeles City Board of Education will include in its curriculum this year five lessons each week by radio, and Miss Claire L. Gartside, principal of Trinity Street School, says she hopes parents will listen, too.

The five 15-minute programs will be played daily from 1:15 to 1:30 p.m. over KFAC, as a public service, beginning September 20. William C. Hartshorn, supervisor of music education in the city schools, will present two lessons each week on music appreciation, built around records that are available in the elementary schools.



Children in the primary grades of Trinity Street School will be especially interested in "Mother Goose Lady," a series of stories adapted from familiar children's books, designed to stimulate students' interest in reading. (For the upper elementary and junior high school children there will be "Books Bring Adventure," a series of radio dramatizations of children's books.) After the children have heard the stories on the air they may obtain the books from either the school library or the Los Angeles public library.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: A Library of Religious Literature. Lesson Text and Outline. Psalm 119:97-105; John 20: 30-31; 2 Timothy 3:16-17. Motto Text, Isaiah 40:8.

Introduction

The Bible includes sixty-six books penned in Hebrew and Greek by about forty inspired writers through some fifteen hundred years. The Old Testament contains law, history, poetry, and prophecy. The New Testament contains the Gospels, the Acts of the Apostles, the letters, and the Revelation. The passages before us are from David who magnified the law, made history, wrote poetry and prophecy; from John the beloved apostle who wrote one of the Gospels, three of the Epistles, and the Revelations; and from Paul the missionary who wrote thirteen or fourteen of the letters to individuals and churches.

Comments

1. What we love to think of; by this is appeared that David loved the word of God that it was his meditation. He not only read the book of the law, but digested what he read in his thoughts, and was delivered into it as into a mould: it was his meditation not only in the night, when he was silent and solitary, and had nothing else to do, but in the day, when he was full of business and company; and all the day; some good thoughts were interwoven with his common thoughts, so full was he of the word of God.

A good man, wherever he goes, carries his Bible along with him, if not in his hands, yet in his head and in his heart. The best way to improve in knowledge is to abide and abound in all the instances of serious godliness; for, if any man do his will, he shall know of the doctrine of Christ, shall know more and more of it.

The love of the truth prepares for the light of it, the pure in heart shall see God. Heavenly wisdom will carry the point, at last, against carnal policy, by keeping the commandments we secure God on our side and make him our friend, and therein are we truly wiser than those that make him their enemy. By keeping the commandments we preserve ourselves in ourselves that peace and quiet of mind which our enemies would rob us of, and so are wise for ourselves, wiser than they are for themselves, for this world as well as for the other.

It is no reflection upon our teachers, but rather an honour to them, to improve so as really to excel them, and not to need them. By meditation we preach to ourselves, and so we come to understand more than our teachers, for we come to understand our own hearts, which they cannot. In short, the written word is a surer guide to heaven than all the doctors and fathers, the teachers and ancients, of the church; and the sacred writings kept, and kept to, will teach us more wisdom than all their writings.

It was a means of his keeping God's word in the exercises of religion; for we cannot with any comfort or boldness attend on God in holy duties, so as in them to keep his word, while we are under guilt or in any by-way. A constant adherence to the ways of God in trying times will be a good evidence of our intergrity. All the saints are taught of God, for he it is that gives the understanding; and those, and those only, that are taught of God will continue to the end in the things that they have learned.

There is such a thing as a spiritual taste, an inward savour and relish of divine things, such an evidence of them to ourselves, by experience, as we cannot give to others. The way of sin is a false way; it deceives, and will ruin, all that walk in it, it is the wrong way, and yet it seems to a man right. It is the character of every good man that he hates the way of sin, and hates it because it is a false way; he not only refrains his feet from it, but hates it, has an antipathy to it and a dread of it.

Those who hate sin as sin hate all sin, hate every false way, because every false way leads to destruction. The more understanding we get by the word of God the more rooted will our hatred of sin be for to depart from evil, that is understanding, and the more ready we are in the scriptures the better furnished we are with the answers to temptation.

The nature of the word of God, and the great intention of giving it to the world; it is a lamp and a light. It discovers to us, concerning God and ourselves, that which otherwise we could not have known; it shows us what is amiss, and will be dangerous; it directs us in our work and way, and a dark place indeed the world would be without it.

The commandment is a lamp kept burning with the oil of the Spirit; it is like the lamps in the sanctuary, and the pillar of fire to Israel. We are then truly sensible of God's goodness to us in giving us such a lamp and light when we make it a guide to our feet.

2. Men produce all they have to say, that they may gain credit; but God does not, for he can give faith. Had this history been written for the entertainment of the curious it would have beeen more copious, for every circumstance would have brightened and emoellished the story; but it was written to bring men to believe, and enough is said to answer that inention, whether men will hear or whether they will forbear.

Some write books for their diversion, and publish them for their profit or applause, others to oblige the Athenian humour, others to instruct the world in arts and sciences for their secular advantage; but the evangelists wrote without any view of temporal benefit to themselves or others, but to bring men to Christ and heaven, and, in order to this, to persuade men to believe; and for this they took the most fitting methods, they brought to the world a divine revelation, supported with its due evidences.

The duty of those that read and hear the gospel. It is their duty to believe, to embrace, the doctrine of Christ, and that record given concerning him. The gospel truth is and we ought to believe that Jesus is the Christ and the Son of God. First, He is the Christ, the person who, under the title of the Messiah, was promised to, and expected by, the Old Testament saints, and who, according to the signification of the name, is anoited of God to be a prince and a Saviour.

Secondly, that he is the Son of God; not only as mediator for then he had not been greater than Moses, who was a prophet, intercessor, and law giver, but antecedent to his being the Mediator; for if he had not been a divine person endowed with the power of God and entitled to the glory of God, he had not been qualified for the undertaking, not fit either to do the Redeemer's work or to wear the Redeemer's crown.

What the great gospel blessedness is which we are to hope for. That, believing we shall have life through his name. This is, first, to direct our faith; it must have an eye to the life, the crown of life, the tree of life set before us. Life through Christ's name, the life proposed in the covenant which is made with us in Christ, is what we must propose to ourselves as the fullness of our joy and the abundant recompence of all our services and sufferings.

Secondly, to encourage our faith, and invite us to believe. Upon the prospect of some great advantage, men will venture far; and greater advantage there cannot be than that which is offered by the words of this life, as the gospel is called. It includes both spiritual life, in conformity with Him, and eternal life, in the vision and fruitation of him.

Comment on Motto Text

By this accomplishment of the prophecies and promises of salvation and the performance of them to the utmost in due time, it appears that the word of the Lord is sure and what may be safely relied on. Then we are parpared for deliverance when we depend entirely upon the word of God, build our hopes on that, with an assurance that it will not make us ashamed: in a dependence upon this word we must be brought to own that all flesh is grass, withering and fading.

The word of our God, that glory of the Lord which is now to be revealed, the gospel, and that grace which is brought with it to us and wrought by it in us, shall stand forever; and this is the satisfaction of all believers, when they find all their ceatu re-comforts withering and fading like grass.

L. A. Federation of Church Choirs Gives Vesper Hour; Viola Wilkerson Wins $200

The Los Angeles Federation of Church Choirs gave one of the best outlined spiritual services ever rendered by the group at the Sixth Annual Vesper Hour held in the Morning Star Baptist Church, Sunday, September 26, at 3:30 p.m.

The program consisted of spirituals and anthems by the choir groups, as follows: "Open the Gates of the Temple" by the Morning Star and Macedonia choirs; "Rock-a-My-Soul," Faithful Central and People's United; "The Heavens Are Telling," New Hope, People's Independent, and Zion Hill; Reading, "The Life of Marian Anderson," by Mrs. J. Brown, of the Morning Star; "I've Been 'Buked," People's United and People's Independent; "Out of the Depths," all choirs; "Voice in the Wilderness," New Hope and People's Independent; "Amen Chorus," all choirs, with Mrs. Minnie Hale Miller as soloist.

The second part of the program consisted of a contest in music between little Viola Wilkerson, aged 8 years, from Macedonia; and Ernestine Williams, only a trifle older, from New Hope.

Viola sang "Why Should He Love Me So?" and then quoted John 3:16 as the reason for her selection, and added John 17:20, "He also included me." Her sweet child voice, with proper breathing and only one-half month's training from her neighbor, Mrs. Panola Russell, won for her the coveted scholarship of $200.

Ernestine gave the piano selection, "Meditation." She literally made "the keys talk," as many remarked. Her teacher is M. Avery Dowell. She was awarded a war bond of $25. Both children were given gorgeous flowers.

The judges for the contest were: Mr. George Jones, Mrs. Selina Allen, and Mrs. Maryilyn McNeil.

"The Call of God," Abdu'l-Baha has written, "when raised, breathed a new life into the body of mankind, and infused a new spirit into the whole creation. It is for this reason that the world hath been moved to its depths, and the hearts and consciences of men been quickened. Erelong the evidences of this regeneration will be revealed, and the fast asleep will be awakened."

Christian Science Sunday Text 'Unreality'

The Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Unreality" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, will be this verse from Romans, "The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light."

In his Sermon on the Mount as related by Matthew, Jesus says, "Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment? . . . Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: And yet I say unto you, That even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, . . . shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith? . . . But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

Mary Baker Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need. It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good."

THEATRE — NITE SPOTS

J. T. Gipson, Theatrical Editor

● Gertrude Gipson

First I should like to thank my hostess, Gertrude Gipson, for asking me to be her guest columnist. It's new to me but here goes—

GERTRUDE GIPSON

To write a column there has to be something to write about. Since acting is my profession, I choose to write about the Negro actor. (I hate to use the term Negro actor. It should just be actor, but that's the way it is). This is a very delicate subject to write on. I hope no one will take it the wrong way. I'm not writing this to try to convince anyone or change their minds. This is supposed to be a free country, so think what you wish. Maybe you're on the fence. I honestly sometimes don't know where I stand myself.

Acting is a profession, a craft, the same as doctors and lawyers. In order to be an accomplished actor one has to study and word hard constantly. An actor must never let down, because there is always something to learn about the art. I beg of all actors and actresses, please don't have two or three lines in a movie then say, "I am an actor," then just sit and wait to be called for another part. I've got news for you. It's an ironic mistake.

As you know this subject has been discussed pro and con countless times and while recently being in a discussion on this subject with a group of fellow actors. I decided to try to give to you their different opinions:

1st Actor—"I have turned down roles and will turn down any role that is detrimental to my race, but on the other hand I wouldn't mind taking some of these roles if for every role of this type there would be a part given to me showing me in another walk of life. Not just a butler or shoeshine boy. Why not a judge sitting on a bench sentencing someone? There are Negro judges. Why not a scientist and let there come a time when a part like Desiree in "Foxes of Harrow" doesn't have to be changed and given to a white actress. I as a MAN FIRST then a Negro have a certain amount of human pride and feel that the only way to break down these typed roles is to refuse to play them!!! Not just one but all actors."

2nd Actor—"Friend, I thoroughly agree with you. That's the way it should be, but unfortunately it isn't. I'm glad to hear that you have turned down roles. It would be great if all actors would do the same, but they don't. I as an actor feel that I've worked hard and sacrificed because I love the art and want to remain in the profession. Therefore, I will accept some jobs, (not all, but maybe some that you wouldn't accept. I don't know until I become independent and receive a name for myself, then I can demand better parts. You always have to crawl before you walk. I don't agree that the only way to break down the typed roles is to refuse to do them (one way perhaps).

"Don't think I'm endorsing the treatment that we receive, but you know the old saying, I'll help you if you help yourself first.

"You will agree that we have no Negro-backed shows (legitimate stage or pictures) excuse me, maybe one or two, but they haven't as yet made the pictures that we're crying for Hollywood to do. I doubt if they will soon. Let us pray I'm wrong."

3rd Actor—"I may add something to what has already been said. There is the Negro actor who refuses to do certain parts in honor of his pride—nothing happens. It's said, 'He's a great guy.' Then his bank roll and stomach compells him to forget some of his pride and accept a few of these roles. He becomes a star—immediately to some he becomes a stinker and picketed."

Me—I mostly listened but naturally had a few of my own ideas. The discussion went on and on as it will do for years. Hope we'll soon be given some solution and pray I'll live to see it.

Happenings Around Town

Caught the show at Music Town. Laura Bowman deserves a hand for the work she is doing with her show case theatre. I think she has made wonderful progress with the talent she has to work with. Otto Johnson was outstanding in his portrayal of Herod in Salome. Thanks Mr. Johnson and of course Miss Boman was great as usual. Mabel Scott at the Melody Room is still carrying on. (Go on with your talented, entertaining, singing self).

Tad an enjoyable time at the Vivian O'Marsh Club social affair Sunday afternoon. This club won the Estelle award of the year. Congratulations.

At the Congo Club Sunday afternoon, the Talisman Girl Social Club Cabaret party was quite the thing. Funds going to Laura Slayton's Youth Foundation is indeed a benevolent act. Little Toni Harper was on hand to render a few numbers. Wish I could have heard her better, but the noisy audience wouldn't allow it. Professional courtesy is a wonderful thing.

Erma Small at the Cresbar with a handsome escort. Marie Bryant informs me she is going to Honolulu. (Maybe to teach the Honoluluians how to LULU. Ouch). Eddie Dudley's rendition of the Sabre Dance at the Talisman affair was rent went—I mean real gone. You're soon to hear many good things about the Delphic Theatre, which is now rehearsing, "As The Twig Is Bent." Jimmy Edwards, the director, is doing a marvelous job. Looking forward to a great night of entertainment at the variety show given by the B.V.A. at Earl Carrol's Supper Club Nov. 8. Roy Glenn is contemplating on getting a new act. Thanks for taking the time to read this. (If you get this far).

DUKE WILLIAMS

Now There's Two Of Them! Oh! Brother

Ralph Edwards, emcee of the NBC "Truth or Consequences" program, announced that a new "Hush" contest would begin on the audience participation show this Saturday, Oct. 2 (9:30 p.m. CDST).

The new contest will be titled "Mr. and Mrs. Hush." It will be conducted for the benefit of the National Mental Health Foundation and the National Committee o Mental Hygiene.

Dorothy Donegan Back to Frisco

Dorothy Donegan, often referred to as "Queen Of The Classics," returns to San Francisco for an unlimited engagement at Club Lasnio after visiting her family in Chicago.

Miss Donegan, who plays more piano with her left hand than most artists do with two, will be co-featured at the club along with the great and dancesational Saunders King band.

Say You Saw It in the EAGLE

All-Negro Pic To Have Hollywood Showing

Chirps Like Bird, Looks Like Lena!

Lovely and talented Shirley Haven, San Francisco born actress-singer who was chosen out of a cast of 700 University students to sing at the World's Fair in 1939, has been given a supporting role in the soon-to-be-released all-Negro picture, "No Time For Romance," starring Eunice Wilson, has been around Hollywood for quite some time. She has appeared in several MGM roles, and was last seen in "The Show-Off."

She has one of the best voices in show business, and was advisor of the First King Cole trio fan club. Miss Haven's picture also adorned the pages of Ebony magazine in 1946.

She's lovely to look at, and chirps like the nightengale who sang in Berkeley Square!

Here's Lots of Reasons Why Entertainers Hate Benefits

"I drank so much to other people's health 'til I'm about to ruin my own." That's an adage made famous by someone or another, and it may well apply to the case of entertainers who willingly donate their time and talents to doing benefit shows. I've nothing against benefit shows. If they are for a worthy cause, I'm for 'em.

But most social clubs, charitable organizations and other groups take advantage of entertainers, and demand much more than they give. A good performer never turns down a benefit if it's for a worthy cause.

Now let's look at the record.

Joe Adams, the popular Mayor of Melody over Station KOWL, and the EAGLE theatrical Editor have, between them, donated their services to over 100 "benefit" shows since February!

I personally know entertainers who have donated their time and talent to even more than that number. Nearly every week there is a benefit show for this or that cause. And following nearly every benefit show, not one out of ten clubs (or whatever group it is sponsoring the benefit) will take time out to send a thank-you letter of appreciation to the various stars who donated their services. To make the mucilage more stickier, when an entertainer gives his word to appear on a benefit show (and does!) there is no provisions made for his comfort. No entertainers' table is set up. No one offers him food or drink, and when the show is over a small "thank you" is rarely given.

Another of our pet peeves is this: Clubs, groups, etc. are forever asking the gratis services of members of the American Federation of Musicians, and yet on the "benefit" advertising posters you never see the line "Musicians donated through the courtesy of the Musicians' Union, Local 767." And then some of the clubs wonder why they don't get better cooperation from the union and entertainers themselves.

Personally, I don't fault an entertainer who refuses to do a benefit show under prevailing conditions.

Of all the benefit shows I have taken part in, or acted as master of ceremonies (and at nearly all of them, I lined up the show myself and got the acts together) I have received but ONE thank-you note. That was from the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity.

Sunday last the Tailsman Girls social club thoughtfully set up an entertainers table after being reminded by this newsboy.

Is it really necessary to remind a club to do what is usually expected of them?

u AUSTIN McCOY and his band are featured in the new all-Negro picture, "No Time For Romance," to be released and premiered in October in Hollywood. Mr. McCoy plays the supporting role to beautiful Eunice Wilson, and wrote the original music score for the picture.

Youth Foundation Benefit Clicked

The Tailsman Girl's Cabaret party held Sunday at the Congo club went over with a bang, in spite of a falty microphone which made it impossible for some of the featured guest stars to go on. The affair was a benefit dance with the entire net procteds going to the Laura Slayton Youth Foundation, an organization planned for the sole purpose of helping underprivileged youngsters regardless of race, color, or creed.

The affair was staged in full cooperation of the Musician's Union, Local 767, who permitted more than thirty of its members to donate their time and talents.

Show was handled smoothly with Bill Day and JT Gipson alternating as masters of ceremonies. More than a score of stars of stage, screen and radio participated in the festivities, with Curtis Mosby and the Last Word cafe donating its entire show for the afternoon. Joe Morris donated his club Congo show, and the bands of Buddy Banks and Sherman Williams. An hour before show time, the microphone went on the bum thus making it impossible for some of the singing artists to appear. Those on the show were Little Toni Harper, Haywood Jones, Peter Blue and Jasper Too, Sunshine Sammy, Eddie Dudley, Duke Williams, Iona Wade, Happy Jack, Lorenzo Flennoy, Joe Turner, George Dewey Washington, Maggie Hathaway and scores of others.

Late Chris Bean At Arena Theatre

Comedy will feature the schedule of plays to be produced by East Los Angeles Junior College in its remodeled Arena theater during the season soon to open.

The hilarious three-act comedy, "The Late Christopher Bean," by the popular playwright Sidney Howard, will inaugurate the new seasons' activities. This will be seen for six performances, October 25 to 30 inclusive. The late Chris Bean was first produced on Broadway in 1932 and has been revived frequently since that time.

Jimmy Witherspoon

Jimmy Witherspoon, Supreme Recording star, moved into the Cricket club for a 16 week stay last week. Witherspoon recently concluded a record-breaking engagement at the Melodee Club.

Jimmy has some torrid tunes on the juke boxes, and his "Frog-O-More" blues is up around the top as one of Harlem's favorite discs.

The all-Negro cinecolor film, "No Time For Romance," will be released for a Hollywood premiere showing sometime in October. The picture is the first in a series of six, being prepared for the screen by the newly formed Norwanda Pictures, Inc., a Negro owned production company, the first of its kind set up in Hollywood.

The story, written by Vivian Crosby, and starring Eunice Wilson, with supporting roles aptly handled by Shirley Haven, Joe Fuellun, Ray Martin, Jay Brooks and introducing a new sepia star, Austin McCoy.

No definite site or date has been set for the release of the full-length picture, but it has been announced that the premiere will be held "sometime in October," in Hollywood.

This is no movie short in which some few Negroes usually play a small but feaured part, it is a complete full-length picture in technicolor! Production Staff: O. M. Jones, Pres.; Byron G. Anderson, Vice Pres.; DeForest Covan, Production Mgr.; Director, Gilbert Corey and gowns by Eunice of Hollywood.

Original music for the picture was written by Austin McCoy, who also plays the supporting role in "No Time For Romance."

That's Going to Be Just Too Much Music

Something new in the way of musical entertainment will be featured out at Billy Berg's Hollywood nitery in October when Phil Moore opens there with a 40-piece swing band!

Mr. Moore, who authored the one-time Hit Parade favorite, "Shoo Shoo Baby," revealed this bit of information himself when he was interviewed Monday night over Gene Norman's KFWB platter-chatter program.

The band will feature the best in Jazz played in a symphonic idiom.

Nick Lucas Signed By Capitol Records

HOLLYWOOD — Nick Lucas, the "Cronning Troubadour" of the late '20s, has just been signed to a recording contract by Capitol Records, according to an announcement by James B. Conkling, the firm's Vice-President in charge of Repertoire. Under terms of the pact, Lucas turns over to Capitol a number of masters which were recorded prior to January 1, 1948.

Silan Chen, Oriental Dancer To Appear on Benefit Program

Silan Chen, modern interpreter of oriental and occidental dances, makes her second appearance in Los Angeles this season at the Congress of American Women's "Evening of Music and Dance," Wednesday, Oct. 6 at 8:30 p.m. in the Wilshire Ebell.

Miss Chen, the daughter of the former Chinese Foreign Minister in the Dr. Sun Yat Sen government, received glowing notices following her Philharmonic appearance three weeks ago. Stressing the modern interpretation of traditional dances from the East and West, Miss Chen uses folk and formal dances as a springboard for her own work.

Born in Trinidad, educated in England, she studied ballet in Moscow under a pupil of Folkine, and is married to an American. From all these world sources, Miss Chen has created dances with a distinct international flavor. In keeping with the United Nations flair, Miss Chen will be assisted by an inter-racial group of young American dance artists.

Also featured on the program are the Los Angeles String Quartet, Gaucho with his South American drum, and pianist, Esther Roth. Proceeds from the concert will go to the Congress of American Women's child aid program.

Bradley and Britt Planning a Band?

Hottest rumor making the night club rounds is that Oscar Bradley, one of the top local drummers formerly featured with the Les Hite and Benny Carter bands, together with Britt Woodman, sensational young trombone star who tooted his horn with Lionel Hampton's orchestra, will organize a seven piece combo for theatre night club and recording dates.

Bradley and Woodman are currently featured with Floyd Turnham's band, but it is rumored they are already in rehearsal with their own crew.

Bob Parrish to Sing at Alpha Phi Alpha Party

Bob Parrish, great singer who recently returned from Australia, will head the list of guest stars scheduled to appear at the Alpha Phi Alpha's House-Party, on Saturday evening, Oct. 9 at the Congo club. This will be Parrish's last local appearance before sailing for England on a European concert tour.

Purpose of the Alpha's house-party series is to raise $50,000 by Christmas to donate scholarships and purchase a fraternity house, and local stars have donated and are donating their time and talent to aid the Alpha's in reaching their goal.

The Bronzeville Bulletin Board: Geo. Tolson, the fight trainer, became the husband of Ida Mae Taylor a couple wks ago in a s'prise elopement. Reception Sunday next at his Westside home. . . . That was Jane Perdue looking so sophisticute the other evng in one of the clubs. She's the loveliest thing since Duke Ellington's Solitude. . . . There is no doubt that Henry A. Wallace has enemies in Congress. So has America! . . . Too many corner-loungers continue to heckle the femme passersby in the forty-second hundred block on Cntrl Av. Unescorted girls are a target for their risqay remarks. The situation needs probing, Mr. Mayor. . . . Levi Burnley, the column's "shadow," when he isn't in Frisco chasing chippies, is wearing his heart in a sling. Name of the doll who broke it is a Moore named Laura. . . . A famed Cntrl Av spot may be involved in an investigation that will rock the front pages. The charges will be contribbing to the delinquency of teenage tots! . . . A kept cutie will be cut from her sugar daddy's payroll. She's talking too much in the nite spots, and poppa cawn't stand the publicity. The alleged sucker is a famed professional man. His name, for the usual reason, is withheld here. Overheard in The Last Word: "He's interesting—if true!" . . . Did Florence Williams (the Westsideb) elope with a musician the other Saturday and why wasn't it recorded in the society pages? Her clan is popular, and reech, as John M. Lee. (Well, nearly, anyhow). . . . June Hilliard had her shoulder-length tresses cut into a short boyish bob. Pretty. . . . I enjoy lovely Iona Wade's lush-thrushing. She chirps with the Sherm Williams band, and sounds sweeter than anything Cole Porter ever wrote. . . . During his recent vacation visit to Elsinore, Joe Shipp (our Adopted Son), accidentally (?????) went into the wrong cabin. "And there in the middle of the room, combing her hair," he said, "was a beautiful brown bundle of feminine loveliness with nothing on but a coat of tan!" . . . Last week Joe Adams was offered the best "proposition" of his entire career. Can't break with the story yet, tho—might spoil things. . . . Hal Nelson's air show is a fave overit this desk. His platter-chatter is big time.

J. T. GIPSON

The Customer's Always Write: "Dear JT, pens Maggie Hathaway on a penny postcard, "thanks for the swell write-up you gave me. You're swell! God made a heaven for people like you!" . . . "Dear Mr. Gipson," writes a reader from Pasadena, "I have read your col'm for quite some time and find it very vivid and entertaining. May I, as an ardent admirer of your work, offer a suggestion that may do lots toward keeping you on the top (where you belong) as one of America's greatest columnists? You devote too much space to gamblers, sportsmen, pimps etc. No one is interested in the doings and goings-ons of gamblers, sportsmen, pimps, etc. Keep those people out of your column, and give us more news of the social set. Are you, by any chance, a former sportsman? Please enlighten me on this point. Signed, O. W. Harrington." Mr. Harrington asks for enlightenment, and his letter shows he certainly needs it. When Jesus, Mr. Harrington, was teaching at Behar, on the river of the rahms, a wealthy man named Ach gave a feast in his honor. He invited everyone to come. And among those present were thieves, extortioners, and courtesans. His many followers reprimanded him, saying, 'Master Of The Wise, this day will be an evil day for you. The news will spread that you consort with thieves and courtesans, and men will shun you as they shun an asp.' Jesus' answer is recorded in the biblical history books. 'A master,' he said, 'never screens himself for sake of reputation or fame. God will judge men by what they are and not what they seem to be: not by their reputation and their fame. These courtesans and thieves are children of my Father-God: their souls are just as precious in his sight as yours. And they are working out the same life sums that you, who pride yourselves on your respectability and moral worth, are working out. And some of them have solved much harder sums than you have solved, you men who look at them with scorn. Yes, they are sinners, and profess to be nothing else. They confess their guilt, while you are guilty, but are shrewd enough to have a polished coat to cover up your guilt.

MAGGIE HATHAWAY

Some people covet other peoples' wealth; you look at charming forms and deep within your hearts you lust for them. You practice deceit every day, and wish for gold, for honor, and for fame, just for your selfish selves. The man who covets is a thief, and she who lusts is a courtesan. If you are none of these, you have a perfect right to send me a scolding letter. The pure in heart do not accuse. The vile in heart who want to cover up their guilt with holy smoke and piety are forever accusing. This loathing and this scorn is mockery, for if the tinseled coat of reputation could be torn away, the loud professor would be found to revel in his lust, deceit, and many other forms of secret sin.

People who live in Tin Houses shouldn't throw can openers. If God saves only those who are perfect, who will be saved?

That, Mr. Harrington, is the sixty-four dollar question.

Notes, Names, News And Nonsense: Jimmie Robinson, who says he's a representative of the Eagle, aint. . . . Cute Connie Maney has footballer Len Ford's masculine intuition wrapped up in one grand confusion! . . . Smiley Turner (the singer I requested in my will to sing "September Song" at my funeral) and Nelda Franklin were blended last week, and are now closer than two coats of paint! . . . The Sherm Williams crew (one of my pets) into the Millyun $ thiftir Oct. 9 for a wk's stint. Oughta hear Chas. Gillum toot that trumpet! . . . Eddie Morrison, of the Sugah Hell set, is suffering from undue rapidity of the heart. Her name is Marilyn Reynolds. . . . Press Photographer Hazel Shumate enjoying an evng at the Congo club, gorgeously gown'd. She wears her clothes as tho she was poured in them and forgot to say when. She can best be described as having a beautiful profile—all the way down! . . . Prettiest thing in Dorthea Fearonce's Eastside home (besides her face) is the Oil painting by McNeely! . . . Gertrude's one word comment on Vaughn Monroe's singing: "Pew!" . . . Joe Alexander's Capitol version of "Blue Holiday" is something to enjoy. The song is prettier than a Rembrandt painting! Ella Tate (Nyais berry's nifty niece) auth'd the tune. . . . Att'n Mosetti Trio: Contact Joe Morris if you're tired of working at the Bal. . . . There were other stars on hand, but little Toni Harper wrapped her heart around a coupla songs and walked away with all honors! Occasion was Sunday last at the Congo club benefit show for the Laura Slayton Youth Foundation. . . . Dr. Ed. Stratton looks a lot like Trombone star John Pettigrew. Miss Horne goes into the fast clip amid swirls while singing the production number "The Lady Is A Tramp." Norman Taurog directs the picture with Arthur Freed producing. Others in the star studded cast include Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, Gene Kelley and Perry Como. The screen story is taken from the careers of song writers Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart.

Ethel Waters Sings Cavalcade of Hits At Philharmonic

By Phyllis Scott

Long before I knew about the Philharmonic engagement I had been dying to interview Ethel Waters, the Trail Blazer, the pace-setter for the new trend in modern music. I did Tuesday night and it was quite an experience.

Thirty-two years in show business and she's still a major attraction. Her repertoire includes such all-time favorites as "St. Louis Blues," "Dinah," and "Stormy Weather," songs that she made famous back in 1916, '24 and the early '30s. In the latter part of the '30s there was "Happiness Is Just a Thing Called Joe" and other hits.

"A song always has to have something in it for me to sing," said the noted singer. "If I can't feel a number I can't do it. I went back to the Last Word to see if I still had the kind of stuff that would interest my people. Because I knew that if I didn't they'd be the first to tell me. But I was as well received on Central avenue as I was at Slapsie Maxie's in Hollywood and I did the same kind of numbers."

Miss Waters, who prefers spirituals to ballads, is currently appearing at the Philharmonic tonight, Friday and Saturday in "Cavalcade of Hits."

SARAH VAUGHN COMING HERE WITH JACQUET

NEW YORK—Two of the greatest musical attractions of all time, Illinois Jacquet, the renowned "Dynamo Of The Saxophone," and Sarah Vaughn, winner of every major popularity poll as the ation's No. 1 female vocalist, will combine their unique and brilliant talents and magnetic box office appeal in a nationwide concert tour that will cover 63 key cities from coast-to-coast, commencing this Friday, Oct. 1.

Along with their concert dates, Jacquet and Miss Vaughn will also play dance dates in a number of cities. During the month of October, the tour will carry them westward to Los Angeles and they will appear at the Shrine Auditorium, Oct. 29.

Jump King Gets In There First

WRENTHAM, Mass.—Count Basie, the "Jump King of Swing," broke precendent once again when he became the first Negro bandleader to play New England's top dance location, the King Phillip Ballroom, at beautiful Lake Pearl Park, Wrontham, in a limited engagement of four days.

The Count, who in past years had drawn the honor of being the first Negro maestro to play such spots as the Roxy Theater and Hotel Lincoln in New York, the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in Boston, and the Hotel Sherma in Chicago, will also break a similar precedent at the swank Three Rivers Inn, Syracuse, N. Y., where he bows in for a week's engagement on Monday, October 4, immediately following his limited stay at the King Phillip Ballroom.

Jean Peters didn't want to be bothered when a talent scout spotted her in a group of earnest young things qualifying for teacher's diplomas.

More About Moore

And so there we were, Henry Armstrong, former triple crown boxing King, and your overworked and underpaid sports Editor, cruizing down the highway in the direction of Santa Monica in the big, black Cadillac discussing people and newspapermen. I somehow wiggled George Moore's name into the conversation, and Hank put his seal of approval on him.

"He's a great guy," Hank said.

That comes as no surprise to his many friends. George Moore, one of the few honest boxing managers around today, is a grand guy in every sense of the word. Don't get me wrong, John Henry, I'm not casting any reflection on boxing maagers. There are some mighty fine fellows in the boxing racket. Frinstance, the mgr. who pilots the great Jackie Wilson's ring destinies is as honest as the day is long. There are other boxing mgrs. I wouldn't trust in a wide open field with a tractor out of gas! But more about Moore.

Everybody's Friend

He has helped more youngsters in the fight game than any other three managers rolled into one. (Rolled into one what, I wont say). He stays in the background, interested only in seeing that his "boys" get the good and fair breaks. He's respected in the fight game, because he respects everyone in the fight game. The big shot. The little guy. George's a friend to all of them. Treat his boys fair and he's as easy-going as one of those big Red Town-and-Country jobs. Get off base, and he displays a temper as tepid as a right cross thrown by Armstrong!

Right now, he's interested in Turkey Thompson, and bleeves (like most of us) that The Turk stands right up there with the best of them in the Heavyweight division when it comes to gunning for Joe's title. He's the personal manager of Turkey, and the personal friend of everyone! That's George Moore.

Elsinore Vacation

Last Thursday we were supposed to pack bag and baggage and slip away to the lake in Elsinore, where hunting and fishing is good. Mine host would have been Dave Hendricks, former musician and sportsman now making more money than the Mint operating apartments and cottages for tourists who can afford it.

Mr. Doctor vetoed my plans on the grounds that I'm just getting over a recent unavoidable accident, and at present the heaviest thing he wants me to lift up is a knife and fork—and not a fishing rod or gattlin' gun.

So, until another time, Dave, I'll sit the summer out in my sister's apartment and watch the fishes go by via a television set.

Tommy Campbell vs. Rudy Cruz

Next Tuesday night at Cal Eaton's 18th and Grand house of maul, one tough Tommy Campbell will face a rough and ready Rudy Cruz in what is now being ballyhooed as a "spectacular 10-round contest." How spectacular it will be is anybody's guess. Campbell always fights his best. So does Cruz. Both boys can take a punch and return same. Campbell has been going great guns and looks like a little ring champ. It's anybody's fight next week, and Tommy gets our vote to bring home the bacon via a knockout.

Providing, of course, he connects first.

In the interest of science, I'll be there!

Husband and Wife Golf Team Walk Away With Top Honors

Thrilling play-offs for medalist honors in both the men's and women's divisions featured the finish of Vernondale Open Golf Tournament last week at Western Avenue Golf Course in Los Angles, which saw Oscar and Martha Clisby, the golding husband and wife team of Pasadena, make sensational shots to win over Al McDaniels and Mrs. Mary Woodyard in the "sudden-death" matches which decided the winners.

Clisby and McDaniels finished the 18 holes of tournament play tied up at 72 strokes and then went into the playoff, victory going to Clisby when McDaniels three-putted on the last hole. Mrs. Clisby defeated Mrs. Woodyard on the second hole of extra play after both had finished the tournament round tied at 94 strokes. Mrs. Clisby drew applause from the large gallery when she made a recovery shot from a ditch to the green on the first hole to halve with Mrs. Woodyard, and then went on in championship style to win as her opponent three-putted the final green.

McDaniels and Mrs. Woodyard received low-net trophies in the men's and women's A flights with net scores of 67 and 82 with runner up prizes going to Mrs. Verna Hickman, 85, and Vernon Gordon, 68. Trophies in other divisions awarded on net scores were won as follows: Men's B Flight Winner: Niles Brady, 65; Runner-up: William Gilmore, 67; Ladies B Flight Winner: Mrs. Mae Crowder, 84; Runner-Up: Louise Nicholson, 87; Men's C Flight Winner: Al Maddox, 67; Runner-up: E. W. Eggleston, 69; Men's D Flight Winner: Tommy Tucker, 64; Runner-up: James Stratten, 67.

Thes tournament drew 110 men and women golfers from Los Angeles, San Diego, Riverside, Oakland and San Francisco. A gallery of more than 100 spectators followed the various matches which teed off from 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. Fred Lotheridge, Willie Morris, Robert Russell, long-hitters from San Diego, and Errol Strickland, scratch player from Riverside, drew gasps from the crowd as he slammed the ball 250 yards or better down the fairways on the 18 holes. Unfamiliarity with the putting greens was responsible for keeping them out of the winner's circle.

JOE LOUIS

NEW YORK—Rumor stronger than the dressing room of a baseball team after a tight 9-inning game was making the rounds here this week that Joe Louis has been promised much more than a mere few shares of stock in the 20th Century Sporting Club if he would risk his title "just one more time."

Louis, now on a golfing tour has also been promised an executive job as a "bonus" for fighting again for Mike Jacobs.

That's the rumor making the Harlem rounds.

Hometown Rivalry—Cardinals Vs. Bears

CHICAGO—Preparing for a battle with the Chicago Bears is always a terrific job. The cross-town rivalry between the Cardinals and Bears is something which the thought of division or league titles doesn't enhance one little bit.

And so, next Monday's battle under the lights at Comiskey Park is another of those things.

However, coming on the heels of the loss of Tackle Stan Mauldin, who died of a heart attack following the Cards' 21-14 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles last Friday, the contest definitely will be that much tougher for the Cards.

Mal Whitfield Is Trojan Guest

As a guest of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, Mal Whitfield was presented to the student body of the University of Southern California by Ward Bond, movie actor, and former SC football player, at a pregame rally Friday, Sept. 24, at the gates of Troy.

The master of ceremonies introduced all-Americans Morley Drury, quarterback, 1927; Jess Hibbs, tackle, 1927; Orv Mohler, quarterback, 1930; Ernie Pinckert, halfback, 1930; Ernie Smith, tackle, 1932; Aaron Rosenberg, tackle, 1933, and "Cotton" Warburton, quarterback, 1933.

For national and local coverage of the theatrical profession from Harlem to Hollywood, read J. T. Gipson, an exclusive Feature in The California Eagle.

"Smuggy" Hursey Fighting For Hank Armstrong

Hottest rumor going the rounds where sportsmen gather is the current one that Henry Armstrong is the new boxing manager of the great Washington, D.C. fighter, "Smuggy" Hursey. Gossip has it that Hammerin' Hank, who has a stable of good boxers, recently returned from the nation's capital where he conferred with Hursey's mentors and walked away from the conference with Hursey's contract in his pocket, reputedly purchased for a sizable sum.

Hursey, a sensational middleweight, has beaten Billy Arnold and won the middleweight championship of Washington by soundly trouncing Aaron Perry.

It is also said that Hursey fights a lot like Armstrong.

In the secondary attraction Fox Brook coupled with Double Drip came from far back to catch the early pace maker Mighty High to win going away paying at the favorite $3.40.

The daily-double combination of Mankcub winner of the second race and Pairlet victor of the third paid it's backers $37.00. While the quiniela holder of Reply Collect and Mineral King who finished in that order received $25.40.

Another doping case was disclosed by the stewarts when the urinalysis taken from Sickles Choice winner of the first race two weeks ago was returned a positive test for caffeine. His trainer E. R. Wielander was ordered suspended for sixty days and first money went to Corona Del Mar who finished second in the race.

Sickle's Choice was an even money favorite and came from far back to win. General Manager Walter C. Marty has arranged two feature attractions for this Sunday. "The Presidio" at six furlongs and "The Albany" handicap also at six furlongs. The days program will start off with the baby race at six furlongs called "The Bay Bridge." All in all the program of twelve races will give the fans plenty of thrills.

The question of greyhounds races with the fans now is who will best Beach Comber? Coming off the pace last Sunday the champion again showed his speedy legs to the best dogs at the course to score handly.

Popular General Manager William (Bill) Collier, had Mixed Harmony shipped out to match strides with the champion of the Tijuana Greyhound Club. It was Mixed Harmony who whipped Beach Comber in Boston early this summer but it was sweet revenge for Beach Comber to turn the tables last Sunday night. It was his 2nd win in 12 starts. Watch for the K of P night soon as the guest of Manager Collier.

Larry Doby Back In Line-Up

CLEVELAND—Larry Doby, Cleveland Indian's hard-hitting outfielder, is back in the Cleveland line-up following a slight elbow injury, which proved to be more painful than serious.

With the Indians battling to retain their first place standing in the hot pennant race, Doby's loss would have crippled the team. It was feared at first that the popular Larry had suffered a fracture when he was hit by Hal Newhauser in the fourth inning of last Sunday's game.

X-rays showed, however, that the blow caused no more than bruise, and Doby returned to the line-up Tuesday against Chicago and chalked up two hits.

Tigers Debut Saturday

SAVANNAH, Georgia — The Georgia State College Tigers open the 1948 girdiron season here Saturday night (October 2) when they meet the Edward Waters College eleven of Jacksonville, Fla., in Grayson stadium.

Kansas City Royals Arrive Sat.

The Kansas City Royals, crack winter league team, recruited from almost every colored big league in the country, arrives in Los Angeles Saturday, October 2, and immediately go to Long Beach to open up the fall and winter classics. On Sunday the Royals journey to San Diego where they will meet the Padres almost intact in a doubleheader.

Their first game at Wrigley field hinges on how long the Angeles stay in the payoff. If the.. local.. team.. is.. eliminated early then next Sunday will find the.. Royals.. on.. their.. home grounds. If the Angels survive the first round the date will be two weeks from Sunday the 17th of October at which time Satchel Paige will have arrived and his day will probably be at that time.

There are some new faces on the team this fall because Marshall Armstrong and Billy Feistner wanted the best team possible to meet the major league all-stars headed by Bob Lemon of the Cleveland Indians and a teammate of Paige.

Good news for the fans came today when it was announced that at the conclusion of the playoff, the Royals will meet the Angels intact with the exception of Jack Graham hard-hitting San Diegoan who will strengthen the club. They will meet in a three-game series.

Watch this paper for details of the coming series with the Angels at Wrigley field, also the date of the Big Satchel Paige day. Reservations may be made at the Wrigley field box office.

Eagles or Rams? Take Your Pick

Sunday evening is likely to be a sad one for either the Los Angeles Rams or the Philadelphia Eagles. The Eagles, defending Eastern Division champions, face the unhappy prospect of returning to Philadelphia to open their home season with two defeats stacked up against them, a very wide advantage to be spotting their Eastern loop foes.

Last week the Eagles opened against the powerful Chicago Cardinals and dropped a hard fought 21 to 14 decision to the National League champs. This defeat, however, can easily be explained to Eagle followers because it is never a disgrace to lose to a champion. The Rams, on the other hand, must prove that last week's thumping of the Detroit Lions was no fluke. A victory over the Eagles would not only put the fans solidly on the Rams' bandwagon but also permit the Los Angeles club to head east for three all-important road games with an unblemished record.

Dodger Fans Solemn As Boston Bags 1st Pennant In 34 Fears

Partisans who clung to a dying hope even during recent days when the Boston Braves needed just one game of an even half-dozen or so to clinch pennant matters in the National League, are referring to the Brooklyn Dodgers as 'dem bums' now, and there isn't too much affection in the term.

Although Brooklyn is battling for second place honors with the same tempo they set for top place, there is a bit of a let-down in the spirit of Dodger fans, who had expected to the last, that the Flatbush Flashes would come through with a miracle and be the National League representative in the world series.

Last week-end Roy Campanella homered to make Ralph Branca's 14th win a memorable occasion, and Dodger fans tried to whoop it up with the old enthusiasm, but there was something lacking. Probably it was the knowledge that Boston had come through to win its first pennant in 34 years.

Rams Take to Air For Sunday's Game

LOS ANGELES — (Spl.)—The Philadelphia Eagles are evidently firm believers in that old axiom that the shortest distance between two points is a straight line.

At least Coach Greasy Neale's defending Eastern Division champions are staunch advocates of the forward pass and as yet, none of our grid moguls have come up with a method of pitching a football around a corner.

Now training in Pasadena for Sunday's all-important clash with Clark Shaughnessy's Los Angeles Rams, the Eagles are devoting many hours on their aerial game and make no bones about their plans to pitch the Rams right out of the Coliseum.

Foxworth's Ring Career Ends

CHICAGO—Defective vision tonight halted the brilliant ring career of Bob Foxworth, rated one of the top light-heavyweights in the boxing game.

Foxworth, scheduled to do business here Tuesday night with one Harold Guss of St. Louis, was ruled ineligible after Dr. John Drammis, chief medical examiner for the Illinois Athletic Commission, said that Bob is suffering from a detached retinea.

Foxworth's stablemate, Ochie Talbert, substituted for Bob and was knocked out in the third round.

Fresno Gridders in Field With 34 Men

The 1948 version of the Fresno State College football team made its seasonal debut Saturday afternoon in Multnomah Stadium, Portland, Ore. against Portland University.

Fresno State coach Kenny Gleason ha stentatively named 34 men on the traveling squad for the first game. The Bulldog mentor made his selections after viewing three scrimmage sessions last week, but kept the list open for revision pending further scrimmages this week.

Mighty Midgets Run At Gilmore Tonight

With Mighty Midget Row still buzzing over last Tuesday nights scramble, car owners and drivers are prepping up their thunderbugs for another 60-lap inverted main event at Gilmore Stadium tonight (Thursday).

The program will close out the fifth month of Gilmore's non-stop 30 week season, and mark the return to traditional Thursday night midget car racing at the popular Beverly-Fairfax "dirt quarter." Last week the shift was made so that President Harry Truman could speak on Thursday night.

BOB PARRISH will be one of many guest stars attending and donating talent Oct 9, at the Congo club for the Alpha Phi Alpha House-Party. The late Major Bowes "discovered" Bob many years ago, and the handsome singing star has been sailing stratispheric heights ever since.

MANUEL ORTIZ LOSES

Manuel Ortiz fought like anyhting but the world king of the Bantamweights Tuesday night when he was decked twice by Lauro Salas and lost the 10-round decision to the hard-hitting Salas before 7000 fans. Salas, at 128, was a 3-to-1 underdog. Ortiz came in at 133½.

Dogs Reservoir for Sleeping Sickness

BERKELEY, Calif. — Dogs appear to be a reservoir of a kind of sleeping sickness which affects livestock in the Sudan and Kenya areas of Africa.

This is reported by Wendell Phillips, leader of the Northern phase of the University of California African Expedition, in a letter to University officials. The research was done by Commander J. M. Amberson, head of the Navy Medical Science group of the Expedition, and his assistant, Dr. Ernst Schwarz.

Random sampling of the blood of dogs in various parts of Kenya and Italian Somaliland revealed the presence of the infecting organisms, which appear to be carried by the tsetse fly.

Phillips reported that in addition to studying dogs as a reservoir of sleeping sickness, the medical party made a complete clinical color film on human sleeping sickness in the Sudan and French West Africa.

State-Wide Attack On Child Accidents

SAN FRANCISCO — A statewide effort to reduce California's child accident toll of about 900 lives yearly through participation in the national child safety campaign in September was set forth by Dr. Wilton L. Halverson, State Director of Public Health, as an immediate public health objective calling for concerted cooperation by all public health and medical authorities and interested civic organizations within the state.

Interest payments in the National debt will be about $8435,000,000 for 1949.

Pennant Win By Indians Would Make Old Satch a Happy Man

Nothing would please old showman Satchell Paige more than to round out his first season in the majors as a member of a world series contender." Satch has had that thought in the back of his head ever since the day he was dramtically signed as relief hurler by the Cleveland Indians, and it is the contagious spirit of his ambition that keeps the Tribe in there fighting all the way.

Cleveland doesn't seem to be able to widen the breach between themselves and the threatening Yankees who are all tied up for second place with the Red Sox out of Boston, but a one game margin is all that is needed to clinch things.

With Doby in fine fettle and with Paige making good his boast that he can win 'em as fast as he can pitch 'em, it won't be surprising to see the Indians parlay a one game lead into world series money.

Texas State Loses To Champ Defenders

A third quarter Jones-to-McElvey, Johnson, and Ryan pass-attack failed to crystalize for the TSU Tigers as they dropped a 38-0 grid fracas to the defending Southern University Jaguars, while 3500 fans looked on at Buffalo Stadium in Houston last Friday night.

And it looked like Southern, with its "magician" Braden in the quarterback slot, is headed for the Southwest title again.

SIAC Champions Get Opening Game Over

Earlier Sunday the Allegria Girls presented their annual "Coffey and Fashions" at the old Cooley residence on West 21st Street. Many of the matrons sipping coffee, got their first glimpse of the much publicised Marie Cole, charming wife of Nat King Cole, and to top the morning activities, Marie graciously modeled several pieces from her exquisite trousseau. Her first appearance was made in a pleated house coat of silk in a delicate shade of yellow. Custom made, and created especially for her. The second change brought on the oohs and aahs, for the shoes, made by Volly in Switzerland were quite the vogue and the jeweled pin she wore on the lapel of her suit was a bit of artistic craftsmanship in platinum and Bagget diamonds formed into a miniture piano. The entire show was well presented and attended by many early risers. . . Representing the Cavalrette club were Benester Fisher and Jackie Moore, who poured throughout the affair. Rudy Whitmore, who modeled two gowns, was showing a bit of her trusseau, for come November, the S. C. coed will take to the center aisle with Frank Eagleson. Maude Foster White arrived on the scene a bit late looking very chic in a deep purple outfit.

Past president of the Doll League club, Lula Bendy, does very nicely along the hostess line. This was pretty much in evidence Sunday afternoon when she opened her attractive bar and game room to her Edgehill Drive Home and welcomed the Leaguers and a group of prospective members, in grand style. The business of the hour was the coming Doll League Formal slated for the month of November, and methinks the spot will be the colorful El Sombrero Club. Nellie Brown presided at the meeting, and taking part were, Margurite Wallace, who was later joined during the social hour by her visiting friends from the East. Hariette Wadley, Marion Ford, Marion Jackson and the rest of the ladies of Charity. By the way, the honored guest was Mrs. Nadine Cole, who received a lovely gift from the club for the use of her home during their recent Bar-B-Que. A gift was presented Mr. Andrew Wallace, who also helped with the benefit affair. Leaguers conspicuous in their absence were Fannie DeMan, Euvelda Morris, Louis Collier, now vacationing in Northern Cal and Clara Taylor, who is doing the same pleasant thing . . . Gladys Clark, Ruth Ball, and Leona Kennedy were among the guests who gathered to enjoy the closing hours of the gathering.

SHUMATES IN EAST

Last Friday night while the sports and social leaders frolicked at the "Congo" with the Vernondale golf club members and the collegiates were enjoying the AKA welcome party, Dr. Lincoln Shumate, quietly took unto himself a very lovely bride. The vows were spoken before a very small group of personal friends. The bride, who is the former Mrs. Ada Milton, of the Lone Star state and our Angel City, was exquisitely garbed in pale gray satin and she carried a bouquet of strikingly pink lillies. After a few congratulations, Dr. and Mrs. Shumate hied off for Washington D. C. and other points East, where they will visit family members and old friends, before returning to their fashionable apartment here in L. A. So congratulations are in order for the one time 'Best Catch of the Season' and his lovely Madam.

By the way, the Alpha Gamma girls of AKA, with cute Catheline Mason at the helm of activities, took over the collegiate social whirl on Friday night with a gay dancing party at the beautiful S. Pico District home of Ivy Leaf member, Louise Meza. New women on campus were the honored guests, and the gents of Alpha, Kappa, Omega, Sigma and the rest of the greeks were much in evidence . . . Monday night, the Lomepas of Iota Phi Lambda received their dainty pledge pins. Dorothy Redd heads the group and her vice is Sarah Lumpkin. Carey Williams, Norma McDaniel, Gloria Vaughn, Geneva Moore, Elizabeth King and Brenda Davis are in the line of members. Lucille Reynolds is now dean of pledges.

WELL! WELL! WELL!

On the club circuit, Les Dames have planned to carry out the Story Book Ball as their benefit of the year . . . The Turnabout Charity Club has scheduled December 4, as the date for their Semi-formal of the year . . . The Crop 'N' Tails haven't reserved a sleek yect for the trip to Catalina next week-end, however the girls will make the trip and plans are completed for a big day. New members busy as can be are Hazel Shumate and Emily Jones . . . Sidney Jackson and Sandy Junior are in New York enjoying a late summer vacation that has lasted until fall . . . Lan James was party hostess on Saturday night . . . The Johnnie Simmons are all aglow, reason for all the cheer is the arrival of little John Bradley into the family circle . . . Hazel Washington is on the sick list learned recently. Here's wishing for her a speedy recovery.

Olympic games, champ, Don Barksdale has been visiting L. A. for the past few days. His new car, a gift of the citizens in Berkeley, seems to be the topic of importance . . . Mrs. John Coleman is back in town from her European and New York travels. Making trip with her from New York, is one of her former college mates . . . Hear that the swimming pool in the W. W. Davis' yard is near completion.

At Gloria and R. B. Porter's reception Sunday, many of the Cosmos Club members were in evidence with the wives. The first time out was Mrs. Norman Houston (Lorraine) Nate and Gloria Shaw breezed in, along with Vance and Odessa Jones. Rebecca Farrington arrived on the scene wearing a very late creation in black satin and lovely Catherine Stanaslous topped her black ensemble with a fox fur muff . . . An after party held sway and the Porter's ended the night of evnts with a dinner at the Cricket Club . . . So we make deadline . . . 'till next week.

Higher Grape Pay Asked

Union representatives approved a raise in grape harvest wage schedule slightly higher than that recommended by the growers recently. They asked a rate beginning at 5 cents a tray for Thompsons and Sultanas and 6 cents for muscats. The growers recommended one cent a tray less. The union's figures for picking juice grapes were correspondingly higher.

For turning trays the union is asking $7 a 1000, $3 more than the growers' recommendation, and for rolling trays $4.50 a 1000. The growers did not recommend a rolling rate.

Artistic Club Plans Project Of Year

The Diez Y Seis Artisticas met Thursday evening at the lovely apartment of Mrs. Helen Long Jeffreys with the president presiding. The third and final reading of the by-laws before adoption was an important step taken. Many of the girls were happy to learn that Miss Helen Long, club reporter, is now Mrs. Earfl Jeffreys, congratulations were in order.

A report on progress of the artistic work showed quite a variety of interesting articles being finished.

A club project will be started at the next meeting which is to be a hand-hooked rug. Mrs. Mae Bradford was accepted into the club. Mrs. Pearl Rourke was a welcome visitor and voiced her desire to become a member. After a lovely repast the girls worked until 11 o'clock. Miss Mellicent Bouey, 2937 Kenwood avenue, is next hostess.

Social Workers Ask Voter's Support On Proposition 14

The "direct relationship between bad housing and our social ills" has prompted the American Association of Social Workers, Los Angeles Chapter to endorse the California Housing Initiative, Proposition No. 14, C. A. Alexander, Chapter chairman, announced today.

Alexander explained that members of his organization "constantly faced with the results of bad housing in terms of the break-up of families, increase in juvenile delinquency and general human misery," have decided to support the low rent housing measure as a partial solution to California's urgent housing problem.

This stand is in full conformity with the national policy of the American Association of Social Workers, according to the local chairman.

Say You Saw It in the EAGLE

HOME SHOULD BE A PLACE

Child Delinquency would be a small matter, if the "Home Life" was thorough and assumed the part that it should in every youngster's life. Home should be a place where father and mother are one in heart, faith and purpose. Where the bond of love and cheerful conversation brightens the hours, and the commandment "Honor Thy Father, and Mother" . . . is practiced daily.

Economy and simplicity should also be practiced in the home. Tidiness and cleanliness should also be taught, for here the children get their first training, and the impression remains with them through life. It is also necessary to teach children to work, thus preparing them for their future life's battles and responsibilities. The idea of getting everything they want the easy way, leads to crime and makes them a menace to society.

Parents let the home life be as near the right type as you can, and your children will make you proud of them, rather than ashamed.

C. R. Dear Prof. Herman, I have been reading your column for several years and find it interesting and helpful. I am writing to you asking you to help me in my hour of need. Please tell me what should I do?

ANSWER. Probing into the matter, I am of the opinion that one of your greatest handicaps is your inferiority complex. I would suggest your trying to overcome this. You might also try associating with others thus improving your outlook on life. Remember that through your own personal efforts you may be able to achieve that which you most desire and be quite happy.

W. W. Has this person told me the truth?

ANSWER. It appears that this person has been truthful and sincere in his statements. Since you love him it might be wise for you to accept his offer of marriage as I vision him being a very worthwhile and truthworthy person.

A. P. What can I do to correct the situation in my home, as life has become unbearable.

ANSWER. Apparently your imagination is working over-time causing you to form the wrong opinion in this matter. I suggest that you be more understanding and accept things at their face-value, conditions in your home are not as you would have yourself believe them to be.

S. W. T. Do you think it would be wise for my husband and I to fulfill our plans?

ANSWER. Your financial condition isn't such as to permit you and your husband to invest your savings in such a large real estate transaction. Since you are not interested in a smaller home, I suggest that you wait for awhile until such time as you might be able to go ahead with your plans.

P. O. To what order in zoological classification do ants, wasps and bees belong?

ANSWER. Ants, wasps and bees are classified in Hymenoptera order.

Split Decision on Monrovia Brutality

MONROVIA — The investigation of police brutality in Monrovia, undertaken by the Council here on recommendation of the Los Angeles County Grand Jury, resulted in a split decision in favor of the police last week with three members voting for dismissal of the charges and one member, Councilman Lambert Cole, voting against dismissal.

The decision exonerates policemen Rollie Caffey, Carl Cerny and Charles Rhodes of charges that they had beaten and kicked and otherwise mistreated prisoners. A transcript of the hearing proceedings will be filed with the Grand Jury.

Alcoholics Really Swell Tax Receipts

SACRAMENTO.—Tax receipts of $1,287,930.72 resulted from distributions of alcoholic beverages during July, a gain of 2.8 percent over the corresponding period of 1947, according to figures released today by the State Board of Equalization in Sacramento.

Chairman William G. Bonelli noted that the distributions of distilled spirits, accounting for nearly three-fourths of the total, rose by 5.2 percent over the level of July 1947 and, when adjusted for normal seasonal variations, by .1 percent over the level of June 1948.

Walter White Takes Leave For One Year

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was granted a year's leave of absence by the board of directors last week, on recommendation of Dr. Louis T. Wright, Mr. White's physician, who said that the NAACP official's health required an extended rest.

Scheduled to return about November 1 from Paris, where he is now serving as a consultant to the United States delegation to the General Assembly of the United Nations, Mr. White plans spending at least a month in the office here prior to going on leave. In his absence, Assistant Secretary Roy Wilkins will serve as acting secretary.

Four Changes Highlights Meet Of Bridgers

The Monalism Girls Bridge club met last Monday night, Sept. 13, with Miss Annie Mae Roger as hostess.

The members were happy to welcome Mrs. Artis M. Fowell back after being away from the city for quite some time.

Reports were given on the recent benefit cabaret party given by the group in the patio of Mrs. Ellen Brinson's home.

The usual four changes of bridge were played with Mrs. Ellen Brinson winning first prize, Mrs. Bernice Smeet, second, and Mrs. Luzelle Williams, third.

Discussion was held concerning an outing to be given by the club. The meeting adjourned to reconvene on Sept. 28 as guests of Artis Mae Powell.

The Danger Lies In Not Knowing It!

Los Angeles statistics show that men outnumber women in veneral disease cases, but the numbers reported don't tell the whole story, Dr. George B. Uhl, city health officer, said today.

"VD symptoms are usually more apparent in men, forcing them to seek treatment earlier than women. This accounts in large part for men having a 6-4 majority of syphlis cases over women and an 8-2 margin in gonorrhea," Dr. Uhl declared.

Everyone, he emphasized, should have a thorough annual physical examination by a competent physician.

THE SIDEWALK

By C. A. B.

Let's have some honest unattached advice from Negro leaders on the present political situation in the nation. When I say unattached I mean unhampered by either Democratic or Republican campaign dollars.

There are little people among us. little in the sense that they are so busy earning a bare living that they do not have time to read and study amendments that will appear on the November 2 ballot. Not even time to read about them to the extent that they may understand the difference between the ones that will be of benefit to them, and the ones that will make existence harder for them.

I read in the Bible the statement that it were better to have a millstone about one's neck and to be cast into the depths of the sea than to offend or deceive one of these little ones that believe in Me. (Jesus, the Christ.)

On this hypothesis I tend, and I will continue to contend, that as long as we live under a system of government in which politics in the bad sense of the term is the ruling force, our leaders, from the pulpit to the press, are responsible to a great extent for shaping the destiny of the people they serve as leaders.

There is no period in my memory when there was such a preponderance of confusion in the ranks as of now.

Some ministers heading large congregations contend that their duty is to lead the people spiritualy and to steer clear of "politics."

I can understand how they arrive at this conclusion but it is built on a false premise. Such an attitude on the part of a minister and the resulting effects on his congregation constitutes a sin of omission, and is responsible for many of the conditions that keep us, the Negro people, second class citizens with lynchings, the poll-tax, segregation, and discrimination chains about our necks.

Take an impartial look at the present political scene. Some say this way, meaning Truman. Others, that way, meaning Dewey. And there is still a third, a very small group, bidding the people to follow the course that leads to freedom and real democracy.

For the next four weeks political leaders will barter with dollars support for President Truman and Thomas E. Dewey. They will tell the people, even Negro people, what a great friend they have in Governor Dewey. They will fish from the records certain appointments of Negroes made by Mr. Dewey in New York, and play on them like a harpist plays on his strings.

But they will skip the fact that Dewey permitted a Fair Employment Commission in New York only under supreme pressure. They will not tell you that Governor Dewey refused to intervene for justice when the Ferguson GIs were slaughtered on Long Island.

Nor will they tell you that the same pattern of police brutality and housing restrictions are as rampant in New York as they are in California.

Mr. Dewey has promised that if elected president, he will drive all the "Reds" out of the country.

As a matter of fact all we know about the so-called Red menace is what we read in the newspapers and hear on the radio. But we do know that such un-American acts as refusing certain Americans hotel and cafe accommodations, and houses to live in, and even shooting them to death for exercising their right to suffrage, has not been mentioned by Mr. Dewey in any speech anywhere.

There are a few of us who

MOTHER OF CITY HEALTH OFFICIAL PASSES

Mother of Dr. Ruth Temple Passes; Final Rites Today

Mrs. Amy Rebecca Temple, mother of Dr. Ruth Temple, one of the most outstanding physicians of Los Angeles and director of the Division of Special Health Services, Los Angeles Health Department, passed away quietly at 12:45 a.m. October 4, with all of her children at her bedside.

Mrs. Temple was born Amy Rebecca Morton in Columbus, Georgia, in the year 1860. Upon graduation from Shaw University, she married the Rev. Richard J. Temple. Of this union five sons and four daughters were born.

Soon after the death of her husband, Mrs. Temple came to Los Angeles with her family and became an indefatigable worker in the civic and religious work of the community. The Temple family became a pioneer family of California in the true sense of the word, being identified almost completely with the life and spirit of Los Angeles. Mrs.

FBI Reportedly Investigating J. Parnell Thomas' 'Kickbacks'

WASHINGTON — J. Parnell Thomas, old man investigation himself, who has threatened and succeeded in having indictments drawn against citizens who wouldn't answer personal questions, is under investigation himself for the same reason; however, there is more validity to the questions being asked Thomas.

Pertinent, is the puzzler, "Do you require your office employees to kick back part of their salaries?" Thomas has consistently refused to answer that one, and he has never denied the flat allegation that he does; an allegation that has been printed in Drew Pearson's column on more than one occasion.

Attorney General Tom Clark is understood to have personally ordered the Department of Justice to investigate the way the New Jersey Republican solon runs his office. It is expected that Thomas will have Clark declared Un-American and have the Justice Department list of subversive organizations.

Seventeen New Jersey lawyers recently cailed Pearson charges to the attention of the Justice department. It was announced that the matter was under advisement, but recent developments indicate the FBI is breathing on Thomas' neck. Meanwhile, Thomas is clipping headlines for his scrap book and hoping war breaks out—or something.

Petition UN Delegates On Africa

NEW YORK—The Council on African Affairs today circulated to leaders and organizations throughout the country, requesting endorsement, copies of a petition urging that "the United States Delegation to the United Naions, in dealing with the question of the former Italian colonies, remember that Africa belongs to the Africans, and that the paramount considerations should be the needs and aspirations of the peoples of Libya, Eritrea and Somaliland."

Wallace Welcomed To City In Impressive Campaign Tour Climaxed By Stadium Rally

Henry A. Wallace, Progressive Party presidential candidate spent a profitable two days in Los Angeles last week as his campaign neared its climax. Arriving Friday afternoon at Burbank Airport, Mr. Wallace was whisked to Town House where he was interviewed by representatives of the metropolitan press.

Friday night, Robert Kenny, former state Attorney General, and chairman of Democrats for Wallace, headed a long list of notable supporters who tendered Wallace a dinner at Ciro's in Hollywood where 400 guests were assembled.

Giving evidence and support to his expressed conviction that the Progressive Party is here to stay, Wallace spent Saturday in a whirlwind round of meetings. In the early afternoon, he spoke to a crowd of over two thousand persons assembled in a lot at 103rd and Central.

His audience enthusitstically received his brief references to his recent Southern tour, and they appeared to recognize in his accounts of hoodlumism and egg-throwing, a resemblance to the intimidation and violence they have experienced

Indian Girl Student First Insulted, Then Acclaimed With Honor

AMARILLO, Texas — 17 year old Florence Begay, a full-blooded Indian Miss, and consequently a 100 percent American, has been somewhat compensated by Texans here for the insult she received earlier this week when she was asked by passengers on a bus in which she was heading East to accept a $2000 scholarship at Sarah Lawrence College, in Yonkers, New York, to move to the rear.

Mayor Lawrence Hagy and a delegation of about 100 citizens of this community met Miss Begay when she returned here as the guest of a local newspaper to be honored at the tri-state fair. A delegation of students from Plainview College was also on hand with a four year scholarship.

District Court Decision Puts Approval on Race Segregation

"A United States District Court sitting in Baltimore, Maryland, has seen fit at this moment to put the Federal Court's stamp of approval on racial segregation on the railroads," said William L. Patterson, national executive secretary of the Civil Rights Congress.

Mr. Patterson referred to the decision of a U. S. District Court, Monday, which held that "racial segregation of interstate passengers is not forbidden by any provision of the Federal Constitution, the Interstate Commerce Act, or any other act of Congress so long as there is no real inequality of treatment of those of different races."

"Carried to its logical conclusion," said the official of the C.R.C., "this means that segregation can be sanctioned by law in the theaters, schools, and any other public institutions so long as there is no REAL inequality. The seeds of racial hatred and contempt are thus sown by a judicial federal agency."

"Thus again, we see the propagation of racial strife. This time it is not a Rankin in the Congress, but a Judge on the Federal bench," Mr. Patterson said.

Wallace Braden Sued for $1350 Campaign Loan

Former Backer Claims Candidate Won't Pay Balance Due On $1750

Republican candidate Wallace Braden's campaign for a seat in Congress from the 14th district received a serious set-back this week when a suit for $1350 was filed against him in Municipal Court. It is the nature of the suit rather than the amount, which reflects the political significance of the action. Robert Menzies, erstwhile Braden supporter, brought the suit to recover the money which he claims he advanced during the period of the primary elections.

The original amount Menzies put up was $1700. He says he got back $350 of it and now he wants the balance. The suit has

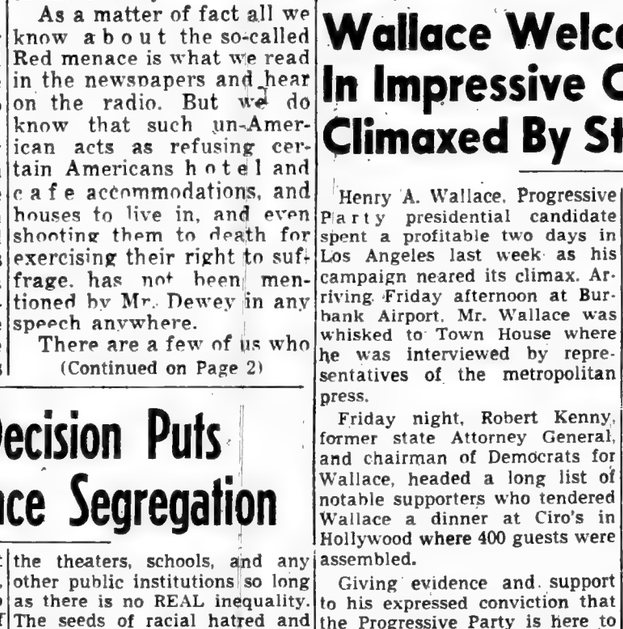
Max Yergan Resigns Council African Affairs Connection

NEW YORK—The dispute and litigation involving the Council on African Affairs and Max Yergan, former Executive Director, came to an end today when Yergan resigned as an officer and member of the Council, severed all other connections, and withdrew all claims against the organization and its officers.

The question of Yergan's authority as an officer and trustee of the Council has been in dispute and before the courts since last June following his suspension from office by the Executive Board of the Council on the basis of charges submitted by three members of the organization.



Commenting on Yergan's resignation, Paul Robeson, Chairman of the Council on African Affairs, said: "I am happy the disruption caused by Yergan is at an end and that the way is now clear for the Council to go forward with its work. The job we have to do now for African and other colonial peoples is more important and more sorely needed than ever before."

are asking Mr. Dewey: What about running the Ku Klux Klan out of Georgia?

So you ask about President Truman?

Well, the darling of the Democrats had no voice in anything much until the opening of the presidential campaign and the advent of Henry Wallace on the political scene.

Now the fair-haired Missourian whose voice was silent as the grave when a crazed mob some years ago, lynched a young Negro by hanging him from the school steeple at Marysville, Mo.; who in two years' time in the White House never ordered out the Federal guard to protect Negro soldiers and their families from ambush in Georgia, or the mass lynchings in Alabama and Mississippi, seems suddenly but belatedly aroused to the fact that these horrors exist in the United States.

"But," cry the Negro Truman supporters, "President Truman gave us a civil rights program."

Yes, but did he ask his Texas friends, John Nance Garner, Sam Rayburn, and Dwight Morrow, the other day when he was in their state, to enforce that law? No. Mr. Truman forgot that little item while in Texas.

The one presidental candidate who is not afraid to take a stand at the risk of his political life, his popularity, and even his life, is Henry Wallace.

In order to disqualify Wallace, his enemies and the enemies of the people have directed a "red" slaughter campaign. But this has not stopped the people. Every effort to connect Mr. Wallace with a Communist movement to overthrow the government has missed its mark.

Now, on the last round of the campaign, the Fulton Lewis commentators have started a new frontal attack. They say the Third Party movement is dwindling and weakening.

From where I stand I still see an aroused people on the march. And they are following the leadership of Henry Wallace.

Henry Wallace has raised his voice clearly in defense of the Negro and Mexican Americans, and all the oppressed peoples in the United States. He observes no border-line. In fighting back the rising tide of Fascism in our land, he delivers one and the same warning in Texas that he gives in New York.

To you, Mr. Truman and Mr. Dewey, a few appointments of Negroes to a few fat jobs will no longer buy our votes. Our desire for first-class citizenship has been awakened. We have learned the meaning of human dignity. And we intend to vote on November 2 for the candidates and the party which will grant us that citizenship and the worth of human dignity we deserve.

This gives the ministry a practical purpose which is the ultimate test o. its social worth."

The Seminary has its largest enrollment in several years. Dr. Richardson, new President, took office September first, succeeding Dr. J. W. Haywood. Extensive renovation of the Seminary property is already underway.

● Braden

Braden's bank account tied up as well as the funds of the committee working for his election. Named on the committee are G. Harvey Mydland, Richard Newton, Hazel Junkins, Gerald Knudson and Walter Hewett.

Braden is running against incumbent Helen Gahagan Douglas, who barely missed wresting the Republican nomination from him in the primaries. Mrs. Douglas, up for her third term in the House, recently strengthened the possibility of her election when she received the support of the Progressive Party.

Sidney Moore, Progressive Party candidate, voluntarily withdrew from the race in favor of Mrs. Douglas in order to insure the defeat of Braden, according to announcements, from leaders of the Progressive Party. His action was sanctioned by official party sources, and community leaders praised him highly for his act.

from the police in recent weeks.

Brotherhood was the theme of the Watts meeting, as it was in the open-air meeting in Boyle Heights where 3500 people, mostly from the Jewish community, cheered Wallace's references to the fight against fascism and full and honest support of the Jewish position in Palestine.

Close to three hundred Mexican-Americans greeted the Progressive Party candidate at the intersection of Brooklyn and Indiana Avenues, and they watched in silence as he laid a wreath on a memorial to the Mexican-American war dead. Following this meeting, Mr. Wallace addressed 175 invited representatives of AFL, IAM and Needle Trades workers at the Embassy Auditorium. (A full account of that meeting is given in another story in this issue.)

Saturday night, close to 25 thousand persons paid to hear Wallace outline a 14 point program for peace (printed in full in this issue); call for unity behind Helen Gahagan Douglas, Chet Holifield and other liberal Congressional candidates; and challenge President Truman to make his position known on the current maritime strike.

The audience hearing Wallace outnumbered those who attended the Truman rally in the same stadium by over nine thousand, and the audience that attended the Dewey rally in the Hollywood Bowl by over four thousand. Both the Dewey and Truman rallies were free while admission was charged to hear Wallace.

At one point in his speech, Wallace called upon Phillip Murray and the Truman forces to prove their liberalism by supporting IPP candidates in those Congressional districts where reactionary candidates had captured both major party nominations. Failure to this, Wallace pointed out, would be tantamount to admitting they preferred the election of anti-labor Republicans.

Following the Gilmore Stadium rally, Wallace flew to San Bernardino from which point he continued on his tour of northern California.

Proposition 13 Opposes Bossism

"Proposition 13 will end boss rule in California's State Senate because it makes it too expensive for anybody to buy a campaign," J. B. Elliott, prominent Los Angeles county attorney, said today.

"It restores the traditional American Constitutional concept that human interests must be considered over property interests—a balance which was upset 20 years ago when the Senators were made representatives of territory instead of population.

"It is easy enough now for outside bosses to control some State Senators who represent 50,000 or less people. These Senator' campaign have to be 'financed," and their real 'constituents' are absentee corporations or owners of large properties."

absence of a petition, the decision will be made final in thirty days.

Meanwhile, Daniel Marshall, the attorney for Andrea D. Perez and Sylvester S. Davis, the white girl and Negro youth in whose behalf the action to compel the marriage clerk to issue a license was started in August of last year, has announced that his clients would not make any immediate attempt to obtain a license.

In a 5 to 2 decision the State Supreme Court held that the denial of a marriage license to a mixed couple is "arbitrary and unreasonable discrimination against certain racial groups." "Justice Roger Trainor who wrote the majority opinion called the ban 'a direct violation of the constitutional guarantee of equal rights to all citizens.'

Justice Jess Carter, concurring, said the ban, 'was the product of ignorance, predjudice and intolerance.'

The County Clerk can appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

Spokesmen for the actor insist he was the victim of a misrepresentation, and they claim he will be vindicated when he shows that the girl represented herself to be older, and that she had been accustomed to going out on dates.

A report that the actor had paid a large sum of money to squelch the case could not be verified.

Winston Warns Of Threat to Civil Rights

NEW YORK—Millions of Americans heard Henry Winston, organizational secretary of the

HENRY WINSTON

Communist Party, warn the Federal government over New York's station WQXR that "the rights of fourteen million Negroes are in danger today as never before in our nation's history."

Mr. Winston, a Negro veteran of World War II, one of the 12 Communist National Committee members under Federal indictment said the charge of "conspiring to overthrow the government by force" is "phony" and part of Wall Street's pattern "to destroy the rights of all minorities in America."

"As a Negro and a Communist," he said, "I am concerned with liberty for all, for I know that freedom is indivisible. Whittle away at the rights of one group and you destroy the rights of all groups. And you have fascism," he said.

The Communist leader said, "This is especially true of my fellow Negro Americans, who are in grave danger today." It makes no difference, he said, "what side of the Mason-Dixon line you live on nowadays." He cited the murder of Willie Earle, in Brooklyn by a "trigger-happy cop who walks the streets to this day" and to Isaiah Nixon, of Georgia, murdered because he "dared" to vote.

"The rights the Negro people won by virtue of their vast contributions to America," he continued, are "under fire on the job, in the home, in the polls booth."

rah Lawrence College called Mayor Hagy and asked him to persuade Miss Begay to accept the proffered scholarship. However Miss Begay says she has already enrolled in the Arizona State College at Flagstaff.

The incident on the bus, which occurred near Amarillo, so dismayed and embarrassed Miss Begay, she left the bus and returned to her home at Flagstaff. The report of the insult created a furor nationally, and it was then that she was invited to return here to be acclaimed. Miss Begay is rated as a brilliant student and plans a career of medicine.

15 Years For $2 Robbery

DETROIT—A 21-year-old father who apparently allowed liquor and money to get the better of him discovered too late that crime does not pay.

The victim is William Pickens, 580 Frederick, who was sentenced to 2 to 15 years in Jackson, Michigan, prison by Judge John P. Scallen, in Recorder's Court Tuesday.

Police said William Pickens went on a spree last April 13 after receiving an income tax rebate check. He used all of the government check to purchase whiskey and became intoxicated and ended up robbing Mrs. Beatrice Faucette, wife of Patrolman Joseph Facuette of the Traffic Safety Bureau, of $2 as she drove downtown to pick up her husband.

Later Pickens was seen at St. Antoine and Forest by Mrs. Faucette, who was driving her husband home. The officer leaped from his car and seized Pickens, who struggled and grabbed the patrolman's gun.

Pickens was wounded during the fight and was recently released from the Receiving Hospital, partly paralyzed from the bullet wound.

● Oklahoma

McLaurin heard a trio of federal court judges declare that the Oklahoma laws forbidding mixed classes in the higher schools is unconstitutional. The opinion was handed down in a case brought by McLaurin, who seeks admission to the University of Oklahoma.

The judges, however, did not order the university to open its doors to the Negro student; instead it recommended that the state provide equal educational facilities for Negroes, after hearing a written message sent by Gov. Roy J. Turner, who was traveling through the state as a part of President Truman's tourage at the time.

Turner pointed out that a special session of the legislature to amend the segregation laws "is the answer to our problems." He did not say when the special session will be called, or in what way the segregation laws would be amended.

The delegation will submit affidavits made out by citizens who have been mistreated by the police, and members of the group will ask the Mayor to support the demand being made by the NAACP, the CIO, Civic groups and leaders and the Civil Rights Congress for a Grand Jury investigation of the recent Burns killing, as well as the brutal slaying of Augustin Salcido.

Services are being carried out in every detail according to the expressed wishes of Mrs. Temple from the Seventh Day Adventist Church, 981 East 40th street today (Thursday). Elder Owen Troy will be in charge. Interment will be in the family lot in Santa Monica.

Police said the two men became involved in a minor automobile accident several weeks ago, which amounted to about $12 damage. Powell came to Cummings' room and demanded $6 for the damage to his automobile. They became involved in an argument, at which time Cummings ejected Powell from his room. Police said Powell returned later and cut Cummings on his hand.

Sordid Comics Inspire Murder Roach Reports

The murder of a ten-year-old boy by his six-year-old brother in New Castle, Penn., in a row over comic books, as reported in the newspapers, brought the following comment from Supervisor Leonard J. Reach, who has led a vigorous campaign against these comic books and has just been successful in having an ordinance passed by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors outlawing crime comics for children.

"That little six-year-old child cannot be blamed for the bloody murder of his brother with a shotgun. The violence of the so-called comic magazines was his education. The blame lies with the publishers and the purveyors of these sordid compilations of trash!

"Sold along side legitimate comic magazines, with a makeup to resemble the funny books, these publications have led immature minds to murder and degeneracy."

Contractors Act on Veteran Complaints

Successful operation of the working tgreement between the United States Attorney's Office and the Building Contractors Association of Californit was revealed in Los Angeles this week in a statement released by United States Attorney James M. Carter, praising the Association for its work in investigating veterans housing complaints and listing several cases where substantial sums of money had been recovered by the action of the Association.

In one case listed by Carter, 80 veterans had paid deposits to a builder on homes to be constructed. The homes were never built, and the veterans complained to the United States Attorney. The case was referred to the Building Contractors Association, under an agreement arrived at several months ago, and the Association started a probe of the complaints.

Thorough investigation and arbitration resulted in the agreement of all of the parties, and the deposits, amounting to $47,150.00 were returned to the veterans who asked that the money be refunded to them.

Kiddie Kapers An Outstanding Talent Review

Theatre-goers are still singing the praises of the lovable kiddies, who under the direction of their capable director, Mrs. Lauretta Butler, took part in the mammoth Butler's Kiddies' Capers, an annual presentation, at the Embassy Auditorium, 9th and Grand, Friday, September 17.

To see and admire the grace and charm of these talented youngsters is but to cause the mind of many Angelenos to revert to the director, herself, Lauretta Butler, who has put so many years and so much heart into the development of girls and boys of outstanding talent in the theatrical world. Her contribution to the City of Los Angeles, over a long period of years, cannot be measured.

Among the many well known names, whose talent and success have been nurtured by the Butler touch are such persons as the Mitchell Sisters, "Sunshine" Sammy, the Dandridge Sisters, Ouida Pruitt, Sylvia Perry, and Billie Fay, who later became one of the instructors in the school. Many, many more can attribute success in the theatre to The Butler School, and many more are destined to do so in the future.

Lauretta Butler has long been the outstanding source of supply for certain types of performers sought after by the Hollywood market, and she has managed to give satisfaction over the years.

A Little Safety Is A Big Prevention

During the past year, 80 fire department inspectors, making 128,810 inspections, uncovered 67,309 potentially dangerous fire hazards. In the great majority of these situations the danger should have been apparent even to one untrained in fire prevention practices.

That these hazards were permitted to exist until discovered by inspectors indicates the serious lack of consideration commonly given to fire safety.

National Fire Prevention Week can be the starting point of a campaign by each individual to eliminate the cause of 90% of all destructive fires.

Author Predicts Negro Vote Will Support Henry Wallace

Earl Conrad, author and Chicago Defender columnist for the past three years, predicted this week that "a majority of the Negro American vote will very probably be cast for Henry Wallace, with Harry Truman coming in second and Thomas Dewey running a poor third."

His prediction, Conrad's statement said, was based on two factors that have developed in Negro life since the appearance of Henry Wallace's Progressive Party. "The first," said the author of "Jim Crow America" "is the complete break with the Republican party, a trend . . . (that) became crystallized during the past 8 or 10 months. The other is the developing interest in foreign policy, and necessarily the question of war and peace.

"Hitherto bound to a policy of judging candidates and parties exclusively by their stand on questions of Jim Crow, it now appears that a large and possibly decisive segment of the Negro people have come "to understand that its fate is part of the world's fate, part of the common man's struggle on all continents," Conrad said.

Japanese Voters Meet With Wallace

In an unprecedented 30-minute interview, Henry A. Wallace, Progressive Party presidential nominee, met with a delegation from the Los Angeles Nisei for Wallace Committee and expressed surprised enthusiasm over the political consciousness manifested by the local group.

The presidential candidate received the LANWC delegation, headed by chairman Sakae Ishihara, in his suite at Town House a few hours prior to his speaking engagement at the Third Party rally held at the Gilmore Stadium.

Aside from Ishihara, the delegation included: Frank Kanno, Sue Kunitomi, Mitzi Ishihara, Art Takei, Tom Komuro, Chris Ishii, Mary Kitano, Kazumi Tsujimoto and George Furiya.

Greater L. A. Chorus Registration Open

Rehearsals of the Greater Los Angeles chorus have been resumed. J. Arthur Lewis, coordinator for the Los Angeles Bureau of Music, announced this week.

Dr. Hugo Strelitzer, who trained the 1,000 voice chorus for the Bowl appearance, is again directing the singers.

Lewis said membership in the chorus is still open. Rehearsals are held at the Bancroft Junior high school, 929 North Las Palmas. Registration is held between 7 and 8 p.m. Actual rehearsal starts at 8 p.m.

Plan Immunization For 90,000 In Fight Against Diphtheria

With a goal of 90,000 children protected, Los Angeles will launch its annual diptheria immunization campaign October 18, according to Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer.

"This will be the largest diphtheria drive in the city's history, and we hope to have every youngster in Los Angeles between the ages of 6 months and 12 years inoculated against this serious disease," Dr. Uhl said.

The health official said that he was "gravely concerned" by the fact that diphtheria leads polio almost two to one in both cases and deaths during the last eighteen years.

"Since 1931, including the polio epidemics of 1934, 1946, and 1948, diphtheria has still managed to take nearly twice as many lives as polio in spite of the tragic fact that there is a sure preventive for diphtheria and none whatsoever for polio," Dr. Uhl said.

The health department recorded 8,225 cases for diphtheria, with 552 deaths, against 4,750 cases and 258 deaths for polio, he declared.

California

Printed by L.A. CIO COUNCIL

The Los Angeles CIO Council last week opened up a post card bombardment on Mayor Fletcher Bowron urging the city's chief executive to act forcefully in halting police brutality and terrorism, particularly in the Negro and Mexican-American communities.

As part of the CIO campaign, the Council distributed post cards addressed to Bowron picturing the recent slaying of Herman Burns, a Negro, by police officers.

On the reserve side of the picture post cards was space for individual messages to Bowron to be signed by workers appealing for an end to the present reign of terror by cops.

Many CIO members said they would remind the mayor, whose tenth year in office is being celebrated with great fanfare in the city's press, that when he took office he pledged to end the police terrorism of the Shaw regime.

The post cards are available to CIO unions and community organizations at a cost of $7.50 per thousand or for smaller orders at $1 per hundred.

Orders will be filled by the Los Angeles CIO Council, 5851 Avalon Blvd., Los Angeles 3, ADams 1-9321.

Check Your Heaters Keep a Window Open

Now is the time to get gas heaters adjusted to prevent carbon monoxide poisoning at home during the cool months ahead, Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, announces.

"Improperly adjusted heaters, particularly those not vented to the outside, are dangeous, especially if the windows are closed," he declared, adding:

"No one should go to sleep with an unvented heater on in the room unless there is a continuous supply of fresh, outside air circulating in the room through wide-open windows."

Evening School Offers Traffic Safety Course

Do you have a traffic ticket? Did you fail your test for a driver's license? Have you had an accident? Would you like to see the streets and highways made safer for drivers and children alike? Would you like to see your auto insurance rates made cheaper? If your answer is "yes" to any of these questions, Call ADams 1-7701.

The Jefferson Evening School, at Hooper and 41st Street, has been giving a service in traffic safety on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

This is a community offering to you, free of all charges, by the Los Angeles City Schools. The instructor is a California State Driver's License Examiner of eighteen years experience. There are visual aids, lectures, discussions tnd motion pictures with sound-effect.

These classes are well-patronized in other sections of the city where a certificate of completion is given after six meetings. However, unless the attendance at Jefferson is stepped up this valuable project will be discontinued.

Community pride demands that your churches and other civic and social orgtnizations keep this valuable service in tact. Even handicapped persons like those who speak only a foreign language and deaf-mutes are also invited to attend.

McBeth Heads Committee for Proposition 13

All out community support on a non-partisan basis for Proposition 13 on the November 2 ballot this week continued to grow with the addition of Titus Alexander and Hugh E. MacBeth to the Citizens Committee for Equal Representation list of over 20 top community leaders.

As a legislative authority, Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins said today, "Proposition 13 offers a real opportunity for every citizen to obtain a vote in the government of his state. As it now stands, under the unfair and inadequate system of area representation, the nearly four million people of Los Angeles County are frequently left without a vote in the State Senate."

The legislator explained that the five men on the Rules Committee represent a total of only 510,400 people out of a total state population of 10,048,150. This means that just 5% of the people of California and their five representatives dictate what the State Senate shall consider, by whom and whether it shall be considered at all.

Handicap Week Ends Saturday

Proclaimed for Los Angeles observance by Mayor Fletcher Bowron, National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week runs from October 3-9.

Activities were begun by formation of a 66-member committee, whose chairman is Paul Dietrich. Other members of the committee include community professional and religious leaders, employers, representatives of labor and veterans' organizations, and officials of government and private agencies serving the needs of limited workers.

Dietrich stated today "Employers will be shown that disabled workers in suitable jobs are at least as reliable, efficient, and productive as those without physical impairment. They will learn that handicapped workers can benefit their business as well as the community."

Rose-Netta Hospital Invites Wider Use of Its Facilities

Rose Netta Hospital, one of the best equipped small institutions of its kind on the Pacific Coast, with eight years of satisfactory community service, is again inviting the physicians and people of Los Angeles to make use of its facilities.

Located as it is in the heart of the Negro community, 4412 South Hooper Avenue, and in light of the over-crowded situation in the various hospitals throughout the city, Dr. N. Curtis King, founder and director, has made the necessary improvements to meet the most vital needs.

Rose-Netta was founded upon interracial good will. Specialists in every field of medicine and of every race and creed have made up a part of its staff since the doors opened in 1941.

To encourage the regular use of the hospital facilities by those most in need of it, the Negro citizens of Los Angeles, a new program has been instituted to assure immediate and efficient service. Competent physicians will be on call 24 hours a day and will be assisted by a capable nursing staff.

The night surgeon in charge of the hospital is Dr. Audly Richard Mamby, M.D., a native of Panama City. Dr. Mamby comes thoroughly prepared, having graduated from the University of Michigan Medical School at Ann Arbor, following which he interned at the Provident Hospital in Chicago, Illinois, and was also resident physician there. He took further courses of study at Michael Reese in Chicago, and the nUiversity of Southern California, from which medical school he also holds a degree. He is now stpdying at the College of Medical Evangelists, White Memorial Hospital, specializing in internal medicine.

Dr. Mamby's office consultation hours will be from 8 to 10 p.m., nightly for the benefit of those who are unable to keep daytime appointments.

Associate physicians serving on the medical staff include Dr. Howard Allen, Dr. P. Price Cobbs, Dr. Burlin Humphrey, Dr. H. H. Towles, Dr. J. P. Taylor and Dr. G. C. Porter.

Nisei Parade For Wallace At Gilmore

Marching under the banner of "Nisei For Wallace" and conspicuously displaying placards demanding "Citizenship for Our Parents," and "No More Hiroshimas," Nisei for Wallace paraders joined thronged thousands at the Gilmore Stadium Saturday night in a mass demonstration for the Progressive Party's standard-bearer, Henry A. Wallace and his program for Peace, Abundance and Freedom.

The paraders who circled the arena under kleighlights and the enthusiastic applause of a packed stadium, included a wide cross-section of groups representing congressional and assembly IPP organizations, Democrats for Wallace, labor unions for Wallace, and independent Wallace boosters such as Amigos de Wallace, Nisei for Wallace, Young Progressives and other groups.

The Nisei marchers were led by L. A. Newspaper Guild's pert Nisei pin-up, Mary Kitano and Frank Kanno, 442nd vet eran who is a member of the state IPP executive board.

One of the banners which attracted much attention carried large, blocked Chinese characters for Peace, Fredom and Abundance with the legend: "In any language—it's Peace, Freedom, and Abundance."

Other marchers of the LANWC group who carried additional placards calling for more adequate evacuee indemnities, equitable immigration laws, price control, FEPC and low-cost public housing, included: Sue Kunitomi, Hiro Ito, Ginger Ikeguchi, Sayuri Tsjimura, Wilbur Sato, Sakae and Fumi Ishihara, Chris and Ada Ishii, Art Takei, Tom Komuro and others.

Accidents Reduced By Motor Vehicles

Drivers of 11,870 motor vehicles, comprising fleets of 116 leading business organizations in Los Angeles County, achieved a reduction of 12.9% in the accident rate in driving 267,085,501 miles during the period of one year, while participating in the Fourth Fleet Safety Contest of the Greater Los Angeles Chapter of the National Safety Council.

This was revealed at the Chapter's Grand Award Dinner which was attended by more than 350 business executives, safety engineers, fleet drivers, and civic officials, last week at the Los Angeles Police Academy.

Duarte Drive Offers New Automobile

Dr. Leonard Stovall, president of the Outdoor Health Association Rest Home at Duarte, California, announced the opening of a drive to raise funds to further expansion plans at the site. The drive will be handled through the Henry Armstrong Enterprises, with headquarters maintained at 4251½ Avalon Blvd.

The drive will be intensified this year because of the increased needs for additional accommodations needed and the prospects of the donors winning a handsome brand new model Tucker automobile. Tickets are to be given each donor of a dollar to the cause. The holder of the winning ticket at the drawings to be held at the Club Congo, Thursday, Nov. 25, Thanksgiving Day, will be awarded the car, or $2,000 in cash by the Tucker agency manager Mr. Bracken, 8013 So. Vermont.

WALLACE'S PEACE PROGRAM

The 14-point program for peace presented by Henry A. Wallace at the Gilmore Stadium last Saturday night follows:

1—Elimination from policy making power of all men who have a personal financial stake from policy decision they help effect.

2—Take private profit out of the war industry business.

3—International agreement for armament reduction, in order to strengthen confidence in peace and produce for human need and not for human destruction.

4—Stop the exporting of weapons by any nation to any other nation.

5—Resume unrestricted trade between nations, except in goods related to war.

6—Reaffirm the free exchange of scientific information and scientific material between nations.

7—Reestablish in a vigorous form the United Nations Rehabilitation Administration or some other international agency for the impartial distribution of relief.

8—Put an end to the exploitation of colonial empires.

9—Reinforce in all possible ways the prestige and authority of the United Nations.

10—Remove occupation forces of all nations from Germany, Japan, Greece, Korea and other countries as soon as possible.

11—Announce a policy of refusing to use economic or financial pressure in order to wield undue power in the internal affairs of other nations.

12—End the peacetime draft and plans for the establishment of universal military training.

13—Work for a United Nations rule prohibiting any nation from terrorizing or intimidating member states by naval demonstration, the massing of land forces, or establishment of bomber bases within easy range of the states. This rule should apply both to the United States and Russia.

14—End the increasing dominance of the military in American foreign policy, thus invoking the wise policy of Clemenceau who said war is too important a matter to be left to the generals.

BOWLIN MEDICAL CENTER

140 WEST WALNUT ST. PASADENA

Dr. English, chief surgeon with nurses, Wilhemenia Bunch and Miss Cole.

Dr. and Mrs. Bowlin, son, Brandon, and nephew, Dennis Kyte

Dr. Bowlin with Dr. English, Dr, Moore and nurses. Dr. Moore is assistant to Dr. English.

Dr. Brandon A. T. Bowlin, founder of new medical center, was born in British Guinea, South America, of religious parents.

His early interest in theology caused many of his colleagues and his parents to assume that some day he would turn to the ministry. Even after he started to study medicine, he continued to study theology. A visit to his office, where a diploma occupies a conspicuous place on one wall, shows that his early religious leaning stayed with him, even after he became a component part of the medical profession.

While Dr. Bowlin's early training was in his native land, when he was young he stumbled upon the life of Booker T. Washington, and was inspired by the life of Washington to the extent that he decided upon the United States, rather than England or Scotland for his medical training.

He landed in the United States at New York, the great metropolis, and entered New York College. From New York he moved to Howard University in Washington, D. C., and from Howard to Meharry Medical College, from which he received his degree in medicine in 1927, graduating cum laude.

At Meharry, after graduation, young Dr. Bowlin was offered a professor's chair, to head the eye, ear, nose, and throat department. But he refused the offer, preferring private practice, and in 1927 qualified to practice medicine in New York state, passing the State Board in his first sitting.

Dr. Bowlin pursued his profession successfully in New York City from early 1928 to 1930. The latter part of 1930 he left New York to continue his research in medicine and to do his post graduate work abroad.

Believing that location has much to do with success in any field, in 1931 Dr. Brandon Bowlin came to Los Angeles, California, and formed a firm friendship with J. B. Bass, late editor of THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE. This friendship with Mr. Bass and his wife, Charlotta, stood the test of the years between 1931 and 1948.

Bowlin Medical center

The achievements of Dr. Brandon Bowlin in Pasadena, California, where he located, has been nothing short of phenominal.

Dr. Bowlin's first successful effort was the building of a lucrative practice in Pasadena. He established and operated the first hospital and sanitarium owned and operated by a Negro. His next, always a bigger and better move, was in 1940; the erection of another ultra modern 38-bed hospital and sanitarium at 1518 East Imperial Highway, Los Angeles, which was a pressing need in the section of the city where it is now being operated.

What the admiring public claims as a climax in the foresighted and indomitable genius of a young man whose burning desire to meet the crying needs of a community, was on demonstration last Sunday, October 3, 1948, when the doors of his new medical building and clinic at 140 West Walnut street, Pasadena, were opened for public inspection.

This new medical center is the last word in modern equipment, appointment, and operating facilities. It is staffed with specialists in all of its branches of medicine as well as the clinic. On hand to meet every need are trained nurse, secretaries, receptionists, notary public, and many other necessary features. A dental department will also be added, which will complete the picture.

Dr. Brandon Bowlin, while building these monuments that ornament the pages of California history of Negro - American achievements, has found time to identify his activities with many community organizations. He is a 32nd degree Mason, past Exalted Ruler of the Pasadena Elks, the Odd Fellows, Ancient Order of Foresters, and a member of the Board of Directors of The California Eagle, member of Scott Methodist Church, past president of the Grace Hospital Association, past president of the Business and Professional Association of Pasadena, as well as being identified with many other civic groups in and out of the city of Pasadena, in which he resides.

Africa for the Africans

With the United Nations meeting in Paris, one of the momentous questions which the general assembly will discuss is the disposition of the Italian colonies in Africa. Or rather of the colonies in Africa which formerly belonged to the Italian empire, and which Italy still claims.

The Council for African Affairs, however, believes this question should be discussed from the point of view of the Africans, of the people who live in those colonies, not from the point of view of their conquerors.

These "Italian" colonies include Libya, Eritrea, and Italian Somaliland. Eritrea has for centuries been a part of Ethiopia, and the Ethiopian government declares that "the wishes of the inhabitants based on 3000 years of cultural and political union with Ethiopia, . . . the peace and security in East Africa call for the return of Eritrea to Ethiopia."

The current proposal of the Americans and the French in the United Nations is to give part of Eritrea back to Ethiopia. But the Council for African Affairs asks, "Why not ALL of Eritrea, as well as Somaliland? They belong to Ethiopia. But it must be an independent and sovereign Ethiopia, not a British or American dominated Ethiopia."

The United Nations in dealing with the former African Italian colonies must remember that Africa belongs to the Africans, and that the paramont consideration should be the needs and aspirations of the peoples of Libya, Eritrea, and Somaliland, of the Ethiopian people, of all the people of Africa.

And here is where the United States delegation to the United Nations can, if it will, make friends of the African people—a consumation much desired in the political life of the world as it is seething today.

For, according to reports, uranium has been discovered in the Congo region . . . that precious metal used in making atomic energy and the dreaded atomic bomb.

As Cecil Brown recently commented: "How can we know that the Negro people finally disgusted with the treatment they have received from the nations of the world, will not turn to a nation that has been and is friendly towards them? And if so, will they not give to them the uranium needed to generate atomic energy, for whatever purpose used?"

It is always the best policy, like honesty, to invite the friendship of individuals, of peoples, and of nations. If some other nation, such as the Soviet Union, proves more friendly to the peoples of Africa, if that nation pledges them the freedom, security and peace they have desired through all the years, can anyone blame them if they cling to one and despise the other?

If for no other reason than to help ourselves, we should befriend the peoples of Africa, and urge our representatives to ask for the return of the African colonies to their original owners. Not to Italy.

Make demands to: U. S. Mission to the UN, c/o Secretary-General's Office, 2 Park ave., New York. To be forwarded to Paris.

Get On the Wallace Train

It is an established fact that more people heard Henry Wallace speak in Los Angeles than came to hear either Thomas E. Dewey or President Truman—free.

With such facts on record, just how some of our metropolitan newspapers expect us to believe anything they write when they say the Third Party is getting weak, goes beyond the stretch of our imagination.

Saturday night at Gilmore stadium, Henry Wallace was hitting on eight cylinders. The 26,000 persons who heard him describe the 15-point program that would insure better housing for all Americans and civil liberties for some who do not have it now, were inspired with a burning desire to start a precinct canvass and neighborhood meetings to spread the gospel of Henry Wallace and the Progressive Party.

It's everybody's job, who believes in freedom, to work for the election of Henry Wallace and the defeat of our betrayers.

Get on the Wallace Train! It's headed for Freedom Land!

The Beef Trust Swindle

At long last the beef trusts have been indicted by Attorney General Tom Clark who has filed an anti-trust suit against the Big Four beef companies—Armour, Swift, Cudahy, and Wilson.

These four companies control over 50% of the meat supply of the nation. They have raised meat prices to the highest level in history. Their profits, after taxes, rose from $22,000,000 in 1939 to $88,000,000 in 1947.

These four companies divide among themselves the lion's share of livestock that comes into the market. They agree among themselves what prices they will pay the farmer, what they will charge the consumer. They gang up on the workers, and decide what wages they will pay. This year they ran scabs through picket lines under police protection to beat off wage demands, and two of the strikers were killed.

The beef trust controls our dinner table. It decides whether we're to have steak or hamburger, or no meat at all. And at long last our government has aroused itself from its sleep, and decided to do something about it! Just before election time!

Yet these same laws which Tom Clark has invoked to file suit today, were on the books ever since 1890. These trusts could have been indicted last year, when they first began to show their claws. Why wait until just a few weeks before November 2, election day?

The American people are notoriously slow to wrath, especially in affairs of government, or politics. But we believe they, too, are slowly coming to life, and won't be taken in much longer by the great monopolists who should be dubbed the great swindlers of America.

At this election, November 2, they will have an opportunity to vote for candidates for president, vice-president, and members of Congress whose records show they have consistently fought this swindle, and whose platforms stand for a continued fight until the victory is won.

Vote for Wallace and Taylor, and for members of Congress who will enact laws that will curb monopoly, not encourage it.

Indignant Citizens Call On Mayor Bowron

A delegation of indignant American citizens, determined to see that justice is done in the Herman Burns case, will meet with Mayor Bowron tomorrow (Friday, Oct. 8) at 3 p.m.

Not only will the Herman Burns' case be discussed, but a demand will also be made upon Mayor Bowron, as head of the city government, to see to it that all police killings, intimidations, false arrests, and other mal-practices end. Now.

Herman Burns, it will be remembered, was beaten to death by two policemen while two of his brothers, handcuffed, looked on helpless to render any aid. A coroner's inquest brough in a verdict in the brutal killing as "cause of death undetermined," and exonerated all the police involved in the case.

This continual white-wash by the coroner's jury, the buck-passing by tne Board of Police Commissioners, and the City Council, must be stopped, these citizens have decided. They know by experience that only many and fervent protests will avail. Therefore they have decided to call upon Mayor Bowron in person, and ask him if he will not please set his house in order.

These citizens know also that thousands of others need to voice these protests if any action will be taken. Therefore they are asking YOU and all who can possibly come to the mayor's office tomorrow, to do so. To bring as many with you as possible. If you cannot come, write.

This killing of American citizens must be stopped. And we must let the Mayor know we expect him to do something about it.

The Good That Men Do Lives After Them

The untimely death of David Hedley, 37-year-old director of the California Labor School, last week has left the faculty and students grief stricken.

Hedley was not only an important part of an educational movement, but likewise, though yet in the flower of his youth, a foundation block in the building of the great Progressive trend.

David Hedley did not live to die. But so devoted was he to the desire to build a better world and a nobler life for those around him, that he gave his life that others may live.

No more fitting words could be used in memorializing the life of David Hedley than those used by Philip M. Connelly on the occasion of his funeral: "David Hedley gave his life in the burning desire and intensive effort put into developing working class education."

His body is resting, but David Hedley's spirit goes on.

THE WRANGLER !

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

"Speaking in simple, down-to-earth language, the language the man of the street, and even a Congressman can understand—that is the mark of any speech or talk made by Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas."

So the effectiveness of the leadership of Mrs. Douglas in Congress, in the national field and in the international boundaries, has been described.

And while she never minces any words in telling the members of Congress their duty, neither does she spare the voters gathered to hear her. It was the voters who were responsible for the 80th Congress, she says, the worst Congress in history.

"Why," she asked pointedly, at a recent meeting, "why do the American people fail to go to the polls and vote? There were 90,000,000 people in 1946 who were eligible to register and vote. How many of that number do you suppose voted? Only 34,000,000. And yet the members of Congress, elected by so few votes, declared they had a 'mandate from the people' to do as they did. Well, they probably had," she admitted, "a mandate from the people who stayed at home."

Breaking up the membership of Congress into party constituents, she said there were 51 Republicans in the U. S. Senate and 45 Democrats. In the House, where most of the feudin' and the fussin' takes place, there were 246 Republicans and 187 Democrats. And of this small number, 119 Democrats came from the southern or border states—from 15 states—while 68 came from 33 states in the North.

"Do you wonder," she asked, "that with such representation, almost every measure for the welfare of the people was lost even before it came to the floor of the House for debate? These representatives of the people spent two whole days discussing oleomargarine. And only 40 minutes on housing, and 40 minutes on rent control."

The House leadership (Republican) decided what was to be done. Speaker Martin and his aides held the reins with a strong hand, and whatever they said was to be done, that was done. There were 1400 lobbyists, pulling strings, and more than $8,000,000 was spent in influencing members of Congress against low-cost housing, against doing anything about the high cost of living, against educational aid, against the free school lunch program, against aid for the tenant farmer, rural electrification, and all the other things for the Common People which President Roosevelt had fought for and which the Democrats in Congress, had they been able, would have carried out.

Mrs. Douglas said the mere mention of "that man's" name or any of the things he stood for, irritated the Republicans, and being in the majority, they wasted no time in debate on any of those issues, but voted them down with machine-like precision whenever any of them came up.

Then her witty description of the way the Taft-Ellender-Wagner Housing Bill was done to death! (That bill originally was called the Wagner-Taft-Ellender Bill, but when the Republicans won with such an overwhelming majority in 1946, the bill which had been pending in Congress ever since that time, was named the Taft Bill in honor of the Republican senator.)

That bill should have become law in 1946. It would have done so, too, if the National Association of Real Estate Boards had not sent their lobbyists pell-mell to Washington to stop such legislation at any cost.

The bill passed the U. S. Senate each time it came up for a vote, but when it came to the House it was most effectively blocked. In the 80th Do-Nothing Republican Congress, a committee was appointed to see if there was any housing shortage! The bill came up for a vote in the House again, April 23, 1948, but it was blocked again by Jesse Wolcott, Republican chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee.

He filibustered by calling no end of witnesses for the Real Estate Boards, the National Association of Home Builders, etc., etc. And these people, with pocket books already swollen to the bursting point with profits, gladly spent millions to defeat the bill again.

It was defeated. But then President Truman called a special session of Congress, after the national conventions, to see, as he said, if the Republicans meant to keep the many pledges they had made in their platform. This time Jesse Wolcott introduced a bill of his own—minus provisions for public housing, slum clearance, farm housing, and other benefits for the common people, whom it was supposed to help. But with aids provided to the real estate lobbies, the men of wealth who have already grown rich exploiting the necessities of the homeless!

And believe it or not, that bill passed! Or rather a similar one, after some dickering. A bill to aid the rich, and not the poor. It is law now, and there is nothing anyone can do about it, except to see that this time, on November 2, we got to the polls and elect all members of Congress who fight for the rights of the poor, like Helen Gahagan Douglas. And to vote YES on our Housing Proposition, No. 14.

German-American Head Would Send Afro-Americans 'Back To Africa'

By Stetson Kennedy
Author "Southern Exposure"

NEW YORK—Having had a good deal of experience working my way into secret Klan meetings, I had but little difficulty getting into what might be called a German-American clan gathering—the exclusive Steuben Society banquet held here September 25.

Just as the Klan argues that it is nothing more than a "National Association for the Advancement of White People," the Steuben Society pretends to be a super-patriotic "National Association for the Advancement of German-Americans."

In reality, however, the Steubenites have worked since the end of World War I for "Pan-Germanism" and a soft peace for their "Fatherland." Just now they are agitating for rebuilding of German industry under the cloak of "American self-defense."

The tuxedoed Steubenites banqueted well in the Biltmore ballroom at $7.50 per plate.

Seated at table 15, I was not too surprised to find the notorious George Sylvester Viereck, who during the war was doubly indicted for sedition and conspiracy to foment Nazi revolution, and who was eventually jailed for failing to register properly as a Hitler agent.

On the program list of Steuben "Boosters" I also found the name of Austin App, whose story that American Negro troops had raped 20,000 German women in the subways of Stuttgart made a big splash in the "Steuben News" — until someone pointed out that Stuttgart has no subways.

'Superior Race' Racket

I have listened long to Kluxers sounding off about Anglo-Saxon "white supremacy" in order to cover up their feeling of inferiority and frustration, but never heard anything to equal the self-glorification claimed by the Steubenites for the "Germanic race."

Their New York state chairman, George Balbach, gave Hitler's "Master Race" myth a new twist by putting it this way: "All men are born equal—not in health, wealth, and ability—but in opportunity."

To hear the Steubenites tell it that night, Washington could not have won American independence had he not had a German drillmaster, the "Star Spangled Banner" could not have been written had it not been for a German-American fleet commander, Lincoln would not have been elected without the German vote, the Civil War could not have been won without German-American generals in the Union Army, etc.

During the evening I cornered the national chairman of the Steuben Society, Herr Theodore H. Hoffman, who before the war was entertained by Hitler and returned to this country to say "Whoever thinks National Socialism (Nazism) rules by oppression is mistaken. . . . It is my conviction that Hitler is honest and sincere."

Herr Hoffman had a cocktail in hand and any number under his belt, and when I told him I was from Atlanta, Georgia, he began to talk with a Southern accent.

"I'm a Democrat, but I don't blame the South for going Dixiecrat!" he said. "I'm for letting the n---s have their rights—provided they stay in their place. If Lincoln were alive today, he'd send 'em all back to Africa!"

De-Kluxification Needed

Asserting that Negroes have "no tradition except slavery," Hoffman went on to say he had spent some time in Liberia, where he said "civilization extends only a few hundred yards into the bush."

Herr Hoffman also said he had spent considerable time in the South. "The South knows how to handle them, and treats them fair enough," he said. "Up here they're entirely too sassy!"

Ironically, the professed purpose of this banquet was to commemorate the U. S. Constitution (which includes the Bill of Rights).

When the banquet was over, I felt I had a better understanding of what Bundfuehrer August Klapprott menat when he told a joint meeting of the Ku Klux Klan and German American Bund before the war, "The principles of the Bund and the principles of the Klan are the same."

The German-American clan and Ku Klux Klan suffer from the same disease of racism, and are therefore allies of the "States' Rights" (Dixiecrat) plot to impose "white supremacy" on America.

Our task of de-Kluxifying the South and de-Nazifying Germans—both at home and abroad—is one and the same.

WHO ARE THE WAR MONGERS?

By Paul French

The American people, who are to wind up—after any war between the USA and the USSR—in even a worse situation than the German people suffer today, might well understand in advance that the peoples of Europe by no means share the same outlook about who will be responsible for such a war, as the outlook we Americans get out of the unspeakably false propaganda given us by the American newspapers.

A small hint of this crept into the United Press dispatch from Paris on Sept. 25, when telling of Visinsky's speech charging the U.S. with "planning war" against the Soviet Union, the UP correspondent added: "The public galleries roared with applause when Visinsky finished. The ovation was the loudest given any speaker at this session of the Assembly."

Just because you, an American, absorb from the constant torrent of propaganda in the press and on the radio, the mistaken notion that the Soviet Union is "in the wrong" in the conflict between itself and the imperialist powers (or what the press calls "the democracies"), is absolutely no reason that the peoples of Europe see the same way at all. Indeed, they see the opposite is the truth; that, as Vishinsky charges, it is America that is planning the war.

Even if the American people paid no attention when, after making his charges against the U.S. government of "planning war," Vishinsky proposed to the United Nations that all nations should at once agree to a reduction in armaments of one-third, the European peoples did pay attention. You, perhaps, didn't, because the State Department at once declared, and "our" newspapers at once screamed—that the disarmament proposal of the Soviet Union was "just propaganda."

Well ,if it were "just propaganda," why, then, didn't the American government take it up—if it were just a "bluff," and agree to disarm? The reason, which is plain to European peoples—no matter how obscure and unimportant it may seem to the Americans whose minds are full of rubbish about movie stars caught smoking "reefers" 'and whether the Giants or the Dodgers are going to win the National Series—is that 'war has become the chief industry of decadent capitalist imperialism, which must have war or perish of economic collapse and consequent political revolution.

This is, of course, no real or final solution for imperialism, since it will perish anyhow, even with war, and even if "victorious in war. But, it is the best thing the imperialists can think of. With the pall of depression already deeply affecting American farm economy, and a creeping paralysis spreading over industrial production, only a rebirth of war production is expected to hold up American economy, prices of durable goods and what is quaintly called" political stability."

Actually, the result will only multiply the political instability. A chaotic distortion of the productive system will ensue, which "price control," that only sounds reasonable, but which will tend to enrich the big monopolies and bankrupt the small businessman, cannot prevent. Inflation, which now can be cured only by repudiation of the national debt (that major part of it held by the great banks and insurance companies, while the small holders of "E" bonds, the workers and small people, should be paid in full), will increase and send prices and the cost of living into the stratosphere.

We American workers will be deceiving ourselves if, as the ignorant "labor leaders" who now dominate the American trade unions idiotically imagine, we think that another war will bring back the "war prosperity" of the 1941-45 period. There will be nothing of the kind. Not this time! This time, there will be no Wagner Act; instead there will be the Open Shop, low wages, long hours, the speed-up, wide unemployment, martial law in the shops and factories with sharp penalties for striking, even though the cost of living will soar many times higher than it even is today!

American labor will get a lesson—a rather needed lesson—on the difference between a progressive, anti-fascist war, and a pro-imperialist, fascist war of world conquest, with Wall Street and its government playing the role of the Hitler-Mussolini Axis. And it will suffer the fate of the Rome-Berlin-Tokio Axis, too. For the peoples of Europe and Asia, of the whole world, at least outside these benighted states of America, will simply not fight for Wall Street, and instead will fight against it.

This is the path which the war mongers now ruling and ruining the country have charted, desperate as all gamblers are to maintain their balance by risking ever greater disaster on some gamble or adventure. It was foreseen as long as sixty years ago by Frederick Engels, the famous collaborator of Karl Marx, when in 1888 he wrote the following prophetic lines about the result of a final world war:

" . . . absolute impossibility of foreseeing how it will all end and who will come out of the struggle as victor; only one result absolutely certain; general exhaustion and the establishment of the conditions for the ultimate victory of the working class.

"This is the prospect when the system of mutual outbidding in armaments, driven to extermin-

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

JOHN M. LEE

It is amazing how far out of step top AFL and CIO leadership is with the rank and file. Taft-Hartley Law, which all forces of labor profess to oppose, came into being, and gained a slight foot-hold because frightened, superficially-patriotic top labor leadership swallowed the bait and got hooked on the line of labor's bitterest foes.

That leadership stands now, behind the standards of the two men whose parties are responsible for Taft-Hartley, while the rank and filers work quietly and efficiently for a progressive victory with Henry Wallace. Those leaders must know that a victory for Dewey or a victory for Truman (which is the same thing) will be the signal for the beginning of the real machinations of the Taft-Hartley proponets—a relentless campaign to completely smash organized labor, and a return to sweat-shop conditions.

Prediction is not the business of this corner, but it is not pure prediction to say that the philosophy of Taft-Hartley will be repudiated at the polls on November 2. This will happen because there is an impressive solidarity between AFL and CIO rank and filers. You may not see it, and, if you please, it is a furtive, almost underground solidarity, but it is present and growing.

It may be pertinent to admit that the comradeship between the AFL and the CIO is flowering underground; after all, the true spirit of the American people is underground these days. What is important is that the division betwen the two great labor bodies is only between certain selfish leaders of both groups who seek to hang on to the power and prestige of their jobs by keping a senseless feud going while they trade in secret with the double-faced merchants of reaction.

What Murray and Green and Reuther have not been able to do with their scholarly pronouncements and confused dictums, little people in the locals have accomplished by organizing to elect Henry Wallace and Congressional representatives who are pledged to repeal the vicious Taft-Hartley, slave-labor Law. The Progressive Party has been the great welding force that will bind the workers together in a permanent union; common action in a common cause.

Remarkably, rank and filers in the labor movement will tell you that Truman is the candidate who hasn't got a chance. They have come to recognize that a vote for Truman is a vote wasted. They know now that the Progressive Party, come what may on November 2, is bound to win, for it is here to stay as the only true party of labor and other minority forces.

On the surface, there is strong meddling and opposition from AFL in the current Maritime strike. It isn't possible to ignore the traitorous behavior of Harry Lundberg and those who mistakenly follow him, yet as threatening as is Lundberg's betrayal of his labor brothers while they are in trouble, this is only a surface manifestation. Underneath, AFL unionists are supporting the maritime strikers with food, money and expressions of brotherhood.

Brotherhood is the key to continuing solidarity, for with Brotherhood there is no room for separation or prejudice; brotherhood is a more powerful name and force than either AFL or CIO. It is growing in the ranks of labor. It has found strength and purpose in the Progressive party, and it will create a bond of solidarity betwen the AFL and the CIO that will sweep the phony political leaders of both outfits into oblivion.

You Can Help

A quart of milk or a can of soup for the kids of a maritime striker's family would be greatly appreciated. Most of us can afford something. Call us if you don't know where to take them. Next time it might be you. Give something.

The first statewide organizing meeting of California Farmers For Wallace was held in Fresno last Monday. It was called by Mrs. Grace McDonald, who was a delegate to the National Farmers for Wallace meeting held in Chicago in mid-September.

Wallace, candidate for president on the Progressive Party ticket, and who was in Fresno on Monday, addressed the delegates and stressed the need of organization to solve the nation's farm problems.

The meetig was attended by a large group of Central Valley farmers, headed by Sam Miller, candidate for Congress from the 10th Congressional District on the Independent Progressive Party ticket.

The Farmers for Wallace mapped plans for a mail campaign to reach all California farmers with the platform of the Progressive Party, and for radio broadcasts throughout the state.

Goods amounting to more than $30,000,000,000—greater even than in 1929—have backed up on the shelves of manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers, according to a survey made by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Corporation profits, according to the report, have increased more in the second quarter of 1947 than any other type of income. They amounted to more than $33,000,000,000. After all taxes were paid!

Yet those poor corporations and trusts, can't afford to pay a few pennies extra per hour to the working men and women who are making those huge profits for them! Can't even give 'em a tip!

SHARPS & FLATS

By
ALBERT J. McNEIL
Music Critic of the California Eagle

It is with increasing interest that we welcome words of encouragement from our many friends concerning the merits of this column. Our mail bag was filled with genuine expressions of satisfaction over the feeble efforts of this writer. For these, we are profoundly grateful.

Triangular Musical

Despite the running around necessitated by last weeks series of events, we are able to include another musical Thursday evening. Lillie T. Hougue, Director of Music at Triangular church and member of the Board of Directors of the Los Angeles Musicians Association presented outstanding choirs and soloists in an evening of music. Included on the program were: The Nash Singers, The Albert McNeil Choir, Fountain Davis, Eloise Lee Crawford, The St. John Baptist Choir, Revere Green, Director; and the Senior Choir of Triangular.

Mr. McNeil

Faustina Johnson, prominent clubwoman and well-known politico, was the able Mistress of Ceremonies. This mid-week concert was another in the ever-growing series of musical offerings prevalent in our community. The Director and her entire staff deserve congratulations for this effort.

Church Music

I suppose that all kinds of people working in the professions we, who go by the name of church musicians, like least to be preached at. There isn't anything entertaining in the process. We get one—sometimes two sermons every Sunday in the year, and these are delivered by a man who has been trained for his task.

So—if sermonize, if I preach a bit—as I talk about standards, and ethics, and ideals, I hope that you will forgive me. And I hope, that before I finish, all of us can understand that there is something tremendously practcial about having ideals for a profession as noble as is this one.

Once upon a time church music was a noble thing and those who labored for its advancement were honored in all parts of the world. The only artistic music was church music. Then, secular had its day and its say. Church music could hardly be differentiated from the music of the opera. It had to be florid, sentimental and brilliant to be acceptable. And it was not so long ago in most places where the music was used to draw crowds and that was its only purpose; our churches featured musical saws and threw spotlights on the soloists, and a gospel hymn sung with great tenderness and "expression" somehow was the height of real achievement.

Now, we are wont to say that there is taking place about us a "renaissance," re-birth in church music. Why a belief?

First of all, many of us are insisting that our choirs sing a better type of composition. We do Bach and Palestrina and the Russians because, in part, these compositions do not bear the stamp of the world's music. They sound "other-worldy."

Secondly, church music is better because more people of all ages are singing and they are doing a far better job of performance than was the case a few yars ago.

Thirdly, our clergy and our congregations are beginning to understand that there is some thing more to our music than a device by which we lure crowds of people into our churches.

Lastly, we have now a finer leadership for our music programs; a leadership which has many opportunities for training through participartion in class work, institutes and conferences such as those offered at our neighboring Universities.

If, then, we can agree that church music is again coming into its own—perhaps that is actually is now a profession, we must have ideals and standards by which such a profession is regulated. Such will always develop out of usage, tradition and belief held by those who practice in the profession. You and I have the responsibility for developing such tradition. Of what shall it be made?

I should like to suggest that a fundamental basis for this hypothetical code of ethics will be built on these two simple premises:

(1) How we feel about our own place in church music; (2) how we carry on in our relationships with those colleagues who labor in the same field with us. Fundamentally, ethics are made from human relationships.

Perhaps there are those of you who feel sincerely that a "code" is a silly thing. Let me suggest three hpuothetical situations which might arise almost anywhere and which would need certain ethical standards for their solution.

1—A certain choirmaster is proving to be unsatisfactory in his position. The minister and the chairman of the music committee confer with another director and then without warning release the first man. What is ethical here?

2—The largest church in town advertises consistently its music program as the "finest of any church in the city." Is this right—is it ethical?

3—A choirmaster is active in convincing singers from other church choirs in his community that they should be singing with his group. Perhaps he does offer special advantages to such singers. But, is he right in his procedure?

Now, one cannot conceive of a list of rules which might solve satisfactorily all of these problems. However, I am sure that there can be developed within all of us attitudes of mind, a way of looking at our own position, and then the consideration of the man across the street who also works with church music which would prevent the occurence of many of these problems.

If an important part of this code of ethics is to be based upon our feeling towards our own own position, supposing we ask ourselves this question: why are we in church music? Would these be possible answers? Salary? A love of music? Service for others? Truly, all of these facts are important. However, above all else, we must be church musicians because we believe that in this profession of ours there is real power for beauty, for good, for happiness. In and through this wonderful music of ours which we help to recreate, men may worship and pray and praise and consecrate themselves to better living.

Steps Forward To 'Brotherhood

By Ruama Maddox

The work, which was started in Haiti three years ago, in the development of ceramics, has, not hastily or impulsively or in any sudden burst, come forward, but slowly, surely and with well founded plans. Three years ago the people of Haiti, in the rural districts, were eating from their old-fashioned wooden bowls or gourds with wooden spoons; today some of them still are, but many of them, the lucky ones, are eating from beautiful pottery dishes, fired and glazed with beautiful colors.

These dishes are the result of two things; an earnest and deep desire by the youth of Haiti to develop and improve their country both in health and education, an dthe efforts of groups of people in our own coutnry, who remember that we are "Our Brother's Keeper."

The young students who have been trained at the University of Southern California, under the able guidance of Dr. Glen Lukens, the most recent having been young Hugo Racine, who left in July to return to his native land, have gone back and established centers at which ceramics and glazes are are made and taught.

The kilns are made at the centers and glazes are made there; the natural skill and appreciation of the beautiful in nature comes out in the fingers of these young people, in the fashioning of their articles for cooking and seating. Replacing the unsanitary gourds and wooden spoons, their tables are set with gleaming, colorful pottery.

Even now, with three years work behind the young men beginning this work, th people of Haiti need the help and encouragement of people, who, are quite, familiar with the advantages of sanitary and convenient cooking utensils, do not even remotely understand the problems of the Haitian people to reach this same standard.

Cloth, old and worn, which we throw away, is carefully treasured by them for their clay work; screen wire that goes in our trash can, objects that are carefully guarded by them; and how mysterious and soul satisfying are the colorful glazes.

The group of people who have gotten together and called themselves The Committee for the Improvement of Haitian Affairs have thus far had two affairs at which money has been raised for the furthering of this project.

New York College of Ceramics has offered a scholarship to some fortunate young man from Haiti and it is the aim and ambition of the Committee for Haitian Improvements to see that students qualifying for this work, who have the spark for development and the advancement of their people at heart, are able to get to the schools that offer such wonderful training.

One of our finest southern colleges, through the humane and Christian spirit of its woman president, and the assistance of clubs, small groups of individuals, have made it possible to bring two more young Haitian students to this country, to go back and take to their own people the knowledge and encouragement they have every right to have. The need of Haiti, once it became known, has struck deep into the heart of every person who has ever made a sacrifice or been in need themselves. They do not demand or ask for gifts; their only petition is a chance to learn how to do these things for themselves.

They live in beauty surrounding them that is almost dreamlike in its perfection, but in all of this is poverty, squalor and suffering. How little we really give them when one dollar leaves us; we buy an item or two at a bazaar, but what does it mean to a Haitian? Fifty of these dolla will build a kiln in Haiti, whi will fire thousands of cookir and eating utensils to gi health, which is followed then the happiness and spiritual sa isfaction of their people. Fifty these dollars is a guarantee tha at least for hundreds, the heal of babies and children is a sured.

We, in our fullness, living a land where our babies do n die from eating from dir gourds, the peace of mind whi accompanies living in a lar where we do not trade a yea supply of food for a treatment help from a priest or doctor old superstitious religions, rath look upon such stories as thin from out of the past.

The more the Haitian peop learn of sanitation, bodily healt the closer the break between t poor of this land and oppressi from ancient, oppressing re gious demands.

Dr. Lukens, who began th wonderful work of recovery Haiti in 1945, and who recent returned from a trip to Haiti th summer, tells us that the peop in rural Haiti are so desperate poor, that first of all they do n have the food required for t nourishment of their bodies, b cause when illness comes up them, and this is often and co stant, their food supplies f many months and even years come is pledged for help fro the doctor or priest.

The more earnest we are in o efforts to give this little nati the friendly lift they need, t more persevering we are in kee ing in mind our fortune a their misfortune, the closer t day is when "Our Brother's Cou try" will not bring a mist to o eyes or a feeling that they ex the way they do, because w who could and should, are sim ply thoughtless and do not member that the drops from o overflowing cup is a full cup them.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

It has been indeed amusing to read about the felicitations visited upon Mayor Bowror for his Tenth Anniversary as mayor of this city for an alleged "Angelican" administration. When we observe some of our alleged "leaders" bowing and scraping to curry possible favors from his Honor, it is a wonder that one has any faith left in the alleged higher order of animals—the human race.

Since having come back from overseas from the war, in 1946, we have seen incidents of police brutality concentrated upon citizens of color, namely, Mexican and Negroes, on a scale never heretofore experienced on this Pacific Coast. It is, no doubt, a "reign of terror."

The Mayor through his position must know the facts, and also through his knowledge of the situation (as we certainly have acquainted him with this iniquitous situation through press and personal contact). The Mayor's Commission was appointed by him to determine our alleged high mortality in criminal channels and resentment to enforcement (law), which I thought was asinine.

Through Fletcher Bowron's Insolvent and insipid conduct towards this manifest and iniquitous problem, he has shown a high disregard for the protection of a large segment of the citizenry of this community and, therefore, he is unfit for the job of Mayor and Governor, to which he aspires.

We have on the Police Commission, Charles Mathews, a member of the race, who seems to be an auxiliary agent of this status quo of police brutality, in that he hasn't made one iota of protest or recommendation to the mayor relative to this nefarious situation.

We appreciate the fact that the Commission lacks charter authority to act save but by making recommendations, but at least, why not the recommendations, Charlie? We are still waiting for action, Mr. Mathews! Also, as a former District Attorney's aide, you are no doubt familiar with the Penal Code's provisions for punishment for Assault and Battery and False Imprisonment, but in spite of the many cases that are happening eevry week, we hear you urge or say nothing.

This is certainly unique. I pose the question, why sit upon a powerless agency of government which cannot act or discipline peace officers who are public servants?

The question is challenging and calls for an immediate answer when seemingly the seeds of a race riot are being sown through the continuous reign of terror by the Administration to which you offer your support, obviously, for personal gain.

I wish to again iterate that our assumed "leaders" can no longer pull the wool over the eyes of the populace through their ambidextrous and elementary political tactics.

Recently, we saw the spectacle of Walter White, executive secretary of the N.A.A.C.P., under the guise of advising his constituents, "Where Do We Go From Here?" act with manifest feline maneuvering, to endorse or urge the election of President Truman.

This caused, and the same is still prevalent, an abundance of adverse criticism by the rank and file of this community.

It seems that Walter White, et al., perennial assumed "leaders" of the Negro race, should retire from the public scene as the Negro today is on the march, and if those who aspire to leadership and who lack moral courage will step aside, we will go forward, as we are no longer a gullible lot.

Let us come together and force through legislation the requirement of Chiefs of Police in Class A cities to be bonded against acts of his subservient officers, thereby forcing him to act with caution, like in other cities that are progressive and democratic.

We have Gus (the Honorable) Hawkins, who is willing to start if we back him up, as he has tried before.

Sincerely,
MARSHALL J. GRAY

My dear Msr. Bass:

Today is Rosh Hashana, and I think that it would be a gracious gesture if all the stores in the district would close up, either on Rosh Hashana or Yom Kippur.

America is different from any other country in the world, in that it has no certain type. All people born on American soil are Americans.

No people have made a greater contribution to American life, culturally, economically, and culturally, economically, and ethically, than the American Jews.

Prof. Einstein, the world's greatest physicist; Artur Rubenstein, the world's greatest pianist, and George Gershwin, are but a few examples of the excellence of their contribution.

We should let the world know that we are vitually interested in anything that means so much to them as their holy days.

All Jewish establishments make Christmas and Easter gala days by elaborately decorating stores and streets, and closing their businesses on those days.

We should prove to them that we understand promoting goodwill and brotherhood as well as they.

This thought is not original with me, as I read in Time last spring about a young Japanese American who closed his store on Yom Kippur.

I trust that you shall see fit to promote this idea extensively in your paper. Best wishes.

Very sincerely yours,
CLAUDIA LUCAS CLOPTON.

JOB COUNSELLOR

QUESTION: Against my advice my son took his college training in the east in the field of social work . . . but spent much of his time playing football. He worked last year in an office just to get his bearings . . . but he's restless now and wants to get back into the profession. Wouldn't it be better for him to stick to the business field? (Mrs. J. de R.)

ANSWER: For the answer to your question we consulted Mrs. Elizabeth Roney, supervisor of the professional and technical section of the California State Employment Service, who advises that there is a steady demand for professionally-trained male social workers who have well-rounded personalities, leadership ability, and some experience.

At present Mrs. Roney is interested in locating several male social workers with group work training and experience. She is looking for a male group worker for a boys' club which is located in an area with a high rate of juvenile delinquency. The agency is developing a sound arts and crafts program for the youth, and needs a man capable of instructing boys in ceramics and woodworking.

Another social agency has asked Mrs. Roney for a physical education instructor. Your son might be ideally suited for this opportunity because of his interest in sports. Requirements are for a man who likes sports, who is trained for group leadership, and who can develop teamwork and sportsmanship among young people.

The need for competent social workers is great in this area. The growth in our county's population from 2,785,643 in 1940 to the present 3,908,477 figure has increased the community's problems of social adjustment. Your son has chosen social service—a field involving the highest type of responsibility. Help him find himself occupationally. Mrs. Rone will be glad to discuss social work placement with both of you. To reach her telephone MIchigan 8451 or go to the Commercial Office, California State Employment Service at 969 West Seventh Street, in Los Angeles.

Kindly mention the JOI COUNSELOR when you make your appointment.

Proposition 13 Can End State Bossism

"We must check the bossism of the State Senate and return the balance of Constitutional government to the people by passage of Proposition 13 on the November ballot," Nathan Newby, well known attorney, declared, this week.

"It never was for one moment considered by the men who drew up the Constitution of the United States that any county in the United States would be sovereign and subject to the same rights accorded the states.

ities, at last bears its inevitable fruits. This, my lords, princes and statesmen, is where in your wisdom you have brought old Europe. And when nothing more remains to you but to open the last great war dance—that will suit us all right.

"The war may perhaps push us temporarily into the background, may wrench from us many a position already conquered. But when you have unfettered forces which you will then no longer be able again to control, things may go as they will; at the end of the tragedy you will be ruined and the victory of the proletariat will be either already achieved or at any rate inevitable."

This warning will be, of course, wasted upon the war mongers and those ignorant enough to follow them. They will follow their historic and compulsory mania to the end. But the poor, the oppressed of America should understand—as the peoples of Europe already do.

BOOKS and AUTHORS

Many books, old and new, may be found at your neighborhood libraries. There are books for the children as well as for adults. Why not go and see what they have to offer? Both Helen Hunt Jackson Branch, 2330 Naomi Avenue; and Vernon Branch, 4504 South Central Avenue, are open Monday through Friday from 1:00 to 9:00 p.m. and Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

The following books are among those recently received at the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch:

"Effective Speech" by Harry B. Gough and other public speaking experts is a new and completely revised edition of a comprehensive text book for beginning speech courses. It not only takes up diction, expression, and all kinds of speechmaking—ordinary conversation, story-telling, dramatics, parliamentary practice and debating—but also posture in sitting and standing and the position of the lips and all of the speech organs.

There are lists of stories for all occasions, a list of plays giving the type, number of characters and whether male or female, the royalty charge and publisher. There is also a glossary of stage terms and a bibliography on the drama.

"Intruder in the Dusk" by William Faulkner is the author's seventeenth novel and this one searches the conscience of the South. A sixteen-year-old white boy is saved from drowning by a Negro, Lucas, who is later accused of the murder of a white man and is threatened with lynching.

With the help of a determined spinster and a Negro companion the white boy discovers the real murderer and at the same time acquires a new understanding of the racial problem. It is far more than a story of suspense and mystery in that it reveals the essential nobility of man on the verge of repudiating himself in all his reprehensible weakness.

This novel, distinguished for its penetration, subtlety and gripping narrative power, has been bought for the movies.

"How to Box" by Joe Louis, will be a popular book for all of the champion's fans. In words, diagrams and action photographs he explains the technique he has used so successfully. Having set an all time record by holding the Heavyweight Championship of the world for eleven years and having defended his title twenty-five times he can speak with undisputed authority. In this book he starts with the correct mental attitude and basic training rules and equipment, then proceeds through the proper stance and footwork to all the various punches and knock-out blows. The simple informal explanations are enlivened by personal experiences and pictures. The emphasis throughout is on clean living, fair play and good sportsmanship which the author exemplifies.

"A Clouded Star" by Anne Parrish, well-known novelist, is the fiction story of Harriet Tubman, whom the Negroes called "Moses" because she led her followers to freedom. The summer before the Civil War young Samuel was forced to run away from Tranquility Plantation, and it was "Moses" who shepherded him and many others to a place of safety and who led them through overwhelming obstacles to freedom. This is the story of that journey in which men, women, babies and scared little Samuel were all supported by her courage, spurred on by her contagious laughter or her mockery and sometimes by the threat of her rifle, to the North and liberty. It is an amazing story of human fortitude and spiritual strength, the story of a woman, ignorant but wise, who triumphed as soldier, nurse and guic The book is the proud record a great spirit of one who b cause of her faith never conte plated failure.

Writing A Popular Column For The Negro Press Should Not Be Beneath A Scholar

From time to time, I am asked by a few of my friends a colleagues the following questions: Why do you, a professor English and supposedly a scholar, waste your time writing "popular" column for the Negro press? Wouldn't it be more di nified, more in keeping with your position, and more importa from the viewpoint of reputation if you spent the same time tur ing out scholarly work?

When my friends and colleagues ask the above questions, th are not seeking information. They think they already know t answers. They are really condemning me and, along with me, t Negro press.

To these critics, the Negro press is both cheap and sens tional, and anybody who writes for it must of necessity partal of these unpleasant qualities. Though I believe that these criti are largely wrong, I feel that they deserve an answer because th have openly and without viciousness stated their convictions.

MY ANSWER TO THEM in the first place, is this: I do n consider the writing of a so-called popular column (that is, column for the man-in-the-street) beneath a scholar. Persons w have this notion have a false view of the activities and larg functions of a scholar.

I don't mean to imply that my column may be classed as "scholarly production," but I do want to point out that sever famous authors and scholars have done the same kind of writin Samuel Johnson and Lexicographer, Addison and Steele, Dani Defoe, Oliver Goldsmith, and on occasion Swift and Pope, to me tion a few, wrote "popular" columns in their day. Though I a to emulate them in this minor respect.

IN THE SECOND PLACE, I don't consider the Negro press "cheap." Granted that some Negro papers are venal and will sell their souls to the highest advertiser; granted that some are inaccurate and are badly edited; granted that some are highly sensational and sexy—grant all these things, and I still say that the Negro press does more to secure the rights of our group than all of the other agencies combined. With all of its shortcomings (and I do not minimize them), the Negro press is the strongest safeguard of our freedom in America today. An agency which renders such a service cannot be classed categorically as cheap.

Therefore, when I write for the Negro press, I feel that I a allied with one of the major efforts of Negro life. I am proud have a part, even though it is small, in the all-important wo the black press is doing. It is the duty of every Negro to fight f integration. I have chosen to do my fighting through a colum in the Negro press. The fact that I get paid for this effort mak me neither mercenary nor hypocritical. I don't get that much.

IN FINAL DEFENSE OF myself and other in the academ world who have "cheapened" themselves by writing for the Neg press, I wish to say to our critics that there can be just as muc genuine scholarship in a popular column as in a "learned article More Negro scholars. particularly in my field, need to learn th simple and obvious fact. Because of our "second generation respec ability" in scholarship, we have often been afraid to touch thin until they have been dead for two or three centuries. We mu also learn that important facts and truths may be stated simp and do not lose their value because they are easily understood.

But let me make myself perfectly clear. I am not trying depreciate conventional scholarship. I teach it daily. Moreover, can with modesty say that I am the author of the authoritative li of Isaac Watts, the 18th century hymn-writer; and at the prese time I am working on another 18th century figure. But I am al interested in the Dixiecrats and in the latest jive talk.

Inconsistent? No. Cheap? Not necessarily. Just alive a human, that's all.

WOMEN

THE SOCIAL SILHOUETTE

JESSIE MAE BROWN, SOCIETY EDITOR

CLUBS

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

BEAUTIFUL NEWLY ENGAGED, Jane Hampton, who has held the title of "Miss Bronze America," will be the incentive for a whirl of pre-nuptial social events after the surprise of her coming marriage to police officer Robert Hannibal, seeps into the heads of her many friends, who have been wondering for quite some time just which lucky gent would win the coveted honor of taking the glamerous Jane down the center aisle. No date has been set for the marriage, however, Jane's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Hampton of Calexico, California proudly announced the engagement this week. Equally proud as can be over the whole affair is Mr. and Mrs. Siebert Hannibal Robert's lovely parents, long time residents in South Los Angeles.

Jane, who has been very active in local social activities is a native of Calexico, the dear ole Southland of Sunny California, however is her first love. She is as busy as a bee working in the L. A. State Department of Employment out Huntington Park Way. As for social activities, Jane, gets both the social and charitable outlet in the popular Turnabout Club, to which she is a charter member.

Her fiance, Robert Hannibal, is one of the well known handsome young gents now gracing the L. A. Police Department. Prior tot this last claim to fame, he served some three years in the March Field Air Corp, where he played football with the 4th Air Force Flyers and walked off with the title of heavy weight boxing champ of March Field. So happens that Bob is a product of good old Jordan High and Compton J. C. When ye scribe learned of the delightful betrothal, a definite date just couldn't be given. However the couple is entertaining the idea of no big wedding. An elaborate reception will probably be in store, giving their host of friends a chance at official felicitations and what have you. So congratulations are in order, . . .

SIGNS OF AUTUMN

Autumn is here, and no mistake about it. A sure sign is the brilliant toned leaves, the rush parties, along with the great American past time, that is the surest sign, FOOTBALL. But just as important as the games that carry for many such pomp and glory, are the parties that precede or follow . . . so went the festivities on last Wednesday night, when the doors of the South Arlington Manse of Dr. and Mrs. John Coleman swung open for the first time since their return from Europe, to honor Yank Football star, Buddy Young, with quite a gay affair. "Ish" Evans, who also made the trip to Europe along with the Coleman's to enjoy the Olympic Games, shared the honor of co-host. By the way, Buddy and wife entertained the threesome when they stopped over in Chicago, enroute home. Of course the outcome of the game was the topic of discussion, with the recent globe trotters throwing a little light on their trip abroad. The food was fit for a king, than to top the evening, Leonard Beavers, Joe Oliver, and many another took a dip in the Coleman's pool. Others enjoying the affair were Betsy and Joe Green, Clifford and Bessy Wilson, Muggins Houston, Dan Ferniel, and many another sports fan friend of the Colemans. By the way, must say, the Coleman's are definitely serious about their interest in sports. Mrs. Coleman (Evelyn) would much rather discuss the latest scores on any sports event, than spend the afternoon chatting over a cup of tea, on what milady is wearing or shouldn't wear . . . really grand people the Colemans. . . .

On this same evening, many of us found our way to the Philharmonic Auditorium, and the opening of Ethel Water's Cavalcade of Hits. The talented Miss Waters put on quite a show, and among first nighters enjoying every minute of it were the Ivan Brownings, Louise Beavers, Libby Clark, Joel Flullen, Phyllis Scott, Cyrill Shephard, and there were others, but in all sincerity, we felt that there should have been many many others at this opening performance of Miss Waters who is rated as one of the outstanding performers of the race. . . .

Have heard much about the spicy foods prepared by popular Angelle Stratton. This week I write to you from experience and not hear say, for on last Thursday afternoon, yours truly was listed among those present at the informal affair that brought together, Georgia (Cookie) Cook, the charming Mrs. Griffin, Yvonne Shephard and sis Olive, Betsy Green, Jacqueline Jacquet, Angelle's sis, Pauline and methinks the last name is Spencer, not quite sure though, however she has been visiting L. A. since early June, is the better half of a Pennsylvania Medic, is up on current events and was, believe me the life of the party. Gertie Gipson, my Colleague was there and along with several others we enjoyed a menu that was strictly South of the Border, and prepared as only Mrs. Stratton can. Wouldn't mind chalking a few of her recipes in my little book. . . .

SPINSTERS TAKE OVER

Creating as much interest as the new sorority prospects, is the recently organized 14 Spinsters Club. The members, all popular college coeds still gracing the single realm made their initial bow in grand style on Saturday night. The affair was a very unique box lunch social held at the home of Spinster members, Charlane and Charlette Derrick. The congenial group of young ladies are minous officers, so we first sight the charter members, Phyllis Williams, Shirley Spencer, Kathleen Mason, Gloria Crouch and Weldena Heffiln. Completing the roster are, Louise Meza, Joyce Finney, Mary Pollard, Joyce Maynard, Yolande Stovall and Joanne Johnson.

Aside from the auctioning of luncheons that were decorated beyond the owners recognition, a bottle of imported "spirits" with the scotch label, was presented Pat Fox who held the lucky number. All this took place at 12:00 midnight, and the auctioneer asks that his name be deleated from the report, so no sooner said than done. . . . Anyway the party was quite the affair of the week-end with Tommy Keyser and Jean Arnold dating for the occasion as were Faye Hill and Hayward Thompson. Herbie Swanigan was there with a beauteous AKA from New Orleans, who answers to Aulde Perault. Sherril Luke was much in evidence. Hear that aside from the signal honor of being head Yell King, at UCLA, Sherril, the popular Kappa gent lives in Zeta Beta Tau fraternity house and wears the Gold Key which represents an honorary society out Westwood way. Ike Jones and Shirley Spencer were noted dancing more than once together, while Kathleen Mason seemed attached to Gordon Walls, a chemistry major out Loyola University Way. By the way, Betty Linly was proudly wearing her new Ivy Leaf pin along with Loretta Pruitt and Jackie Lewis. The latter mentioned had the undivided attention of Dr. Frank Peterson, the whole of the evening, which left party goers wondering if anything is true about the Chicago rumor. Becky and Pilly Farrington were quite taken away with the unique method of introduction used by the Spinsters. Above the fireplace, the colors of the club were used in the names of each club girl. Artistic contribution of the Derricks. So much for the Spinsters who promise an exciting year in the Collegiate crowd. Of course we need not mention, that marriage automatically drops a members name from the roster. . . .

The Hill Twins, Hugo and Kenneth took over with an after party that climaxed the Alpha Smoker and the Spinsters Ball. This affair lasted well into Sunday morning and of course all attending had the perfect time. Sunday found the AKAs, Deltas and Zetas spending the afternoon with prospective sorority material.

Space will not permit the Well! Well! Well! this week, so we make deadlines with news that Nurse Marion Henderson is married. Jean Robinson has returned to Samuel Houston College—Ike Jones of Samohi is at UCLA.

The poet's line, "Order is heaven's first law," is so eternally true, so axiomatic, that it has become a truism; and its wisdom is as obvious in religion and scholarship as in astronomy or mathematics.

New Business Women's Club Arouses Interest In Civic And Social Circles

The Los Angeles Women's Social and Athletic Club members were introduced to Mr. and Mrs. John Public Sunday at a very lovely installation reception. This new club announced their organization formation a few weeks ago and told their purposes as recorded in their State Charter, with special emphasis on their intention to further the education of some young girl majoring in recreation with the anticipation of becoming a teacher in that field. Many of their projects they are keeping to themselves until actual date of promotion.

The affair was held in the gorgeous gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Reyes, 2460 S. St. Andrews Place. The Reyes had left no stone unturned to make their gardens attractive and comfortable, even to the merry-go-round for the youngsters, which lured some of the oldsters.

The center attraction piece was a huge ice figurine of a young woman playing tennis with racket and all. As the evening shadows fell the figurine spread a blue irridescent glow. Champagne and fruit punches were served from huge punch bowls. Registrations were written in tennis and bowling ball shaped booklets, these to be used at each annual affair showing who was there last time. The West Coast Sporterettes, headed by their lovely president, Ruth Epps, attended the punch serving and registrations. They were sportingly dressed in white pique dresses, worn with gardenia corsages from their hostesses.

By CARL L. CAIN

Although they didn't get as much spread in the local daily newspapers as did the supporters of the Republican and Democratic parties, throngs of people turned out last week-end to greet Mr. Henry Wallace, presidential candidate. And although one paper said sixteen thousand attended the rally at Gilmore Stadium, twenty-five thousand would be more nearly accurate. And it is safe and truthful to say that attendance to this meeting places topped both the Republican and Democratic gatherings.

Of course, the people paid to attend the rally—and what a political rally—at Gilmore. Such would be the case in the founding of any new party to win the highest office in the country. The newspaper advertisements and radio time aren't contributing freely to the new party. Therefore, I think it's quite unnecessary for the other papers always to mention in the headlines how much money was collected at this and that gathering. The gullible might interpret it quite falsely.

Of the people who did attend the meetings, there were others than members of the Progressive Party. And there were more than Dewey's and Truman's "communists" or the very air in this city would be red. So with the three top candidates having visited Los Angeles, the people can settle down and prepare for the remote part of the further campaigning. Too, some really good politicing will be done by candidates for local offices. This year is providing valuable experiences in our "democratic" systems of elections for youths at least.....

WORLD GOVERNMENT—OR NO WORLD

Endlessly the question of a world government has been debated since the termination of World War I. I say One because such a system is probably what the founders of the League of Nations had in mind when that war was over. It was only during their efforts to achieve such a government that they encountered the essence of what Benjamin Franklin had said in his time—that wherever you assemble a group of men, you also assemble their prejudices and hates. And in the case of 1921, their greed. They all went to the conference with big broad open minds—hearts willing to grant anything detrimental to world peace. But in the crevices of those same minds were hidden away thoughts of how to obtain, through wrangling and pretense, the things nations would ordinarily go to war to obtain. I think they were under the impression that the League of Nations would be a place where you could get everything your country's leaders wanted by conversation. That's why, when war came in all its bold intensity upon Ethiopia by Italy—when they heard the sad little voice of the leader of the victims of Italian aggression—they wrangled and discussed the question for weeks. They began to realize that the people had been deceived.

So far, history had repeated itself from war to war, from League of Nations to United Nations. As of today, it seems unlikely that its course will be altered by the present League of Nations. It will be changed, however, after the next war. Professor Albert Einstein had described it better than anyone else in saying, "I don't know what weapons they'll fight the Third World War with. But the fourth will be fought with clubs and stones."

Two weeks from today, we begin to observe United Nations week. Now if we have any faith in this country's greatest scientist at all, we had better make every week United Nations Week.

Presently, we are not saying the United Nations is a world government. It's far from it. However, the world is going through an era similar to that in our country between the failure of the Articles of Confederation and the Constitution. The time was seven years. There were many questions as how much freedom states should have and what powers should be granted the federal setup. They disagreed during that long Constitutional summer of 1776 and in September, came out with "the bill of compromises." No state had completely surrendered its powers, but simultaneously the federal government was powerful—so powerful, actually, that they were able to put down the revolution began in '62.

In like manner, the Nations throughout the world shall have to merge their powers into a larger governing body, whose purpose it shall be to provide for the welfare and common defense of everyone. There is an alternative. It was broadcast in newspapers Wednesday, a week ago: ATOM BOMB CAN END CIVILIZATION.

FOOTNOTE: From last week, you'll always find the scum on top . . . but then where do you find the cream? Therefore, THE SCUM AND THE CREAM GO TOGETHER.

Tim Holt Club Awards Holts

In keeping with the Youth Month idea the youngest group of the Tim Holt Fan Club staged one of the finest programs of the month at the United Artists theatre, 9th and Broadway, September 25. Jack Holt and Tim Holt were there in person to receive the Best Pals award for '48.

The picture which merited this honor for them was "The Arizona Rangers," in which father Jack Holt and son, Tim, were featured. The point of the "Best Pals" program was to select two outstanding examples of father and son (or daughter) who are pals and partners in business. The group visited a local theatre one Saturday and saw there how the Holts were really pals and partners in the business of making pictures, and it was decided to give them the award.

The Tim Holt Fan Club wishes to thank those who gave the publicity which helped make the affair a success: Mr. Harry Watlage, manager of the United Artists theatre; R.K.O. for lending their stars; the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co. for the money to buy the plaque; Max and Willie of the Meat Dept.; and Edward Lynn, program director.

Jeff Hi Alumni Meets Monday

The Jefferson High School Alumni Association will meet Monday, October 11, in the Jefferson High School, at 7:30 p.m. Plans for the year will be discussed.

Dr. Paul Fisher, principal of Jefferson High, and a member of the Board of Directors of the Association, as well as school faculty members, will attend.

The importance of an association of this kind, it is pointed out, cannot be too greatly emphasized in this community. Most high schools in the city have well organized alumni associations that have been in existence for a number of years. Although Jefferson's Alumni Association is very young, the members are determined to make it one of the most powerful and efficient bodies of its kind.

All graduates and former students of Jefferson High School are requested to rally around this most worthwhile movement and aid the cause by being present at this very important meeting, October 11, at Jefferson High.

The cabinet, composed of Albert Jones, president; Oscar Little, vice-president; Marq Louise Whitley, secretary; Joshetta Smith, corresponding secretary, and Dennis Jackson, treasurer, once again urge you to come out and help serve your school and your community.

THE REALM OF RELIGION

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Biography In The Bible, Lesson Text and Outline. Gen. 11:31 to 12:5; 17:1-8. Motto Text. Prov. 3:6.

Introduction

The Bible is rich in racy religious biography. A good illustration is that of Abraham, the founder of true religion. The patriarch of a great people, and a father of the faithful in all ages.

Comments

1. Children cannot be sure that they shall survive their parents; for death does not go by seniority, taking the eldest first. It concerns us to hasten out of our natural state, lest death surprise us in it. His wife was Sarai, who, some think, was the same with Iscah, the daughter of Haran. Abram himself says of her that she was the daughter of his father, but not the daughter of his mother.

His departure out of Ur of the Chaldees, with his father Terah, h nephew Lot, and rest of his family, in obedience to the call of God, of which we shall see later. This chapter leaves them in Haran, or Charran, a place about mid-way between Ur and Canaan, where they dwelt till Terah's head was laid, probably because the old man was unable, through the infirmities of age, to proceed in his journey.

Many reach to Charran, and yet fall short of Canaan; they are not far from the kingdom of God, and yet never come thither. We have here the call by which Abram was removed out of the land of his nativity into the land of promise, which was designed both to try his faith and obedience and also to separate him and set him apart for God, and for special services and favours which were further designed.

The glory of God appeared to him to give him this call, appeared in such displays of his glory as left Abram no room to doubt the divine authority of this call. God spoke to him afterwards in divers manners; but this first time, when the correspondence was to be settled, he appeared to him as the God of glory, and spoke to him.

If God loves us, and has mercy in store for us, he will not suffer us to take up our rest any where short of Canaan, but will graciously repeat his calls, til the good work begun be proformed, and our souls repose in God only. Those that are in a sinful state are concerned to make all possible haste out of it. Those who leave their sins, and turn to God, will themselves be unspeakable gainers by the change. Those that will deal with God must deal upon trust; we must quit the things that are seen for things that are not seen, and submit to the sufferings of this present time in hopes of a glory that is yet to be revealed; for it doth not yet appear what we shall be.

All God's precepts are attended with promises to the obedient. When he makes himself known to us as a commander he makes himself known also as a rewarder: If we obey the command, God will not fail to perform the promise. God knows how to suit his favours to the wants tnd necessities of his children. He that has a ploster for every sore will provide one for that first which is most painful.

God makes nations: by him they are born at once, and he speaks, to build tnd plant them. If a nation be made great in wealth and power, it is God that makes it great. God can raise great nations out of dry ground, and can make a little one to be a thousand. Obedient believers will be sure to inherit the blessing.

God is the fountain of honor, and from him promotion comes. Good men are the blessings of their country, and it is their unspeakable honour and happiness to be made so. Jesus Christ is the great blessing of the world, the greatest that the world was ever blessed with. It is very comfortable when husband and wife agree to go together in the way to heaven.

Lot, also his kinsman, was influenced by Abram's good example, who was perhaps his guardian after the death of his father, and he was willing to go along with him too. Those that go to Canaan need not go alone; for, though few find the strait gate, blessed be God, some do; and it is our wisdom to go with those with whom God is, wherever they go.

2. There are some special comforts which are not the daily bread, no, not of the best saints, but they are favoured with them now and then. On this side of heaven they have convenient food, but not a continual feast. So long the promise of Isaac was deferred. Perhaps to correct Abram's over-hasty marrying of Hagar. The comforts we sinfully anticipate are justly delayed. Abram and Sarai being so far stricken in age God's power, in this matter, might be the more magnified, and their faith the more tried.

God first makes himself known to us, and gives us a sight of him by faith, and then takes us into his covenant. God graciously condescends to talk with those whom he takes into covenant and communion with himself. He talks with them by his word. He talks with them by his Spirit. This honour have all his saints. The God with whom we have to do is a God that is enough. He is enough in himself; he is self-sufficient; he has every thing, and he needs not any thing.

To be religious is to walk before God in our integrity; it is to set God always before us, and to think, and speak, and act, in everything, as that are always under his eye. If we neglect him, or dissemble with him, we forfeit the benefit and comfort of our relation to him. A continual regard to God's all sufficiency will have a great influence upon our upright walking with him. The covenant of grace is a covenant of God's own making; this he glories in. God calls things that are not as though they were. It is the apostle's observation upon this very thing. He called Abraham the father of a multitude because he should prove to be so in due time, though as yet he had but one child.

Comments on the Motto Text

We must not only in our judgment believe that there is an over-ruling hand of God ordering and disposing of us and all our affairs, but we must solemnly own it, and address ourselves to him accordingly. We must ask his leave, and not design any thing but what we are sure is lawful. We must ask his advice and beg direction from him.

In all our ways that prove direct, and fair, and pleasant, in which we gain our point to our satisfaction, we must acknowledge God with thankfulness. In all our ways that prove cross and uncomfortable, and that are hedged up with thorns, we must acknowledge God with submission.

Our eye must be ever towards God; to him we must, in everything, make our request known. Those that put themselves under a divine guidance shall always have the benefit of it. God will give them that wisdom which is profitable to direct, so that they shall not turn aside into the by-paths of sin, and will himself so wisely order the event that it shall to their mind for their good. Those that faithfully follow the pillar of cloud and fire shall find that, though it may lead them about, it leads the right way and will bring them to Canaan at last.

Youth Day at St. Paul Baptist Church Acapella Choir of Jeff Hi to Sing

On Sunday, October 10, 1948, St. Paul Baptist Church will observe Youth Day. The young people will have charge of all the activities throughout the day. The inspiring theme is "Crusading for Christ."

The program for the day is outstanding and includes messages from Rev. C. L. Brooks, pastor of the Bethlehem Baptist Church, and Rev. L. A. Felix, pastor of the Mt. Carmel Baptist Church. The famous Acapella Choir of Jefferson High School and Doris Rivers, talented soloist of the Second Baptist Church, are among the highlights for the day.

The young people of St. Paul have been working tirelessly under the excellent direction of Alan Jackson to have a special 100 voice choir for the occasion. Mrs. Arbezine Walder, recent winner of the Western Baptist State Convention Oratorical Contest, is the chairman of this event. Everyone is cordially invited to worship with the youth on Sunday, October 10, 1948.

This program represents another phase of the endless efforts of Pastor John L. Branham, the dynamic leader of St. Paul Baptist Church, to encourage young people in Christian activities.

He was converted September 12, 1874, was baptized September 16, and on September 23, 1874, he preached his first sermon. The text was from Acts 8:32. The hymn that was sung on that occasion was: "How can I die, while Jesus lives?"

Last Rites Held For Geo. Gamble

Sacred Last Rites were said for George Gamble, long time resident of Los Angeles, who died after a brief illness in his West Los Angeles home, Tuesday, September 28.

The funeral, which was held on Saturday from Connor-Johnson Mortuary, was conducted by the Rev. Frederick D. Jordan, pastor of First A.M.E. Church, 8th and Towne Avenue, of which Mr. Gamble was a devoted member.

Rev. George L. Hayes, old friend of the family, made remarks concerning the life and death of Mr. Gamble, and Eugene Fisher offered remarks on behalf of the Masonic Lodge.

George Gamble came to California from the State of Kansas more than a quarter of a century ago, and became a solid citizen of Los Angeles, making the influence of himself and his family definitely felt in the community. He was devoted to his wife, Mrs. Dora Gamble, who survives rim, also a native of Kansas and the daughter of the late Rev. John Robert Bass, one of Kansas' early theologians, and the niece of the late Joseph B. Bass, former editor of the California Eagle. He is also survived by his daughter, Mrs. Beatrice Sellers, who, along with her mother, Mrs. Gamble, is a righ official in the Order of the Eastern Star, the U.B.F. & S.M.T., Courts of Calanthe, and other church and fraternal organizations. Mrs. Gamble, also, serves as one of First A.M.E.'s most faithful stewardesses.

Shaw University Church Dedication

Shaw University's new church was consecrated at special services last week, attended by faculty, students, and friends. The building, said to be the only independent chapel structure on the campus of a Negro Baptist college in America, was dedicated at services held during the summer. However, the consecration exercises marked the formal devoting of the building to religious activities during a regular school term.

Christian Science Declares Disease Unreal

"O Lord my God, I cried unto thee, and thou hast healed me." This statement from the Psalms will be the Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The question "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject.

Matthew relates in his Gospel that a woman from Canaan came to Jesus, saying, "Have mercy on me, O Lord, thou son of David; my daughter is grievously vexed with a devil. But he answered her not a word. . . . Then came she and worshipped him, saying, Lord, help me. But he answered and said, It is not meet to take the children's bread, and to cast it to dogs. And she said, Truth, Lord: yet the dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their masters' table. Then Jesus answered and said unto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it unto thee even as thou wilt. And her daughter was made whole from that very hour."

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy says, "If sickness is real, it belongs to immortality; if true, it is a part of Truth. . . . But if sickness and sin are illusions, the awakening from this mortal dream, or illusion, will bring us into health, holiness, and immortality. . . . This is the salvation which comes through God, the divine Principle, Love, as demonstrated by Jesus."

THEATRE — NITE SPOTS

J. T. Gipson, Theatrical Editor

● Gertrude Gipson

TO MY READERS: We know you've heard of Art Tatum, Dorothy Donegan, Hazel Scott and all of the other piano greats . . . Well if you haven't heard the name of Eddie Dudley, you're gonna be hearin a lot about him BUT soon, this guy is terrific. So for your entertainment, Eddie consented to write the column for us this week.

Well, get this. Here I am at typewriter keys, mistakes and all, instead of staying at the piano keys where I really belong. Hello Folks, yes, this is Eddie Dudley talking a lot about nothing, and then too, you might get something from this. When one of the grandest gals in the writing business says in tones so sweet, "Eddie, write a column for me"? Now, you tell me, what would you do? Well, here goes.

CHORDS & SCALES:

Everybody who is a lover of theatre potpourri was at the Philharmonic to see Waters, Ethel that is, in her show recently closed after a tremendous success and acclaims from critics. For benefit of those who were so unfortunate to catch the show, Ethel has reached her pinacle in the Theatre. I thoroughly enjoyed working with her on the shows previous to the L. A. opening, and learned some priceless points in Theatre . . . Another shame-on-you-deal if you missed Martha Davis (Mrs. Calvin I-play-bass Ponder) at the Million Dollar. She's still there too. I heard from many she's the newest thing on the Horizon, and incidentally that's my guess too. Her latest disc with Louie Jordon is the end, you can believe that! !

GERTRUDE GIPSON

NOTES . . . WHOLE & HALF:

If our minds are running parallel, you too are wondering as I often do, WHAT IS HAPPENING TO L. A. NITELIFE? It has dropped to a memory. Frisco is jumpin' in the name. Recently, August in fact, everybody was there. Is it that we don't get the attractions, or is it that we don't have a Club adequately furnished to warrant bringing a production? Those of us from the East and Middlewest know what a Production is. It was good seeing one at the Cotton Club in Frisco. Chorus Girls sure did look good. Since there are so many "importations" from the East, bet you a pair of socks that it would pay. You might call this next thought a dischord. Never the less it's true as the stars, at the recent Parade of Stars at a local club, why in the heck don't they have a decent mike for a performer to work on. It's pathectic no end because the audience misses so much of the artist's material, and it's a pain in the ankle to the artist, it would be a favor to all to have a decent P. A. system installed.

THIRD MOVEMENT

Hoping that Hadda Brooks changes her mind about public appearances. Of course you know she's put L. A. down since her marriage to a prominent business man of the Bay Area. Baby, don't retire too soon, we'll miss 'ya . . . For good kicks, be sure and make the Waikiki. Lloyd Glenn on 88 is great, and with Ginger and Eamil on violin and organ, I'm sorry! What killed me was the storm and lightening effects that Mike does with recorded sound effects . . . Left there and had a snack at Vina's. Heard, while there, that Jimmy Wiley has been so sick . . . Madonna Martin, the Sepia Sophie Tucker, writes that Kodiak, Alaska is a kick, but good. Most interesting note was "that thar is gold in them hills." Say Bub, when you going up there? . . . By the by, who is this cute one with Horace (I sell insurance) Evans? She must be new here in the Angel City. One thing though, she's cute! . . . Good News for lovers of Theatre musicales. Showboat is coming around Xmas week at one of the legit houses. I saw the Broadway Production, and it was gone . . . Johnny Creach trio with Cal Ponder, former Hines man, are at the Actors Club in Frisco. Creach is doubling with 5 Bits of Rhythm who share billing . . . Dorothy Donegan, who recently quit our city to go home to the ole Windy, made a quick trip back where she opened last week at San Francisco's Club Lashio.

FINALE

Well Gertie, don't think I haven't had fun doing it, cause I got news for you, I've had a ball. I gotta run now and pack because I have to be at Burbank tonight. Didn't I tell you? Oh, I'm sorry . . . yes, I'm going to Denver for an engagement. Gonna miss you too. Thanks again for asking me. So long!

—Eddie Dudley

Solid Songs Sends Nightclub Scribe as Chic Chick Clicks

I have just come from seeing Mabel Scott, the energetic singer who wraps her hnoey-larynx around seductive-style torchants nitely at the Melodee Club.

I can count on one finger the femme chirps I know whose singing gives me goose pimples. La Scott is all of them. What she does to a song is something that should happen to other so-called "greats" in the chanteuse kingdom.

She saucily sauntered up to the bar where I was having a Planter's punch and said, hello. I said hello back. Intelligent conversation up to that point. "It's an honer being interviewed by the great JT," she lied.

But little egoist that I am, I blushed three colors, glub-glub'd a bit and continued on with the interview.

"You look very good in a sweater," I said.

"You've never seen me in a sweater," she said.

"What is that you're wearing now?" I asked, the while rubbing the planters' punch out of my eyes to make sure the one drink hadn't affected me.

She looked down at her chest and exclaimed "Oh, I forgot I had the darn thing on!"

See, and Mrs. Bass thinks I've got an easy job!

Mabel Scott confided to me over a second planters' punch that she paid for (that'll blackball me from the social set and brand me as a gigolo) of her early start around Chicago, where she sang in most of the big time clubs. Her longest stay at a club here was a many months run at the Alabam on Central avenue.

She packed 'em in, she recalls. She's packing 'em in at the Melodee, too. With a final look at the lovely sweater she was wearing, thus ended the interview with Mabel Scott, singer of torch songs, whose chirping has more energy than a vitamin pill!

HOMECOMING DANCE

Frances Nealy Back In Town; No Wardrobe

Miss Nealy, whose torrid tapping is rated up there with the best of them, closed a successful engagement at the club Rene (no relation to Leon), in Tucson, Arizoa, and lost her expensive wardrobe while there.

A fire started in the basement and burned the club down to the ground, thus burning Miss Nealy's entire dancing wardrobe to oblivion.

Evelyn Burwell Doing Terrific Job With Her 'Little Bandits'

Not so long ago people used to worry hard about things like juvenile delinquency on the Eastside—in neighborhoods like East 14th St.

But things are different now in the neighborhood—thanks to the work of a great many people, including a dynamic little lady named Evelyn Burwell.

Every Monday night at Lafayette Junior High, 14th and Naomi, she conducts a community sing for the neighborhood. There is usually a turnout of five or 600 children seldom less than 400—they come with their parents too.

The project is sponsored by the Los Angeles Bureau of Music, and Miss Burwell puts it over. When she undertook the project she was told it would probably flop. "I love a challenge," she says. So she started coming down to Lafayette Junior High. The community sings caught on and now neighborhood youth are staging their own acts to supplement the Monday night programs. Miss Burwell has a way with the youngsters, affectionately calls them "my little bandits."

Last June she presented an award to the Valenzuela family for being the largest family with a good attendance record at the community sings.

Mis Burwell played in "Showboat," "Green Pastures" and other Broadway shows. She became assistant director of the famed Hall Johnson choir, did movie and civic light opera work.

Seven years ago she appeared here in Duke Ellington's "Jump for Joy."

Miss Burwell is a very active person these days. Aside from her Monday evening community sings at Lafayette Miss Burwell has various other projects. Tuesday evenings she rehearses her blind quartette at the Braille Institute and Wednesdays she's at Sawtelle Veterans Hospital aiding with a recreation program for psychiatric patients.

New Quartette Solidly Sends

NEW YORK—The "Orioles," new singing sensations of the jukeboxes via their recording of "It's Too Soon to Know" on the Natural label, have literally hit the jackpot with that one magic disc.

An unkown vocal quintet a few short weeks ago, the "Orioles" are now rated one of the hottest box office attractions in the land and have been signed to a booking contract by Billy Shaw of the Gale Agfency. They teed off an eastern tour by opening a week's engagement at the Royal Theater in their native Baltimore on October 1, and check into the beautiful Kingston Lounge, Brooklyn, N. Y., for a limited stay of three nights, starting Friday, Oct. 8.

Expect Sellout at Carnegie Concert

NEW YORK—Every existing attendance record in the history of New York's famous Carnegie Hall will be shattered by the concert of Illinois Jacquet and Sarah Vaughan on Sat., Oct. 16, which already is a complete sellout, it was announced this week.

Buy More Bonds

Johnny Miller to Sue King Cole

Johnny Miller, former bassist with the King Cole trio, is suing his former boss, Nat, for two weeks' back salary the popular bassist claims is owed him, and for record royalties due.

In a similar suit, Oscar Moore, one-time guitarist of the trio, filed the same claim and was awarded an out-of-court settlement.

Miller was replaced by Joe Comfort, while Irving Ashby is attempting to fill the musical shoes worn by Moore.

The King Cole trio, not as hot at the box office as they once were, are currently playing at Billy Berg's in Hollywood.

George Washington Is Solid at Congo

George Washington, who tooted his trombone in the Louis Armstrong band for over six years, is now heading a swingy little combo nitely at the Congo club, in the heart of the Central avenue jive sector.

Washington has surrounded himself with a group of young enthusiastic musicians well hep in the art of this thing called swing. For a five piece group they sound like a full-sized band and much better than most of the present day crop of swingsters. On piano is a tall talented girl named Richie Del Archie. Musically, she's a genius. Billy Green handles the alto sax chores expertly, Johnny Lawson keeps a steady beat on the drums, Moe Edwards slaps h—— out of a bass violin, and George Washington still plays the same brand of hot trombone that carried him to the top and won him many popularly polls and other top honors.

Joe Morris struck pay dirt in signing the George Washington band for a Congo Club stint. The outfit will win the club many new patrons.

They don't play loud, they just play good. Making conversation while dancing possible.

Camille Cannady Has Star Role in Stage Play

Heading a brilliant cast in the new play, "As the Twig is Bent," by Jewell Smart, is the well-known and vivacious young actress, Camille Cannady, who has for many years been actively associated with the theatre. Rehearsals are being conducted under the able direction of Jimmy Edwards, who starred as Brett in "Deep Are the Roots." The play is scheduled for presentation here in the next four weeks and will be ultimately taken to Broadway. Several producers in the film capital are interested in the show and one studio has indicate their desire to negotiate for the screen rights.

Other important roles are being played by Duke Williams and Anita Turner, who toured this country and Canada for four years giving able performances as Rudolph and Anna in the Broadway hit, "Anna Lucasta"; Emmett Smith, Jimmy Payne, Palmera Jackson, Dave Anderson and Roz Cunningham, all well-known names in the theatrical field; and Betty Mills, Nadine Cole, Harriet Daniel, Ablyne Winge and Vineta Ector.

This lusty drama, from the pen of a young and vigorous writer, considers the forces and influences which shape, mold and determine the pattern of existence and are the basis for certain attitudes and perspectives in a large segment of our people, as seen through the typical life of one American family. With bold and skillful strokes of her pen, the autho rstrikes at the very root of the problem of parental neglect and its resultant effects of a false sense of values in the youth and a predilection to wickedness and perversity which are so common among adults. In the unfoldment of the story she traces these social scourges to improper training in some and bad environment coupled with wrong influences in others which negligent and indifferent elders permit to surround their charges during their formative years. Her approach is daring and audacious. She hits out; lets the chips fall where they may.

It is packed full of high dramatic situations in a tightly woven plot accelerated by a fast moving tempo. Everyone of the thirteen characters are three dimensional and they come alive and are easily identifiable with everyday people whom we meet and know and converse with daily in our own neighborhood. The whole story is veritably a slice cut from life, ably written and dressed up for the theatre. It possesses virility and blood, and what it has to say is interestingly told.

Drag Ball And Wedding At Elks Hall Oct. 31

Some of the town's leading female impersonators will participate in a wedding ceremony Sunday evening, Oct. 31, at the Elks hall on Central ave. A top affair with "Flossie, The Belle of the Avenue," as the "bride." Name of "her bride-groom" hasn't been released as yet.

Flossie, who is well-known in entertainment circles, has already selected her choice "girl-friends" as "bridesmaids." In addition to the wedding ceremony, there will be the usual yearly "Drag Ball" and fashion show.

Following the wedding, a reception will be held at Jack's Basket room for the bridal party.

The date is Halloween night, Oct. 31, at the Elks hall.

Buddy Johnson On Tour of Southland

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Buddy Johnson, who is currently piloting his orchestra on a record-breaking one-niter tour through the Southland, will break all precedents by appearing on the programs of leading disc-jockeys on approximately 30 southern radio stations, from North Carolina to Florida, during the next six weeks.

The youthful maestro Johnson, whose Decca records have made him a prime favorite with the nation's disc-jockeys, recently lauded the platter-spinners for the great job they have been doing in furthering the cause of racial tolerance throughout the south.

THEATRE — NITE SPOTS

J. T. Gipson, Theatrical Editor

● J. T. GIPSON

Patrolling The Bronzeville Beat: We promised a lovely debutante we wouldn't publish the news of her secret marriage to a gambler, but wasn't it listed in the "intentions to wed" column the other evng? . . . Jimmie Anderson is a man-about-town and a fool about Joan Rivers, the dancer . . . The Arnold Williams have decided it's no use. He'll get his papers sometime next month. . . . A local glam-gal (former chorus cutie) is doing okay for herself. Her sunset years, thanks to a coupla b'snessmen who can afford to be suckers, are insured. She owns 2 Apt. bldg's, and has $20.000 invested in Gov't bonds. She wants us to ghost-write a book she's preparing. The title: "Men Are Such Fools!" . . . The Alpha Phi Alpha "House-Party" Satday night next at the Congo Club will be something to enjoy. . . . Letter on the Desk from Spike Jones, the musician (Ouch, who threw that?) says: "Hi, ya' pard! Catch my latest disc (due out soon). It's called "In Dreams I Kiss Your Hand Madam, 'Cause I Can't Stand Your Breath!" Sportsman Frank Ford is superstitious. Wont work any week that has a Friday in it . . .

J. T. GIPSON

The new vice squad in the Central Sector isn't fooling at all. Everybody goes when the wagon comes! . . . Central Avenue, the street of broken dreams, sidewalk hot-dog stands, moom pickcha shows and placard plastered telegraph poles, will soon sport a new cocktail lounge. In the midst of raucous Cntrl, it will be the stem's most elaborate fundervous. Owner Joe Shipp wants me in as CASHIER! (That'll be the day!) . . . Paulette Jacqueline Coleman (a Chicago born bundle of prettiness, and Dr. Arthur Mitchell's Sec'y) noon-hr strollin' down the stem and stopping more traffic than the corner cop. . . . From Lillian Cumber's Colyum: "JT Gipson wants me to say he's the greatest newspaperman I ever knew." Almena Davis, the little Anti-Social Editor of the same sheet, added this Ed's Note in parenthesis: 'The Tribune tries to maintain a reputation for accuracy, Miss Cumber' Oh, it does? Then howcum Miss Davis hadto apologize to Louise Franklin for irresponsible reporting a couple issues ago on the Franklin versus Young divorce case? The Tribune will print a retraction, or Miss Franklin will sue. Accuracy? Drop dead! . . . Margie Harris says if infants enjoy their infancy, she wonders if adults enjoy —well?

THE BRONZEVILLE BULLETIN BOARD: Socialad Martin Andrews is crying his heart out over a gal from Our Side of the Tracks. Tears don't affect her, tho, her heart is waterproof . . . A talent scout oughta catch the big time act of "Peter Blue and Jaspar Too" at the Last Word. Terrific! . . . A rival colyumist is thefting all our coin'd word from these pages. Shall we sue, Mr. Giesler? . . . A newly married debutramp is meeting a famed musician on his night off in a darkened spot of Ross Snyder playground. Hubby's hep, too. . . . Johnny Murray's gloomy prediction on the Cleveland-Boston game (he used an 8-ball instead of a crystal) cost him more than I make in a year. . . . Even if you don't particularly like her brand of torchanting, there's always Iona Wade's eye-arresting figure to make your eyes smile. . . . The most eloquent lines are neither written or spoken. They're worn! Dig Alyce Key in a bathing suit. . . . Three L.A. newsmen will finance the future of an unknown doll. She'll get the biggest build-up since Lena Horne. . . . Overheard in the Cricket Club: Pardon me, Alyce, but that's a nice figure you're wearing tonight!" . . . Ruth Cox, of Doctor's hosp staff, has cute contraction of the muscles. In medical terms, "dimples". . . . James Alexander Bruce, one of the town's wealthiest playbores, would gladly surrender his bachelor existance if socialovely Ann Seward would nod. They met one night in a side street chitterling joynt when she was out slumming. . . Here's a puzzle: You can't join the communist party, but you can become a member of the Ku Klux Klan! . . . Memo from Melrose: "Hi, dugout! Heard you ate a seven course dinner at Betty Robert's house the other evng." Seven course? Yeh, six helpings of Red Beans and a side dish of Rice! My fave menu. . . . This is Leap Year, and if I ever saw a doll with kangaroo blood it's Lucille Henderson, the Stenog. She's determined to get a man. "Any man," sh says. . . . A chorine is comforting a vedy prominent professional man, whose favorite doll married another gent last wk. His name? For 10c you get a colyum, not the private papers of a snooping colyumist! . . . Louis Spears, Chef at the Hi Hat Grill (and one reason we eat our meals there) ring-siding at the Congo and having sum fun. . . . Dr. Nat Fearonce, Bronzeville's favorite Dentist, and wife, Dorthea, act more like sweethearts than man and wife. Dot's heavy tan and honey hair is more refreshing to the eyes than a Boric Acid bath! . . . Nellie Lutcher wrote a Guest col'm for Billy Rowe last edition, and remembered the newsman who rememberd her on her way up. Gotta do that, kids—'cause you might meet those same newsmen on your way down!

BROWSING IN BRONZEVILLE: Nice Pleece Offer to know is Wilbur Brantley, the Detective . . grand guy! . . . Lou Moore (Johnny's bee-yoo-tee-ful wife) enjoying a nite out at the Cricket club, where hubby's 3-Blazers toil. She's lovely to look at. . . . Catherine and Ernest Morrison (you know him at "Sunshine Sammy") tossed a poddy the other evng that was terrif! . . . Keep your eye on Anita Turner's figger, and your ear on her lines (when she's seen in Jimmie Edwards stage play, "The Twig Is Bent"). Wotta wonderful little actress she is! That goes double for Camile Cannady, of the same play! "The Twig Is Bent" should sail stratispheric heights. It's that good! . . . Mary Pollard, the UCLAngel, on her way to school and looking like the little doll she is. . . . Jerry Wells, a Detroit society pretty, arrives in town Satday. For a wedding date with a famed Real Estate man? . . . Sam Marmillion, of the dance team Sam and Sam, is now in his 9th yr out at RKO studio! . . . Tailor Joe King at the Last Word, wearing the latest in fashions! He tailors fine clothes for those who can afford it. . . . Jimmie Payne counted his birfday candles last wk. He received lotta congrats. Only other thing he got was a year older. . . . Aside to Mantan Moreland: Sorry couldn't keep the studio date. Joe Shipp's car ran outuve gas! . . . Is Mrs. Eddie Parker going to have a baby? Calling her costs a nickle. . . . Have you heard the song, "Button and Bows?" Awful! . . . George Cannady, listening to Sam Spade and solving the case even before it's over! He's one of the burg's top barristers. . . . Marilyn Hammond, Dave Dexter's Gal-Friday at Capitol Records, thinks Joe Adams is the funniest "Emcee" in show b'sness. That makes two of ya', Marilyn—so does Joe! . . . Those reefer smoking cases are crowding the court calendar. The only crime in smoking reefers is the crime in getting caught! That bit of observation comes from my social secretary, Melrose January June Pratt. . . . Celebrated Jewish Holiday Monday with columnist Marvin Levinsohn. He's teaching me some bad things in Yiddish to say to Almeana Davis in English. . . . They've hushed the maternity case of a teen-age tot and a Reverend! . . . Damb shame Monte Easter couldn't find work enough to keep his zippy little band together. That's what comes from having a manager with too many irons in the fi-yer! . . . Esyan Mosby, "The Mayor of Central Avenue," had his pic snapped with Mayor Bowron last wk. Two good fellows got together.

ON THE BRONZEVILLE SCENE: The other afternoon Joe Shipp and I were sitting in one of Attorney Walter Gordon's law offices discussing the anatomical structures of feminine bodies with Buddy Garcia, Lear's right hand man, and trying to think of a reason why we shouldn't send out for a bottle of Scotch (we couldn't think of any) when James (everybody's Buddy) interrupted the conversation to complain of having rheumatism in his left leg. "That's old age," cracked a colyumist. "Couldn't be," Buddy fang'd, "My right leg is as old as my left one, and I ain't

Once Rated N.S.G. Jack Trainor's Trumpeting Tops at Cricket Club

Johnny Moore and his Blazers, with Oscar Moore featured on Guitar and Charles Brown handling the vocals, are currently appearing nitely at Paul Rubin's Cricket Club.

The boys are having a field day on the floor with more time to present their offerings than has been allotted a musical group at the Cricket this season.

On vocals, Charles Brown knocks the gals and guys out with his soul-stirring singing. He's built himself a large following on the west coast and has truly one of the greatest singing voices in the theatrical profession. The way he puts his songs across is what pays off at the box office.

Johnny Moore's Blazers

Nothing follows him in the show and, believe us, nothing could!

Handsome Joe Adams, the popular "Mayor of Melody" of station KOWL, Santa Monica (adv!) has been held over for the Blazers show and Joe does a nifty job singing, ad-libbing and M.C'ing. What a smooth master of ceremonies this guy Adams is! His modest approach and a chestful of voice puts him over with a bang, and at the show caught by this reviewer he had the gals in the audience reaching into their bags for swooning salts!

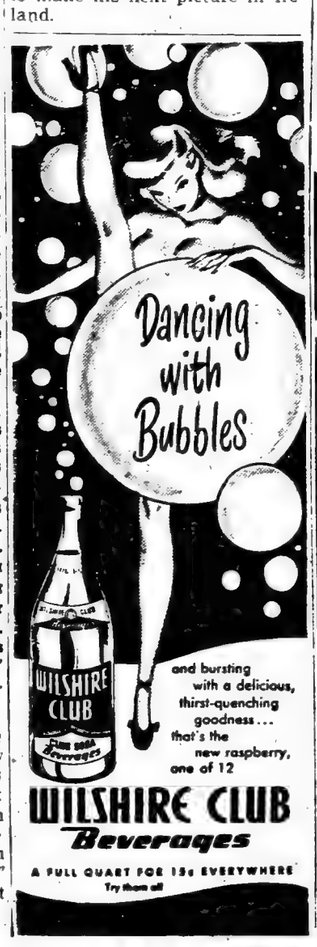
Vic Dickinson's band holds sway at this Westside nitery, and Vic has a band that plays the kind of music you go to night clubs to hear. Music with a soft and mellow beat. Hot. Sweet. Swingy. Jazz. Be-Bop. The Dickinson band feature all types of music, all listenable as well as danceable.

In one of our earlier communique's at another spot we wrote that Jack Trainor's trumpeting was n.s.g. Probably it was the accostics in the other club to cause us to miss he solid beat of Jack's ride trumpet choruses. Probably it was the mood we were in. Whatever the reason wedug this cat's playing the other nite cold sober, and if the Angel Gabriel was on earth he'd probably be envious of Jack's playing!

New Band a Week Now in Effect at the Downbeat Nitery

Something new has been added at the Downbeat. A new band policy of "A Band A Week," will go into effect tonight when Tuff Green brings his swingy band to the cozy Central avenue nite-spot for a 7-day run, to be followed by Joe Lutcher, to be followed by—but then, wait and see!

Green and his Rocketeers, who recently had 'em dancing in the aisle at the Million Dollar theatre, is a top bass player and throws his instrument around like Bob Waterfield tosses a football. His crew features the vocals of Bill Taylor. Line-up of the Green band is: Phineas Newborn, Drums; Irvin Reason, Sax; Len Campbell, Sax; Ben Branch, Sax; Nat Woodard, Trumpet; Fat Watkins, Piano and Green on Bass.



Beginning next Wednesday night a "Gift" night will be inaugurated, a beautiful and expensive ladies man's wrist watch, plus two other prizes.

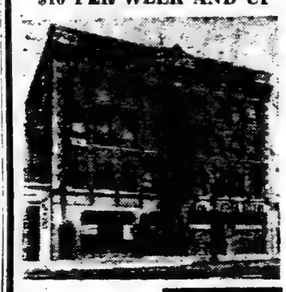
Basie Band to Embark on Tour

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Count Basie, the "Jump King of Swing," winds up his week's engagement at the swank Three Rivers Inn on the outskirts of this city on Sunday, Oct. 10, and will embark upon a nationwide tour that will carry the Basie band to the Pacific coast by the early part of December.

The Count has just concluded a lengthy stay in the east, which kept him on Broadway for nine consecutive weeks by way of a record-breaking six-week run at the Strand Theater and a sensational three-week stand at the popular Royal Roost nitery.

Tyrone Power, who has a roaming pair of feet, would like to make his next picture in Ireland.

Carol Brice At Philharmonic On October 24



Distinguished Negro contralto, Carol Brice, winner of a Juilliard Fellowship for five successive years and recipient of music's coveted Naumberg Foundation Award, will appear in recital Sunday afternoon, October 24 at 3:00 o'clock in Phiharmonic Auditorium.

Miss Brice, considered by many critics to be one of the world's greatest voices, is presented by Irwin Parnes and sponsored by Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

HE'S NO SET-UP

After an extensive search during which dozens of professional boxers were screen-tested, Producer Richard Goldstone has selected young Hal Fieberling, former Pacific Coast amateur heavyweight champion, for the pivotal part of Robert Ryan's ring opponent in RKO Radio's prizefight drama, "The Set-Up."

About Boxing

For those who think Joe Louis is through with boxing please run lickity-split to the nearest Psychiatrist and give yourselves up. It isn't up to Joe to put the 30 sign at the end of his boxing career.

Make no bones about it, the decision alone rests on the bull-moose shoulders of Mike Jacobs, a sinister character the cute little kiddies call Uncle Mike. (You should hear some of things some of the Broadway crowd call him.)

In plain old everyday cigar-store language, Jacobs will lose his meal ticket when Louis retires. And you don't just go around losing meal tickets every day. Not when they're as important to ones financial appetite as Louis is to Jacob.

Jacobs, a very wealthy man whose boxing operations in New York City made him wealthier, promised Louis a "piece" of the 20th Century Sporting Club with an "executive" position thrown in to boot if Louis fights just "one more time."

Louis, on the other hand, has sorta looked upon Jacobs as an Adopted Dad. Afterawl, Jacobs made Louis rich, didn't he? Okay so whose fault is it if Louis squandered his moola? He at least had it in his hands at one time.

Jacobs' boxing empire (he's the dictator!) will be blown as low as one of those deeps tones Coleman Hawkins makes on his Tenor saxaphone, when Louis retires from the game. Jacobs isn't quite ready for his boxing empire to be blown as low as a note made on a tenor by Coleman Hawkins. While Louis dominated the heavyweight picture, Jacobs dominated the Eastern boxing empire. Louis is the biggest draw in boxing.

Jacobs has used gangster tactics to continue at the head of the New York boxing world. Under the watchful eye of the New York State Boxing Commission he has broken more rules than Hitler. He's THE man to see when a fighter goes to New York and expects to fight in NY's most famed arena, Madison Square Garden. And if the fighter shows promise the only way — AND GET THIS! The only way he can continue fighting is to sign over a "piece" of his contract to Jacobs or Jacobs' hirelings.

What Jacobs says goes.

And Jacobs said Louis will engage in fistic encounter with a worthy opponent just "one more time."

Louis says he's going to retire.

Don't bet against jacobs.

About People and Things

Returned from Elsinore the other sundown feeling fit as a fiddle. (Wonder how a fiddle actually feels?) It's good to get away fro mthe heat, noise and my acidulous little sidekick, Gipson with the JT handle.

Arrived in town Monday, and found a letter in my ice box where Gip had spent his time rambling during my absence. It said: "Joe. Ate some of the Red Beans and Rice You Cooked. Please do guest sports column for me. Sick." So here's the guest sports col'm.

Red Beans and Ricely Yours

Baby Dutch Culbertson, the handsome hard-hitting heavyweight husky, is in training daily for a future bout. The Baby's under the watchful eye of Jackie Wilson, and looks in the peak of condition.

It's my prediction that Larry Doby, of the Cleveland Indians will some day (soon!) make you forget all about Jackie Robinson. He's one of baseball's hardest hitters.

Johnny Johnson(the Little Joe Louis who fights like Ray Robinson) and Harold Dade returned from Honolulu last week. Dade dropped a close one to the Island champ.

Maxie Docusen is in training for his Oct. 12 bout with Mario Trigo at the Olympic Auditorium. Sammy Cherrin, Maxie's trainer, says the Little Duke is rounding out in tip top shape.

Jackie Robinson has been signed to d a six-day weekly radio broadcast over New York's WMCA, with the first program scheduled to start in early Sept.

Willie Pep bout is being sought by Blinky Palermo for Ike Williams. Pep would have to give up the featherweight title beforhand. Palermo, Williams' manager, says the bout would be for the Lightweight championship.

Barney Ewell won a special exhibition 100-yard sprint in Lancaster, Pa. last week, nosing out Harrison Dillard, his conqueror in the 1948 Olympic 100-meter race at London.

Jackie Wilson, one of the coast's most popular boxers, is after a bout with Rocky Graziano, due here Nov. 17 for a tentative date with Fred Apostoli, former middle weight champion. Jackie is certain he can whip The Rock.

"IT'S CALIENTE"

(A Tribute to Satchel Paige)
By BERNICE COOK

We call him "Satch,"
And he has no match,
He's the ole man of the mound;
The last name's Paige.
And despite his age
He's the best man on the ground!
When he lets one go—
Fans just seem to know
It's a strike, no more, no less;
Though the bat swings high,
eTam-mates give a sigh,
For the "ole man" doesn't guess!
Satchel knows his ball,
And he lets them fall
With an unbelieving grace;
Then with manner sly,
And a twinkling eye—
Pleasure shows upon his face.
With this "Indian Scout,"
Cleveland's sure to rout
Every foe, straight down the line;
Not a play is lost—
Satchel counts the cost,
Then lays on that "Indian" sign!
So let's hail the man
Who has done, and can Meet his match on any ground—
He's a darn good sport,
And he'll hold the fort—
That grand ole man of the mound!

Winter League Ball Season Opens on Sunday

Satchel Paige's Kansas City Royals minus their famous leader, who is engaged in the world series, open the winter league season at Wrigley Field Sunday, October 10, against a picked team of minor league All-Stars gathered from the Coast and International leagues. The bulk of the All Stars will be members of the Angels, who lost out to Oakland in the play-off series. Chuck Stevens of the Hollywood Stars ,and Dick Cole, star infielders of Rochester, of the International League, will augment the local Coast League entry.

This year's Royals have probably the best pitching staff to invade Los Angeles since the days of Bullet Joe Rogan and his gang. Heading the star studded staf is a left hander, James LaMarque, who will remind you of Carl Hubbell in his heyday. He hails fro mthe K. C. Monarch stable. Henry Miller, Earnest Carter, Memphis and Andrew Porter, Clowns, and Chet Brewer, Cleveland, round out the twirlers. The game Sunday begins at 2:15 p.m.

Next Wednesday night at Wrigley Field t celebrated major league stars make their initial appearance against the Royals. The majors are led by Don Lang, regular third baseman o fthe St. Louis Cardinals, Eddie Boekman, Vic Lombardi, Pittsburgh Pirates, Cliff Mapes, New York Yankees, and many other stars. They will arrive Sunday afternoon.

The line-up was not complete for the Coast League stars at press time, due to the number of Angels appearing. The line-up Bobby Smith, 170, at quarterback spot, Gonzalo Gonzales, 175, and correct batting order for the Royals follows:

Wit hso many stars on every team this year's winter league season bids fair to top every other one in both performance and attendance.

ON THE TURF

By GEO. A. RAMSEY

CALIENTE, OLD MEXICO. — An up-and-coming young fillie captured the feature event at Caliente last Sunday, beating some of the best distance horses on the grounds at one mile and one-sixteenth. It was Fox Brook, the three year old daughter of Brooklyn-Petite.

Picked up in a claiming race not long ago for $800 by C. H. Hall, she proves to be one of the best bargain claims of the meeting. She won her first race two weeks ago at six furlongs for three year olds, coming from last position in the stretch.

In the feature last Sunday she was coupled with Greyhead as the Hall entry. Soup and Fish was made the favorite, but the best the eleven year old son of Saxton-Gladrags could do was finish fourth.

Fox Brook was way back in the early running, but turning for home Jockey G. Hufnagel called on the game filly and she passed Ida Doon, who had made all the pace, and stalled off the closing rush of Alfy to win in a photo finish, paying in the mutuels $12.00, $6.00 and $5.20.

In the secondary event Wazanita was a wire to wire winner over Mighty High. The daily double combination of Boming Time, winner of the second race, and Lakeside Hope, victor of the third, paid $98.60, while the quinela backers of Justice Best and Balko Bunny, who finished in that order, received $115.80.

This Sunday General Manager Walter C. Marty has two six furlong races as the feature events. These two attractions will bring the fastest sprinters on the grounds together. Ten other races will support a grand program. Many new horses are expected from Pomona and other northern towns.

Well, it was Beach Comber again last Sunday night at General Manager William (Bill) Collier's Tijuana greyhound track. The champion broke in front and was never headed, making it 12 wins out of 13 starts. The man who made greyhound races the greatest night sport in Tijuana, Mexico, announced five big stake events for the closing two weeks.

Topping the program of stakes will be the $1000 added Tijuana Greyhound Derby at seven-sixteenths of a mile, to be run Friday, Oct. 15. Two derby eliminations will be held, the first on Saturday, Oct. 9th, and the second Sunday, Oct. 10th.

On Thursday, Oct. 14th, General Manager Collier will be host to the Knights of Pythias of North America, South America, Europe, Asia, Africa and Australia. Headed by Record's Drum and Bugle Corps, a nite with Knights.

Tommy Campbell Batters Cruz Into Submission in 5 Rounds

Handsome Rudy Cruz, the boxer with the pretty profile, got it slightly un-prettied Tuesday night at the Olympic when he forgot to duck on several occasions while engaging in fistic combat with a cool lad named Tommy Campbell who came out on the winning end of the argument via a TKO over Cruz when referee Johnny Indrisano halted the bout in 1:08 of the 5th. It was originally billed as a 10-round contest, but Mister Cruz didn't feel like going that far. In fact, Mr. Cruz couldn't go that far!

Cruz was gashed with a double laceration on the left side of his face, but the ref stopped it not because of the cuts but because he thought (as did the 4000 fans) that the Mexican lad was outclassed.

Campbell looked every inch a coming champ Tuesday, which is more than we can say about his last outing with the same gent. His punching was sharper "and harder," according to Cruz when interviewed in his undressing room after the bout. In close Tommy was rougher than a B car ride from 51st and Ascot to 5th an l Main.

When Tommy poured leather over Cruz in the 5th and hit him with everything but the water pitcher ref Indrisano stepped in and halted it.

Campbell weighed in at 136½, and was a 1-2½ choice. Cruz scaled 136¾.

Bolton Ford, Eastside scrapper, scored a stunning upset (and a beautiful second round knockout) over Lem Thomas, 133, ex-CYO kingpin from Chicago.

In the top four-rounder Howard Darancette, a 210½ pound Medical student, gas'd Jim Howard in 2:40 of the first round with a lethal right hand wallop.

Darnell Carter Married Deep in Heart of Tex's

Darnell Carter, California lightweight sensation, returned to the city last week following a vacation visit to his home in Houston, Texas.

While on vacation in the Lone Star State, Carter eloped with an attractive lass named Mollie Lewis, who will be all the inspiration the popular young battler needs next Wednesday night when he meets tough Tommy Vargas in a 10-round main event in San Bernardino.

Carter is also angling for a bout with Henry Armstrong's protege, Keith Nuttall, who received his first set-back in his last 27 fights last week by dropping a close decision to the veteran Tony Ramirez.

Is Anything Wrong In Boxing Game Or Is Story Just A Rumor?

Something, tho at the moment it is beyond my powers to tell what, is very rotten in Denmark. Denmark spelled backwards—local boxing circles. Pull up a chair and siddown.

A boxer named Xavier (pronounced Xavier) Patin arrived in town recently from Texas town named after Sam Houston. He had been fighting professionally deep in the heart of Tex's. Upon arrival to our town of angels his intended manager applied for a license, and was told to go to—ooOOOOPS! He was sent to Clayton Frye, Assistant Secretary to the California State Athletic Commission, who in turn sent him to a committee appointed to pass on the qualifications of amateur boxers to obtain licenses. This committee is made up of George Latka, George Tolson, Art Martell and Johnny Forbes.

After conferring with Patin, Mr. Latka somehow or other talked the boxer into signing with HIM.

My beef? There's a rumor r aking the rounds that Clayton Frye uses his trusted position to steer promising boxers into Latka and other friends.

How true this is can only be ascertained after a careful investigation.

Turkey Thompson Pat Valentino May Meet

Strong possibility of Turkey Thompson travelin' to San Francisco, Oct. 25 to met a battlin' gent there named Pat Valentino. Pat's getting quite sassy here of late, and only last week had the gall to beat tough Tony Bosnich around a San Francisco ring at will to win a 15-round decision.

From the words of Olympic Matchmaker Babs McCoy "They threw another pineapple into the ring in Honolulu the other night when two judges and a referee voted Henry Davis the winner over Harold Dade after Dade had given Davis a thorough trouncing. Jefferson Meets Jordan in Night Football Game October 14

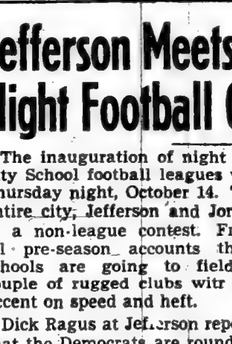
The inauguration of night games this year in the Los Angeles City School football leagues will get under way at Wrigley Field Thursday night, October 14. Two of the most potent teams in the entire city, Jefferson and Jordan, will match speed and strength in a non-league contest. From all pre-season accounts these schools are going to field a couple of rugged clubs witr the accent on speed and heft.

Dick Ragus at Jefferson reports that the Democrats are rounding into shape with lots of spirit shown by the boys on the squad. Competition for starting positions is very sharp, and even some of the veterans are finding it tough to stay on top.

A large share of this year's burden for the Demos will fall on such capable performers as Charles Lewis, 175, fullback, who really wants to play ball this year; George Biggins, 185, a rugged tackler; Maurice Hill, 185, and Oliver Gordon, 185, halfbacks, and some newcomers who show every indication of playing fast, tough football, Gil Nunley, Mullen Gaines, Lewis Williams, Carl McKenley, Harry Johnson and Malcolm Best. Mossie Brooks, Bob Oliver, George Biggins and Jim Clements can be expected to give good accounts of themselves.

Over at Jordan the lineup seems to be equally as powerful. Coach Bill Zazueta is hoping for some successful games from blocking back. Hester and Harper at the railback posts. Staring across at the Jefferson line will be some big lads, all sporting weights over 190; Alfonso Gonzales, Jim Hernandez, and Ben Myers. At center, at 2?? pounds, no less, is Willis Thigpen.

Billed as the East Side Classic, the ancient Jeff-Jordan rivalry will come to life again in the game of the week. Local crystal ball gazers aren't agreed on the outcome, but they do predict plenty of thrills for high school football fans.



BOSTON IN 1-0 WIN

Boston's Johnny Sain gave up 4 hits to Bob Feller's 1 to beat the Cleveland Indians 1 to 0 in the first game of the world series yesterday at Boston. Bob Lemon will hurl for Boston Thursday in a mound duel with Warren Spahn. Larry Doby collected a single while Lou Boudreau went hitless.

Albuquerque Club Organized Here

It is a long step from the pine-covered mesas of New Mexico to the palm lined avenues of Southern California, but the members of the Albuquerque Club easily bridged the distance as they met recently to make plans to organize.

This first session of the Albuquerque Club of Los Angeles was held in the cool, leafy patio of the home of Mrs. Anna Mae Fanner, 224 W. 56th Street. Several former residents of the historical old plaza of Albuquerque, drawn together by memories and sentimental attachments, voted to establish a social and cultural society, open to all Albuquerque expatriates in Southern California.

According to this first group of enthusiastic sponsors, the club will meet monthly to provide entertainment, to exchange latest news from Albuquerque, and to provide an outlet for the cultural and artistic interests of its members. Spanish literature, Indian lore, ceramics, silver-smithing, are examples of these interests.

Officers will also call special sessions to welcome and entertain the many distinguished Albuquerqueans who visit Los Angeles annually.

A president and secretary protempore were chosen. Essex G. Jenkins and Anna Mae Fanner, respectively, both native New Mexicans. The charming home of Mrs. Fanner was again designated as the rallying point of the Albuquerqueans.

The congenial group included Luther B. and Marian Reed Clayton; Eugene and Louise Clayton Rhoten; Fred and Lillian Cleveland; Arcelle Clayton Thomas; Helen Phillips; Glodeen Hampton McClaine; Mildred Clayton Lee; Anna Mae Fanner; Miss Shirley Reed; Donald C. Phillips; Thaddeaus H. Hobbs; Essex G. Jenkins; and one future Albuquerquean, tiny Miss Marvalyn Clayton.

PROF. HERMAN The Astrologer
TO ASSIST YOU IN MAKING WISE DECISIONS

THE FRAGRANCE OF FRIENDSHIP

Fragrance, such as we find in flowers is a good deal like friendship. The vigorous person who is filled with good sportsmanship, and who is dominated by the spirit of good-will, has a frangrance which is unmistakable. You never get near him without being conscious of the aroma of his friendship. He is interested in you and what you are doing and desires to be agreeable.

On the other hand, take the person who is so self-centered and selfish that his true personality never unfolds. He is the one who is afraid that he won't get all that is coming to him in every situation, and is so wound up in himself that he rides roughshod over the feelings of others. His fragrance, would intuitively make the gang or folks that are around him know this and they would resent and ignore him.

To have friends, we must be friendly, and to be friendly we must be unselfish and learn more and more to forget ourselves.

I. C. Dear Prof. Herman: I have been reading your column every week in the paper and find it very helpful. Would you please help me with this problem? Will I be successful with my plans for the future?

ANSWER. Your lucky Stars and Guiding Planet indicate many changes which will enable you to carry out your plans successfully. I would like to help you with this matter, if you will write in for a private reply, I shall be glad to do so.

A. R. N. Will I get the money I am expecting?

ANSWER. A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that your financial conditions are going to improve in the very near future, and will probably be the result of this money you are expecting from the War Department.

W. O. What is the trouble, we don't get along?

ANSWER. You must both cooperate and try to get along in roder to make a success of your marriage. As long as one pulls one way, and the other another way, it will be difficult to find the happiness you so justly deserve. I would be glad to help you further if you will write in for a private reply.

E. G. Will we ever move to another town?

ANSWER. Probing into the matter I find that your folks are contemplating on moving to another location since you are so dissatisfied there. So just be patient a little longer.

RR. Because of the limited amount of space I am unable to answer your question in the column. If you will write in for a private reply I shall be more than glad to help you.

White Sees Overseas Troop Morale High

NEW YORK—"Morale among Negro troops in Germany is high although the situation is complicated by failure of the War Department to end segregation," Walter White, NAACP secretary, reports.

Mr. White's report followed a week's tour of troop installations and displaced persons' camps in Heidelburg, Frankfurt, Mannheim, Nurnberg, Kissingen, Giessen, Karlsruhe and Berlin.

Contributing to higher morale is the increased proportion of Negro servicemen now assigned to combat outfits, nearly half of whom are now so assigned.

Say You Saw It in the EAGLE

NAACP Asked to Probe White's Partisan Political Activity

The Board of Directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has been requested to conduct an investigation to determine whether any of its officers and employees are engaging in partisan political activity in violation of the rules of the Association.

In a letter to Dr. Louis T. Wright, of New York City, chairman of the NAACP Board, Val J. Washington charged Walter White, Executive Secretary of the Association, and Leslie Perry, Administrative Assistant in the NAACP's Washington Bureau, of seeking to deliver the Negro vote to the Democrats.

Mr. Washington branded as biased two syndicated columns written by Mr. White—one criticizing Governor Dewey and the other praising President Truman.

He also charged that a report on the voting records of members of Congress, prepared by Mr. Perry, was "weighted" and that Mr. Perry was touring NAACP branches in cities in key states, urging members of the Association to vote Democratic in the November 2 elections.

GRAND JURY INVESTIGATES BURNS KILLING

Police Brutality

Mayor Won't Act In Burns Killing Delegation Told

Mayor Bowron will, "absolutely take no action in advance of the Grand Jury," in the Burns case. He made this stand known last Friday in his chambers while listening to an appeal from a delegation of 75 citizens led by the Civil Rights Congress and the Justice for Burns Committee.

Calling the wide - spread complaints against police brutality in minority communities, "communistic," the Mayor rebuffed suggestions advanced by the delegation that he take steps to create better relations between the police and the citizens who have suffered growing abuse and inimidation.

Bowron stood unmoved in his determination not to act in the case despite the statement by Attorney Fred Steinmetz, representing the deceased man's family, that an examination of the body by reputable radiologists showed following exhumation last week, that the young plasterer had suffered a broken neck.

Both the Mayor and Assistant Police Chief Reed, whom the Mayor had invited to be present at the conference, refused to accept recommendations offered by members of the delegation that a statement be issued holding the police responsible for violent acts and extra-legal behavior. Reed flatly refused to produce a list of the names of all the policemen sent to the scene where Herman Burns was killed, during what eyewitnesses say, was a brutal beating administered by several policemen, many of them in uniform.

Frank White, a former Los Angeles policeman, who was not a member of the delegation, charged, in the presence of Herman Burns' widow, his mother, and his father, that the slain youth was of bad character and troublesome. He discounted the proven claims of police brutality, and he charged the two leading communities weeklies with inciting the people to protest against the police.

H. A. Howard Says War Is Devastating

Negroes less than any other people in America can afford another war which would rob us of the youth who must carry on the fight for our salvation on these United States, declared H. A. Howard, president of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Mr. Howard's statement was issued at a time when preparations are being made for the celebration of United Nations Week, from October 17 to 24.

"More than a million Negro youth served in the armed forces of our country in the last war, many of whom were taken out of school and college to fight for the preservation of a freedom they have not really known," Mr. Howard said. "Many never returned to their original pur-

Grand Jury's Sympathetic Ear Okays Primary

The Los Angeles Grand Jury, nationally noted now for a self-styled device known as "a sympathetic ear," finally gave up on the 14th District Congressional primary election last week after several months of probing and checking. It was the jury's conclusion that no crookedness existed. Observers says the crookedness was on the part of unknown forces that brought the matter before the Grand Jury in an attempt to discredit Representative Helen Gahagan Douglas, who scared the pants off reactionary forces by coming within 156

Intensive Drive On For Progressives

The 16th Congressional District Independent Progressive Party Executive Committee this week called on all supporters of Henry Wallace for an "intensive last-month effort' in behalf of Wallace and Taylor and on the congressional level, Ellis E. Patterson."

A statement issued by the executive committee explains:

"We invited Patterson to cross-file into our primary, with our support, because of his excellent past legislative record and because he has raised his voice fearlessly for peaceful settlement of disputes with Russia through direct negotiations and through the United Nations," IPP officials stated.

More Brutality

Police Beat Man For Denying He Stole Own Car

A startling case of police brutality was reported to the California Eagle this week, by a respectable citizen who is an employee of the State of California in the maintenance department.

Cecil Johns of 1239 N. Virgil loaned his car to a friend on Friday October 1. The car broke down at 51st and Hooper, and it was left there by the friend who notified Johns as to its whereabouts. When Johns went to retrieve his car, the police, who had evidently been watching the automobile, seized him.

Johns told them he was the owner of the car, but that he had left the papers to prove it at home. He offered to return home to get them. The policemen ridiculed him, and took him to the Newton street jail. There he was questioned by a detective who tried to get him to admit that he had stolen the car. Johns insisted he owned the car, and the detective struck him.

Another detective joined the first and together they beat and kicked Johns. They knocked him down, jumped in his stomach,

Ask Holifield Aid On Loan To Israel

Jack Berman, member of the 19th Congressional District Executive Council of the Independent Progressive Party, this week asked Congressman Chet Holifield publicly to denounce the side-tracking of the proposed $100,000,000 United States reconstruction loan to Israel and to urge immediate recognition of the new state by the United States government.

In the telegram Berman said: "Press reports that the Export-Import Bank has shelved request of State of Israel for reconstruction loan of $100,000,000 constitutes another betrayal by President Truman of word given Israeli foreign minister months ago."

The SIDEWALK

By C. A. B.

Standing on the bridge of time, looking at the world picture from all angles, one can but conclude that the present trend is towards destruction rather than peace.

The purpose of civilization at its start was to release man from a state of barbarism, and make available to him the implements for cultural development, and the establishment of a world in which all mankind might dwell together in peace.

The noble purpose of this early start has, however, been frustrated by selfish greed.

The doctrine of Jesus Christ, greatest leader of all the ages known to man, was peace on earth and good will towards all mankind.

Perhaps the most striking departure from the course charted by Jesus for the establishment of a world brotherhood, was led by Adolph Hitler of Germany in the present century.

Christ's doctrine of peace stirred the hearts of men with a desire to cherish the earth and benefit by its bountiful yield of the things that sustain life and make for happiness.

Hitler's doctrine was one of hate—hatred of one race against another, one nation against another, one religion against another, and one color against another. His deep-seated plan to destroy world civilization and build an Aryan world was defeated in a world war led by the United States and supported ably by its strongest ally, Russia. In order to defeat Hitler, however, it was necessary to involve all the nations and peoples who believe in a democratic way of life.

The call to stop the spread of Nazism and Fascism in the world was answered by all segments of American life without regard to race, color or religion, in one resounding chorus. There was no time then for loyalty tests.

In Germany "Hitler decreed the death penalty for the crime of being Jewish—as six million dead Jews in Europe bear mute witness."

"Besides that, Hitler's Nurnberg laws, adopted in 1935, classified half Jews and one-fourth Jews as 'Mongrels' (Mischlings) of the First and Second Degree, respectively. It was illegal for either a Jew or 'Mongrel' to marry an 'Aryan'. At one point Hitler marked all the 'Mongrel' mates of 'Aryans' for incineration, but their spouses made such an uproar he dared not go through with it.

"The 'Rights of Mongrels' were strictly limited by Nazi laws and courts. Farming, medicine, law, publishing and the civil service were closed to them. They were drafted into the army and Maupin, charged with the killing of Alexander Good, city street maintenance department department employee, who also lived at 11025 Compton Ave., testified that he shot Good, on Sept. 26, with a shotgun, after having been attacked by Good, who was in a drunken condition.

Wilberforce Problems To Get Airing

CLEVELAND, Ohio — Wilberforce university's troubles as an issue in Ohio politics will be brought out into the open, it was learned this week, as persons interested in the plight of the school were proceeding with plans for a radio broadcast from Columbus sometime within the next 10 or 15 days.

Reports have it that Dr. Charles Leander Hill, acting president of Wilberforce, has consented to speak over a statewide radio hook-up and lay before the people of Ohio the entire situation which exists today at Wilberforce university and let them decide for themselves who is responsible for the deplorable state of affairs.

CIO Council Endorses Douglas, Chet Holifield for Re-election

The unanimous action of the Los Angeles CIO Council in support of Helen Gahagan Douglas and Chet Holifield in the campaign for re-election to Congress was announced this week by CIO Council President William S. Lawrence, secretary Philip M. Connelly and John Allard, Chairman of the political action and legislative committee.

"The CIO Council has been working to obtain unity of the labor and progressive forces in these districts to wage a campaign that would insure the defeat of the reactionary Republican candidates Wallace W. Braden and Francis Quigley. We have not been concerned with party labels but rather the issues at stake in the November 2nd election," the CIO Council statement said.

Other congressional candidates endorsed by the CIO Council are: Ned Healy, 13th; Douglas, 14th; Maynard J. Omerberg, 15th; Ellis E. Patterrson, 16th; Holifield, 19th; William Esterman, 20th.

Assemblyman to Introduce Measure Against Racial Discrimination and Hate

Assemblyman William Rosenthal has been invited to an executive board meeting of the American Jewish Labor Council to discuss a bill to outlaw the dissemination of anti-Semitic and race hatred propaganda.

The executive board of the American Jewish Labor Council will launch a state-wide drive for the passage of legislation designed to stop "racksteering in hatred."

Dr. Sanford Goldner, president of the AJLC, reminded the board members that such a law exists in the state of Indiana, and has already been introduced in 23 state legislatures and that Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins has also offered to introduce it and has pledged the most active support.

Senator-elect Miller has offered to introduce it in the State and many other candidates have indicated enthusiastic support.

South Africa Race Policy Assailed

CAPETOWN. — South Africa's new race segregation policy is sharply assailed in a pastoral letter written by Most Rev. Francis Hennemann, Catholic Bishop of Capetown.

He called the government's policy "noxious, un-Christian and destructive."

Declaring that recent restrictions imposed on non-Europeans marked the beginning of other attacks on the personal liberty and dignity of non-Europeans, Bishop Hennemann said:

"To make matters worse, all this is being done in the name of Christian civilization. Christian civilization, we are asked to believe, is the same thing as white civilization. If it is white exclusively, it is not Christian, and if it is Christian it is not white."

labor service, but were barred from serving as officers. Following the fall of France, Hitler purged all 'Mongrels' from his army, but redrafted them when the going got rough."

October 16, 1946, the final curtain on Hitler and his henchmen was lowered at Nuremberg prison. And the eleven who had plotted and attempted to carry out the scheme for world conquest and the enslavement of all not purely Aryan, were sentenced to death or imprisonment.

Nearly two years have faded from the picture that marked this final chapter of World War II.

"Although Hitler has been laid low, his racism has sprung up in the Union of South Africa, where the Nationalist Party of Daniel Malan has come to power. Before the war Malan sanctioned Italy's invasion of Ethiopia, and wanted to hand over to Hitler the former African colonies of Germany. Later, he opposed what he called the Allies' 'war of aggression against Germany.'"

"Malan's government has given Negroes 30 days to resign from labor unions, setting a fine of $500 and a year's imprisonment for anyone belonging to a 'mixed' union. One-fifth of the Negro workers—those not engaged in mining, farming, or domestic service — have been permitted to form Jim Crow 'native trade unions', but are forbidden to strike, the penalty being a $2,000 fine and three years' imprisonment."

According to a report released by Stetson in INSIDE OUT features, "neither Hitler's Germany nor Malan's South Africa have had anything to equal the racist codes of America. For instance some of the 17 states which have Jim Crow laws define a 'colored person' as anyone having one-32nd Negro blood. Georgia Jim Crows 'Any person having Negro, West Indian, Asiatic or Indian blood, and all descendants.'

"Thirty states have laws which say: 'All marriages between white persons and persons of Negro descent are forever prohibited and shall be void always.' Arkansas also prohibits interracial concubinage; Georgia and Maryland punish parents of 'mixed' offspring, and Mississippi makes it a crime to even advocate 'social equality.'

"As for matching Hitler's 'Second Class Mongrel' category, South Carolina has a law requiring the state to establish separate schools—neither white nor colored—for 'mixed' children having less than one-eighth Negro blood.

"From all of which it appears that Germany is not the only country in need of de-Nazification."

I Shall NOT Live at Peace with ...JIM CROW

As a white American, with an abiding faith in our Constitution and a democratic hatred for practices which degrade and humiliate men because of race religion, nationality or color, I refuse to live any longer with the shame of our nation—white supremacy.

Its evils have plagued our fair land too long. They have defiled all decent ways of living for decent Americans. They have sapped our people's moral strength and, in the eyes of the rest of the world, have turned the torch of liberty into a symbol of racist arrogance.

I know that our country cannot survive and flourish as a free land and remain a land of Jim Crow.

Therefore, in the spirit of Thomas Jefferson, who swore "eternal hostility against every form of tyranny over the mind of man," eternal hostility against discrimination, segregation and prejudice.

I Pledge

I Pledge

to refuse to abide by laws, rules, or customs that degrade my fellow Americans through discrimination, segregation or Jim Crow.

I Pledge

no peace with those who support these alien and abhorrent evils. Instead, I shall work daily to abolish hatred of man by man and to create a respect for human rights and the dignity of all men.

Moore Urges Douglas Protest U.S. Reversal on Franco Spain

Sidney Moore, chairman of the 14th Congressional District Executive Council of the Independent Progressive Party has asked Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas to protest the action of the U. S. State Department urging the United Nations to reverse its 1946 agreement and reestablish diplomatic relations with Franco Spain.

An excerpt from the telegram sent to Mrs. Douglas follows:

"Action of the United States State Department urging the United Nations to reverse 1946 agreement and re-establish diplomatic relations with the Fascist government of Spain must be as disheartening to you as it is to all friends of liberty in your district."

Moore has withdrawn as IPP candidate for Congress from the 14th District in favor of Congresswoman Douglas, Democratic Party candidate, in order to unify all liberal voters behind a single candidate to assure defeat of the Republican candidate, W. Wallace Braden.

House Down, Nobody Hurt

NEW YORK CITY.—Bandleader Erskine Hawkins' first efforts as a producer of stage shows has borne fruit at the Paramount Theatre. When the "Tuxedo Junction" bandleader was given permision to cast and produce the Paramount stage show, he stuck his neck way out and chose as one of the featured performers a singer who was not too well known on the main stem. But Savannah Churchill, the Hawk's choice,proved herself with her first appearance onstage. The "I Wanna Be Loved" girl sang three songs and received such a tremendous hand that she had to sing two encores.

The rest of the show, which included comics Howell and Bowser, dancer Bunny Briggs and the famed Delta Rhythm Boys, received loud ovations from the enthusiastic fans. When Hawkins and the band began to play their famed theme, the house "came down."

World Travel Study In Evening School

One of the interesting new courses being offered at the Roosevelt Evening School is a course of World Travel which is illustrated with motion pictures.

This course is unique in that it is mostly a series of motion pictures. Each reel to be shown is given a short verbal introduction by the instructor, Mr. Harold Cessna. Each reel gives authoritative and interesting information.

The reels are selected with the aim of introducing one historical film, one biography, and one on travel. The films on one typical evening included "The New England States," "Alfred Nobel," and "Panama." Such pictures are planned to give a well rounded background in history, geography and natural science.

Special credit in installing this signal is due to Mr. Chester Williams of the Cleaners and Dyers store at the corner of 59th and San Pedro Street and the citizens of the community.

Mayor

Eagle, and one of the delegation spokesmen, refuted White's claim. She stated that it was the policy of the California Eagle to fight on the side of right, wherever that right may be found, and she reminded Frank White that she and the Rev. Benjamin Robeson worked tirelessly in his behalf some twenty-five years ago when he, as a policeman had been falsely accused of brutality.

Mrs. Bass reminded White that neither she, nor the Rev. Robeson (who was patsor of the First A.M.E. Zion Church at Pico and Paloma then, and who is now the pastor of Mother A.M.E. Zion in New York) had any motive other than the triumph of right when they worked to save his job for him.

She told of the investigation she had made of the woman who claimed that White and another policeman had brutally beaten her, and how the woman's claims were subsequently proven false. It was that investigation, plus a recanting statement she got from he woman, Mrs. Bass poined out ,that turned the tide in White's favor.

"He could have lost his job," Mrs. Bass said, and that would not have been right. We did not act out of political considerations then and we are not acting out of political considerations now. It is a simple matter of justice and right."

Dr. Mahlon C. Cooley, NAACP executive board member, asked the Mayor: "How can you just brush off police brutality? Some men are psychologically unfit to be policemen. There is fear in the hearts of the people. We are asking for protection."

Attorney Thomas Griffith, NAACP president, told the Mayor he had received a communication from the chairman of the Grand Jury indicating that the Burns case will be investigated by that body. (Copies of the communication appear elsewhere in this issue.)

Bill Lawrence, CIO Council President, called the incidence of police terrorism in the Watts community, "the most disgraceful thing I have ever seen in my life."

Mayor Bowron claimed no knowledge of the brutal killing of young Augustin Salcido by policeman Keyes, when the delegation asked for Keyes dismissal from the police force. Despite the front page publicity over a long period in the case, Mayor Bowron said, "I don't think I know anything about that case."

Among those who were in the delegation were: Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins, Assembly-candidate Frances Williams, James Richardson and the Rev. Clifford Spears, co-chairmen of the Justice for Burns Committee, Rev. H. F. Hyde, president of the Ministerial Alliance, Ed Mosk, County IPP Chairman, Attorney Paul Major of the American Jewish Council, and others.

Area Chest Appeal Goal Set Higher

$10,721 is the figure set for the Eastside to raise in their Community Chest fall appeal which starts soon, according to Mrs. Josephine Brown, Chairman for this area.

Eastside's part of the $7,550,000 grand total being raised was decided jointly on a fair share basis by volunteer leaders of the 72 districts which make up the Chest.

Approximately 20 per cent higher than it was last year, the quota, stated Mrs. Brown, has been increased because of the higher costs of services in the agencies, and extension of services.

When everything seems to be going dead wrong, take a look and see if you are not headed in the wrong direction.

THE REPLY

Mr. Leo E. Hubbard
Chairman, Criminal Complaints Committee
Grand Jury, County of Los Angeles
546 Hall of Justice
Los Angeles 12, California

Dear Mr. Hubbard:

In reply to your letter of October 5, we first wish to thank you for your consent to give consideration to the Burns case in which this organization is deeply interested. You may rest assured that we will give you every assistance possible to see that justice is done. We would like to call your attention to the testimony given at the coroner's inquest, a transcript of which is in our hands. We also refer you to the following persons:

Mr. John Burns, 1236 South Hobart Blvd. Mr. Burns will testify that on the night of August 21, 1948, Herman Burns came to his death as the result of a beating at the hands of two Special Officers and several Plainclothesmen.

Mr. Clifford Davis, 1428 East 51st Street, one of the Special Officers involved, and an employee of the Paramont Detective Agency will testify that although he struck Julius Burns he did not strike the deceased (according to a statement made in this office).

Mr. Willie Harrison, 1781 East 113th Street, the other Special Officer involved and also an employee of the Paramont Detective Agency, and who was with Mr. Davis on the night in question, will testify substantially the same as Mr. Davis.

We assume that all of the above will give to you the same statements made in this office and subsequently recorded on records. We have made these recordings and will gladly furnish them to the Grand Jury upon your request. The testimony of other witnesses concerned may be had from the transcript of the coroner's inquest.

We have made a pretty thorough study of the case and find the testimony to be of such a contradictory nature that only an investigation by your committee can clarify the situation. We trust that you will feel free to call upon us at any time.

Sincerely yours,
Mary Alton Cutler, Executive Secretary, NAACP.

suits, and others who did were badly broken.

"To us this was costly because among these youth were thousands who were trained or receiving an education which would have prepared them to make substantial and necessary contributions. Their talent would have enabled us as a group to narrow the opportunity differential which exists between ours and the majority group."

Mr. Howard called upon the American government to assume the initiative in the General Assembly of the United Nations, now in session in Paris, for an "unadulterated peace offensive." He expressed the confidence that the majority of the oher peace-loving nations affilated with the UN would support our land.

Good's widow, who steadfastly maintained, on the stand, that her husband had not been drinking. However, the Coroner's report indicated that Good's body, after death, contained over 17 per cent alcohol. Thirteen per cent body content, according to the Coroner, is enough to make a man intoxicated.

An argument between the two men commenced when Good objected to Mrs. J. Brewer, who also resided at 11025 Compton Ave., Los Angeles, washing certain pans in the bathroom. Good is alleged to have become incensed when Maupin chastised him for threatening the woman.

The acme of social happiness is reached when one is so popular he is invited everywhere, yet finds his greatest satisfaction in staying at home.

IPP Opposed to Milk Increase

The Independent Progressive Party is opposed to a new increase in the price of milk to consumers on the grounds that the declining consumption of milk in Los Angeles County already has reached the danger point because of high prices, and on the further grounds that the profits of the large milk distributing companies, who would profit most from a new price increase, already are far greater than their profits in normal times.

votes of getting herself re-elected in the primaries.

Jury foreman Beach D. Lyon, sensitive about the majesty of the Grand Jury, explained: "Your Grand Jury stands ever ready to one and all who may wish to bring any matter of public import to its attention. It extends not only an earnest invitation to solicit its aid freely, but will lend a ready and sympathetic ear."

Heartened by the gracious invitation, leaders in the campaign to end police brutality in minority communities, and those actively seeking a thorough investigation of the Salcido and Burns killings by blood-thirsty police, are hoping the Grand Jury will somehow learn of the public clamor asking that it turn its "sympathetic ear" in that direction.

Police Beat

injured his ribs and cut one of his eyelids. When Johns refused to admit having stolen the car, the police stopped beating him. Later he was released in $1000 bail on suspicion of grand theft auto. The case was thrown out for lack of evidence when it came up in Superior Court Judge Thomas Ambrose's court.

Dr. R. F. Harwell of 1126 E. Vernon treated Johns, and is reportedly ready to testify as to the injuries caused by the beating.

According to Attorney H. L. Richardson who is representing Johns, the police refused to release the automobile even after Associate Justice Thomas P. White of the 2nd Appellate District sent them word to do so. The car has been turned over to the Motor Vehicle Department because it did not carry 1948 registration plates.

Richardson stated that his client plans to sue the police for false arrest and for the injuries he received.

How an injured cable calls for help

1. Here's the "ear"—an electronic ear called a low insulation alarm. It listens for underwater cables to signal they're in trouble. Right now the meter shows something's happened . . . perhaps a sharp submerged rock has cut a cable . . . and vigilant telephone men using another testing device locate the break that may be miles away.

2. On the job fast, a repair barge grapples for the cable and lifts it from its underwater bed . . . guided almost to the exact spot by the distant test center. And the moment the break was discovered, other telephone people in the Traffic Control Bureau set up emergency routes to make any delay on your calls as brief as possible.

3. At top speed, skilled workmen splice in a new section and the cable is soon back in service. Although there are hundreds of underwater crossings in the West's many bays and rivers, such emergencies are infrequent. But telephone people are on the job 24 hours a day to keep your telephone ready to work for you any time you need it.

4. When you make a telephone call, you hire a valuable servant for low wages . . . a more useful servant than ever before. It can do more jobs, run more errands. For today there are twice as many telephones in the West as ten years ago. Thousands more go in each month. And each new phone added makes your telephone that much more useful.

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

Investigating the Investigator

Some time ago The California Eagle suggested that it might be more profitable to the American people if the investigator (Parnell Thomas and gang) were investigated instead of permitting the investigator to continue his investigatons.

Now, it seems, that very thing is happening.

Drew Pearson has dug up some very interesting facts concerning the Parnell Thomas family. Parnell Thomas, member of Congress representing New Jersey, has not only been getting kickbacks from four of his clerks, cleaning women and stenographers, and receiving contributions from the families of two soldiers he kept out of combat, but he has also thought up some other methods by which he can squeeze money out of the pocketbook of Uncle Sam.

As far back as 1940, Congressman Thomas got the idea of having his secretaries contribute part of their pay to a pool to be used in his election campaign. His first secretary paid in $12.50 per month; his second, $7.50. These secretaries were paid by the United States government, and it is against the law to deduct any part of such salaries for any purpose.

Un-American?

Then again when the United States Army refused to send an airplane to Panama so the Congressman's son, Parnell Thomas, Jr., could travel free to Washington to visit his father, the House Un-American Activities Committee voted to pay for Parnell's ticket.

Thomas has a special telephone direct from his committee office in Washington to his home in Allendale, N.J., paid for by the taxpayers of America. His number is Allendale 1-3313. He keeps this phone, Pearson says, on the pretext that it's for committee business.

Thomas insists upon having blank vouchers, signed, to be filled in as he sees fit. The Un-American Activities Committee has one of the most generous appropriations in Congress. But Thomas seems to know how to spend the dough. And even to ask for more.

One of his clerks is paid $3,000 per year by the Committee. But she spends her time in Thomas' private office, copying lists of the names of voters in his district.

From six to a dozen girls were hired at various times, all at government expense, to address envelopes to the voters in New Jersey. He sent in a bill for rooms in the swank Mayflower Hotel, at $20 per day, which he said were used as conference rooms. But the conferences were held in the regular offices on Capitol Hill, not in luxurious bedrooms in the Mayflower.

So Parnell Thomas seems to have come to the end of the lane. And the turning shows a crooked road ahead for him. If, in November, not quite three weeks ahead, we, the voters of America, can have enough backbone to go to the polls and elect members of Congress opposed to such trickery, we may get rid of Thomas, the Un-American Committee, and all the connivery that has stamped this 80th Congress one of the worst in history.

Vote, November 2, and get your friends to vote, for Wallace. For a liberal Congress that will support him.

Wallace on the Beam

When Secretary of State George Marshall left Washington for the UN meeting in Paris to continue his policy of not negotiating with the Soviet Union towards making the peace, Henry Wallace, candidate for president on the Progressive Party ticket, pressed his demand for an immediate parley with Russia to end the cold war.

There's the difference between the Progressive candidate and the candidate of the party that continues to halt between two opinions. President Truman, candidate for re-election on the Democratic ticket, had proposed sending Chief Justice Fred Vinson to confer with Premier Stalin on the troublesome question of Berlin. But Winston Churchill of England objected. So Marshall flew across the Atlantic to persuade Truman not to try to settle any differences with Russia. Truman yielded.

"A timid, uncertain man, beset by fears," is the way Wallace described President Truman, when he heard of the incident. "A man deferential to corporation presidents, bankers, admirals and Churchill."

Wallace said he saw Churchill take over our foreign policy "by bluff and bluster" in 1946. Shall we yield to him again in this instance? He has no authority any more, not even in England. Why, then, should he try to dictate to us?

It is well we have some one firm enough to demand a straight course for America, when everyone else is wavering. Henry Wallace shows he is on the beam in every way. Let's put him in the White House, where he can really guide the destiny of our great country.

Civil Rights Issue

By TED POSTON

How did American civil rights fare in the Year of our Lord, 1948—three years after our second victorious war to make the world safe for Democracy?

The whole issue was "plunged into a confusion and an uncertainty that is unmatched in years," the American Civil Liberties Union says in an 88-page repart called "Our Uncertain Liberties."

On the credit side, the U. S. Supreme Court, which the ACLU calls "the government mainstay of our traditional rights," made certain advances.

The report notes that the country's highest tribunal ruled unanimously that Negro students are entitled to the same educational facilities as whites, that all Americans are entitled to live where they please, regardless of restrictive covenants, and that political support of candidates by labor newspapers is not covered by the Taft-Hartley Act ban on political campaign expenditures by labor unions.

On the debit side, the ACLU said, the high court on two occasions refused to review Congressional contempt cases involving the constitutionality of the mandate of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

On the lower level, the organization said 12 Communist Party officials were indicted "under the Smith peace-time sedition act for association and opinions allegedly advocating forcible overthrow of the government," and a U. S. District Court upheld the validity of the "anti-Communism oath provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act as a reasonable requirement of unions to drive out disruptive elements."

Adding to the confusion, the ACLU said, was the report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights, "a major accomplishment," and the failure of Congress to enact anti-poll tax, anti-lynching and fair employment legislation.

Similarly, the report noted, Congress passed a bill establishing a claims commission to settle losses suffered by Japanese and Japanese-Americans evacuated from the West Coast during the war, but the Un-American Activities Committee continued its mistreatment of witnesses and refused Dr. Edward U. Condon a hearing after publishing unsupported charges that he was our weakest link in atomic security."

On the whole, the ACLU decided, however, civil rights came out on top.

"Over-all totals of itemized balance sheets covering Federal courts and agencies, State courts, Congress, international and private agencies," it said, "show debits and credits on civil rights as viewed by ACLU standards amounting to 48 on the favorable side against 34 unfavorable."

The report, which covers 1948 through August, adds:

"Speculation as to the future courses of American liberties in so uncertain an era is obviously risky. In such a complex, the role of advocates of our Bill of Rights without compromise or favoritism, is more essential than ever to the preservation and extension of democratic liberties.

"It is to that formidable challenge that the Union will continue to devote its efforts to the limit of its abilities."

To Be or Not to Be

Representatives of the United States in Paris have told the little nations to quit trying to patch up any differences between the Soviet Union and the "Western Powers." The note sent to these nations was also signed by Great Britain and France. It was couched in such terms that the lesser nations could do little else but draft a resolution rebuking the Soviet Union for "threatening the peace."

Countries who depend, or who think they depend upon the generosity of America to help them through the winter, can be excused for this dilly-dallying. They are like Hamlet, not knowing on which side to be. Not able to follow the dictates of their hearts and of their consciences, for fear of losing food for their stomachs.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

Although the rumblings we hear to the greatest number, tell us the world is going straight to perdition, but fast, too, there are a few echoes we hear now and then which lead us to believe the brakes are being applied, and that if we work hard enough we can stop, if we will, this general downhill rush to destruction.

One of these strong brakes is the World Council of Churches, recently organized in Amsterdam, Holland. The Church at long last, seems to have heard the alarm, and althuogh it evidently is not yet fully awake, it nevertheless realizes it is time to get up and do something about things. Others have been up and at work long ago.

There were 450 delegates, representing 145 different churches from 40 different countries, from both sides of the "Iron Curtain" —Greek Catholic, Old Catholic, and Angelican, as well as virtually all of the other Protestant denominations. The Roman Catholic Church did not see fit to send any representative, and neither did the Russian Orthodov Church. But the hundreds who were gathered together did not let this little rift bother them oo much.

It was the getting together of the churches of the world to work out a program of peace that was the great thing, and if a few refused to play like surly children, why, the game must not be spoiled on their account.

Dr. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, presided and Dr. John R. Mott, of the United States, and the Rev. Daniel T. Niles, of Ceylon, were co-chairmen of the Youth Department.

Dr. Fisher, the Archbishop of Canterbury, must not be confused with the Rev. Hewlett Johnson, the Dean of Canterbury. The Dean of Canterbury is so liberal in his views, and so anxious to promote peace with the Soviet Union, and with all the world; he wishes so strnogly for the governments and the churches of the world to organize for the welfare of all mankind, especially for the working people, that he has been dubbed a "Communist." One of his nicknames is the "Red Dean."

Nobody has ever called the Archbishop of Canterbudy any such names as that.

By the same sign, the World Council of Churches which the Archbishop of Canterbury helped to organize is altogether different from the Council which the Dean would have preferred, if he could have had his way.

Indeed one of the delegates at the assembly in Amsterdam remarked, "May one not wonder at the fact that in our preparatory material the whole range of problems concerning property, land, rent, capital, interest, and money is not even touched upon, let alone discussed and worked upon, as though this territory were tabu?"

The problems which sear the souls of the working men and women of the world, were still discarded for the pie-in-the-sky variety. Communism was condemned, as was to be expected. But Dr. Mackay, president of Princeton Theological Seminary, declared a Christian community would have to be "supremely a comradeship upon the missionary road," and John Foster Dulles, who, believe it or not, was one of the principal speakers, said that "the problem of Communism could not be solved by trying to crush out Communism."

So you see this great World Council of Churches has only just been born. It hasn't even taken its first steps. But the great fact remains that the Chrisians of the world, as represented by the churches, have come together at long and have agreed upon certain principles through which they will work together for the establishment of that Kingdom of Heaven which Jesus preached almost 2000 years ago.

The entire world is watching this new World Council. The New York secretary of the Campaign for World Government wrote to the delegates: "In the name of the unspeakable agonies and frustrations of two World Wars, in the name of that third which must ot be, we beg you at Amsterdam to speed the day in which the kingdom of this world shall become the kingdom of our God and His Christ.

"We urge you to endorse the building of a federal world government. We hold that this must be universal, democratic, nonmilitary, with law enforcement upon the guilty individual as in our own federal pattern . . . Universal, democratic world government is the political implementation of Christianity."

The World Council of Churches didn't endorse a federal world government. But it no doubt will. Later. When it begins to walk. And to talk. And to take its place, as it must, in the parliament of man.

The Unscientific "Science" of Fascism

By PAUL FRENCH

Under the misanthropic title of "People Are No Damn Good," there appeared in a Negro paper of Los Angeles—of course, it would be The Tribune—an article on August 14, which affords a view of the anti-human and hence anti-Negro character of what passes as "science" in fascist "thinking." Its theme was:

"If people were inherently good, we'd be better off. . . . It would be impossible to persuade them to go to war. . . . They wouldn't need laws. . . . People are uniformly cruel, vicious, malignant. And to say that this is the result of circumstances is sheer nonsense."

That this is anti-Negro, and false, "science," is clear, since it holds that "inferiority" and "superiority" are, within the framework of the general badness of everybody, also "inherent" and not due to any "result of circumstance," or, speaking more precisely, to environment. It is what only fascists can call "science." And is derived from the Mendelian theory that there exists some immortal and mystical "hereditary material" in the living organism, which is causeless and unknowable, and which bars qualitative change by scientifically selected environmental change.

It is not strange that a Negro paper should express such fascist anti-Negro view, when it defends the reactionary and fascist bourgeois ideology in every other phase of social and political life. For nobody can support the capitalist class today in all other respects, and fail to support its fake "science" and anti-social "theories." And these are everywhere being spread under all manner of disguises. Hence —"People are no damn good."

Hence, also, two recent books which have excited wide comment, mostly ignorant: One, Fairfield Osborn's Our Plundered Planet, and, secondly, William Vogt's Road to Survival. Both books appear under the guise of an argument for soil conservation. And soil conservation is, of course, a highly progressive thing. However, since soil conservtion can be made really effective only under condition that capitalistic private property rights in land are abolished.

Since neither Osborn nor Vogt proposes such a revolutionary step, they have to fall back to the reactionary "theory" of the long-dead Malthus, the theory of "over-population," which, in turn, has been resurrected by present-day fascism to excuse the so-called "need for war" and imperialism. It is not quite accidental, perhaps, that Mr. Vogt "happens" to be a high official in the Pan-American Union, Wall Street's political arm in Latin-America.

This "over-population" idea is being widely propagandized right now, as and ideological preparation of the American people for war—a war for world domination by Wall Street abroad, under the pleasant term of "American leadership," and, as a twin policy, fascism at home. "Newsweek" of Sept. 27, reports that the American Association for the Advancement of Science (!) had "heard several learned papers showing that population growth is outstripping natural resources." A British "congress on population" likewise.

But "Newsweek" draws the social and political conclusions which these bourgeois scientists hesitate to voice. It says right out that, if Vogt's book is correct, then Italy must get back its African colonies, and that the "set of ideas about the treatment of colonies, which sound fine; higher standards of living for colonial populations," etc., are all a mistake, and that, "in such a world, selfishness will be stronger than good will, and nations which feel themselves threatened will want to grab instead of share."

The imperialist, fascist trend in this ideology is apparent. And it bears with it the undertones of purely anti-human viewpoints. Vogt, for example, declares that —"it is criminal to waste land, while at the same time increasing the number of those who must live upon it, not only by procreation, but by a decrease in infant mortality along with an increase in logevity."

Since both Osborn and Vogt express little hope that land conservation can be attained—and of course it cannot without a revolutionary change in property relations in land, which neither of them even dare speak of—then the fascist implication is clear. The more infants die, the better; and aged people should be destroyed as a measure of "social betterment." Disease prevention is obviously wrong, and just as obvious is it that "superior" races should lengthen their lives by shortening the lives of "inferior" races. Thus "over-population" in relation to "food supply" would be avioded.

This has been for some time a constant theme of Manchester Boddy, whose columns drip with fascist ideology. This refurbished Malthusianism affords an "ethical" apology for finance imperialism and the cannibalism of its fascist political policies.

But this whole "over-population" theory is false and always was. Progressive science refutes it completely, refuting also the "theory of heredity" as presently expressed by the followers of Mendel in genetics, who hold that heredity and not environment rules all species, and are bound to conclude that population must be limited to certain "fixed" ratio to the usable land area, which, also, is "fixed" by "natural limitation."

These un-scientific "scientists" hold that deserts and arctic areas

W. J. Wheaton Says

THE POLITICAL HANDICAP: Prize, the occupation of the White House for four years and their keep. The race is for all ages. No handicap for, nor weight for age. The only condition being that contestants be born in the U. S. A., forty or more years of age, a clean political record, and promises which can be repudiated to a gullible public.

At present the odds on the entrants are as follows: Tom Dewey, who rides the elephant, with Earl Warren as co-jockey; Harry Truman, astride the Missouri mule—Alvin Barkley, co-pilot; Harry Wallace, Glen Taylor, musician, co-driver in the "One Horse Shay." The dixiecrats have entered two nondescripts, who are riding a weird looking animal whose head is placed where its tail ought to be. That entry is entirely overlooked by the betters because of the extra weight of bigotry, intolerance, and the fact of the head being placed on the wrong end.

The "morning line" make sthe elephant even money; the donkey two to one; the shay fifty to one; while you can make your own price on the nondescript. Odds may change when they enter the stretch on or before November 1.

Seriously, this is one of the most important political decisions that has confronted the voters of the USA in decades. There is more at stake than appears on the surface. It may be peace for the world or destruction of civilization. Aside from the labor question, the major party's position is quite similar.

Summed up in its entirety, the matter resolves into a desire on the part of some for a change in the personnel of the White House. As we have before stated the Taft-Hartley labor act is the only prominent contention which confronts the voters. True, there are some measures that are of more than passing interest to certain groups of the citizens, such as the Civil Rights measure, proposed by the present tenant of the nation's Mansion; that proposal created the monstrosity

One other aspirant places human rights in the vanguard of his political ideoligy.

Wishful emotion and practical thinking, and acting are very essential in these turbulent days. But when it comes to the test one can depend on the thoughtful judgment of the proletariat: They seldom are wrong. When all of the claptrap of "Who shot John" has been shouted and political promises analyzed, the voters of the nation will have made up their minds and acted accordingly.

We received a letter from our friends, the three Mary Anns, supplemented by Josh, inviting us to spend a week end at the farm. It was written by Mary Ann III on a typewriter. She said that grandmother had "givit" her on the 13th milestone fo life.

We will chide her for not letting us know of such an important event, and will warn her not allow it to happen again. Josh said that the young turkeys were ready for the spit, and Mary Ann II said that her vegetable garden did fine this year. All of this with Mary Ann One's ability in the cuisine department, gave visions of a bacchanalian feast, minus the wines. Mary Ann is an Apostle of abstinence when it comes to alcohol. She told us that one time Josh was so addicted to its use that it promised to disrupt family ties. Ever since she had discouraged the use of any beverage containing alcohol.

Every one respects her idea. Then again we longed to hear some of her sage philosophy, and her motherly solicitation about our health, and the realization of a true bond of unsullied friendship. It makes life worth living.

Being both a baseball and football fan, we journeyed out to Galileo to watch a game in which the son of a select acquaintance was playing. We had heard that Walter Crenshaw had the prospects of a star, and, without ego, we can say that we are acquainted with the fine points of the game.

Walter has the making of as fine a guard a we have seen since the days of Walt Gordon Sr. Walter is fast; has the making of accurate passer, and above all, the intestinal gift which a football player must have to be successful. Walter has that and it is our prediction that he will go far. High is lucky to have Walt Cranshaw.

Booker T. Washnigton Services Center has the nucleus of some fine athletes. We noticed some good basketball players among the teen-agers. We have not heard lately of what has been accomplished in the raising of finance for the proposed building. May be that sicknes has prevented us from having contact with the leaders and we have lost touch. We strolled into the Center the other evening when the CARPE DEIM Club, that civic minded coterie of young women that has accomplished much for the civic welfare of the community, was holding a barn dance. The costumes were varied and appropo. Farmerettes; milkmaids; hicks of the first water; silo washers; horse wranglers, with their rodeo outfits of corral equipment bales of hay.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

One Man's Opinion

The CIO post card campaign, designed to acquaint the Mayor with the public clamor for a thorough Grand Jury investigation of the police killing of Herman Burns may get Mayor Bowron out of his presently aloof frame of mind; admittedly, the thought is far-fetched.

Last Friday afternoon, a delegation visited the Mayor in his ivory tower to seek his cooperation in finding out the cause of Herman Burn's death and to insure prosecution of the guilty policeman; it was not a happy occasion for the leading citizens who headed the delegation, nor was it an occasion to add glory to the history of Los Angeles.

JOHN M. LEE

Indicative of the tenor of the afternoon were the statements of a former policeman who volunteered the false information that Herman Burns was a bad actor and, by implication, should have been killed. This man villified the Negro press and as he talked the inference came through clearly that it was he and his kind that spoke for and led the Negro people and not the NAACP, or community forces that dared stand manfully upright and fight against unlawful police activity.

Mayor Bowron was visibly happy to have this man, who acted in the tradition of Uncle Tom, of past and shameful lore, stand before the bar of public opinion and classify the people of the race from whence he sprung, as less than human, to be controlled only by club and pistol-whipping police. It is not to the Mayor's credit that he permitted this man to set forth the principle that because a man is difficult for the police to handle, he should be killed.

Law and order in any community is never more a responsibility of the citizenry than it is of the police; a community that is plagued by a body of brutal, swash-buckling policemen, who illegally search, seize and arrest, is as much a lawless community as is one that is over-run by thugs, gangsters and racketeers. If Mayor Bowron subscribes to the theory that the only way to control the lawless element in the neglected minority communities is to give the police the power of life and death, then he differs little with the policy of his predecessor in police matters.

There is not a vindictive spirit abroad in the Negro community because Herman Burns, his neck broken, died while he was in the custody of an undetermined number of policemen who could not have manufactured a charge against him of any greater seriousness than disturbing the peace. What the people want is an honest determination of the cause of death and the names of the policemen who clubbed him until his lifeless body crashed to the pavement.

The stories told by the policemen at the Coroner's inquest who admitted they were on the scene of the crime varied so, it made you wonder if they were all talking about the same killing. It has been denied that uniformed policemen were on the scene, yet competent witnesses say there were. The people have a right to know who killed Herman Burns, and no private deals or public sell-outs will change that fact.

Considering that the cold-blooded shooting of young Augustin Salcido preceded the Burns killing by a few months, it must be recognized that the police hold the lives of minority citizens cheaply. Young Salcido was shot to death in a lonely street. He was alone, unarmed, and could not have been a threat to the life or security the police who had him in tow; Burns and his handcuffed brothers were surrounded by a small army of policemen. The police were never in danger. They say they had to listen to some bad language, but that was no reason to club a man to death.

Strangely enough, there are policemen who do not like what happened to Salcido and Burns. It is for their sake as well as for the sake of the law-abiding leaders and citizens of the minority communities that the gangster spirit must be eleminated from the police force. Mayor Bowron, now busy flirting with the political king-makers, may find it expedient to listen to the siren song of the supremists, but the day will come when a citizen from the other side of the tracks will get ganged up on by the police, then what?

POTPOURRI

WASHINGTON — According to The St. Louis American, the board of directors of the NAACP has been requested to conduct an investigation to determine whether or not any of its officers and employees are engaging in partisan political activity in violation of the rules of the Association.

Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, and Leslie Perry, administrative assistant in the Washington Bureau of the NAACP, have been charged with seeking to deliver the Negro vote to Democrats.

Val J. Washington, assistant Republican campaign manager, made the charges. He branded as biased two syndicated columns of White, one criticizing Dewey and the other praising Truman.

The Federation of Community Councils of Los Angeles County will hold its 17th annual conference at the First Baptist Church, 760 South Westermoreland ave., Thursday, October 28. The general theme for discussion will be "Organization for Effective Community Action."

The Federation consists of 89 local community councils composed of representative citizens organized for the improvement of their communities. The movement is sponsored by the County Board of Supervisors. There are some 5000 members in the organization. Mrs. Ralph E. Lewis is chairman.

A NO vote on ballot proposition No. 3 was recommended today by Congressman George P. Miller, (6th District). The Congressman said: "In this day of streamlined trains, the people of the country should think of increasing the safety factor connected with their operation rather than reducing it.

"I become indignant when I see advertisements of the proponents of this measure to the effect that it will save he people money. It is ridiculous to think that the small saving would be reflected in lower rates.

"It is time we quit taking liberties with the safety of the traveling public and operating personnel of railroads by the use of trick catch phrases."

San Francisco Congressman Franck R. Havenner (former Secretary to Governor Hiram Johnson, also President of the California Railroad Commission, now the Public Utilities Commission, before being elected to Congress) today issued a statement against ballot Proposition No. 3, which proposes to repeal the California Full-Crew Law.

"Governor Hiram Johnson dealt a heavy blow against the loss of lives of travellers on railroads and train service employees, when in 1911 he approved the Full-Crew Law, passed by a unanimous vote of the State Legislature. "Today freight trains are twice as long, more than double in tonnage because of much larger equipment, and run at twice the speer.

"I urge the voters of all political parties to pile up a large "No Vote" against Proposition No. 3 on November 2nd, and keep a good railroad safety law that has more than proven its real value for 37 years."

"Proposition 13 must be adopted so that a majority of California citizens can regain a voice in the government of their state," Loren Miller, prominent attorney and civic leader, declared this week in endorsing the measure for reapportionment of the State Senate on a population basis.

"As the area based State Senate now stands, a voter in Inyo-Mono counties has 269 times as much representation as a voter in Los Angeles County," Miller said.

"This is definitely unfair, undemocratic and contrary to American tradition. No amount of platitudes on the part of Proposition 13 opponents can alter this truth. Their billboards shouting forth opposition on the grounds of 'protecting he American way of life' show a profound ignorance of the American way of life, whose fundamental principle is an equal vote for all citizens."

"If these people want to play with numbers, then let them view the startling disparity between one senator for the 3,803,700 people of Los Angeles County and one senator for Inyo-Mono's 14,400," Miller said.

Among other community leaders urging a Yes vote or Proposition 13 are George A. Beavers, Jr. Norman O. Houston, Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins, Titus Alexander, Hugh MacBeth and Rev. D. D. Turpeau.

The Aged and Blind Aid Constitutional Amendment, Proposition 4 on the November 2 ballot, definitely aids the needy blind of California. So says Frank L. Gardner, a partially self-supporting blind man and chairman of the Legislative Committee of California Blind.

The amendment has been drafted to meet all requirements of Federal Social Security. In addition to increasing aid to the blind and the aged, it will also liberalize real and personal property allowances. The measure will up assistance to the blind to $85 per month, and those over 65 years of age to 75 per month.

Vote YES in November on No. 4.

A 3-party panel public forum on forthcoming elections will be held in the First Unitarian Church, 2936 West 8th street, on Wednesday evening, 8 o'clock, October 20.

Will Rogers, Jr. will represent the Democrats; J. Ames Crawford, Republicans; and Edward Mosk, Progressives. Admission free.

NEW YORK CITY — Damages totaling $20,000 from Deputy Chief Inspector Frank Fristensky, Jr., Patrolman Thomas O'Brien and Patrolman Joseph Calandrillo are being sought by two persons who were arrested for picketing and were then acquitted in magistrates court.

The two plaintiffs are Robert McKelvey and Annette Richards.

Without even hearing the defense, Magistrate Harry Andraws ruled that the police had failed to establish a prima facie case against the pickets. He said: "The defendants are discharged. They are absolutely there legally. There is not the slightest doubt about it."

Fourteen anti-draft pickets arrested on the final day of registration in front of Washington Irving High School, were also acquitted September 27.

Councilman Don A. Allen, 7th District, advises that:

The City Council took action on September 24th authorizing the President of the Council to execute a contract for the financing of the improvement of Santa Rosalia Drive, from a point west of Hillcrest Dr. to the 1st alley east of Buckingham Rd.

George W. Rochester, prominent attorney, former member of the State Senate from Los Angeles County, is another civic minded leader who urges a "YES" vote on Proposition 13 on the November ballot.

Mr. Rochester says:

As a former member of the State Senate from Los Angeles County, I know of the injustice, inequality and discrimination suffered by our County, and the millions of dollars it has cost the taxpayers of our County, thruogh the preferential appropriations the boss-ruled minorities have voted themselves, under the present territorial system of selecting Senators.

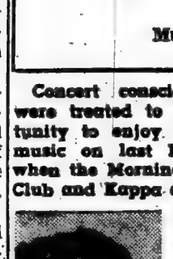
Until 1926, California progressed under an equal representative legislative system, and it was only because of lack of information that our people neglected to protect themselves.

Judge Stanley Moffatt will continue in the race for Congress in the 18th district, it was announced today by the Independent Progressive Party District Council and by Judge Moffatt.

"Moffatt is the only candidate who defends the civil rights of all Americans.

"Most Important, Moffatt is the only candidate who knows that the whole world, including our counry, would be the loser in another war, and who stands for continued negotiations among the Great Powers to isure peace.

"Henry Wallace and Stanley Moffatt are candidates of a new party, a party without bosses, without politicans, without big industraillsts and financiers. They owe their allegiance to no one and nothing except the American people and America's great democratic heritage. The IPP Executive Council urges all voters of the 18th Congressional District to work for and vote for Wallace and Moffat.



The State Council of the Woman's Political Study Club, held its final pre-convention meeting in Riverside last week. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Bettye Hill, State Executive Secretary for the group.

The principal business under discussion concerned plans for the annual state covetio to be held i Los Angeles, October 28 and 29. Convention delegates will meet at the Neighborhood Community Church, Forty-seventh place and San Pedro street. Climax of the convention will be a farewell banquet to take place in he tbanquet room of the Hotel Alexandria, Sixth and Spring, on the evening of October 29. Plans for the affair are being formulated by Mrs. Carrie Brown, program chairman. Reservations at $3.00 per plate may be secured by calling Mrs. Belle Riley, MA 9-3511.

SHARPS & FLATS

By
ALBERT J. McNEIL
Music Critic of the California Eagle

Concert conscious Angelenos were treated to another opportunity to enjoy an evening of music on last Friday evening when the Morning View Charity Club and Kappa and Sigma Sigma Chapters of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority were joint sponsors of a piano recital featuring Velma Wood Williams, UCLA graduate and former City School teacher. Although we were the recipient of a gracious invitation from one of the sponsoring groups, an important rehearsal schedule made a personal appearance impossible; however, the concert received coverage through the efforts of a sincere music lover.

Mr. McNeil

Opening with a group of Beethoven Sonatas, Mrs. Williams included several of the more popular works of Chopin, Nathaniel Dett's Juba Dance, Samuel Coleridge-Taylor, and the immortal eRigoletto Paraphrase of Verdi.

Mrs. Williams, although not a lynamic pianist, certainly embodies the feeling for form and nuance into her playing. There was a definite flare for brilliance and power. The use of lighting as an aid to a greater effective rendition of the Beethoven Sonata movements was a noble idea, but not particularly in character with this type of presentation. The lack of tonal depth and coloring was possibly due to the small instrument used.

We regret sincerely that the audience present in the Embassy was not larger; those present, however, were most appreciative. RUTH MARKOWITZ, Lyric Soprano and CHARLES FERGUSON, Basso

Our good friend Dr. Serge Radamsky was kind enough to make a joint vocal concert at the Assistance League Playhouse last Sunday available to us. The presentation featured two new artists, both of whom have been associated with Radamsky in several of his operatic presentations. The first half of the program featured such favorites as Faure's "Apres un Reve" and Carissimi's "Vittoria, Mio Core." The soprano, Mrs. Markowitz, has a rich voice characterized by undeveloped tones both in the upper and lower registers.

Mr. Ferguson's register is most satisfying particularly in the extreme lower register. The greatest control rests here rather than in the upper register. His resonant voice was exemplified in the "Invocazione di Orfeo" from Peri's "Euridice."

Mary Hempelman was an excellent and sympathetic accompanist for the two singers.

EIGHTH NOOTES

The Little Opera Workshop Guild is fast at work on their two presentations scheduled for November 30th. "Carmen" and "Aida" in condensed versions will be the offerings. Mary Louise Jones will appear as Carmen, Mary Young as Micaela, Carl Gipson as Don Jose, George Comfort as Escamillo, Jeanne Jackson and Louise Meza as the two gypsy girls, and Robert Williams as Zuniga. In the "Aida" cast will be Ella Mae Hillson as Aida, George Comfort, William Gordon, Jeanne Jackson, Robert Williams, Louisa Meza, and Ollie McDonald. The choir of the Independent Church will be the chorus used in both presentations. . . . The Los Angeles Musicians Association will hold its regular monthly meeting Sunday, October 31st, at the home of Anna Griffith Morrow promptly at 4:30 p. m. . . . The Southeast Symphony Association president and members were presented in Introductory Tea on last Sunday. . . . Carol Brice on the 24th of October. . . . IT IS INTERESTING TO NOTE THAT THE LOCAL PHILHARMONIC'S SERIES DOES NOT INCLUDE A RACE ARTIST. . . . Welcome to the San Francisco Opera which arrives next week.

are rigid barriers to increased food production; also, there are "fixed" maximums of how much food plants and animals can be grown on these "fixed" land areas. However, the Soviet genius I. V. Michurin, who proved how both plant and animal life may be transformed by enviroment, has introduced a new and higher stage of biology, which upsets these bourgeois scientists completely.

Michurin, and after him Lysenko, have proved that plants and animals acquire new qualities under the influence of the changed environment, and that these qualities may then be transmitted by heredity, heredity being only an accumulation of previous environmental effects. Thus, there are no limits to the creation of new qualities in cultivated plants. Plants which never before grew in desert heat or arctic cold can be grown in both. Likewise, plants and animals whose maximum productivity were previously regarded as "fixed," can be made, by change through environmental process, to produce far more.

Actually, this progressive science is but the expression of living reality, as seen with our own eyes, when not blinded by the obscurantism of bourgeois and decadent "science." What mother or father does not yearn that their children shall have "a good up-bringing" environment?

The London cockney, reared in the slums, differs in visible physique from the men of the British "upper" and well-fed classes. Just so, as any tailor knows, the out-door men of the western states require, on an average, coats with larger chest measurement than the men of the eastern cities. Dr. Mrady, health writer of the L. A. Times, speaking of such obscure thing as wisdom teeth, said on October 4, that—"Through generations of disuse, their line is undergoing degeneration, affecting the entire body structure." This, he said, results from eating soft foods, requiring little if any grinding.

Environment dominates heredity, bourgeois and fascist "science" to the contrary. But fascism and reaction dominate propaganda in America today. Hence the need for progressive people to be vigilant against the pollution of science by these insidious trends so useful to war and fascism.

Food Caravan of AFL & IAM Locals Highlights Meeting

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Oct. 11—Arrival of a food caravan fro Los Angeles, brought to the striking maritime unions by A and IAM locals for Wallace, highlighted the mass meeting Wilmington Bowl, Saturday, October 9, sponsored by the Harb Joint Maritime Committee. Two thousand five hundred peop present rose to their feet in thunderous applause as 300 membe of AFL and IAM locals paraded into the Bowl.

Chairman Bill Lawrence of ILMU Local 13 (and president the Los Angeles CIO Council) welcomed the delegation. Fra Green, business agent of the Los Angeles Jewelry Workers' Unio acted as spokesman of the delegation, introducing rank and file and officials from the more than 40 locals who sponsored the fo caravan. He also introduced actress Karen Morley, who h brought a carload of food. Green said: "We recognize the hea of your struggle as the fight for democratic trade unionism in t United States. AFL and IAM workers know it is essential for t oil and maritime workers to win their strikes and pin the ea back on he Taft-Hartley Law and its NLRB."

Radio commentator Averill Berman brought the audience in loud bursts of applause with a fighting speech, in which he sta ed: "Waterfront workers, fighting for their unions and hirin halls, are taking on the Taft-Hartley Law. Their fight will d termine whether we have a free country or a police state. Whe workers see through red-baiting and race prejudice, they, ha the unity that cannot be split!"

C. E. Fredericks, representing Oil Workers Local 128, describe the difficult fight of the Oil Workers against "monopolies wor billions." He said Oil Workers' picket lines stretch "from He to breakfast." He said: "I wish to thank particularly the Lon shoremen and the NMU members who have given us such wo derful support on the picket lines. We complied with the Taf Hartley Law, but the oil companies refuse to deal with us an way. Workers are being killed frequently in the refineries toda because they are not trained personnel and cannot observe prop safety precautions. But this recruitment of scabs by the oil con panies is not producing the oil and gasoline in quantities th companies speak of in their ads. With the continued support all unions and the public, we are going to win this strike!"

L. B. Thomas, representing ILNU Local 13, said: "The sh owners are trying to choose our leaders. If the employers pic the heads of unions, we will be back to the days before 1934. Th Tenney Committee has a list of 'subversive' organizations. Th list includes the Tom Mooney Defense Committee, although To has been out of jail and has been dead for some years, and th old Maritime Federation of the Pacific, which also ceased to exi 10 years ago!"

Chairman Lawrence introduced the delegation of "Rank an File NMU Seamen, who have been making a good fight to sto Lundeberg's raiding of Union Oil tankers, after the compan locked out NMU crews." The NMU delegation, headed by An thony Iucio, chairman of the NMU Policy Committee of San P dro, received an enthusiastic ovation.

Marine Firemen's agent, Gus Oldenberg, said the prese strike situation reminded him of 1934 and 1936, "with this diffe ence, that we have to fight such renegades as Harry Lundebe and Dave Beck." He said renegades from the labor moveme "are helping to direct the ship owners' moves from behind th scenes. The Marine Firemen complied with the Taft-Hartley La and all the ship owners offered us is an agreement to break away from the other unions on the bricks. They will have break the Firemen's Union before they can get the firemen break strikes!"

Hugh Bryson, president of the Marine Cooks & Steward brought a crescendo of applause and shouts of approval with speech that picked the "case" of the ship owners to pieces, an lyzing their program point by point. Bryson said Jack Brya present head of the Pacific American Shipowners' association, h been president of the company union on the waterfront befo 1934. "Jack got a promotion," Bryson said. "Our union w broken in 1921," Bryson stated, "and wages went down from $ to $40 a month. In 1934 we stuck together, as we did in 1946 a that's how we won the conditions that the Taft-Hartley Act trying to destroy today.

"And that's why I'm glad to be associated with Henry Wa lace and Glen Taylor," Bryson concluded, "fighting leaders of fighting party, who are leading the fight to repeal the Taft-Har ley Law and defeat all the senators and congressmen who vot for it! We are going to the nation to win! We know the Ame ican people will help us!"

Few people left the auditorium before the meeting was off cially adjourned, all being eager to hear IIMU Vice-Preside Louis Goldblatt give the main strike report. Goldblatt began h report with a quotation from a ship owner's speech at San Fra cisco during the 1934 strike. "This strike," said the shipown in 1934, "is a good investment and the best thing that has ha pened to San Francisco. When the workers are driven back wit out organization, we won't have to worry about them any mo in our generation. Labor is licked!" "That," Goldblatt state "shows the shipowners are the same old guys. They haven changed a bit in all these years! Labor was broken in 1886 a 1901. The leaders in those days were Mike Casey and An Furuseth. Big Business called them 'anarchists' and 'agitator Today union leaders who fight are called 'Reds.' It is all do to split labor's ranks."

Goldblatt continued, "The great dollar patriots don't ca where money comes from. Their flag is the dollar. They pick up money selling scrap iron to Japan right up to Pearl Harbo They got blood money selling oil to Mussolini before the Eth opian invasion. They made money selling arms to Fascist Fran to suppress democracy in Spain. They made money in Wor War II every time one of their government-insured ships w sunk by the Nazis."

He analyzed "the three main demands of the ship owners the ILMU, any one of which would have forced a strike." listed those as: (1) the question of overtime, with the Waterfro Employers asking 56 hours before payment of overtime; (2) v caions, with the employers refusing any days off and requirin longshoremen to be on call 24 hours daily, seven days a wee 365 days a year; (3) asked longshoremen to join in a hiring de with them which could have led to a suit for violation of t Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

He said the shipowners and waterfront employers would ha hailed Bridges as "a great 'labor statesman' if Bridges had re ommended acceptance of their phoney proposals." He said, "Uni of workers all over the world will achieve peace, decency, a progress for everyone." He said the WFTU in many countri had pledged not to work scab cargo.

BOOKS and AUTHORS

A LOOK AT BOOKS

Your neighborhood libraries are eager to be of service to everyone. Do you need books to help you for school, for work, or for recreation? Then get the "library habit." Remember their location and hours: Helen Hunt Jackson Branch, 2330 Naomi Ave.; Vernon Branch, 4504 South Central Ave. Both are open from 1:00 until 9:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, and on Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Among the new books recently received at the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch are the following:

"The Husband Who Ran Away," by Hildegarde Dolson, is the story of Addison Stubbs, whose wife and daughter manage his life with kindness and consideration — for everyone except Addison himself. One day after overhearing them making plans he starts running — away from his home and his office. He boards a truck and heads for New York City and things begin to happen fast. In the Museum of Natural History a melting young lady makes some interesting suggesions and other people, including the police department, play an exciting part in his transformation. It is a gay breezy adventure in laughter, and Addison's escapades are hilariously funny.

"Hurry, Hurry Home" is the new novel by John Klempner, author of the entertaining book, "Letter to Five Wives." This is the story of Sue, a woman who has lost her husband in the war. She leaves her twins with their domineering grandmother and takes a job singing with a band. Her visits to her home are very infrequent. Then her sister Nora's husband leaves her with too many children to care for and seldom sends enough money to meet their needs. Caz, a new band leader, enters their lives and plays a prominent part throughout the book. It is a lively tale full of humorous incidents and real people.

In the new book, "A Date With a Dish; a Cook Book of American Negro Recipes," the author, Freda deKnight, brings a wealth of experience to her task. She is the cooking editor of Ebony, popular national Negro magazine, and has loved cooking since she was a small child. This is a non-regional book containing recipes and menus from all over this country and our near neighbors. Many of the recipes show the influence of the Spanish, English, Italian, Balinese and East Indian, and there are the conventional dishes from all forty-eight states as well. All recipes have been tested for the average cook with easy-to-follow directions, but experts will easily find ways to elaborate on them. It is a book which will delight any housewife.

Dale Van Every, correspondent and writer, has a new book—"The Shining Mountain"—which is laid in the days of the expansion of our country. Matt Morgan's great dream is to explore the unknown West with Lewis and Clark. Matt is a trade and consil to the Indians and is betrayed by his so-called friend, Baptiste, who is more of an Indian than a Frenchman. This leads to circumstances which prevent the fulfillment of his dream of joining the Lewis and Clark expedition the first time. Then Nora holds him back because she wants Matt more than a home and roots. Both finally attain their goals by long and crooked paths.

Tenants Invited to Report Overcharges by Landlords

A total of $25,566 in illegal rent overcharges was paid to 204 Los Angeles tenants during September through the efforts of the Housing Expediter's local rent office, Ben C. Koepke, area rent director reported recently.

The majority of the refunds, Koepke explained, were made voluntarily by the landlords after penalties provided in the Federal rent law had been explained to them in individual "compliance conferences." Such conferences brought immediate restitution of $21,949 to tenants, forestalling prosecution in Federal courts.

"Perhaps one reason landlords prefer to settle these cases voluntarily," the rent director added, "is the fact that the law is very explicit about rent overcharges, including such attempted evasions as unreceipted bonus payments or the purchase of furniture as a pre-requisite to rental."

"Tenants who have paid more than the legal ceiling rental should report the fact to the area rent office for investigation."

The local area rent office is located 1206 Santee Street, Los Angeles.

The Road to Health

Appendicitis
by
C. Austin Whittier, M.D.
President, National Medical Association
San Antonio, Texas

When it came to sports, there were very few things that young Bill Barber couldn't do. He had three trophies for high school track meets, school letters and certificates for football and basketball.

The very night that his father had hurried to my office to tell me Bill was very sick, the boy had won a swimming contest. When Mr. Barber told me that Bill seemed to be in agony and that the pain was most severe in the lower right side of his abdomen, I rushed with the worried parent over to the Barber home.

I found that the young athlete was indeed in misery, although he had only a very slight fever. I was horrified to learn that Mrs. Barber had just given Bill a laxative to relieve "what might be only a bad stomach ache." I suspected acute appendicitis and knew that a laxative might prove very harmful.

Examination and a blood test confirmed my suspicions. Bill had acute appendicitis and had to have an immediate operation. We phoned for the ambulance and got him to the nearest hospital as quickly as possible. And it was almost too late. The appendix had burst just before the operation, spreading the infection through the boy's abdomen. This left Bill with an even more serious illness, call peritonitis, and his life was in danger.

But with penicillin and sulfa drugs, and good medical care in the hospital following the operation, Bill recovered completely and even was back at his sports a few weeks after completing his convalescence.

The appendix, as far as we know, is a useless organ of the body, but it can cause a great deal of trouble when it becomes inflamed. It is about four inches long and is normally about the width of a pencil. The appendix is attached to the beginning of the large intestine and easily becomes infected with germs.

A person may suffer from repeated attacks of what is known as "chronic appendicitis," when pain in the region of the lower right abdomen comes and goes. Such a person should be under the doctor's observation and he will decide if and when an operation is necessary.

But in Bill's case, it was acute appendicitis, and it is likely that the laxative which his mother innocently gave him increased the severe pressure on the boy's infected appendix, causing it to burst and spread its infection. That is why it is dangerous to give a sick person a laxative or an enema when there is a possibility of appendicitis.

Although not every pain in the region of the abdomen or right side means an inflamed appendix, when such a pain develops, the person should lie down and the doctor should be called at once. If the pain should be acute appendicitis, delay in calling the doctor or the use of home remedies may be serious or even fatal.

An appendectomy is a common and ordinarily simple operation, but if there has been delay it may be a very difficult procedure with uncertain outcome.

A Call to Arms

Nan Goode

O, the Fascists are riding, riding;
And the Nazis are all riding too,
Spreading wide the glad tidings, tidings
Of their grip on our Red, White, and Blue.

Cross the sea they are bragging,
bragging
To their comrades in far native lands
'Bout their progress in smearing,
gagging
Great America's famed freedom bands.

And their aides far away are cheering
They are wild o'er their ill-gotten gains
And they hasten to urge more smearing
Of America's fair, noble names.

What to do for a Cause fast dying,
Is for all righteous souls to decide;
Will they weakly stand by just sighing
While the Fascists and Nazis
still ride?

Or start liberty's bell a-ringing,
Bidding all freedom lovers to rise;
Come in haste, come a-winging,
winging
Rout the foes ere our sweet Freedom dies.

Vote for Wallace, ne'er fearing, fearing
What the Fascists and Nazis say.
Standing firm midst the jeering,
jeering
He's the man who can save the day.

Vote for Wallace when comes
November
If you'd have your loved freedom live
The Wall Street he'll dismember
With the hearty support you give.

While the Fascists and Nazis are riding
A brave Wallace is riding too.
And lie Jesus in suffering, abiding
To bring freedom to me and you.

Note on Economic Aid to Israe

Amid conflicting reports and careful buck-passing between the White House, the Department of State and the Export-Import Bank, one fact has become clear: if the Administration can get away with it, Israel is not going to get any economic aid from the Government of the United States. The reasons used to justify this attitude shift: one day they political, the next day technical, the third day they are due to "disturbed conditions" in Israel, the fourth day "the loan application is still under study." It is difficult to pin down the precise reason, just as it is difficult to pin down the party responsible for this denial of economic aid. But the fact remains.

It is perhaps unnecessary, at this late date, to take the reasons too seriously. Most people are aware by now that they are mere alibis. Still, let us keep some comparisons in mind.

Fierce civil wars rage in China and in Greece, and yet these countries receive economic aid. But Israel, where there reigns complete internal peace, is deemed too "disturbed" to be eligible for aid.

The Arab countries are still engaged in open agression. Their armies are on the soil of Pales- tine, not a day passes witho Jews or United Nations perso nel dying from their bulle they interfere with American a foreign shipping, and they ke their Jewish inhabitants in a st of abject terror. And yet the countries are considered eligi for American economic aid different forms. But Israel is fered one postponement after other, one excuse after anoth

Behind the scenes, the explan tion is whispered that the Unit States and Great Britain wish coordinate their policies on t issue: America should withhe assistance from Israel, wh Britain would withhold aid fr the Arabs. But this explanati too is untrue. Economic aid Arabs is given both by Ameri and by Britain. Military aid Britain to Transjordan has be resumed. The truth is that Isra is being singled out for cosmos discrimination. Almost alone all the countries outside the viet bloc it is denied Americ aid, despite the pledges to contrary. The explanations va the denial remains.

Statisticans predict 58 mill votes in the 1948 election, 10 m lion more than in 1944.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

THE BRILLIANT OFFERINGS of concert singer, Carol Brice, will be ours for the listening pleasure on Oct. 24, when the charming Alpha Kappa Alpha soror makes her second magnificent bow to local music lovers. Known as the possessor of one of the greatest voices in America today, Miss Brice, very uneffected and gracious, is quite interested in helping her sorority's local scholarship and building fund, therefore she is more than happy to make her Los Angeles appearance under their sponsorship. As you know, Philharmonic Auditorium is also the setting of the San Francisco Opera Company's official opening to the true metropolitan social season. The dates include October 19 through 31, so happens that Miss Brice's concert falls in line with the regular Opera series and is expected to bring out a capacity crowd of music lovers from all races. Behind the scene of the Concert this year, that is an annual project of the AKAwomen, is Mrs. Retha Beck, wife of Dr. William Beck. For the past six months, a major part of this charming woman's time has been devoted to the Brice Concert, her better half and the two little Becks have had to take the secondary position in her world of activities. Of course, out to make this one of the biggest and best concerts in the history of Alpha, am quite sure there is no surprise to this report, for those of us who have served actively on any committee of a huge affair, know fully the work entailed. Acting as little helpers are, Veda Van Brundt, Vivian Wilson, Landonia James, Lucille Bonnett, grand chapter basileius, and the over all chapters of Sigma, Alpha Gamma and Alpha Gamma Omega. For good measurement, the Ivy Pledge groups and the Phrateries of City College are also doing their bit. By the way, the patrons list went to press a day or two ago, and already the committee workers are assured of the success of the Brice Concert, so 'till Sunday Oct. 24, we will all patiently await the curtain call, when charming Carol Brice, whose voice is likened to that of a Cello, takes her second bow in our fair city....

NEW ADDITIONS

The Henderson Community Center, like all other organizations of note, opened its fall program on last Monday evening when Dr. E. I. Robinson gaveled the session to order. In store for all was the introduction of the new Directress of the center Mrs. Wilson, who was introduced by out going directress, Mary Lou Roberson, who has done a grand job of trail blaizing for the Center that is still in its infancy. Mrs. Wilson, who holds her papers from one of the nation's most outstanding schools of social work, is already for big things to happen at the center. Clarissa Matthews, Esther Griffith Merriweather, Benzell Graham, Bill Elkins, were all listed among board members present. At the next meeting, we will expect the presence of the three additional community members to the Board, Lawrence Johnson, Mrs. W. A. Wallace and Horace Mays. Believe me, the Center is a definite answer to a big community need with its nursery, dormitories and recreational facilities. Understand that many of the charitable orgs of the city are centering attention on the center for annual Yultide parties for needy children....

CROP 'N' TAILS MEET

The Crop 'N' Tail Riding club members were together last Sunday afternoon, when Tilly Kenner played the hostess role to the annual election meeting of the gay equestrians. Jane Criner, wearing her hair in a very attractive new manner was among the first to arrive on the scene. Dorothy Nicholas dropped in, minutes late and won the attention of all, in a royal blue creation, that

A "FORCED APPEARANCE OF INITIATES" (left) of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity was made Saturday night at the benefit "House Party" of the fraternity's Scholarship and House Campaign. The pictured pledges gave a performance for the guests and then mingled about getting th autographs of Alpha men. The jolly group added to the merriment of those attending the second of a series of six "House Parties" to be given at the Club Congo.

LOVELY OMEGA SWEETHEARTS and wives, added that needed spark to the banquet given for the newly initiated fraters. Stars Galore Support Alpha Phi Alpha House Benefit At Club Congo

The tremendous support of the public to the current Alpha Phi Alpha Scholarship and House Campaign to provide adequate scholarships and housing for Los Angeles' many "forgotten students" was given impetus at the second "House Party" given by the Alpha committee at the Club Congo last Saturday night.

Many unexpected entertainers made their attendance known to the emcees, J. T. Gipson and Bill Day, and expressed their eagerness to take part in the already lengthy program. Many of the scheduled guests and entertainers were prevented from appearing due to the early arrival of the "curfew hour." However, the interest in this campaign is so strong that the slighted artists have promised to return to the next party to "do their number."

"Bringing down he house" was international singing star, Bob Parrish, whose voice brought roud after round of applause from an enthusiastic audience. Spotting Peg Leg Bates in the audience, the famous dancer was obliged to make a command performance.

Noticeable was the inspiration of masters of ceremonies, J. T. Gipson and Bill Day, who went "overboard" to help the Alphas with their worthy benefit. Gipson hit the highest note on his trumpet that he has ever achieved during his career as a musician. Day was so inspired over the success of his rendition of "Danny Boy" and the challenge of an unknown heckler that number was all he could do, then proceeded to display his ability as a dancer and a comedian.

Adding to the color of the affair were the young students who being initiated into the fraternity. After a "forced" performance of the young men, dressed in maid uniforms, they offered varied services to the guests and proceeded to obtain the autograph of Alpha men present.

The rich and mellow voice of George Dewey Washington in his renditions of "Lonesome Road" and "Chloe" commanded the attention of all.

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

It was reported last week in the news that one of our leaders, whose name I shall decline to mention here because technically it is of no great significance, because now we know Americans do harbor the idea, came forth and suggested an open alliance with Great Britain and France by the United States. And since that date, a great deal of discussion has gone over the matter. An open alliance means simply that America would go to war when either of the other countries saw the need to do battle with the "enemy." Which means that the life of every man of this country would rest not only in the hands of our own government leaders and militarists, but also at the disposal of an Englishman or a Frenchman.

The purpose would be to fight the present spread of communism to a standstill; to prevent its eventual devouring of England and France, and perhaps many other of the European "nations." It would resemble the earlier Holy Alliance by Germany, Italy, and Austria-Hungary, which turned out to be the downfall of all its members. Now to stop the spread of communism means that sooner or later we'll have to fight Russia to victory or defeat, for to some Russia represents the only source of Communism on the earth today. The defeat of Communism, therefore, will inevitably result in the conquering by force of Russia. And it's the opinion of many that the originators of the open alliance idea have nothing less in their minds.

The General Assembly of the United Nations is busily engaged in the Russian-allied dispute now, where they're meeting in Paris. Of course, the formation of such an alliance by the countries already mentioned would be to prove to Russia and to the world that we have absolutely no faith in the United Nations, although we had a great deal to do with its coming into being. Probably there is a clause of section of the United Nations' Charter that prohibits just such action.

It seems that America and and other countries are willing to go all out for the defeat of communism if they never get Europe reconstructed. Not long ago we head-longly put the Marshall Plan to work. That was after Truman had killed President Roosevelt's and Mayor La Guardia's UNRRA. And then for the protection of someone's pocketbook and easy-chair, they started the peacetime draft, all in efforts to keep up with and somewhere along the line head off Russia. And the last ball in the series so far is the idea of an open alliance, which, if Truman is in office long enough, will be approved.

It sems that United Nations or no United Nations, we want this world divided up for fighting, very pronto. It should be interesting to watch the news and see what the outcome of the Paris conference of the General Assembly is, and to find out whether or not we'll go ahead with the plan for an Open Alliance, whether we plan to or not to abide by the decisions of the closest thing we have to a World Government.

LEWIS AND THE COAL MINES

At a meeting last week John L. Lewis, the man who said he'd resign if Roosevelt ran for re-election a third time, ripped with bitter words the ideals of Mr. Harry S. Truman and his campaign for presidency. A great deal of truth was captured in Lewis' statement that Truman is dangerous to the county I believe, but the miners' leader's recourse was all but comical. The alternative he offers his miners, in indifference to the Progressive Party, so far as the unions are concerned is a rattlesnake. Still, however, the miners are rallying to the support of Thomas E. Dewey, although working to defeat those Senators and Congressmen who voted for the Taft-Hartley law.

Perhaps I'm wrong, but to me it seems to be the question: If you want your neck broken, should you have it done by someone whom you know is going to do it and whom you can see, or should you get someone to do it when your back is turned? Or perhaps some people just don't like surprises.

Nonetheless, because they are unwilling to accept cake instead of bread, the labor leaders—not workers—are having a hard time deciding whether to vote for Truman or for Dewey.

REPUBLICANISM IN THE FOURTEENTH

Anxious to insure the defeat of the Republican regime in the fourteenth congressional district of Los Angeles, the Progressive Party candidate has withdrawn from the race. Therefore, most of his votes will go to Mrs. Douglas. I think the people should be careful in making their choice of a representative for this district in Los Angeles. For under certain conditions of poverty and vice, it is possible for thoughtless influences to profit greatly, just as the slum house owner profits. The Republican party isn't particularly known for the good it does common people. And in the fourteenth district, they are waging a determined fight for the office. Therefore, it will take the vote of every citizen in that district to choose the better standards of living by defeating a Republican candidate. FOOTNOTE: In '48, WALLACE OR BUST, says A. J. Paxton.

Howard University Withdraws From United College Campaign

NEW YORK—Coincident with the announcement that Dr. F. D. Patterson, president of Tuskegee Institute, has been re-elected president of the United Negro College Fund, comes news of the withdrawal of Howard University from membership in the fund. Following is most of the statement issued by Howard's president, Mordecai Johnson, in connection with the withdrawal:

"The decision of the Board of Trustees of Howard University is not based upon lack of interest in the United Negro College Fund. Our interest in the fund is as strong as ever, and we may be counted upon to give it our support from time to time as our strength may permit.

"The decision of the Trustees is based upon their belief that the present development of Howard University requires them to have a much more intensive relationship with their own graduates and to seek a much larger income in current support than would be permissible under the present formula of the United Negro College Fund.

"It is their further belief that it would be improper for Howard University, with its present support so heavily resting upon appropriated funds, to seek a revision of the formula which is very properly adjusted to meet the needs of institutions more heavily dependent—in proportion—upon income from endowments and current gifts.

"It is our considered opinion that our withdrawal under the present circumstances may operate positively to strengthen the movement."

Study Sight Of Children In Schools

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Inc., is making a natio-wide survey of the problem of conserving sight of children at school. State Commissioners of Education and City School Superintendents in all parts of the ation have been asked for a report on the children, and a report on the schools, with special reference to the conservation of vision. When their findings are complete, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness will make a report to the people.

In answering the request of Dr. Franklin M. Foote, Executive Director of the society, Dr. Alexander J. Stoddard, Superintendent of the Los Angeles City Schools, gave the following information in his report on the children:

"In the Los Angeles City Schools all entering pupils are given a vision test by the school physician or school nurse and all those found with defects are recommended to the family physician or specialist, or to an eye clinic for necessary remedial care.

"Teachers are educated to recognize early signs of vision trouble and any child suspected of having impairment is given a special examination. The vision is also tested periodically throughout the school life of the child."

THE REALM OF RELIGION

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Law in the Bible; Lesson Text and Outline Deut. 6:20-25; Lev. 19:9-14, 17-18. Motto Text, Matt. 22:37-39.

INTRODUCTION

The law of God, first embodied in the books of Moses and often quoted in ancient history, poetry, and prophecy, was extended and applied by Jesus in the Gospels, by the early churches, and in all the New Testament writings. As a matter of fact, Bible laws are the essential laws for living together today and tomorrow as illustrated in the home, social uplift, and the higher brotherhood.

COMMENT

1. Here is a proper question which, it is supposed, the children would ask: "What mean the testimonies and the statutes? What is the meaning of the feasts we observe, the sacrifices we offer, and the many peculiar customs we keep up?" All divine institutions have a certain meaning, and there is something great designed in them.

It concerns us to know and understand the meaning of them, that we may perform a reasonable service and may not offer the blind for sacrifice. It is good for children betimes to inquire into the true intent and meaning of the religious observances they are trained in.

If any are thus inquisitive in divine things it is a good sign that they are concerned about them, and a good means of their attaining to a great acquaintance with them. Here is a full answer put into the parents' mouths to be given to this good question. Parents and teachers must give instruction to those under their charge, though they do not ask it, though they have an aversion to it.

Much more must they be ready to answer questions, and to give instruction when it is desired; for it may be hoped that those who ask it will be willing to receive it. Did the children ask the meaning of God's laws? Let them be told that they were to be observed. In a grateful remembrance of God's former favours to them, especially their deliverance out of Egypt. God commands us nothing but what is really for our good.

It is our interest as well as our duty to be religious. It will be our life; that he might preserve us alive, which is a great favour, and more than we could expect, considering how often we have forfeited life itself. Godliness has the promise of the continuance and comfort of the life that now is as it is for God's glory. In keeping God's commandments there is great reward.

2. Works of piety must be always attended with works of charity, according to our ability. When they gathered in their corn, they must leave some standing in the corne rof the field. The Jewish doctors say: "It should be a sixtieth part of the field," and they must also leave the gleanings and the small clusters of their grapes, which at first were overlooked.

This law, though not binding now in the letter of it, yet teaches us that we must not be covetous and griping, and greedy of everything we can lay any claim to; nor insist upon our right in things small and trivial. Those that do not speak truth do not deserve to be told truth; those that sin by lying justly suffer by it; therefore we are forbidden to lie one to another; for, if we lie to others, we teach them to lie to us.

It is bad to tell a lie, but it is much worse to swear it. We must not take that which is none of our own, either by fraud or robbery; nor detain that which belongs to another, particularly the wages of the hireling, let it not abide with thee all night. Let the day-labourer have his wages as soon as he has done his day's work, if he desires it. It is a great sin to deny the payment of it, to defer it, to his damage, a sin that cries to heaven for vengeance.

We ought to take heed of doing anything which may occasion our weak brother to fall. It is added, as a preservation from these sins, but fear thou God. Thou dost not fear the deaf and blind, they cannot right themselves; but remember it is the glory of God to help the helpless, and he will plead their cause. "The fear of God will restrain us from doing that which will not expose us to men's resentments.

3. We are commended to rebuke our neighbor in love. Rather rebuke him than hate him for an injury done to thyself. If we apprehend that our neighbour has wronged us, we must not conceive a secret grudge against him, and estrange ourselves from him, speaking to him neither bad nor good, as the manner of some is, who have the art of concealing their displeasure till they have an opportunity of a full revenge; but we must rather give vent to our resentments with the meekness of wisdom, endeavour to convince our brother of injury, reason the case fairly with him, and so put an end to the disgust conceived.

This is the rule our Saviour gives in this case. Therefore rebuke him for his sin against God, because thou lovest him; endeavour to bring him to repentance, that his sin may be pardoned, and he may turn from it, and it may not be suffered to lie upon him. Friendly reproof is a duty we owe to one another, and we ought both to give it and take it in love. If our brother has done us an injury, we must not return it upon him, that is avenging; we must not upon every occasion upbraid him with it, that is bearing a grudge; but we must both forgive it and forget it, for thus we are forgiven of God.

It is a most ill-natured thing, and the bane of friendship, to retain the resentment of affronts and injuries, and to let that word devour for ever. We often wrong ourselves, but we soon forgive ourselves those wrongs, and they do not at all lessen our love to ourselves; and in like manner we should love our neighbour. Our Saviour has made this the second great commandment of the law, and the apostle shows how it is the summary of all the laws of the second table.

We must love our neighbour as truly as we love ourselves, and without dissimulation; we must evidence our love to our neighbour in the same way as that by which we evidence our love to ourselves, preventing his hurt, and procuring his good, to the utmost of our power. Herein the gospel goes beyond even that excellent precept of the law; for Christ, by laying down His life for us, has taught us even to lay down our lives for the brethren, in some cases, and so to love our neighbour better than ourselves.

COMMENT ON THE MOTTO TEXT

All the law is fulfilled in one word, and that is love. The love of God is the first and great commandment of all, and the summary of all the commands of the first table. The proper act of love being complacency, good is the proper object of it. Now, God being good infinitely, originally, and eternally, is to be loved in the first place, and nothing loved beside Him, but what is love for Him. Love is the first and great thing that God demands from us, and therefore the first and great thing that we should devote to him.

Our love of God must be a sincere love, and not in word and tongue only, as their's who say they love Him, but their hearts are not with Him. The heart must be united to love God, in opposition to a divided heart. All our love is too little to bestow upon Him, and therefore all the powers of the soul must be engaged for Him, and carried out toward Him. We must honour and esteem all men, and must wrong and injure none; must have a good will to all, and good wishes for all, and, as we have opportunity, must do good to all.

Baha'i World Faith

"A World Plan Needs A World Faith" is the subject of the lecture to be given by Mr. Charles Wolcott at Los Angeles headquarters of the Baha'i World Faith located at 331 South New Hampshire Avenue, on Sunday, October 17, at 11:00 a.m.

Shoghi Effendi in "The World Order of Baha'u'llah" writes: "That which the Lord hath ordained as the sovereign remedy and mightiest instrument for the healing of all the world is the union of all its peoples in one universal cause, one common faith.

"Unification of the whole of mankind is the hall-mark of the state which human society is now approaching. A world, growing to maturity, must recognize the oneness and wholeness of human relationships, and establish once for all the machinery that can best incarnate this fundamental priciple of its life."

Christian Science Topic 'Doctrine of Atonement'

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the Sunday Lesson-Sermon subject in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The Golden Text from Mark reads, "The Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many."

According to John's Gospel Jesus says, "I am the true vine, and my Father is the husbandman. . . . Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you. . . . As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me. . . . Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples. . . . Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you."

Mary Baker Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "Jesus aided in reconciling man to God by giving man a truer sense of Love, the divine Principle of Jesus' teachings, and this truer sense of Love redeems man from the law of matter, sin, and death by the law of Spirit,—the law of divine Love." "The scientific unity which exists between God and man must be wrought out in life-practice, and God's will must be universally done."

Traditional Drag Ball at Avenue Spot

The Club Congo announces this week that their annual "Drag" ball will be staged, as usual, on Halloween night, Oct. 31, at the Congo, 4215 S. Central ave.

Drag balls, as they were known in recent years, were always held at the Club Alabam, now known as the Club Congo, with genial Joe Morris calling the turn at the Congo. This year's drag affair promises to be one of the "cutest" on record.

Recognizing that even the best show of female impersonators will have some kind of competition, Joe Morris, always the master showman, will augment his affair with star-studded top-flight entertainment.

The fun begins promptly at 9 o'clock and will continue to the limit of both time and performance, with surprises promised throughout the evening.

Fame of the previous drag balls held in the Congo spot is nation-wide, and visitors from The Big Apple are expected to drop in, so they can tell the folks back east just what a drag ball really is!

LOUIS ARMSTRONG, world's greatest jazzman, will toot his trumpet on the "Dixieland Jubilee" program Friday evening, Oct. 29 at the Pan Pacific Auditorium. "Hatchmo" will be featured along with other "greats" of the jazz kingdom. Program is sponsored by radio announcers Gene Norman and Frank Bull.

Joe Lutcher Combo To Keep Downbeat Patrons in Groove

Swing fans will welcome Joe Lutcher with open arms in his Downbeat debut tonight at the cozy Central avenue bistro, and he will please Managers Jacobs, "Pops," and Downbeat patrons mightily.

With Parr Jones on trumpet, the combo really shines. It's a versatile crew, with several fine soloists. But it's Joe Lutcher's fine sax stylings that make the guys and gals in the audience rock in rhythm.

The combo shapes up as a first-classer, and could easily hold its own and outplay most of the combos drawing down four-figure salaries on Broadway and in Hollywood.

Benevolent Variety Artists to Present Show at Earl Carrol's Featuring Top Names in Show Biz

Last Friday evening at the home of Publicity Chairman Nadine Coles, The Benevolent Variety Artists (the BVA's) held a press party. Plans to stage a gala first annual charity show were discussed with working members of the various local papers.

Date for the event is Nov. 8, with Earl Carrol's famous Hollywood restaurant being the site for the scheduled evening of fun and merriment.

The show will feature such well-known stars as Lena Horne, Peg Leg Bates, Byron and Beau, Gerald Wilson's orchestra, Willie Smith, Lennie Heyton, Lillian Randolph, Nicodemus, Eddie Green, Wonderful Smith, Jester Hairston and many other famous stars from stage, screen and radio.

Credo of the B.V.A.'s: We the members of the Benevolent Variety Artists, Inc., believing it to be natural, right and just that those in our great profession who have brought happiness, wealth and good cheer to so many should not have to endure alone the heartaches that come, therefore we pledge ourselves to grant financial and moral support to those in need."

Members of the B.V.A. club are comprised of entertainers in show business and those who have at one time or another entertained in the theatrical profession. Purpose of the club is to raise funds to erect a modern home for indigent members of the theatrical profession.

When you're laying in a hospital bed, alone and without funds or friends, it's organizations like the Benevolent Variety Artists who come to the front in a blaze of glory to offer aid.

The club was organized a year ago and has already made contributions and donations to various hospitalized patients and former members of the profesh.

In addition to the "wedding," the mammoth annual fashion show will take place as usual, with a prize being given to the best dressed participant.

"Beyond Tomorrow" Reveals Ruth Turner's Acting Ability

"Beyond Tomorrow," a three act drama with a decidedly moving quality, written by Helen Morosco and presented by Robert S. Lawson, opened at the North Hollywood Playhouse last Wednesday night, and if excellence of performance and uniqueness of plot is any criterion, it will be extended beyond the time set for it to close on October 23.

Studded with such names as Peter Coe, who, aside from starring in the play, also served as co-producer and director, Richard Crane, Kay Morley, Imagene Williams, Catherine Congreve, Allan Wells and Ruth Turner, the play is worth travelling out to Hollywood to see, and more—it should be exhibited on Broadway so New York theatre-goers can get a chance to see a good drama with a good plot.

Outstanding is the work of Ruth Turner, who makes her professional acting debut in the play as the housekeeper. Miss Turner, the only Negro in the cast, will be remembered as a concert singer of note. She was formerly a member of the First AME choir, and is presently studying dramatics with Laura Bowman, internationally famed dramatic actress.

Miss Turner gives a smooth performance in a sizeable part that has much to do with the flow of the business. Her naturalness would be a tribute to a veteran performer.

"Beyond Tomorrow" will play every night with the curtain at 8:30. The best way to get to the North Hollywood Playhouse is to take the North Hollywood car at 4th and Hill (subway terminal). Get off at Magnolia and walk a half block west on the north side of the street to 11043 Magnolia Blvd. The phone number is GRanite 0204.

Gerald Wilson's Band to Play At Cole Dance

Nat "King" Cole and his famous trio will appear in person Thrsday evening, Oct. 28, in their farewell appearance at the Avodon ballroom in concert-dance.

Heralded as one of the greatest musical outfits of all time, Cole and his boys make with the music in a listenable manner. Smooth. Mellow. Soft. Hot. Whatever the customer.

Cole's voice is as mellow as ever, and his inimitable style of toying with a ballad or riffing a scat song is tops. The trio will play the concert while Gerald Wilson's band will furnish music for dancing.

Dancing gets under way promptly at 9 p.m.

The affair will be outstanding, and if you're a Col fane (and who isn't?) you'll be out standing in line early for a ticket to the King's farewell appearance.

Wanna Know What Hamp Says While He's Playing?

In case you've been wondering just what the dickens it is Lionel Hampton is mumbling while playing the vibraharp, pull up an easy chair and siddown and we'll tell ya!

During the filming of the picture, "A Song Is Born," in which the famed bandleader is featured, Virginia Mayo, who sings with Hampton and Louis Armstrong (in the pic) asked him why he kept the words he mumbled while playing the vibes a secret.

Hamp smiled sheeplishly and said it wasn't a secret, except he thought it silly. After a week of heckling by Miss Mayo, he finally confessed the magic words were: "Send me eight on a plate—eight—gate," which he mumbles to every tune, no matter what the tempo is!

Dootsie Williams With MGM

Walter Williams, more familiarly known in local music circles as "Dootsie," and one-time leader of the coast's top musical aggregation, "The Harlem Dukes," has been appointed musical director for MGM Recording company.

Williams, a top trumpeter and musician, is also a writer of no mean ability, having authored the tune made famous by T-Bone Walker, "Bobby Sox Baby," and others.

His duties at MGM will be to supervise the making of recordings, and lining up top talent for future disc when the recording ban is lifted.

Artie Shaw Back In Band Business

Good news for Artie Shaw fans (of which there are thousands) is the announcement that the popular bandleader returned to the music profession last week. He is fronting the band organized by Boo Keen.

Artie will feature Georgie Auld on tenor with the new band and Buddy Rich on drums. Eddie Beal, musical director and accompanist for the little genius, Toni Harper, played piano with the group last Saturday at the Avadon. Whether Beal will play with the Shaw band, or was just sitting in won't be known until Shaw begins his scheduled theatre tour.

Shaw's reason for returning to the profession is due to his fondness for music. However, current rumor is that Shaw, once one of the most highly-paid musicians in the world, returns to the profession to make loot enough to pay alimony to six former wives!

Whatever his reason for returning to the music fold, he's back—and that's good news for Artie Shaw fans!

Norwanda Productions To Release First All Sepia Full-length Pic

Norwanda Pictures, headed by Ollie M. Jones, and Byron G. Anderson, takes pride in announcing the completion of their first All-Sepia film in color. A full length motion picture.

We must congratulate Ollie M. Jones, a businesswoman from Dallas, Texas, who came to Los Angeles with one thought in mind. To further the progress of Negroes in the theatre and the arts. She decided upon the idea of putting Negro boys and girls on the sereen in modern, up to date stories with beautiful scenery, which she feels is an uplift to Negro actors and actresses.

Mr. Byron G. Anderson, Detroit businessman, is to be congratulated, too, for his foresight in the field of motion pictures for he, too, formed the company with the idea of helping actors and actresses of the race. Looking around for an able assistant, they found Gilbert Corey, a veteran Director of stage and screen who believed Negros in pictures were not receiving their rightful place in the film world. Mr. Corey's plan is to train Negroes to man the difference departments of the Motion Picture industry. Apprentice under Union Heads of each craft.

Next, the company discovered and signed the musical genius, Austin McCoy as it's musical Director.

Production Manager is the veteran actor and former casting Director of Million Dollar Productions, DeForrest Covan. Covan has been in motion pictures 18 years and is a nephew of Willie Covan, of the 4 Covans fame.

The first picture to be released under Norwanda production is "No Time For Romance," full-length picture starring Eunice Wilson, internationtlly famous singing star, Joel Fullouln, Shirley Haven, the beautiful and talented MGM starlet, DeForrest Covan, Bill Walker, Ray Martin, Jay Brooks, Mildred Boyd and introducing Austin McCoy and his great new band, plus a stellar supporting cast.

Dancer Pardoned From Penitentiary

CHICAGO.—Patricia Schmidt, beautiful night club dancer, arrived here last week, the city where she met the married man who became her lover and whom she killed during an argument aboard his yacht in Havana harbor in April, 1947.

Miss Schmidt, better known in theatrical circles as Satira, was released from Guanabacoa Prison in Havana under a pardon by the president of Cuba.

It's Bull Alright But We're Talkin' About Frank!

Satchel Paige Versus Bob Feller Sunday At Wrigley Field

BOB JOHNSON

'Tis true, we're living in an atomic age. Proof of that statement is the fact that The Gip asked me to do a "guest" sports column for him. If you readers can take it, I'm sure I can! So here goes!

This has been another great year in the world of sports for many of the Negro boys. We are proud to see these athletes perform creditable. But what is even better, is when the individual does it with dignity, or when the performer is above all, a gentleman.

It was my pleasant experience to be in the United States marine corp with some of our better known athletes and gentlemen such as Dan Bankhead, Billy (Gunner) Mitchell, Harold Riggs, Harold Dade, and many others who at that stage were young and green, but no doubt will become nationally known in years to come. This was the first opportunity for Negroes to become Marines, and these boys were coming from all over the States. There was probably no other outfit this size as ladened with talent. These boys were matched with other service men and civilians alike. Often men like Mitchell, Riggs and Dade were matched with some inexperienced kid who had only nerve, and more often not that. And with thousands of men in uniforms hollering "Kill him, knock the bum out, etc." these athletes seem to say to themselves, "after all this is a nice kid trying to entertain his buddies, to keep up their morale. He doesn't get a penny for it, and after all what good will it do to show my superior ability." And as a rule they were satisfied to give an opponent a boxing lesson, and often won admiration from their opponent who realized he was overmatched.

I had a similar experience myself while in boot camp. We hadn't been in camp long enough to know each other, so after a heated argument with a guy I invited him to the "Boom Docks." That means we were to go about 200 yards out of the area and "fight it out." You know, like they do in the movies. Well, he declined, and I kept insisting, but to no avail. About two months later I sat and watched him knock out a guy, to become undisputed champ of Lejuene.

Of course I fainted!

Speaking of Dan Bankhead, the betting was never will he win, but will he pitch a shutout? All these boys remained modest through this, though Bankhead has since seen service with the Brooklyn Dodgers, played in a world series and has won 20 games in one league, and four in another.

Dade came on to become a boxing champion.

It is unfortunate that Kenny Washington continues to be plagued by injuries for I believe he is one of the greatest football players of all time. I was secretly hoping we would see him have one more full season in the National League when he would be completely sound.

I know he hasn't had the chance since he has been in the National League to prove to his many fans how good he really is. Then, too, I guess I'm a little sentimental about Kenny, for I feel that I do my bit toward his physical conditioning by weekly massages.

I also hope some team who needs a good end will sign Ezzard Anderson for next season. I don't know the reason for his release, but there is one thing that I definitely know. He was in good condition. And he took his football plenty serious, too! "Sugar Foot" started his conditioning when most football players were still enjoying their vacation. He layed out a definite program. He knew what he should weigh so he worked to that end. Also he was a constant visitor to the doctor's office. He wanted to make certain his physical condition would be no obstacle. I'll repeat and I'm sure there is one doctor in this town who will agree that Mr. Anderson was the perfect specimen!

Well, all the popular sportsmen are turning to golf, and every Monday night a group of local sportsmen have standing appointments at the Bath House, for their physical conditioning. You can hear statements like this: "Donison, give me that infra-red on my Deltoid, that sore muscle cost me two strokes today." That was coming from the popular Jimmie Pitts. Yes, it is quite a session when men around town like Tim Stein, Johnny Cornish, T. C. Webb, Bob Franklin, Joe Adams, "The Mayor of Melody," J. T. Gipson, Phil McGee, Mac McGavock, Leo Williams, Gene Davis and many others. Oh! And Brother Wade, too, who is affectionately called the philosopher. That's because he seems to have a photographic memory, plus a lot more in his knowledge box.

On this particular night among this clan was a very learned man of European background. Everyone was very tense as they listened to a first-hand report of the conditions of Europe. After all, this gentleman had made three tours of Europe since the war, and his voice carried a ring of authority as he painted a picture of the starving countries, the baren cities, etc. So I relaxed completely, at last I definitely knew that there will not be another war! This gent had just asked the question, "How can a country war on the U.S.A. when they have no money or resources?" My contentment, however, was short lived for the philosopher spoke up, saying that all the gent said meant absolutely nothing. Since the conditions preceding the other wars have been similar. He said after all, the men on Wall Street finance the wars and they ship enough money and resources there to get the shooting started. Well—but the popular Mayor of Melody isn't the type to put something over on, easily.

He demanded to know who these men were on Wall Street, who were ableto finance a war. He also added that he was born, reared in Los Angeles and knew a little about the city. Brother Wade gave him a fatherly smile and continued talking. But Joe, sensing he had the philosopher on the ropes, moved in for the kill. Name me one man on Wall Street, he challenged. At that point, Mr. Gipson, who occasionally heaped the fuel on the hot debate and quietly withdrew to the sideline, called Joe over to the side and explained that he thought the gentleman was speaking of Wall Street, New York!

Okay, Gip, thanks for asking me to write the guest column for you, and I hope I didn't lose any of your readers.

Your good friend,
BOB JOHNSON.

ON THE TURF

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—What happened to Hoodlum is the question the fans wanted to know after the feature event billed as "The Columbus Day Handicap." Made a even-money favorite on the morning line and off of cold dope looked as the best bet of the day, failed to show his form that he displayed at Pomono. It took a horse like the great stake winner Terry Bargello to best him in stake races at the Pomona course. Placed in a field with horses like Pronto Jack, Bumtybump, Straight On and others that run for a claiming price of $2000 to $2500, the best Hoodlum could do was finish third. Jockey G. Hugnagel had him far off the early pace although known to be a front runner that matched speed with the fast B Gold. Hoodlum made a belated run in the stretch but was too late to catch the winner, Pronto Jack, and Bumtybump, who finished second. Hoodlum was third two lengths and a head. The winner paid $16.00 for $2.

In the secondary attraction, Hugh Blue, another longshot, scored an easy victory over Navy Test and Union Flag. The favored Glencock finished out of the money. Hugh Blue paid $23.20, $16.40 and $7.00 across the board. The daily double combination of Straight Talk, winner of the second race, and Bonsimia, victor of the third, paid $29.40. The quienela backers received $18.40 when Count Boot was the winner and Guerilla War was second.

This Sunday, General Manager Walter C. Marty announced two features to support the 12-race program, "The Yellowstone" and "The Mesa Verde," one at one mile and one-sixteenth and the other at six furlongs. After one of the greatest seasons of greyhound races, popular General Manager William (Bill) Collier announced that the season will close this Sunday night. On Friday night the $1000 Grand Derby will be held and some of the best dogs ever to race in this part of the country will be trying to win the rich purse. The race will be worth going miles to see and one of the largest crowds of the season is expected by the management.

On Thursday, General Manager Collier will host to Knights of Pythias and Court of Calanthe, escorted by the Dennis T. Williams drum and bugle corps. Entertainment all will be furnished others. A large turnout is expected as this will be the last big event of the season. Closing date is Sunday, Oct. 17.

Football Game Tonight

The Eastern Prep League title favorites, the Jordan Bulldogs, take on their cross town traditional rivals, Jefferson, in what promises to be the season's big game on Thursday, Oct. 14, at Wrigley Field. The game is a doubleheader, since both the Bees and the Varsity teams will meet.

Sparked by such seasoned veterans as Co-Captains Bobby Smith at quarter and Benny Myers at right end, and with lettermen Alfonso Gonzales, Willis Thigpen, Jimmy Hernandez, and Leroy Carter in the starting lineup, the Bulldogs will bring into the game a team potentially powerful enough to end the Jefferson win streak begun in '45.

Jordan experience may be offset, however, by Jefferson strength, since the Democrat squad lists twice as many men as does the Bulldog. With plenty of reserves and with Jefferson lettermen Mossie Brooks, Harry Johnson, Maurice Hill, and Oliver Gordon bringing their experience into the game, the Wrigley Field tilt promises to provide a duel between two well matched, determined, and skillful teams.

Gate time is 6:30 for the B's and 8:00 for the varsity.

Starting line-up:

Jordan		Jefferson
Willie Bailey, 20	L. E.	Mossie Brooks, 45
Alfonso Gonzales, 53	L. T.	George Biggins, 53
Larry De La Torre, 28	L. G.	George Bailey, 43
Willis Thigpen, 36	C.	Brad Pye, 63
Robert Harvey, 54	R. G.	Arthur Hamlin, 40
Jimmy Hernandez, 56	R. T.	Harry Johnson, 36

Cleveland Team Given Ovation Fit for a King

CLEVELAND—Amid millions of flecks of confetti, the Cleveland Indians, 1948 World's Champions, were given a rousing welcome when they returned home following the last game of the series in which they won the flag by beating the Boston Braves.

A 15,000-member "reception" committee jammed the main concourse at Union Terminal, and 200,000 more excited fans spattered them with rice, paper and cheers.

Among the greeters at the terminal when the Tribe's special train rolled in were Pitcher Gene Bearden, third baseman Ken Keltner and pitcher Satchell Paige. They returned to Cleveland the night previous by plane.

Sporting Season In Full Swing

Sporting season is in full swing in southern California, with many local sportsmen having good luck hunting and fishing.

Barbers, T. H. Ragsdale and Chas. Bradley and sportsman A. B. "Small" Dennis slipped down to Blythe on a recent Sunday morning, bagged their limit of white wing doves and were back in town by 4 o'clock p.m.

Fisherman Julius Baker went down to San Clemente and caught a few pin barrys and rock bass.

Mr. and Mrs. Bush and A. Leonard treked down to Lake Henshaw last weekend catching their limit of blue gills and crappie.

With Tuna season and rabbit season opening this month, many hunting and fishing parties are being formed.

Ho Hum, Docusen Dood It Again!

Maxie (Little Duke) Docusen uncorked every bit of power he had in his right hand Tuesday night at the Olympic auditorium before 8000 fans and hung up a seventh-round t.k.o. over game and aggressive Hario Trigo. This win over Trigo runs Docusen's unbeaten string of victories up to 44.

Chest Club Announces A Tournament

The Cosmopolitan Chess Club, an interracial group recently organized in the East side, has been admitted into the County Chess League and is making preparations to send a team to play against clubs in Hollywood, Pasadena, Inglewood, Santa Monica, South Gate, Long Beach and other cities. This will mark the first entrance of Negroes into established chess circles where the game is played in serious tournament style.

In order to recruit experienced Negro players, who until now have never been organized, the Cosmopolitan Club announces an Open Championship Tournament in which anyone may compete without charge. The top-scoring players will form the club's team, which will match wits with all other clubs in the county.

Tournament play will begin October 20 at Central Playground, 1357 E. 22nd St., where the group meets every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

NEW YORK—Plans are in the making here for a featherweight title bout between Willie Pep, king of the featherweight division, and Sandy Sadler, up and coming young kayo specialist. The boys along Jacobs row figure Sadler to beat Pep if and when they meet.

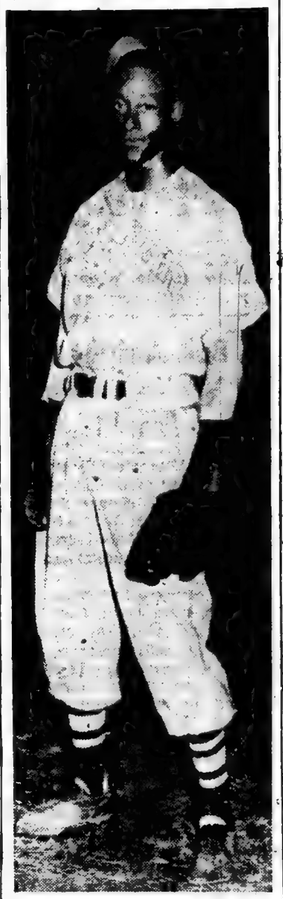
Jackie Wilson, box office attraction at the Olympic auditorium and other swat arenas about the country, has decided to do something about the future. Comes the time when the old legs aren't so steady and the eyes are not so sharp. It is for that reason Joltin' Jackie has decided to enter the field of photography when he hangs up his gloves.



The California School of Photography is his choice for training under the G.I. Bill of Rights, with an eye toward cataloging of sporting events and general news.

Opportunity for training under the G.I. bill won't last very long. You must begin training not later than four years after discharge. You can check up on your papers, you G.I.'s down at the California School of Photography.

Williams Clouts Homer As Royals In 8-7 Win

Jesse Williams, star shortstop for Satchel Paige's Kansas City Royals, lifted a long home run over the left field wall at Wrigley Field last Sunday before a crowd of 3000 fans to break up a 7-7 tie ball game, with the Royas emerging on top 8 to 7. The Royals battled uphill all the way as the Coasters found James Marque for two runs in the first inning, two in the fourth and three in the fifth. Gene Smith came in to relieve Marque and held the Coast Leaguers until his teammates could catchup.

The Royals retrieved two runs off four hits in the second inning and then, trailing 7 to 2, touched off a rally in the sixth, getting four runs from two hits, three errors and a passed ball. Williams then lifted a low fast ball out on 42nd street and that was the ball game. Don Ross, All-Star third sacker, also hit a home run with one aboard in the first inning.

JESS WILLIAMS — Royals flashy short-stop and powerful long distance hitter, will be in the line-up Sun. afternoon at Wrigley Field when Satchell Paige's crack Kansas City Royals team meet Bob Feller's All-Stars. The game starts at 2:30 p.m.

Henry Armstrong's Boy Invades Coast

Smuggy Hurshey, 20-year-old 150-pound ring walloper, arrives in Los Angeles Sunday morning for a series of matches with leading coast middleweight stars. Hurshey, who will register here under the ring stable colors of Henry Armstrong, former triple division world's champion, has a fine record during his short ring career.

News clippings from the east, where Smuggy Hurshey has done all of his campaigning, point to a close similarity of styles affected by the newcomer and Armstrong. Hurshey is a busy guy at all times in the ring. Like the great Armstrong, he permits no holding and hugging while in the ring.

Armstrong said he had eyes on matches here and in the northern section of the state with several leading coastal middleweight fighters, including Jackie Wilson, Earl Turner, former champion Fred Apostole and George "Sugar" Costner.

All-Star Game Between Two Top Teams Starts at 2:30

Next Sunday afternoon, 2:30 p.m., at Wrigley field the fans will get an opportunity to see several of the present world series stars in action when Satchel Paige takes the mound for his Kansas City Royals against a picked major league team headed by Bob Feller, Bob Lemon and the sensation of the 1948 season, Gene Bearden.

This is the beginning of a series of games between two well balanced clubs. The Royals who have been in Los Angeles for the past two weeks have won four straight games against coast league compuetition and figure an even chance to sweep the series with the majors.

Bob Feller, although late starting, aided considerably in winning the pennant for the Cleveland Indians. Gene Bearden a byword in baseball this season won the deciding game in Boston against the Boston Red Sox to win the flag and then won his game in the world series. Satchel Paige can rightly be credited with the Indians being in the series as his six winning games plus numerous relief stints with only one loss came at a time when only two pitchers were winning. Without his timely aid the Clevelanders would have been too far behind to have caught the tiring leaders.

Both teams have been strengthened for this series. Members from the championship Boston Braves team and the New York Yankees augument the Cleveland contingent.

Satchel Paige will of course aid the cause of the Royals and Leon Kell man a mean hitting outfielder joined the club from Panama last week. The lineup for both teams: The Major League all stars; Eddie Boekman, Pirates, 3rd base; Ciggy Jones, Cardinals, 1st base; Don Lang, 3rd; Bob Sturgeon, Braves, shortstop; Johnny Bernadino, 2nd base; Walter Judnich, Indians, outfield; Cliff Mapes, N.Y. Yankees, OF; Al Zurilla St. Louis Browns OF; Roy Partee, Browns catcher; Gene Bearden, Bob Lemon and Bob Feller, pitchers. Cliff Dapper, Montreal, Chuck Stevens, utility.

Reservations for the game can be made at Wrigley field and the games starts at 2:30 p.m.

Watson Jones Has Purse Held Up In Ocean Park Fight

Watson Jones, reinstated only a few weeks ago after having been suspended for "not trying" in a bout with Bert Lytel, engaged in another dull shin-dig Monday night at Ocean Park with a gent named Sonny Andrews and after a few seconds at the start of the eighth round Referee Jimmy Wallace stepped in and halted the fight and called it "no contest."

Jones and Andrews weren't trying as hard as the referee thought they should. Their purses are being held up pending an investigation by the State Athletic Commission.

California Athlete Playing On Top Harlem Globetrotters Team

CHICAGO, Ill.—In only a few weeks the Harlem Globetrotters basketball personnel is due to assemble in this city to prepare rapidly for their twenty-second consecutive season starting early in November.

Among those signed and announcing himself as in great shape and raring to go is the superb Ermer Robinson, forward de luxe.

Robinson will come in from his home town, San Diego, Calif. The six foot, three-inch, 190-pound star, one of the greatest players in the game today and without an equal at sinking one-handed push shots, has kept himself in top condition since the Trotters closed their last season in Hawaii last April and will not need much work to get into the swing of things. A clean liver and one of the finest boys in sports, "Robbie" is an inspiration to his teammates.

Robinson holds the Denver National A.A.U. mark of 97 points for one tournament. Before entering the service, he had been a great star with San Diego High School.

Employment in the airframe companies has been increasing at a rate of more than 2 percent a month since June.

The seasonal increase in ceramic manufacture has begun, and a marked shortage of skilled hand finishers and decorators exists.

Check Check, Checks Crooks

"The positive identification system of cashing checks, advocated by the Los Angeles Police Department, is now starting to show results, and with the continued cooperation of businessmen and their customers, will drive the professional forger out of town," advises Chief of Police C. B. Horrall.

According to this system, when cashing checks for strangers, businessmen should request good identification such as a driver's license, and if in doubt, request fingerprints on the back of the check.

Conservatory Keeps Study Costs Down

Not keeping up with the times, the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music and Arts at 845 S. Figueroa St., is bringing down the cost of its Drama and Ballet courses. The Conservatory asks only that a student agree to take a minimum of two classes, either Drama or Ballet, each week.

Carefully planned courses in Drama and Ballet for adults and children, all taught by professionals, under the direction of Lionel Bevans, are scheduled at convenient times durig the day and evening.

Tuition fees have been scaled down to a minimum, and as an added feature, rehearsal clases are given free to those whose advancement deserves acknowledgement.

This Radio Wasn't Worth Stealing

Earl Carter is sad. Carter, who works on the Eagle advertising staff, parked his automobile on a side street last week and some thief or thieves broke the car window and attempted to steal his auto radio.

Carter thinks they were frightened off by a passersby, as the radio was intact when he went after his car. The boys on the Eagle staff, having listened to earthquake-like sounds of Carter's radio on numerous occassions, don't agree. They believe the thief turned the radio on, listened to it and decided it wasn't worth stealing.

STILL GROWING

Industrial development throughout Los Angeles County picked up speed in September, hitting a $6,037,000 total for new and expanded plants, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce reported this week as a highlight of its 60th Anniversary Week celebration.

Walking House Gets Remodelled Ceiling

LOS ANGELES—When a house goes traveling, it has to get a new ceiling.

Rent ceiling, that is.

And when the migrant building is lowered to its new foundation, its owner can give it a temporary ceiling which may be "remodelled" by the area rent office to fit the additional costs of modernization.

The State of California and the Housing Expediter's rent control office quoted this principle of Federal rent law to prospective bidders for the houses soon to be moved from freeway routes.

Jessie Terry Heads Group For Retarded Youngsters

Mrs. Wiest, Los Angeles county official, offers the International Society for the Development of Retarded Children, ten resident students whenever a school for such children is established.

Mrs. Jessie Terry, pioneer and civic worker, has accepted the presidency of the Society temporarily in order to offset any delay in the progress of the Society. Mrs. Terry is making a great sacrifice in order to accept this office during the absence of Mrs. Mabel Gray, president.

Shortage of parts has restricted hiring in all automobile plants, and employment levels have risen very slowly during the past 60 days.

And Now A Paragraph On Friends: The other evening in one of the avenue spots the conversation on FRIENDS came up. An alleged "friend" walked up to the bar where I was drinking a tall, cool, refreshing drink of something or another my bartender friend, Jimmie, mixed, and said: "Say, Gip, why don't you take it easy? You're living 30-yrs too fast. Everybody loves you, and we'd hate for you to return to a hospital bed. He went on to explain how all of my friends "looooooooves" me. The conversation was quite interesting, until Jimmie Baker begin to give out with advice on How To Live To Be A Hundred. Ev'ry one loves advice—as long as you're not giving it to them. I'm no exception. During my 3-yrs hospitalization at Mayo Bros. Clinic and the Frkl'n Cnty San., in Ohio, all of my alleged friends who "looooooves" me from the depths of what they call their hearts didn't even take time out to drop a penny post-card! It's my life. I live it and love it. And I discovered, as most of you have, that when you're down and out (i.e., such as in jail or a hospital bed) something always turns up—and it's usually the nose of your friends! People who stand around street corners diagnosing your case will invariably offer advice, but how many will offer (or even sacrifice) a few hours time to pay you a hospital visit? You can count 'em on one hand. There are friends I have and friends I love. Like Nadine Coles, Billie Yarbo, Maggie Hathaway, Alyce Keys, Lena Horne, Walter Gordon, John Lee, Mrs. Bass, Dorothy Dandridge, Gerry Nicholas, and others.

But if a man is a friend of a woman, some Schlmeil will put two and two together in their own warped mind and try to build up a "romance." I can't, for the life of me figure, why a man can't be friends with a woman without some dampheel trying to say they're in love! It's human. It's natural to have friends. Most of my friends are women. Probably because most of these I know and trust are women. And a woman's friendship I value more than I have, do or ever will a MAN's! I write nice things about Jane Doe, and people say we're in love. Most of my women gal-pals are in show b'ness. I write about them and quicker than it takes an extra girl in Hollywood to say "yes." I'm trying to make them so goes the rumor—or vice versa. Bunk. Pure, unadulterated bunk! I'm a Writer, and Press Agent. There are people I believe in and love—for different reasons. But none that I know (unless her first initial happens to be My daughter do I love in the accepted sense of the word. George Evans writes about Frank Sinatra. Jim McCarthy writes about Count Basie. Dave Dexter writes about Lena Horne. Are THEY in love? You see, I KNOW the people in my corner. And that's why I'm in THEIR corner. And that's why I'm in THEIR corner! And no husband, boy-friend or even "boss" will ever muzzle my typewriter when I feel like column-praising my gal-pals. Because these all they are—gal-pals! Hey, Melrose! Feel me a grape!

Memo's From Secretary: Dear Mr. G., "What's this I hear about you doing a book on Henry Armstrong's life—and your own book, "The Laff's on Me," isn't it due out within this or next month? I hear you'll coin a mint! That was a funny piece of news in last wk's papers about the socialed caught in a Westside apt when the gal's hubby was supposed to be out of town—but wasn't! . . . Your pet debbie, Gracie Mae Smith, is on the ailing list. . . . And Louis Spears? Didja' know he's fallen heels over heels in love with an Eastside deb? Oh, say, boss, is that the same L. S. who works at the Hi-Hat cafe? . . . Clarence Muse expects you at his Elsinore ranch this wk-end. So does Dr. King, and you've an invite the same wk-end in Palm Springs. Okay, Supermom—keep living 30-yrs too fast! Your loving Secretary, Melrose January June Pratt."

WELL DOING

The matter of Good Works is one of the most commonly misunderstood teachings in the Bible, and among the people as well.

It would be well to remember that in any manner of well doing, man is not saved by good works, but by grace alone. Thru grace and faith, not of the things he might be able to do and then boast about them.

We mus busy ourselves continually doing kind deeds, or carrying on all manner of good works. But not only do we have to do good deeds, but we must start within ourselves to keep a clean heart and not boast but be faithful and meek at all times.

Proposition 13 Analyzed

"The Legislature of California has been boss-ridden for the past 16 years," said Geo. W. Rochester, former State Senator from the county of Los Angeles. "The Assembly of our Legislature is representative of the people because it is elected by the people. No legislation can pass the Legislature without passing the Senate, where the people are not equally represented and a few bosses of special privilege permit only those bills to pass whicr they approve.

"In the State Senate the real bosses are the utilities, insurance companies, the huge ranch owners, the absentee-owners of big enterprises, who pick off the individual Senators in county districts with 50,000 and less inhabitants. They have worked it to such a degree of control that they elect the five members of the Rules Committee, who represent only 500,000 of the State's 10,000,000 people, and not only appoint all the other Senate Committees but decide whether or not any bill shall be considered by a Senate Committee. Los Angeles County is not even represented on this all-important committee.

"When the traditional American balance of human interest over property interest is restored by passage of Proposition 13, then the people will end the bossism made possible by the dependence of rural representatives of undeveloped land upon the power of the vested interest, bosses and their big business allies who, with small campaign contributions, control sufficient small county Senators to control and boss the Senate of our great State for themselves, regardless of the needs of the people."

Vote YES on 13.

Trend Homes Have Double Usefulness

Southern California's low-cost housing problem was pushed closer to a solution this week when the Service Construction Company announced construction of the heralded "Trend Home" early in October, under terms of their franchise to manufacture the revolutionary aluminum dwelling in California.

The completely furnished full-scale model is now on public display daily from noon until 10 p.m. at 169 N. La Brea ave., in Los Angeles, under the sponsorship of the Cancer Prevention Society.

Admission of 50 cents benefit the Memorial Cancer Center drive to provide Los Angeles and the surrounding area with a much-needed cancer hospital, there being only one other west of the Mississippi river.

Abolishment Of Tenney Group Asked

Over 600 people attended a meeting from which many were turned away due to lack of seating capacity, last week, called by the Eastside Committee for Democratic Rights to protest the recent attack by Jack B. Tenney on the Soto-Michigan Jewish Community Center.

Speakers included Assemblyman Bill Rosenthal; Dr. Sanford Goldnar, American Jewish Labor Council; Mrs. Charlotta Bass, publisher of the California Eagle; Jack Berman, Independent Progressive Party and community leader; Mr. Ralph Trustman of the American Jewish Congress, Mr. Chas. Barsh of Carpenters Local; Mr. Chavez of the 51st Assembly district and Mrs. Esther Janapol of the Southland Jewish Organization.

The meeting unanimously passed two resolutions, one calling upon Assemblyman Bill Rosenthal to introduce a resolution in the legislature calling for the abolishment of the Tenney Committee, and another asking Community Chest officials to issue a statement clarifying the position of the Soto-Michigan Center as a member agency of the chest, and a public service institution of long and respected record.

KLAN BURNS CROSS AGAIN

H. A. Wallace Puts Dewey, Pres. Truman On The Spot

Henry Wallace ended a Southern tour last month which alerted the nation to the ugly fascism of those who support Jim Crow and proved that non-segregated meetings can be held without incident in cities where Negro and white have not sat side by side for 70 years.

When Harry Truman hit Texas during his cross-country campaign trip late September he spoke to segregated meetings and pointedly shut on the rights.

Tom Dewey Candidate of a party which supports FEPC and opposes the poll tax in its election year platform kept his mouth subject of civil also kept quiet.

but has never lifted a finger for Negro rights, Dewey didn't even pretend.

As for Harry Truman, there seemed little else he could do except retreat in the South.

A Senator who had never challenged the iron-clad Jim Crow of his home town, Harry Truman became a President who by vote appeal necessity talks for civil rights for Negroes—but never acts.

The man who said he never has and "never will" invite a Negro to his home held back at following the footsteps of Henry Wallace who faced egg-and-tomato barrages to speak out for enforcement of the Constitution, who refused to stay in Jim Crow hotels, who said bluntly that violence was spurred by northern industrialists who control industry in the South.

Harry Truman could not stand up with Wallace in the South to demand that states which bar the vote to the Negro should

GERALD L. K. SMITH HOLDS HATE REVIVAL

Firey Cross And Phone Threat Terroize Negro Home Owners

Following up the Ku Klux Klan-like burning of a huge gasoline-drenched cross on the front lawn of her home at 3460 Virginia Road last week-end, white supremacy forces used the telephone to attempt further intimidation of Dr. Pauline Roberts and her mother, in order to frighten them from the block, tenanted by middle class whites where they had moved only last Wednesday.

The telephone call, made by an angry-sounding male, came Sunday night at 10 o'clock almost forty-eight hours after the cross-burning. The call told Dr. Roberts, "we will get even with you for moving in a white neighborhood. We'll burn the house down next time." The rest of his conversation was so vile and profane, it is unprintable.

Dr. Roberts and her mother, both unmoved by the threats, say they do not intend to move from their newly-pruchased home. "We have no place else to go." Dr. Roberts' mother told a California Eagle reporter.

Police moved in swiftly following the cross burning last Friday night. Both Dr. Roberts and her mother were aroused by the barking of their dog. They went to the front of the house and saw a solid sheet of flame some distance from the expanding ominously. Dr. Roberts summoned the fire department and then called the police.

Men from the arson detail investigated, and are reportedly

Did Paul Graver Commit the Perfect Crime?

Paul Graver may or may not have committed the perfect crime; it may be possible that the boasts he made to that effect were just coincidental to the automobile crash that killed his common-law wife and her eight-year-old daughter on Foothill Boulevard near San Antonio Road last Thursday night.

Eugene Mueller, police chief of Upland, says he does not want to hand the 32-year-old mechanic who is known on Central Avenue as a likeable, quiet fellow, a bum rap, but Mueller has been doing some investigating and he doesn't believe Garver's stories about the accident.

According to Garver, a tire blew out while he was travelling about 40 miles an hour. The car he was driving swerved sharply off the road and crashed into a

GERALD L. K. SMITH SPUES HATE AGAINST NEGROES AND JEWS

While the Un-American Activities Committees, national and local, cry, "Drive out the Communists," Gerald L. K. Smith comes to Los Angeles in a fury of contempt for Negroes and Jews, and before an audience that packed Embassy auditorium last Monday night poured out his hatred for all things decent and honorable.

He opposes both Harry Truman and Governor Dewey, and declared his party, The Christian Nationalist Party, would win the presidency in 1952. He said he was going to circulate petitions to move all persons who were not permanent citizens of Los Angeles, to camps, and to give their vacated homes to veterans.

He called Governor Warren a hypocrite for supporting the fair employment practices code.

"Is Governor Warren ready to offer his daughters on the altar to Negroes?" he asked. "Will Truman let his daughter dance with a Negro?"

He predicted that Dewey will win, but that within 18 months after he becomes president the nation will experience a crash that will make the 1929 depression appear like a boom.

The overflow crowd in the Embassy was composed mostly of elderly persons. Young people were conspicuous by their absence. But the old people, many

Congresswoman Is Endorsed By Republicans

Kind words came recently to Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas of the 14th District from the California State Colored Republican League and from two Southern California attorneys — one a Democrat, the other a Republican — whose combined years of California practice totals more than a century.

Will H. Anderson, life-long Democrat, and Marshall Stimson, life-long Republican, both leaders in their respective parties over a long period of years, disagree on Presidential candidates in this election, but agree completely that Congresswoman Douglas should be retained.

Insanity Plea Rescues Woman Convicted On Murder Charge

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Jones of 12705 Bellhaven Ave., will not be sent to prison for the murder of her neighbor, Mrs. Willa Esther Haywood, which occurred on June 17 of this year. This decision was final last Monday morning in Dept. 41 of the Superior Court when Judge Jesse L. Frampton handed down a decision adjudging the accused woman insane, both at the time the offense was committed and at the time the judgment was rendered.

Thus Mrs. Jones escapes punishment for the crime even though she had previously been convicted of first degree murder

The SIDEWALK

By C. A. B.

It just doesn't make sense—this howling about the Communists, while the evil forces that threaten complete destruction of our American way of life ply their trade of annihilation unhampered.

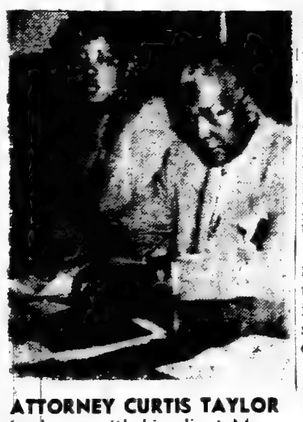
A few of the Negro people as well as representatives of Union labor have come to a realization that they must stand on their own feet and fight back into the grave those forces that threaten their freedom.

Members of the two political parties and their stooges are loudly proclaiming that in order to preserve our democracy, we must rid the country of Communists.

As a matter of fact our nation is still part slave and part free. Now what affects a part affects the whole. So how can we preserve what we have not yet attained?

To amplify this statement, I cite for example a few Negro leaders, some of whom have become members of the Communist Party as a political organization. Others have protested, in some instances government policy of either promoting or tolerating Jimcrow against certain races, colors, religions, and some foreign born in the army and navy, as well as in other places under government control—a pattern adopted by private enterprise.

An outstanding example of one who loves his country to the exclusion of self aggrandizement, is Paul Robeson. "One of the world's really great living men" put aside a lucrative concert and theatrical career, abandoned the brilliantly lighted stage for the lowly but potent soap-box to campaign against Jim Crow.



Hard facts in the case of Paul Robeson will expose the false accusations hurled at him by some of his own race. Paul, as he is called by those who know him and love him, learned the game of foot-ball in his early col-

Franco Deal Says Witt Shocks World

The arrival in Madrid of five Democratic Congressmen to confer with Generalissimo Franco recently, was labeled "another nail in the coffin of world democracy," by the Independent Progressive Party.

Bert Witt, Los Angeles County IPP executive vice-chairman, charged that "step by step, the hidden decision of our State Department to bring the frankly Fascist government of Spain into good grace, is being unveiled before a shocked world opinion."

ATTORNEY CURTIS TAYLOR is shown with his client Mary Elizabeth Jones in Superior Court, where Judge Jesse L. Frampton adjudged her insane at the time she stabbed her next door neighbor to death. Because of this ruling Mrs. Jones will not have to serve a prison term previously indicated. Instead she will be sent to the State Mental Hospital at Mendocino from which she will be set free when she is pronounced cured by hospital physicians. (See story).

Housing Attack Answered by Father O'Dwyer

Accusing the opponents of Proposition No. 14, the Housing Initiative on November's ballot, of being more concerned with the maintenance of inflationary profits in real estate than they are with the welfare of our people and our country, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. O'Dwyer, housing campaign chairman, this week answer dan attack made by Fulton Lewis Jr. over the Don Lee-Mutual Broadcasting System.

Time for Monsignor O'Dwyer's remarks was made available by the broadcasting system following a flood of protests that resulted from Mr. Lewis' broadcast of the previous Wednesday.

University Employees Vote For CIO

CHICAGO.—By a vote of 5 to 1, maintenance employees of the University of Chicago chose the CIO United Public Workers of America as their exclusive bargaining representative in an election conducted by the University this week.

405 votes were cast for CIO United Public Workers; 85 votes for the AFL; 1 vote was cast for no union; 10 votes were challenged and 5 were spoiled.

The employees comprise maids in the dormitories, janitors, kitchen workers, laundry workers, dietitians, nurses' aides, and other groups servicing the many University dormitories, restaurants and hospitals. 836 employees were eligible to vote.

One of the principal factors leading to a CIO victory was the record of the United Public Workers in fighting Jim Crow and all forms of discrimination. More than eighty percent of the University of Chicago maintenance employees, who will be represented by UPW-CIO, are Negroes.

NAACP Magazine Gives Praise to Wallace Party

"The new Progressive Party of Henry Wallace and the Negro people are partners," writes George Murphy, Jr., assistant to C. B. Baldwin, Progressive Party campaign manager, in the October issue of "Crisis," official organ of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Declaring that the "Progressive Party begins where Abraham Lincoln left off," Murphy enumerates the more than 45 Negro candidates of the Progressive Party, "the largest number of Negro candidates ever picked to run on a single ticket since the days of Thaddus Stevens."

Included are Mrs. Margaret Wilson, first Negro woman Congressional candidate in the history of Missouri; Mrs. Paul Robeson, candidate for Secretary of lege days. He learned to play it one way—straight and honest.

For a long time he stood on the side lines and watched the game of politics as it was played in his native land. He observed social and economic ills and conflicts were destroying the country's democratic way of life, and above all undermining the semblance of freedom that his racial group enjoyed. And they were reducing all the working people to a state of poverty and despair.

It was not until Robeson had visited France, Spain, and the Soviet Union that he became aware of his duty to his country and to the Negro segment of which he is a part. He observed the working class struggle to survive in these countries visited, and realized that the same struggle would have to be waged in this country if we, the people, hope to survive.

Negroes who have become members of the Communist Party, I feel safe in saying, have greater devotion for the preservation of the ideals of democracy, upon which this government was founded, than those who babble disapproval of a political ideology they do not understand. Except that they have heard it said by the Parnell-Thomas-Rankin Committee that the Communists aim is to overthrow this government.

Now does this appeal to your reason.

One of the so-called Negro Communists, now facing a prison term, is Henry Winston of Mississippi. The charge against Winston is "disloyalty"—the Rankin brand.

Rankin sits in judgment over Winston. This Negro's real crime was desertion of the lynch rope, the chain gang, the poll tax, and the hate sputum from the lips of John Rankin.

There are those in this country who believe in freedom and justice for all Americans. And it was this element that the fugitive from Rankin's Mississippi no doubt stumbled upon. These, as I have observed, are called Communists.

My opinion, which I believe is the opinion of many loyal Americans, is that the propaganda factories turning out hate bombs against Russia and the American Communists, if changed into arsenals for peace making, we the American people would soon be in the promised land of peace and real democracy.

We are disturbed over the Marshall Plan's inability to bring about the economic recovery of Europe, but not concerned with the real threat to our security and our high place as the leader in the world community of nations, by our inability to cope with the termites gnawing at our true American way of life.

Metropolitan Post Office Gets Improved

The first step in a series, planned to provide better postal service for the City of Los Angeles was taken this week with the opening of additional postal quarters at the Metropolitan Station in downtown Los Angeles.

Additional stations and the expansion of existing facilities are planned for the coming months to take care of the rapid growth of the city, it was announced by Postmaster Michael D. Fanning.

The new Annex at the Metropolitan Station adds some 5,000 square feet to the present quarters. Latest improvements provided in this addition include modern fluorescent lights and air conditioning.

Sixteen additional windows will be used to provide faster service for the purchase of money orders and the transaction of postal savings business and seventeen delivery messengers will be assigned to this station, which will speed the delivery of important mail to business establishments.

Police Prepare For Halloween Minus Trouble

"The coming Halloween weekend will be a weekend of work for the Los Angeles Police Department," stated Chief of Police C. B. Horrall this week, as he made plans to have maximum police strength on duty for the holiday.

The curfew law will be enforced. Children under eighteen years of age must be off the streets by 10 o'clock unless they are under adult supervision. This does not mean that children cannot attend Halloween festivals shows and parties, or go to and from such activities. The law applies only when they are loitering on the streets with no place to go, the Chief stated.

Last year the young people showed an overwhelming preference for playground fun. To enable all to enjoy Halloween, the Department of Parks and Recreation, in cooperation with local clubs and associations, will hold the playgrounds open 'till Halloween celebrations are over, and sponsor special programs open to the public.

ORIGINAL LOS ANGELES HARBOR—This was San Pedro waterfront in the Nineties, when a few docks served a few sailing vessels and occasional steamers. Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, soon after establishment in 1888, organized harbor-improvement and trade development campaigns making present harbor "Premier Port of the Pacific." It serves ships of all countries.

State Aids Vets in Purchase Of Homes in Excess of $10,000

Many California veterans interested in purchasing or refinancing their homes through the State Farm and Home Purchase Plan are under the assumption that if the purchase price of a home is in excess of $10,000, they will be barred from benefits of the Farm and Home program, Lawrence C. Stevens, State Director of Veterans Affairs reported recently.

"Either these veterans have been misinformed or do not understand the laws and regulations governing the Farm and Home Purchase Plan," Stevens said. The State will advance up to $7,500 for purchase of a home but the veteran may add funds of his own to the amount advanced by the State provided the total does not exceed $10,000.

He pointed out that the Department's appraised valuation is the controlling feature of the program and this appraisal, not the purchase price, must not exceed the $10,000. Stevens said, the word "cost" has been eliminated from the veterans Farm and Home Purchase Act, and added that many veterans now participating in the State plan have paid as much as $14,000 for their homes.

EDITOR TO SPEAK FOR VETERANS

An important mobilization meeting of the American Veterans will be held on Oct. 30 at 103rd and Graham pl. Promptly at 2:30 p.m. Proposition No. 14 will be discussed.

Speaker of the afternoon will be Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of the California Eagle.

Smith Spouted Hate Monday at Christian Rally

Racial hatred had a field day at Embassy Auditorium Monday night when Gerald L. K. Smith stood before an audience of 1000 oldsters and sent waves of bitter, violent preachment against the Jews throughout the hall.

Announcing that his party, the Christian Nationalists, was starting petitions to move all persons who are not permanent citizens of Los Angeles to "concentration" camps, the white supremacy candidate for the presidency also revealed his plans for entering a white supremacy candidate in the contest for Mayor.

Sparing no one in his bombast of hate, Smith blasted Governor Warren and dragged his daughter into a hypothetical sacrifice, because of the governor's interest in fair employment practices, then the standard-bearer of the Christian party predicted that Dewey would be elected, but the country would experience a crash that would make the previous depression seem like a boom.

Smith rose to vitriolic heights as he charged the Jews with everything; running the movies, the newspapers, the atom bomb and the radio. He announced he wanted to take all their jobs away from the Jews and give them back to veterans (non-Jewish of course). He accused the Jews of running the electoral college and controlling the naming of the president of the United States.

Segregation of Negroes and whites was another of Smith's desires. His listeners coughed up a thousand dollars, or the equivalent of a buck each. There was no violence, and no picketing, although some of the audience restrained itself with great effort during part of the ex-Huey Long henchman's tirade.

Betty Grable and Husband Harry James have a 62-acre ranch in Calabasas, 35 miles west of Hollywood, where they stable their horses and are now going into the breeding business as well.

have their number of Congressmen reduced.

Harry Truman headed West instead. As he left, a New York newspaper published Harry Truman's words given to two magazinee interviewers in 1944.

Said Harry Truman to Grace and Morris Milgrim, as reported in an article in Common Sense, 1944.

"I wish to make it clear that I am not appealing for social equality for the Negro . . . The Negro himself knows better than that . . . I don't believe in social equality . . ."

Truman said, the Milgrims reported, that he never has and "never will" invite a Negro to his home for dinner . . . He upholds segregated schools. He upheld "educational requirements" for voting in Southern states, used to prevent Negroes from voting.

The man who as a Senator supported every move to shelve the anti-lynching bill, who voted against cancelling poll taxes for soldiers, had the remarkable delusion that Negroes organized "push days," the Milgrims reported.

Negroes, the Milgrims quoted Truman as saying, "are going too far in St. Louis. The Negroes have started a 'push day' once a week. And they've got a 'push day' in Washington, too. I won't let my daughter go downtown on Thursdays an more. It's not safe. They push people off the streetcars."

The Milgrim's article makes all the more understandable why Truman's recent Executive Order on discrimination in the Army carefully omitted any reference to eliminating segregation; it explains why he attacked the Thaddeus Stevens' Congress, which passed the 14th and 15th amendments, as America's worst; why he told reporters on March 11, 1948, that he had no intention of backing up his civil rights program was meant for use in northern industrial disputes and not to help Negroes vote.

Harry Truman doesn't believe in civil rights for Negroes.

HENRY WALLACE went to Georgia last week to talk of brotherhood and real American unity. He told a convention of preachers the true meaning of Christian behavior. (Story on page 1.)

NAACP Drive Committees Meet Tonight

The NAACP campaign committee will meet at membership drive headquarters, 1105 East Vernon tonight, (Thursday) at 8 p.m. The drive has picked up some steam, but more volunteers who will get out and ring door bells are needed.

Latest reports show the men leading the women, but Mrs. Gertrude Hicks rates the orchid for the week for the tea she sponsored for the campaign. Solicitors are now permitted to cover the entire city in a rule set up at last Thursday's meeting.

Close to two dozen merchants in the community have contributed ten dollars or more to the drive and are thus eligible for the roll of honor of business supporters of the NAACP.

Van Johnson applied for a new job this week. He wants to be a circus performer.

Brave Scout Gets Citation For Saving Pal From Snake

A citation for bravery has been applied for by Mr. John Rouse, District Chairman of the Harbor District, for sixteen-year-old Star Scout Billy Kemperman of Troop 225 in Wilmington, who displayed exceptional bravery while at Camp Pepperdine on a recent camp trip.

Scout Kemperman risked his life to protect a comrade who had unwittingly strayed within striking distance of a timber rattler.

Scout Donald Lee Dodds, while resting along the trail, had set his pack down within three feet of the rattler, which had been noticed by Scout Billy Kemperman. Dodds was walking away from the man, who also noticed that Scout the rattler after depositing his pack, and feeling that the boy was walking to safety and rather than to frighten his comrade, he thought he would wait until he got a safe distance and then warn him of the snake.

But, instead of doing as he had intended, Scout Dodds started to return to his pack, whereupon Scout Kemperman acted, without thought of his own safety, by pushing aside the young Scout and trampling with his feet the head of the poison rattler, whereupon Andrew Shelline assisted him in killing the snake.

Lawrence Silas Cattle Rancher Top in Nation

Lawrence Silas, prosperous Florida rancher and son of a Georgia farmer, is the largest Negro livestock farmer in the United States. Mr. Silas started his livestock farming 40 years ago by purchasing from the neighbors calves and heifers—one or two at a time.

Today at 60 years of age he is the owner of a 20,000-acre ranch with 50 miles fencing located in the Kissimmee Valley, where the U. S. highways meet—192 and 17. Stocked with several hundred beef cattle, this ranch is rated as one of the best in America.

The big packers in Chicago and middlewest are some of his best customers. Mr. Silas employs 24 cowhands and several veterinarians year in and year out.

Sergeant Paul Jernigan, brother of Charles Jernigan, 1813 East 122nd St., recently returned for reassignment in the United States after completing a tour of duty with the U. S. Army in the Philippines.

Formerly serving with the 119th Port Transportation Battalion in Manila, Sgt. Jernigan has been ordered to report at Camp Stoneman in California for his next assignment.

He was accompanied on the return voyage by his wife, Virginia, and their 9-month-old daughter, aboard the Army transport General Weigel.

Meeting at Pacoima School To Protest Police Killings

A meeting in the interest of safety for all will be held in the Pacoima elementary school building, Van Nuys blvd. and Norris st. on Friday, October 29, at 8 p.m.

The speakers will be Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The California Eagle; William B. Esterman, candidate for Congress from the 20th Congressional District, and a representative of Amigos de Wallace. There will also be entertainment, including a skit by the Young Progressives.

The immediate issue will be the discussion of the action of members of the Los Angeles police department. On March 10, the bulletin advertising the meeting points out, Officer Keyes shot to death an unarmed boy of 16 named Salcido. Keyes is still at large. On August 22, Los Angeles police officers beat to death a youth named Burns. The killers are still at large.

All these murderers are "legal killers," states the bulletin, and so went free. If Burns and Salcido could be legally slain, how long will you be safe? There must be safety for all. Everyone will be safe if we all stick up for each other's rights. Let's get together, advises the committee in charge. Admission is free.

GALLSTONES

ULCERS, CONSTIPATION, GAS PAINS

Heroic efforts should be made to remove gallstones without removing gall bladder by surgery. GALLSTONES should be understood. Gallstones are thickened stagnated bile accumulations which pack hard and block the gall ducts.

When the bile stops flowing one finds a tender spot between the navel and ribs, a coated tongue, yellow skin, nausea, sharp or colic pains.

Many patients suffering with gall bladder disorder, come to us believing they have ulcers, gastritis, etc. We find that many of these cases have been improperly diagnosed as ulcers by other doctors. Many such cases have responded immediately to our treatment of gall bladder derangements and lose all symptoms in a few days. Gallstones have been removed from many of our patients without surgery.

INCURABLES

We have had many so-called incurables, visit our offices after having examinations, and X-rays time on end that did not disclose any organic disease and where the doctor making the diagnosis was baffled as to the cause of the patient's condition. We have found that the patient was suffering from some form of self poisoning as a result of faulty metabolism, the poisons not being eliminated through the usual channels necessary.

To correct many so-called INCURABLE diseases, the cause must be removed and can only be removed when the cause is known.

EXAMPLE: — "Putrefaction germs produce highly poisonous toxins, many of which closely resemble the venom of snakes and minute quantities are capable of producing the most alarming and distressing symptoms. A good example of the ill effects of these poisons is expressed by contact with odors arising from a dead mouse in a closet or under the floor. Although greatly diluted with air may give rise to headache, nausea, loss of appetite and other unpleasant effects. If breathing these diluted poisons, will produce unpleasant effects, how much more grave must be the effect when through the retention within the body (constipation) of these foul substances their poisonous contents are sucked up into the blood and circulated through the body. In other words, when a person through constipation throws off through the lungs, kidneys and skin a large part of the poisonous matter which ought to have been discharged through the bowel, how great must be the mischief done. The ultimate effcets are colitis, biliousness, gastritis, gallstones, skin diseases of various sorts. Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure, apoplexy, paralysis, nervousness, insomnia, mental depression, and even insanity. Every case of constipation is curable."

SKIN DISORDER

Eczema: Psoriasis, Acne, Ulcers etc., cannot be corrected unless the cause is removed.

ECZEMA: is caused by irritants in the fluids which seek outlets through the skin and mucous membranes because of the inability on the part of the sufferer to throw off waste matters through the bowels. How grave must be the effects through retention within the body of foul substances, some as poisonous as the venom of snakes, when sucked up into the blood stream and circulated through the body. In other words, when a person because of constipation, throws off through the lungs, kidneys and skin, a large part of the poisonous matter which ought to have been discharged through the bowel, how great must be the damage done.

PSORIASIS: must be treated the same as eczema as it is a white, mother of pearl scaly condition which forms a red base. It occurs mostly on hair growing skin. Local treatment gets temporary results but psoriasis is never cured until the systemic causes are removed.

ACNE: blackheads, inflammatory red blotches that appear on face, neck and back. The cause is a bad state of blood, plugging up of pores and sebaceous glands which is skin constipation. To correct, the blood must be cleansed.

TO CORRECT THE ABOVE DISORDERS, THE CAUSE MUST BE REMOVED

Dr. Charles A. Tyrrell, M.D., says, "The physician can no more perform cures than the farmer can make his crops grow. In each case, all that can be done is to employ all the methods that cumulative wisdom can suggest to make the conditions as favorable as possible, and leave the rest to Mother Nature, who is not in the habit of making mistakes, and whose unerring methods would cure 90% of all diseased conditions, if her beneficent intentions were not frustrated by well meant, but nevertheless pernicious drug interferences."

"My object in publishing this statement is to point out the true cause of disease, together with the means for its prevention and cure, and that, too, by a simple and inexpensive method of hygienic treatmnet, which has proved eminently successful in tens of thousands of cases, which is perfectly harmless and natural in its action, and absolutely free from even the suspicion of a drug. An impacted colon is a prolific hotbed for the wholesale breeding of disease germs, microbes—those organisms which science has demonstrated to be the cause of many phases of disease, or rather, the toxins (poisons) they produce, cause disease."

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of disease is to wash it out. With me, it has passed beyond the theoretic stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my directions, with the most astounding results, scarcely a disease known to humanity but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

Daniel C. Munro, M.D., says: "If I were to write the story of all the cases in which colonic irrigations seem to lift the patient from the very jaws of death, it would fill volumes."

Prof. Ehret says, "Disease is an effort of the body to eliminate waste, mucous and toxemia. Not the disease but the body is to be healed; it must be cleansed, freed from waste and foreign matter, from mucous and toxemias accumulated since childhood. This system is not a remedy, it is a regeneration, a thorough house-cleaning, the acquisition of such clean and perfect health such as you never knew before."

That means one thing, men, get down to the California State Employment Service as fast as you can. The industrial office is located at 1100 South Flower Street in Los Angeles.

Common Cold Is Dangerous Says Dr. Kaufman

Warning against colds that linger on and develop into a more serious ailment, Dr. Seymour H. Kaufman urges citizens to go to work on colds at home as soon as they are detected.

If favorable results are not obtained after this procedure the doctor advises that they pay a visit to his offices, at 55th and S. Central and receive professional attention.

Dr. Kaufman cited the fact that the number of prescriptions filled for colds has more than tripled since the beginning of the fall season. "An ounce of prevention at the start is worth hundreds of dollars for the treatment of a worse sickness in the future," he says.

Officers suitable for a dentist are available in the 55th Street building, Dr. Kaufman announces.

City Not Ready To Take Parks

Transfer of operation of Castle Rock, Will Rogers and Santa Monica State beaches from the County to the City of Los Angeles under State ownership scheduled for October has been deferred until January 31, according to Supervisor Leonard J. Roach.

Reason given for the continued County operation is that the City is not ready to assume operation at this time.

Roach also says that the County is negotiating a 50-year contract with the State Park Commission whereby the County will administer and control El Porto, Manhattan, Redondo, and Clifton beaches.

Under this contract, Roach states that the County will have jurisdiction, care, maintenance, and control of these state beach areas.

Negro Youths Picket in Texas Against Political Persecuton

Houston, Texas, — When a picket line was thrown around the Federal and main post office building here last Saturday, aimed at the Department of Justict which has its offices in the building, two Negro youths were among the marchers. They carried signs denouncing political persecution as part of the demonstration against the indictment of 12 leaders of the Communist party.

Morris Bogdanow, attorney and secretary of the Civil Rights Congress here, who directed the pickets, charged that the indictments are in violation of the constitution since none of the men indicted advocated overthrow of the government by 'force and violence.'

The appearance of the two youths, Ed Hardy and John Glenn, on the picket lines was also a symbol of protest against police attacks on striking workers and on the Negro people.

Police stood by watching as the picketers marched with signs some of which read: Today Communist Are Persecuted For Their Beliefs, Your Turn Next," and, "Tom Clark, Your Duty Is To Protect Political Freedom, Not Attack It."

Saturday was also Primary election day in Houston and large crowds watched the demonstration.

What Did YOU Say Sweet To Your Sweetheart?

NEW YORK CITY—"Say Something Sweet to Your Sweetheart," the hit recording by the Ink Spots, has become more than just a popular disc to millions of husbands and boy friends. After the Ink Spots' disc was released to the public recently, it was decided to run a contest, via the disc jockies, to acquaint record fans with the song.

The idea behind the contest was to have husbands write in how they proposed to their wives and have boy friends pen what they think was the sweetest thing they had ever said to their girl friends.

Ivie Anderson Suing Husband For $50,000

Ivie Anderson, former vocalist with Duke Ellington's orchestra, and well-known Angeleno and presently on a song tour of the Pacific coast, threw a legal bombshell at her husband Mark Neal local restaurateur when she filed a suit within the last week seeking to quiet title and adjudicate her property rights and a large apartment unit located at 259 East 41st Place, valued at approximately Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000.00).

Miss Anderson who filed the suit under the name of Ivie Neal through her attorney Walter L. Gordon, Jr., has just recently secured an annulment of her marriage to Neal approximately two months ago through the same attorney.

In this present action, Miss Anderson asserts that she and Neal married May 1, 1942, and lived together until August 20, 1948.

She further asserts that she invested into the property approximately Twenty-Seven Thousand Dollars ($27,000.00) money belonging to her personal estate which she had received from her various employments as an entertainer and that Neal has no intedest in tre property as any interest that has later been acquired has all come about as a result of the rents that take care of the payments.

Trial of the case has been set for July 13, 1949 in the local Superior Court and it is expected that there will be much startling as well as sensational testimony.

Attorney Gordon questioned by an Eagle reporter, stated that a deposition of Neal was to be taken in the very near future and he scoffed at previous newspaper accounts of a settlement having been entered into between the parties where Mrs. Neal received the sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000.00) for her equity in the propertp. Attorney Gordon stated that such a statement was merely rumor without fact.

Ella Fitzgerald Home in Nov.

LONDON, England — Last week, after taking several bows on the stage of the Palladium, Ella Fitzgerald dashed into her dressing rooms and almost into the arms of two excited Frenchmen. When they had finished complimenting her work, hubby Ray Brown explained that the pair were representatives of a chain of French vaudeville houses. They had heard that Ella was in London and wanted to talk to her about a proposition

The next morning Ella cabled New York and was informed by her home office that she had to be back in New York by November to fulfill her commitments with American theatres and nightclubs.

trying to trace the lumber used in constructing the cross. Special runs are made by squad cars in the area and a close watch is being maintained around the clock. Every effort is being made to trace the threatening phone call. Dr. Roberts is on a party line, and when an Eagle reporter talked with her today, there was a noisy interference that sounded like a telegraph signal.

The area where Dr. Roberts purchased her home is generally of mixed population with Negroes living in every block except the one where her house is located. Saturday, another Negro family moved in across the street from the Roberts'.

Dr. Roberts is employed by the City Health Department, and she is on the staff at the clinic at 116 West Temple street. She and her mother purchased the irginia Road home from the L. C. Moore Co. Lovell C. Moore, the broker who sold the listing for Mary and Jack Emerzian told the California Eagle, he was at first instructed by his clients to sell to whites only.

When he pointed out that he was a Negro broker and consequently he would be in a better position to make a sale to a Negro buyer, the Emerzians told him to sell to a Negro, but to get a thousand dollars more than the asking price. It developed that Moore sold the property to the Roberts' for a thousand dollars less than the asking price.

Sue Landlords For Overcharge

Eleven landlords, accused of collecting over-ceiling rent or illegal bonuses totaling $16,746, were named defendants in suits filed in U. S. District Court last week by the Office of Housing Expediter.

The Federal rent agency sued for refund to tenants of the illegally collected money and also asked the court to enjoin the landlords from any further violations of the Housing and Rent Act of 1948.

A Wilshire district landlord who charged a huge bonus for rental of a rooming house, and his tenant who in turn sublet the place for a still larger bonus, are sued jointly by the Federal rent agency along with the broker who negotiated the second deal.

of them on old age pensions, dug down into their pockets and contributed more than $1000 to the Smith hate fund.

And all this flow of hate and racial bias, this rabble rousing tirade was evidently looked upon by the police department of Los Angeles as being highly "American." Nothing was done to check this meeting.

But it will be remembered about a year ago, how a meeting of members of the Democratic Party in a private home, was raided by police officers in Glendale. And what a hard time citizens of peace had in bringing the offenders to justice.

We also remember how, also about a year ago, the editor of The California Eagle, and Averill Berman, noted radio commentator, were pommeled with rotten tomatoes before they even had a chance to speak at a meeting in Los Angeles, Pasadena.

Then, very recently, a meeting in Watts protesting police brutality was raided by the local police. Why? For no reason at all than that the speakers advocated protection instead of brutal treatment by the police.

Yet the law enforcement agencies of the City of Los Angeles can find no fault with Gerald L. K. Smith's tirade against Negroes and Jews. He can sputter imbecilic indecencies at will. And not even a protest is made.

The "American way of life," is it? Gerald L. K. Smith, in his violent hatred of those who never harmed him, reminds one of the old nursery rhyme of the boy who drowned poor Pussy Cat, who never did any harm but drive the mice from Grandma's barn.

State of Connecticut; Magistrate Joseph Rainey, candidate for Congress in Philadelphia; Larkin Marshall, editor of the Macon World, first Negro candidate for Senate in Georgia since Reconstruction days; Rev. Stacey Adams, candidate for Lieutenant Governor in Texas.

Of Wallace's Southern tour, Murphy writes:

"When the Progressive Party candidate went South, he spoke only to non-segregated audiences. He travelled through North Carolina going hungry rather than eat or drink where Negroes could not be served. He slept in the homes of Negro friends and in his own car rather than sleep in a hotel that barred Negro guests. He was hounded by the hoodlums of the Klan and the American Legion and the Dixiecrat, yet he stood his ground and fought back."

In contrast, Murphy reminded his readers that "while you read these words, the Republican-Democratic candidates, be they Dewey or Truman, Warren or Barkley, are carrying out their weasel-worded platforms on 'equality' by cooperating with Jim Crow — by eating, sleeping or speaking in places where Negroes are banned."

Wallace's tour, said Murphy, "was the platform of the Progressive Party in action." The platform in part, calls for a permanent FEPC, outlawing segregation in the government and army, denial of Federal funds to states practicing segregation, outlawing racial propaganda, anti-lynch and anti-poll tax laws.

Charging that while "Truman 'investigates', Jim Crow marches on," Murphy declared that "it is the Progressive Party that exposes the Truman double talk about 'Civil Rights' and calls for a return to the principles of peace and social progress of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt."

"In 1948," he writes, "the Negro people in partnership with the Progressive Party can cast aside the 'Uncle Toms,' the misleaders, the week-kneed 'liberals' and the 'equality by and by boys' and bring about an end of Jim Crow and discrimination within our time."

Rev. Hill Gets Hospital Post

Rev. Robert D. Hill, minister of Scott Methodist Church, 55 Mary street, Pasadena, was recently appointed the Negro representative on the Committee of Twenty-Five of the Los Angeles Methodist Hospital Foundation.

Rev. Hill is a graduate of Houston College and the Boston University School of Theology, and before coming to Scott Church in June, 1943, he served as pastor of St. Andrews Methodist Church, Worcester, Mass., and as dean of men and college minister at Houston.

Many worthwhile projects have been successfully completed during Rev. Hill's pastorate at Scott Methodist, among them the liquidating of a debt of $7,000 and the building of a beautiful church parsonage. Rev. Hill is also a member of the Board of Missions and Church Extension and the Board of Education of the Southern California-Arizona Conference.

● Insanity Plea

by Judge C. C. McDonald, an upstate jurist who was temporarily sitting in Dept. 41 when the case was tried early last month.

Instead of being sent to the women's prison at Techachapi for life, she was ordered sent to the mental hospital at Mendocino, California, where she will be released when cured. Her good fortune comes as the result of fast thinking on the part of her attorney, Curtis C. Taylor, who did not interpose a plea of insanity for his client until the day she went to court for trial on the murder charge.

At that time he was granted permission to enter the insanity plea and Dr. Marcus Crahan, Los Angeles County Jail physician, along with two other noted alienists were appointed to examine Mrs. Jones. At the trial two of them rendered an opinion that the accused woman was insane and Judge Frampton acting upon their findings made his decision.

Attorney Taylor told reporters that under the law Mrs. Jones is entitled to release from the hospital as soon as her mental condition improves to the extent that she can be discharged. He also stated that the decision automatically nullifies the conviction of murder.

windbreak of eucalyptus trees lining an orange grove. The force of the impact, he says, catapulted him into an orange tree, but it crushed out the lives of his common-law wife and her eight-year-old daughter.

Mueller says Graver has told so many varying versions of the accident he doesn't know which one to believe. Also, Mueller has four witnesses who are ready to testify that Garver had boasted he was the one man who could commit the perfect crime. There are other witnesses who will testify that Graver had threatened to "kill them."

Motive for the double slaying, if such it is, Mueller says, is the fear that Garver's common-law wife planned to expose him for certain un-natural practices against her 8-year-old daughter. The police chief says he has information that the dead woman had left Garver because of his attentions to the little girl, and that she had only returned recently after a three-week absence.

Theories of homicide abound in the case. One is that the girl did not die as the result of the accident, and that she was beaten to death immediately after; another is, both the mother and daughter were slain, and the car wrecked to make it appear an accident. Still another is that Graver deliberately wrecked the car, jumping just before it crashed.

There is a report that a Mrs. Clevenger who was following the car driven by Graver saw something suspicious, and it is possible that she reported this to the police. There are many more angles to the case, one of which is, Graver has a record and he might be telling the truth after all. One thing is certain; he'll either get credit for a perfect crime, or take a bum rap, that is, unless he did murder the woman and her daughter. Chief Mueller thinks he can prove the latter.

YMCA Out of Community Chest, Will Rely on Membership Only

Announcement was made Friday, October 15, by President Harold F. Whittle of the Los Angeles YMCA and President Paul K. Yost of the Community Welfare Federation of Los Angeles Area that effective March 1, of next year, the Los Angeles YMCA has decided to raise its operating budget through its annual spring membership campaign and will thereafter not participate in the annual Community Chest campaign.

The basic principle of the Community Chest is its commitment to its contributors to make only one annual request for the operating funds of the member agencies. It permits one dollar memberships to its agencies in order that they may maintain an interested voting constituency.

Historically the YMCA is a membership organization and does not feel that it can, without detriment, discontinue the practice of regularly reactivating its sustaining membership through an annual enrollment for amounts not limited to one dollar.

The Boards of the two organizations have conferred frequently over a period of many months, earnestly exploring the problem in all of its aspects, and have been unsuccessful in composing their different policies. The separation is taking place in an atmosphere of cordial good will and with symphathy for each other's problems and each organization bespeaks the community's continuing confidence in and support of the other.

The Beverly Hills and Inglewood Associations, being separate YMCA units, will continue as Chest members with the other 156 agencies which depend on the one annual appeal of the Chest.

The Los Angeles YMCA will receive a continuing budget for four months from the proceeds of this fall's Chest campaign.

The YMCA raised $206,000 in its sustaining membership campaign last February and the Chest allocated $287,000 to its activities for the current year.

"In Memoriam" Armistice Day Program Piece

Because the first concert of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra's current Thirtieth Anniversary Season occurs on Armistice Day, Music Director Alfred Wallenstein has decided to open the program with William Grant Still's patriotic requiem, "In Memoriam: the Colored Soldier Who Died for Democracy."

This composition, most successful of 17 commissioned by the League of Composers in 1943, was introduced by Arthur Rodzinski and the Now York Philharmonic Orchestra in four concerts in January, 1944, and subsequently has received repeated hearings in scores of cities in the United States and abroad.

Mr. Still, one of America's foremost composers, is a Los Angeles resident. The remainder of Mr. Wallenstein's opening program will consist of Aaron Copland's Third Symphony and the Schubert Symphony No. 7.

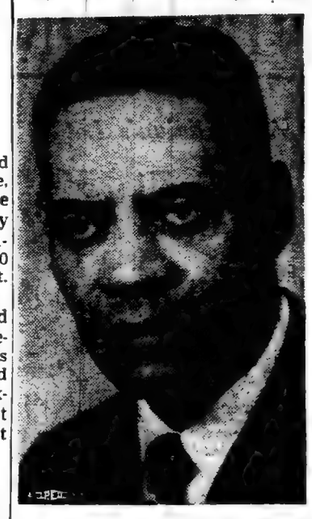
Bill "Bojangles" Robinson and his charming and popular wife, Mrs. Elaine Robinson, will be honored with "open house" by the officials of the L. M. Blumstein's Department Store at 230 125th Street on Thursday, Oct. 28.



This honor is being tendered Mr. and Mrs. Robinson as a celebration in recognition of Bill's recent recovery from a period of illness that necessitated extended rest and medical care at the Harkness Pavillion at Medical Center.

Progressive Party Uses Sound Truck As Campaign Aids

Specific plans for continuing to build the Independent Progressive Party after the Nov. 2 elections were being made by IPP officials this week as they announced a meeting of the party's 50-member State Executive Committee in Los Angeles Nov. 20-21.

Edward Mosk, Los Angeles County IPP chairman, said it will be a two-day "stock-taking and planning session," called by Hugh Bryson, State Chairman.

The National Committee of the Progressive Party also has called a post-election meeting, set for Nov. 13-14 in Chicago.

Willard Ransom of Indiana (left) and Thomas M. Clarke of Illinois are two recently-named candidates on the Progressive Party ticket. Ransom, an attorney and former Deputy Attorney General of Indiana, is the Henry Wallace party nominee for Congress in Indiana's 11th C.D. (Indianapolis). One of five Negro officers to serve in the Advocate General's office during the war, he is the first Negro nominated for Congress in the state's history. Clarke is the Progressive Party's nominee for Municipal Court Judge of Chicago. A veteran of the AEF in World War I, he is an attorney and former Post Judge Advocate of the Chicago American Legion.

Tribal Chief Weds White Girl; Tribesmen Make Objections

LONDON.—27-year-old Prince Sereste Khama, heir-apparent to an African tribal throne in Bechuanaland, flew home earliler this week, and he must have turned his puzzled thoughts toward the growing influence of the American philosophy, as he sped through the air.

When he got home, Prince Krama was put on the carpet by his uncle who is acting as regent of the tribe of 100,000 while the heir-apparent studies law preparatory to taking over the government next year. The reason: young Khama recently married 24 year old Ruth Williams, who is white and a clerk.

His uncle said he was to come home for "talks of grave importance."

Khama said: "I gather my uncle and his counselors may think differently of having me as chief now that I have a white wife."

The youth is the first of his tribe to marry a white person. Undaunted, he said: "I still want to be chief of Bamangwato, and want my wife to be by my side. I expect the final issue will rest with the people."

Ruth, with the courageous determination of a pioneer said: "My one hope is that I can go back to Bamangwato and help him rule. The fact that I would be one white woman among 100,000 doesn't worry me."

Telephone Service Double In 10 Years

In the last 10 years the number of telephones in service in the Pacific West has been doubled, it was announced this week by E. S. Ricker, manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. A gain of more than a quarter of a million telephones in the company's coast-wide territory thus far in 1948 has brought the total to an all-time high of 3,659,000.

Proposition 5 Support Grows

The California State Chamber of Commerce, the Public Health League and the Organized Sportsmen of California, all organizations with large statewide memberships, today announced support of Prop. 5 providing for the long-delayed salary adjustment for members of the California Legislature, according to Edward Shattuck and E. George Luckey, co-chairmen of the "Yes on 5 Committee."

Said James Mussatti, State Chamber executive, "the present $100 per month — fixed 20 years ago — is inadequate for a California legislator."

Gallegos by Police Fails

The police are still trying to pin something on Guillermo Gallegos. The Mexican youth who is the sole witness to the police killing of Augustin Salcido, previously beat a marihuana rap, cooked up during the trial of officer Keyes for the Salcido killing. Last week, Gallegos was freed by Superior Court Judge Thomas Ambrose of a 'suspicion of burglary charge.

A plainclothesman, disguised in the Hollywood manner, as a poorly-dressed down-and-outer, accosted Gallegos in an attempt to frame him. The youth, wary because of the many attempts of the police to 'get' him, called the pseudo-bum a stool-pigeon, and neatly side-stepped the trap.

Nevertheless, he was arrested. Police slapped him and warned him to get out of town, or else he was going to be the next one killed. When the trial was called last Saturday, Judge Ambrose granted a writ of habeas corpus on the plea of Attorney Leo Gallagher, who was provided for the defense by the Civil Rights Congress. The District Attorney failed to swear out a complaint in the case.

A member of the Congress noted that the continuing attempts to frame Gallegos and the threat to kill him is the sort of procedure used by gangsters to silence witnesses against them. It was pointed out that a delegation had visited Mayor Bowron last Friday in an attempt to have him put an end to just the sort of intimidation and threatening by police as that being used against Gallegos. Bowron stubbornly refused to consider the proposal.

Overtime Pay Rules Now in Effect Here

The new overtime pay interpretations under the Fair Labor Standards Act (Federal wage and hour law) regarding certain types of premium payments for work on Saturdays, Sundays, holidays or at night are now in effect in California.

The new method of computing overtime rates became effective Monday, according to Charles H. Elrey, who represents the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, U. S. Department of Labor, in Southern California.

Proposition K Non-Political

To help lift the Los Angeles beach quarantine and solve the grave health problem presented by polluted ocean waters, more than 50 prominent leaders have organized the Citizens Committee for Proposition K, it was announced by Martin Pollard, of North Hollywood, chairman.

Proposition K is the only city measure to come before voters at the general election on November 2. It is a non-political, non-controversial bond measure to complete the sewage disposal and treatment plant at Hyperion Beach.

The last item on the ballot, the measure requires a two-thirds vote. The Citizens committee is urging all voters to mark "Yes" on this sole city issue on election day to assure its passage.

About Those Propositions

Take time out and study the initiative propositions that will be on your ballot, November 2. To vote carelessly or without a knowledge of the bearing a correct vote on the initiative measures, will have on your living conditions in the future is a matter for serous consideration.

Proposition No. 1, Veterans' Tax Exemption. Although the opponents of this measure say there are already too many tax exemptions, we believe there cannot be too many for the boys who fought for us. We therefore recommend a YES vote on No. 1.

Proposition No. 2. Liquor control and enforcement initiative, would clean up the liquor places and tighten restrictions on the issuance of licenses. Vote YES.

Propostion No. 3. Would repeal the Full Crew Railroad law. We publish what a railroad worker says about this measure.

The Full-Crew law means safety to me—a railroad worker—and safety for you when you ride a train in California.

Proposition No. 3 has been placed on the ballot by the Railroad Companies, after the safety minded state legislature refused to repeal the Full Crew Law.

Even with this law, railroading is a dangerous occupation. Imagine what it would be without this law. Skeleton crews, little inspection, two brakemen on a train a mile long.

Proposition No. 3 means only one thing: more profits for the Companies at the expense of your safety and mine.

Vote NO on No. 3.

Proposition No. 4. Aged and Blind Aid. Increases old age aid from $60 to $75, and blind aid from $75 to $85 per month. The arguments against this measure seem trivial. One of them is that, if adopted, it will become a part of the State Constitution, and so the aid given the aged and blind cannot be lowered by the Legislature, in case more roads, etc. are needed. This, we feel, would be a good thing. We therefore urge YES for No. 4.

Proposition No. 5. This would give the Legislature power to set the salary of its members. At present California, boasting as being the richest state in the Union, pays its legislators the measly sum of only $100 per month. Proposition No. 5 would give them at least $250 per month. Vote YES on No. 5.

Proposition No. 6. Would prohibit the use of nets, traps, and other appliances used in commercial fishing. Would make San Francisco Bay and tributary bays and streams, a recreational fishing area only for wealthy fishermen. Vote NO on No. 6.

Proposition No. 7. This would require 54 days residence in a precinct, instead of the present 40, before a ctizen could register to vote. We believe the present 40 are long enough, and recommend NO on No. 7.

Proposition No. 8. Provides that if a superior court vacancy occurs at any time during an election year, instead of only after April 1 as the present law states, the vacancy shall be filled in the general election. Sounds reasonable, and we recommend a YES vote.

Proposition No. 9. Fixes the succession to office of governor, in case of the death of the governor or of the governor-elect. Vote YES.

Proposition No. 10. Prohibits submitting to the voters any constitutional amendment that embraces more than one subject. Often initiative measures, by using too many subjects, confuse the voters and defeat the purpose for which they were drawn. Vote YES on No. 10.

Proposition No. 11. Makes it easier to set up boroughs and submit charters for boroughs. Vote YES.

Proposition No. 12. This is a companion initiative to No. 2. It regulates the presence of women in bars, and would grant each community the freedom to decide for itself whether it will have liquor selling or not. Vote YES on No. 12.

Proposition No. 13.

Vote YES on number 13. A yes vote on 13 provides for the reapportionment of state senators on a population basis. This measure by all means should be approved. It will mean the correct distribution of California citizens' voting power, and will give those citizcns a menas to defeat the electon of such menances to human rights and dignity as one Senator Jack B. Tenney.

Vote YES on number 14. This provides for the construction of 100,000 new low rental dwelling units in California without cost to the taxpayers, and without regard to race, color or religion.

Proposition No. 15. A companion to No. 6. Would prohibit the use of nets in the ocean and tide waters of the state south of a line extending west from Point San Simeon. Would put at least 40,000 workers out of jobs. Vote NO on No. 15.

Lack of space prohibits a discussion, however brief, of the remaining amendments, but next wek a full ballot with the voting recommendations of The California EAGLE will be printed.

The Sermon on the Mount

It was a momentous occasion, and a highlight in the three-cornered presidential campaign, when Henry Wallace flew to Georgia last Saturday and spoke to 800 ministers at a Church of God annual conference.

It is becoming increasingly evident that the religious elements of the nation realize that the Henry Wallace outline of a non-violent program is the path that leads to permanent peace and security in the nation and in the world.

On this second visit to the Talmadge State, Wallace was greeted with praise instead of rotten tomatoes and eggs.

Using the same outspoken approach in dealing with questions and issues that will influence our future unity as a nation, Henry Wallace told the ministers and their congregations that what we need is Christianity in action.

Some of the points emphasized by the Third Party candidate were his advice to outlaw hate—hate pitting one religion against another, one race against another, and one color against another.

"This," said Wallace, "is Christianity in action, and I see no reason why it should not be preached from the housetops and the pulpits."

Truly Henry Wallace has come forward preaching a doctine for the Common Man. He advised his hearers to go forth preaching a doctrine of peace, a doctrine destined to outlaw Jimcrow in government, in industry, and in education. Denial of equality in all of these to all Americans is an impediment blocking the highway to peace and security.

In this Talmadge State of Georgia, Henry Wallace declared, the biggest industry was controlled by the House of Morgan, and it discriminated against members of the CIO as well as against Negroes.

It is against conditions of this kind that we must unite, he said, unite as the forces of evil and monopolistic wealth have united against us, the Common People of the Land. It is only by being One, even as Jesus prayed that His disciples might be One, that we can bring about even a semblance of that New World which Jesus pictured when "they shall study war no more," and when "they shall thirst no more, neither hunger any more, for the former things have passed away."

Putting the precepts of the Sermon on the Mount, of all the teachings of Jesus and the prophets of the Bible, into practice, is putting Christianity into action. And that, in the last analysis, is most practical politics.

A Call for Unity

United States Senator Irving M. Ives, at a recent luncheon meeting of the New York Chapter of the American Jewish Committee, called for a united effort of all forces to win the civil rights battle.

The first obstacle to be overcome, said the Senator, is the rule in the U. S. Senate which permits filibustering. He said the revision of the Senate rules was vital to the protection and welfare of the country.

All progressive-minded citizens of America will agree with Senator Ives, both as the need of the abolition of filibustering and the need for unity. The need for unity has been emphasized again and again—the same kind of unity which we had during the war, when soldier stood with buddy soldier in driving back the enemy.

There was unity then in agreeing who the enemy was. There is no need for disunity now. It is one and the same—the fearful, sneaking enemy of Fascism, creeping up to the American people disguised as a friend, supposedly bent upon the destruction of Communism.

In reality it is the destruction of Americanism. And unless the people of America unite in this fight now, as we were united during the war, the greatest enemy of mankind may win. UNITE NOW. All races, all religions, all minority groups, to oppose Fascism in America, as we opposed it in Europe.

A Politician's Lot

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

The National Association of Manufacturers is helping out club women marvelously these days. Taking for granted that they are too busy to do any research work for themselves, or even to read the newspapers and magazines and newspapers and then decide for themselves, the NAM has generously written up a number of speeches for the president of the club or chairman of a meeting, has suggested advance notices of the meeting to be sent to newspapers, and has even answered questions supposed to come unsolicited from the audience!

And the subject for such discussion is — guess what? — the Taft-Hartley law!

This NAM kit of speeches is labeled "program notes for women's clubs." The folder has five speeches; questions (with answers) for each speaker, to be "planted" in the audience; short introductions and a summation for the chairman or club president; invitations to be sent to club members and friends, and sample releases to be sent to newspapers before and after the discussion.

It's all there, cut and dried. All the president of the club and those she appoints on the program need do, is to memorize their parts and not forget their cues. It would be most embarrassing, wouldn't it, for some one in the audience to be allowed to ask an honest-to-goodness question, one which the leader wouldn't know how to answer according to NAM propaganda technique? To prevent this the chairman of the meeting must be on the alert, of course, and see to it that no one is allowed to ask a question except those whom she has planted in the audience.

And so a lady on the left raises her hand, and asks, "Is the law hurting the labor unions?"

The answer which the NAM has supplied the club president, is: "I think it is obvious that unions are not being handicapped by the act . . . There has been no wage cut under the law, and none of the industrial strife and chaos which its opponents predicted."

Well, all you need to do, if you have eyes to see, is to look around a bit. You'll find plenty of chaos and strife. And you'll likely see more, much more, if the proponents of that law are re-elected.

Another question is: "What is the attitude of the employers toward the act?"

The answer, supplied by NAM: "Generally speaking, the attitudes of employers have been moderate and reasonable . . . Employers have shown little inclination to take advantage of legal technicalities."

Here, you see, is an admission that there are legal technicalities in the law which the employers can take advantage of. That they are doing so today, witness the numerous injunctions against labor unions and the refusal of employers to bargain with unions because of legal technicalities with which the labor leaders have not complied.

This NAM club program with its canned speeches, and canned questions and answers, has been termed "a slick job, neither accurate nor honest; it's the same kind of job being done by a carnival spieler, but more polished . . . The NAM ghost writers use slick slogans, artful adjectives . . . and the use of half-truths."

The sample release to be sent to newspapers, announcing the meeting with the discussion, says there is to be "a frank analysis of the Taft-Hartley law, as well as exposure of both pros and cons." That would induce almost anyone interested in learning the truth about the law, what the NAM wants. Once in the meeting, they feel you can be persuaded to their way of thinking by the propaganda they have supplied to the club leader.

"When unions jeopardize the sovereignty of the public," is the way the chairman of the meeting will introduce the subject, according to the NAM program. She will speak learnedly of the Wagner Act (adopted during President Roosevelt's administration, and called the Magna Charta of Labor), and suggest that there are many "peculiar interpretations of the Wagner Act which disregarded the people's sovereignty." And she will link the Taft-Hartley Act with "democracy," "private industry," the "American way of life" etc—all of them countersigns to reactionary clubdom which is hastening the spread of Fascism in America.

Will the American people fall for such canned idiocy? Some of them will. You can fool all of the American people some of the time, but you can't fool all of them all the time. You and I should be among those not fooled at all. We have been forewarned.

NEGROES FINDING BETTER JOBS

(National Urban League Report)

In furthering the National Urban League's job development program, the Industrial Relations departm nt, in co-operation with local Urban Leagues, completed a survey in twenty-five cities on the employment of Negroes in white-collar jobs in the spring of 1948, it was announced by Leroy W. Jeffries, assistant director of the department. The approximate total number of Negroes reported in all categories was 7,400. The largest number of Negro white-collar workers was found in the retail merchandising outlets other than department stores and comprise 46% of the total. Industrial firms and other commercial establishments employed 23%; 20% worked in public utilities and 9% in department stores.

Negro professional and technical workers represented 2% of all white-collar workers. Some of the more important jobs revealed by the survey were: a director of industrial relations for a large candy manufacturing company, an assistant plant superintendent of a midwestern foundry, supervisor of dietetics in an eastern department store, a physicist in a well-known fuel research institute, an industrial photographer for an international oil concern, an aeronautical engineer in a West Coast airplane tellers in two cities and research chemists in a number of manufacturing concerns.

The study, Mr. Jeffries stated, applied strictly to the employment of Negroes in clerical, supervisory, technical and professional occupations. Messengers, pages, shipping clerks and other jobs of a semi-clerical naturt were not included. Also excluded were white-collar jobs with government agencies, social service agencies, religious and educational institutions, businesses owned and operated by Negroes or conducted in predominately Negro areas.

Data was collected by local Urban Leagues in twenty-four cities: Akron and Cincinnati, Ohio; Anderson, Indiana; Atlanto, Georgia; Baltimore, Mary; land; oBston, Massachusetts; Chicago, Illinois; Elizabeth and Newark, New Jersey; Detroit, Michigan; Gary, Indiana; Kansas City, Missouri; Los Angeles, California; Milwaukee, Wisconsin; New York City; Omaha, Nebraska; Philadelphia and Pittsburg, Pennsylvania; Providence, Rhode Island, St. Louis, Missouri; St. Paul, Minnesota; and Seattle, Washington. For the twenty-fifth city, Hartford, Connecticut, a non-League community, information for the report was collected by the Connecticut Interracial Council.

While the report shows that Negro white-collar workers have been moving into clerical and sales positions in ever-increasing numbers during and since the war, the rate of employment of Negro professional and technical workers, Mr. Jeffries pointed out, has been much slower. Indicating increase, although negligible, in professional and technical fields by Negro workers, the study reveals such employees as architects, draftsmen, personnel

The Way to Destruction

The surest way to destruction is the present drive to intimidate and put fear into the hearts and minds of the workers of America by loyalty tests, and by the signing of affidavits, such as those required in the Taft-Hartley law.

This is well described in an editorial from The I.L.W.U. Strike Bulletin, No. 36.

"The non-Communist affidavit was made part of the T-H Act for the purpose of red-baiting the entire labor movement. By voting it a part of the law the Congress served notice to the American public that it considered the entire labor movement suspect of Communism. And the only way the unions could 'cleanse themselves' was by signing up with the Taft-Hartley Board. If a union did not do so, the Congress implied, that could be taken by the public as conclusive evidence that the Union was 'red' dominated."

"The purpose of the employers who inspired the T-H Act is clear. Any union leader who asks for a nickel is a Communist to them. They don't want such union leaders. The red scare is a very powerful way of intimidating and harassing Union leaders, particularly if its backed up with a $10,000 fine and a 10 year jail sentence."

James M. Shields, ex-director of the NLRB in the 18th Region, said:

"Of course, you and I well know that the people whom the makers of this law are really after aren't just the Communists as such, but all the able, progressive guys holding office in democratic labor unions because they have the guts to fight effectively for the welfare of the membership. They are the lads who are usually called Communists or subversives or what have you."

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

The Maritime Strike Must Not Fail

Allan Haywood and R. J. Thomas sent to the Pacific Coast by National CIO, almost at the behest of the Waterfront Employers Association last week avoided what could have become the most dastardly sell-out in union history. They admitted their inability to break the deadlock in negotiations between that body and the strikers, and it likely that they have left never to return for negotiations in this matter.

JOHN M. LEE

The fruit of their days of labor in the troubled vineyard was a proposition, never too artfully concealed by the WEA, to throw maritime union leader Harry Bridges overboard as the price of consideration and (implied) evenutal capitulation. Haywood is reported to have said, (somewhat sadly we hope) "The employers are adamant. They will not deal with Harry Bridges."

The issue then, is Bridges, and not the hiring hall, or the matter of long hours and schedule adjustments, and the simple desire for Sunday off; it is Harry Bridges because he dares to defy the power of entrenched wealth and ruthless exploitation.

Lewis Lapham speaking for the employers said, "We have explored frankly every avenue of approach. No progress has been made. They know our position and we know theirs. We are in our September position in regard to Bridges and the longshore union. We don't like the union leadership."

Thus it is possible to see, for the first time, the sort of climate for labor-management relations the Taft-Hartley Law creates; employers need no longer face the issues in a labor dispute. They have only to add to the hysteria of the moment by crying, 'communist,' 'Un-American', 'we don't like . . .', and then sit tight waiting for public opinion to trickle into their powerful main stream.

This corner will not burst forth with cheers for brothers Haywood and Thomas for not crucifying Bridges; (if that proves ultimately to be the case) they must have known why the WEA had engineered the strike in the first place. They certainly were aware of the red-baiting that really emanated from national CIO quarters. They had every reason to expect an offer of settlement in return for Harry Bridges' head. Probably it would have been wiser to have expended the money spent for the negotiations to help the strikers hold out against the swollen profit-chests of the employers.

What Murray and national CIO forces will do when Haywood and Thomas submit their report is a highly speculative question. It would seem that Murray who has been doing considerable red-baiting, but who has been equally voiciferous about not signing communist affidavits, has another chance to distinguish himself. As it is, he must do one of two things; repudiate Bridges, and consequently, the workers he leads, or throw every ounce of his leadership behind him.

Sometimes it appears that Murray, frequently reported ready to retire, has elected to liquidate the CIO as his last contribution. He can if he chooses, begin right here. Should the maritime strike fail, the CIO will have begun a process of disintegration that cannot be stopped. The eyes of the entire labor movement throughout the world are on this strike. The battle lines are sharply drawn. All of the abuses against which labor has been struggling are charged against the WEA.

Even the political ideologies are aligned; pseudo democracy, identified as the rich, arrogant, one hundred per cent American attitude on the employer's side, and the continuing struggle for decent wages and hours and working conditions, plus the right to hold progressive political opinions in private, on the side of the strikers. As the United States is presently constituted, the odds are on the side of the money bags, but the masses of the people will gain most from a victory by the longshoremen.

Murray will have to back down a bit from his current cooperation with the spy-hunting zealots if he is to be of any service to the thousands of maritime workers in this their greatest struggle. He will have to concede that communism is not now, nor has it ever been the vital issue he has made it, and he will have to get busy doing the job we rank and filers are paying him to do.

Considering that we are bout to witness a rendezvous between our State Department and the prostitute Franco has made of his state, it is ridiculous to persecute genuine American Workers who do not subscribe to the 'let's atomize the Russions now,' segment of our national population. We must hope to live at peace with Russia some day; if not, we'll need the maritime workers to load the merchandise of death with which to defeat her.

W. J. Wheaton Says

A note informs us that the Barn Dance sponsored by the CARPE DIEM CLUB netted the sum of $467.50, which sum has been added to their SCHOLARSHIP FUND. We hope that, whoever reads this column, will pardon us for the use of the capitals; but we are so elated that they have been successful in so worthy a cause, that we may be a bit exuberant. To us this magnificent contribution toward higher education could well be emulated by other organizations, that appeal for public support.

We make no reservation when we say that the young women who compose the membership of the Carpe Diems are the most civic minded, the most beneficial to better living conditions of the community, the greatest factor in the fight for economic equality than any like organization in the community.

Their charities are numerous, known only to givers and to the recipients. They work quietly and with efficiency. No blaring of trumpets, nor beating of drums. If San Francisco had a few more Carpe Diems there would be a better community in which to live. The membership of the Carpe Diems is so balanced that it would be, indeed, hard to name any outstanding personality.

San Francisco has been captured by the Spanish Senors, Senoritas, Dons, Grandees, Duennas,, and even Don Portola rediscovered San Francisco Bay. Instead of being enthralled by the golden hue of the sand dunes —for we imagine that the sun was setting, and casting its rays on the golden sands—and the magnificent expanse of the blue waters of the Bay, he saw any number of tall buildings, swift moving vehicles, that took on and disgorged rushing, busy throngs of humans. But saddest of all, when he looked over the waters of the Bay, he was astonished that it was not teeming with the life which permeated the city. In making his survey he found the answer.

With sorrow in his heart, he returned to the brilliant light of the city, where a hilarious, mirthful crowd was greeting his return, oblivious of his sorrowing heart. Shade of the Don who first discovered the Bay! Would that Spirit be gladdened by the mirth by which he is remembered? Or would it be tortured by the perversity that prevents men from san reasoning. In the meantime, "Let Joy Reign On, Supreme.",

The parades in honor of the Don's return were grand. The marching thousand of gayly equipped Cavaliers and smiling Senoritas, headed by blaring bands and rattling drums, were glamorous—to use a Hollywood idiom—and gorgeous to the 'nth degree. The Fiesta was for the entire week. It was opened Sunday the 17th and was climaxed with the night pageant of Sunday, Oct. 23rd, when the Don went into retirement and the costumes of the early Spanish era went into the chests. The streets of the city were ablaze with colorful lights, that made a fairy-like illusion. The floats depicting decades of history in the progress of the city, and manned by the pulchritude of the city's femininies, were artistic in design. In fact Don Gaspar Portola will never again have a more enthusiastic greeting, nor see a more colorful expression of Good Will, than welcomed him here again. His last visit was two decades and one year past.

Although the Fiesta has occupied much of the time it has not deadened the interest of the political situation. In fact the candidates for political offices have taken advantage of the numerous gatherings to expound their theories of government, and give their remedy for any of the defects. When you give a full analysis to the theories discussed, the conclusion is, none can tell what the conditions will be in the coming years, and that it might be possible their theories

☆ POTPOURRI ☆

Judge John W. Preston, chairman today announced more than 850 church, business, professional, labor and veteran leaders have joined the Citizens Committee for Equal Representation to pass Proposition 13 in the November 2 ballot.

"Proposition 13," he said, "will make it impossible for Senators representing less than 1 per cent of the population to control our state, and it will make it impossible for anybody to control the Senators.

"Proposition 13 provides election of State Senators to represent population — not territory. It creates 10 equal districts in Los Angeles county, giving us 10 State Senators instead of one.

A report of the Los Angeles Fire Department shows that 97 fires were caused by burning grass, rubbish, etc., this past week, a total of 6,081 since January 1. Careless smoking, 19, total, 1,355; children with matches, 2, total, 204; heaters and stoves, 22, total 1,424; other causes, 36, total, 2,114. All told there were 217 fires this past week, making a total of 11,970.

The Fire Department warns against defective chimneys and flues in starting fires for the fall weather.

John L. Lewis described the Taft-Hartley Act as "the first ugly, savage thrust of fascism in America," and he warned the AFL convention "if you grovel enough . . . you will probably have more to grovel for . . . Hadn't you better fight a little now than fight down the road, or would you rather run? Conceivable they might pass a bill next session that takes away the optional features of this Act — make it 20 years in the pen for not signing this affidavit or send out a provost-marshall guard and corral some of us; charge us with treason or high crimes and misdemeanors."

John L. was right. Here is a quote from a recent Wall Street Journal: "Labor law changes are simmering on Capitol Hill. Sen. Ball's 'watchdog committee' is eyeing the Taft-Hartley operation and will ask the next congress to tighten the law."

SILLY REQUEST

During negotiations the I.L.W.U. the Union Negotiation Committee requested that the Longshoremen have Sunday off to attend church, and spend that day with their wives and children.

Gregory Harrison, WEA attorney, said, "No, don't be silly. It's a silly request. If you don't work Sundays, you won't make as much money!"

FACTS ON MOORE-McCORMACK LINES

The Moore-McCormack Lines ad in the "Pacific Shipper" states: "We have taken this stand (the lockout) in order to put the industry back on a business basis."

Through their plunder of the U.S. Treasury, Moore-McCormack ran their total assets up from $21,063,000 in 1939 to $77,650,000 in 1947.

Moore-Mac's profits were $354,000 in 1939 and in 1947 they hit a cool $9,145,000.

Just who is Moore-McCormack trying to kid? Do they really expect the public to believe that they made this tremendous increase in profits when the industry wasn't on a "business basis"

Moore-Mac also owns and operates the Pacific Republic Lines and owns and operates separate foreign steamship lines in Poland, Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Brazil, Uruguay and Finland. Each of those foreign SS lines are making additional profit for the Wall Street investment bankers who are the real owners of this vast network of steamship companies.

Which flag do they fly? ONLY THE DOLLAR FLAG.

The Rev. L. G. Robinson and S. P. Johnson, both prominent Los Angeles civic leaders, this week were announced as members of the Citizens Committee for Proposieion K, the sewage plant bond issue, which will be voted on at the general election, November 2.

Rev. Robinson and Mr. Johnson have declared themselves in favor of the measure and have joined with more than 50 other leading citizens of Los Angeles in urging all voters to mark "Yes" on Proposition K.

Proposition K is the only city measure to come before voters at election eime. It is a non-political, non-controversial measure to complete the sewage disposal and treatment plant at Hyperion Beach. It is the last item on the ballot. The measure requires a two-thirds vote to pass.

The Office of the Housing Expediter has obtained judgment for $1715 against a Los Angeles landlord who received bonuses from tenants and charged them more than the legal maximum rent.

Federal Judge Charles C. Cavanah ordered Pete Lappas, also known as Pete Lapadakis, 1155 Bundy drive, to repay that amount to his tenants. He also issued an injunction enjoining the landlord from any further violations of the Housing and Rent Act of 1948.

Lappas was found guilty of accepting two bonuses of $400 and $500 from tenants of three apartments at 12102 Goshen ave., and of collecting an additional $815 in overcharges during a two-year period.

The graphic chart shows where the City tax dollar goes, according to Councilman Kenneth Hahn of the 8th District.

The total tax upon property within the City of Los Angeles is set forth by the illustration of the stack of pennies in the chart:

"The total tax upon property within the City of Los Angeles results from a separate levy on the party of five different local governmental bodies. The City of Los Angeles takes the occasion to explain the portion of the tax which goes to the support of City Government.

Ed. Notes Following Is a Speech Delivered Recently in Defense of the Soto-Michigan Center Against Attacks by the Tenny Committee

By CHARLES BARSH

There was a time in earlier American political life when for a man to become a political leader of the people or get elected to office as a political functionary of government he had to tell and convince the people that he stood for the American way of life which was different from the way of life in other countries.

The old countries were ruled, with few exceptions, by monarches, iron-fisted rulers, and despots against the will of the peoples of those countries. They were ruled by Ukase, the law laid down by inherited divine right to rule. The man in American public life had to show that he stood for liberty, democracy, tolerance, and equal opportunity for all. He also had to show that he stood for law enacted by the people through their honest representatives, for the one and only purpose of seeing that justice prevails and that the democratic rights and institutions of the people were guarded, perpetuated, and extended.

Look at the inscription on the Statue of Liberty:

"Give me your tired, your poor huddled masses yearning to be free, the wretched refuse of your teeming shore. Send her the homeless tempest—tossed to me. I lift my lamp beside the golden door."

The persecuted, hungry and barefooted they came; they came from all parts of the world. They appreciated the liberty and cherished the opportunities granted them. With muscle and with brain they worked and built up the richest and most powerful country in the world. With their wealth and their lives they and their children defended it in four bloody wars, one of which was just recently victoriously won at a high cost of human life.

All of the sacrifices we believe were justifiable, because reaction and Naziism and Fascism raised their bloody sword against our country and the world, and with the staunch and active support of monopoly — capital attacked our country and wanted to make it a Fascist colony.

The same brand of evil forces that built up fascism there are methodically organized and already doing their destructive work here. What the Tenney Committee is doing on a statewide scale the notorious Thomas Committee is doing on a nation-wide scale, and even if stopped now, it will take years to heal the wounds already inflicted on our state and national life by this 100 percent so-called American patriots, the real killers of democracy.

We know these 100 percent Americans who question and investigate your and my loyalty to our country and institutions. Like the 100 percent Germans and the 100 percent Italians that investigated their countrymen before they set up furnaces and crematories for human beings. There, too, it was just the Jews, Communists, and the bad labor unions. Before they started the world conflagration that devastated such a large part of the world and extinguished almost 30,000,000 human lives, among them 6,000,000 of our own innocent brothers and sisters.

Who is measuring and what is the yardstick the investigators and spreaders of hysteria are using? Through propaganda, by mouth, and press, using a proven method to petrify the human heart and conscience they have succeeded in transforming the people of an entire nation into human beasts.

Today to become a Tenney-like political leader, or for one to climb higher on the political ladder, to get front page publicity in order to hide one's own incompetence, ignorance, and inability to cope with pressing problems, one has to create false issues, and the road is a very smooth already paved one.

Communism is the boogie of every fascist in the world. A person who advocates free medicine for a poor man's sick child is a Communist. A worker who demands a raise in pay because of a rise in the cost of living—is a Communist. A person who advocates more housing and less militarism—is a Communist. A person who advocates extension of social security and old age pensions—is a Communist.

A worker who believes in preserving his labor union, which took about 100 years of continuous struggle to build, and who therefore calls for the repeal of the un-American Taft-Hartley law, the straight jacket on labor—is a Red.

Therefore I came here, and because our Union of Carpenters, AFL Local 1976, operating in this community and represented in the Soto-Michigan Community Center and knowing and appreciating the good work the Center is doing, our executive board and members sent me to bring greetings to you, to the true, loyal Americans, the citizens of Boyle Heights.

We raise our voice in protest and damnation against the un-American Tenney Committee and its gestapo methods of inquisition, red-baiting and smear of the Soto-Michigan Community Center and its able and honest director.

Mr. Joseph Asquith was called before the Tenney Committee because he believes in and abides by the Constitution of the United States of America, written and adopted by our forefathers, and handed down to future generations for guidance. It is our duty to all unit eand beat back the aggressors of our civil rights, our enemies from within politically.

As we defended our rights on the battlefields against our enemies from without, we must defen them within our own country. Let us resolve here tonight to let all our State Assemblymen and Senators know how we feel, and demand that witch hunts, intimidation and smear be STOPPED, and that they, our lawmakers, be reminded before making new laws, that the people will not tolerate losing the old rights guaranteed by the Constitution.

We dedicate ourselves to see that liberty and democracy are preserved, perpetuated and extended to new horizons.

Negev is Important

1. The territorial changes proposed in the Mediator's report result in an entirely inequitable apportionment of land between Israel and the neighboring Arab State. They would cut off about two-thirds of Israel's territory, deprive her of the only land reserves available for development, cripple existing and potential prospects for the scientific utilization of natural resources, and stunt Israel's progress and growth for generations to come. The beneficiary of these changes, which, according to the plan is to be an enlarged State of Transjordan, emerges from the proposed arrangement with an area more than 19 times that of the State of Israel.

2. It is for these reasons, which are elaborated upon in this memorandum that the government of Israel will oppose any plan separating the Negev or any part of it from the territory of the State of Israel.

Area

3. The area of the Palestine Mandate was first partitioned in 1922, when more than three-fourths of the country — some 34,740 square miles — were excluded from the main provisions of the Mandate to form what is now known as Transjordan. The area of Palestine remaining for Jewish settlement was thus reduced to about 10,000 square miles. In the second partition of Palestine, approved by the General Assembly last November 29th, 1947, about 5,678 square miles were assigned to the Jewish State. However, of this area, more than 3,800 square miles are in the Negev, the undeveloped area of Southern Palestine.

4. The Mediator's report now proposes not an adjustment of the situation but an entirely new partition plan under which Israel would be granted Western Galilee (most of which she now occupies and controls), but would lose not only the entire Negev, but also a part of South Judea. The net result would be to reduce Israel's territory to an area of about 2,180 square miles. On the other hand, Transjordan would under the plan gain all the Arab areas of Palestine, as well as the Negev, and her total area would approximate 42,500 square miles.

Population

5. The incongruity of this territorial division becomes even more glaring when one takes into account that Transjordan's existing population is about 350,000 (to which would now be added the 600,000 or 700,000 Arabs or Arab Palestine) whereas the Jewish population of Israel is already close to the 800,000 mark, and constantly expanding by the immigration of Jews in need of a homeland.

Land Use

6. The foregoing quantitative considerations are themselves startling and compelling arguments against any such drastic revision of the United Nations partition plan, but even greater significance is an examination of the uses to which the lands in question may be put. According to a statement by Justice Emil Sandstreem of Sweden, the Chairman of the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine, the UNSCOP had considered that since the cost would be considerable, it would not be possible for the Arabs to develop the Negev area, which had in consequence been assigned to the Jewish State. Transjordan is already the possessor of large tracts of barren land. Its annexation of the Negev would mean nothing more than the acquisition of another item in a collection of arid uncultivated wastes. Humanity would gain nothing from the perpetuation of sterility. But for Israel, the Negev holds out the promise of agricultural, scientific, industrial and economic development, with important benefits to the Near East as a whole.

Agriculture and Industry

7. Israel has an urgent need for land upon which to settle the many hundreds of thousands of Jews who will immigrate in the next few decades. The soil of the Negev, neglected for many centuries, is itself arable. The factors for development of this area are water and the ingenuity to unite it with the soil. In 1943, the Jews successfully established three experimental settlements in the Negev. Another 15 were established toward the end of 1946. Today there are 27. Water is made available by pipeline, and by the capture and storage of winter rains in reservoirs. Thus, at Revivim, the southernmost Jewish settlement, the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine in 1947 inspected a large dam and reservoir and witnessed the fruits of this agricultural venture. Moreover, for several years, engineers have been at work on plans for large-scale irrigation projects which will open large tracts of land for new settlement. The hydro-electric development involved in these irrigation plans will bring low-cost power to the Negev, and furnish an economic base for industrial enterprise. To put these areas of Jewish settlement under the political domination of an Arab ruler would be sowing the seeds of fresh conflict. To sever the Negev from Israel is to separate it from those whose needs guarantee its maximum use.

8. In previous discussion of the Palestine problem it has been argued on the Arab side that the pressure of Jewish immigration would force the Jewish State to become expansionist, and to threaten the existing territory of the Arab States. If the land reserve of the Negev were taken away from the State of Israel, and this large area ceases to be available for Jewish settlement, Arab fears would be intensified, and the prospects of pacific co-operation between Israel and its neighbors would be prejudiced. It must be emphasized that the inclusion of the Negev in the State of Israel is the population safety-valve for any partition plan, and therefore a major factor for peace and operating against population pressure.

Natural Resources

9. Much of the Negev is unknown and unexplored. As a result of Jewish effort and expenditure, some signs of mineral wealth have been noted. Whether the Negev has oil or mineral resources in any significant quantity is undetermined; but if such is the fact, it would be inequitable to deny the State of Israel a potential so essential for its development. The State of Israel has no coal or iron, nor any important mineral deposit. Its manufactures and industry are therefore dependent in considerable measure on the import of raw materials. The small size of the Jewish State limits its agricultural development. Accordingly, all industrial resources must be exploited to their utmost. The proper scientific utilization of the Negev's resources would help balance the Israeli economy. In this connection, it is relevant to point out that the Arab States are already rich in oil, and should not be permitted a monopoly on all potential oil sources.

Dead Sea

10. A major industry in Palestine has been the extraction of postassium and sodium salts from the Dead Sea by the Palestine Potash Company, which is a largely Jewish enterprise. The Company had plants at both ends of the Dead Sea. Under the partition plan approved by the General Assembly last fall, the northern plant was to be left in the Arab State (it has since been destroyed thanks to the initiative of the Transjordan Arab Legion). But the General Assembly deliberately revised the boundary lines between the two states to ensure that the southern plant would be in the State ofIsrael, and that a stretch of west coast of the Dead Sea would be in Israeli territory, to be available for the expansion of the potash plant. But if the Negev were to be taken from Israel, then all access to ethDead Sea would be denied, and Israel would lose one of its major industries and one of its most important exports.

Aqaba

11. Severance of the Negev from Israel would also cut off Aqaba, once King Solomon's seaport on the Red Sea. The waters here teem with fish, and there are possibilities for large-scale commercial exploitation of a natural resource now neglected. The vital importance of Aqaba to Israel's future is recognized by all who foresee the expansion of commerce and industry in Israel and the building of rail and highway communications across the Negev. Under Israeli control, Aqaba is to be developed as a port and will be Israel's outlet to South Africa and the Indian Ocean — Israel's window to the Orient.

Conclusion

12. These are but a few of the considerations which played a part in the decision of UNSCOP and later of the General Assembly to award the Negev to Israel. They are considerations which cannot be brushed aside. The Negev is jurisdically an integral part of Israel's territory and cannot, within the terms of the Charter, be cut off without Israel's consent. Nothing has happened to weaken the legal or moral validity of the General Assembly's decision in this regard. The Arab States resorted to armed force to resist it, but they failed. Not a single Negev settlement within the boundaries of the State of Israel fell into Arab hands, nor are the Arabs in control of any part of the Negev contained within Israel. It would be a grotesque paradox if the General Assembly would now obligingly turn the defeat of Arab aggression into victory, and grant to the Arab States the very fruits they failed to wrest in a war fought against no less than the authority and judgment of the General Assembly itself.

Color & Prejudice-Social Myths

BRYAN FULKS

One of the most dangerous of American social myths is that prejudice against the Negro is due to the color of his skin, a myth assiduously cultivated, with malice aforethought, by our Southern poll tax politicians. To accept such a theory is to acquiesce in all the evils of human oppression and exploitation attending this prejudice.

The myth diverts the attention from prejudice to race, from the causes of social conflict to the victims thereof. It paralyzes the will to vigorous action against this inhumanity of man to man. It makes acceptable to, too many decent people a vapid doctrine of gradualism aimed only at the amelioration of human misery. It makes politically possible the interminable postponement of a Federal civil rights program for full, complete and responsible citizenship for all. And it makes American political democracy a travesty for all the world to view.

History literally reeks with examples of minority groups that have been stigmatized, segregated, exploited and persecuted, in some cases, to the point of exile or even extermination, by a society of their own race and color. One thinks of Christians, Albigenses, Huguenots, Quakers, Mennonites, Irish, Dunkards, Jews, Mormons, anarchists, Republicans, Communists, labor unionists, Democrats, Socialists, pacifists, conscientious objectors —the list could be extended almost without end.

Group may be set in opposition to group just as visibly and just as unapproachably by other criteria than a difference in color; for instance, caste, poverty, religion, nationality. The outcast of India must not let even his shawod contact the delicate virtues of the orthodox Brahmin. The Roman patrician shrank in horror at the mere thought of marriage with a plebician. A Catholic could be excommunicated for marrying a Huguenot. And when Alexander the Great permitted intermarriage between Greek and non-Greek, Aristotle foresaw in sadness that such dilution of "Greek blood" would mean the end of civilization.

MYTHS

Group prejudice, whether religious, economic, linguistic, racial or whatnot, is all of a piece. It is based on an old human obsession, prevalent in all primitive tribes, that "my group" is unique and is the most valuable group in the world. All good is bound up in my group; all evil is encompassed by other groups. This feeling is so strong in the most primitive groups that a mere infraction, by a member of a neighboring tribe, of some routine custom such as the local method of wearing a garment or carrying a burden, leads to sudden death at the hands of outraged citizens.

In highly civilized societies this obsession has been greatly overcome. The in-group has been constantly enlarged to include more and more people. But among the socially naive, the feeling is still strong enough to be a powerful and a dangerous weapon in the hands of designing and unscrupulous politicians.

PREJUDICE—NOT RACE

Race prejudice is merely one facet of prejudice and it is no different fundamentally from its many other facets. Race prejudice is not caused by race; it is directed at a race or minority group. And prejudice, not race, is the important element. Prejudice is not an end, but a means to an end. It is a product of social conditioning, but not an end product. It is a sort of social machine tool for achieving ultimate ends. Since it is a tool, its "causes" will be found in its functions, uses, purposes, which are always the same—political domination, social submergence, and economic exploitation.

The particular phase of prejudice used in achieving these ends will depend upon the social climate of the time. During the long centuries when revealed religion was man's dominant social passion, religious prejudice was the political tool used by the lords of heaven and of earth. Behind a front of religious prejudice they achieved remarkable mundane results.

"WICKED" JEWS

The "wicked" Jews, who had been driven from the land in/o commercial pursuits, were everywhere subjected to murder and pillage. Considerable wealth was thus gained by the dominant group. The Albigensian "heretics" of Provence were hounded to the point of extermination—and a serious threat to the power of the Roman Catholic Church was forever removed. the Catholic strongholds of Spain and Northern France were united and the kings of Northern France were made monarchs of Southern France as well. Only after the democratic Huguenot "heretics" had been harried from France, could Louis XIV proudly boast, "I am the state."

POLITICALLY USEFUL

The religious phase of prejudice was occasionally used with telling effect well down into modern times. The Mormons were plundered and finally driven from the Mississippi Valley because their neighbors coveted the fertile lands and flourishing cities owned by these peaceable and industrious citizens. A difference in religion only served the politically useful function of making this socially damnable and inexcusable permissible in a religious society. Thus religious prejudice was long the handmaiden of political power, just as race prejudice was later to be.

During the reign of religious prejudice "superiority" or "inferiority" was all a matter of the proper faith. It was Christian versus "heathen," "believer" versus "unbeliever," Gentile versus Jew, Catholic versus Protestant. Color played no part in the evaluation.

SOCIALLY RECEIVED

The first Negroes brought to England were received socially and entertained on intimate terms by the aristocracy. Only the "heathen" could be enslaved by the Christian. That the "heathen" happened to be of a different shade of color was incidental and beside the point. On becoming a Christian, the colonial native, of whatever hue, could demand and secure his freedom. Eventually the observance of this religious tenet was abandoned in spite of God's wishes. But color was not a consideration. The saving of souls had become so successful that it threatened the very foundation of "progress"—the institution of private property.

The first Negroes brought to English colonial America were indentured servants, under the same terms of service and of the same status as white indentured servants. And the early American Negro chattel slaves had the privilege of becoming free men by "conversion" and baptism. Of course they abused the privilege until it had to be withdrawn! Religion and freedom were making such inroads upon private property that ministers of the Gospel were denied entrnace to the plantations. And in 1664 the legislature of Maryland passed a law closing this skyway to freedom. Other colonial legislatures soon followed suit.

RELIGIOUS SLOGAN

So religious slogans were long used to justify oppression of the Negro just as they were used to justify oppression of ANY OTHER minority group. Race or color had nothing to do with it. The rise and fall of the great waves of persecution recorded throughout history have not corresponded to the presence and absence of racial color. But each and every one of them is closely correlated with the political desires of the dominant group. The phase of prejudice used to make mass persecution socially possible and to justify it has varied with the social atmosphere of the time. Today race prejudice is the most effective political weapon that demagogues can use. Hence, the persecution of Jews, which was formerly attributed to their religion, is now attributed to their "race."

When political racists cry up color, they are only seeking to create a front behind which to perpetuate their domination of a minority group. A vicious pseudo-science of "race superiority" has gained wide acceptance in this country as well as in Europe. So race prejudice has become popular. And it is dilignetly cultivated for political ends.

In this country the Negro people have been forged into a class; and caste, not color, is the important thing. Caste is an immemorial device for exploitaion. And i has existed in its most rigid form in India, among a people of the same color. Evidently a difference in color is not at all necessary for caste.

But if caste did not exist, color would not matter. Do away with limited citizenship, with poverty, with mass unemployment, with human exploitation, with the things that cause social conflict, and yo udo away with caste. Color is important only in that it serves as a badge that permanently identifies a minority group and thus makes its exploitation hereditary. Thus color is of no importance in causing prejudice; but it is vast importance in helping to perpetuate it.

EXPLOITATION

This explains why the abolition of free enterprise in chattel slavery did not mean the ned of exploitation of the Negro minority. Because the Negro is, generally speaking, so easily identified, abolition only made him a sort of communal property to be used by all who prefer to live by other men's labor.

Of course, any other distinguishing color would have done quite as well. Ironically, white would identify a minority group more effectively than any dark color does. And it would identify a person even in the night.

Fortunately, all people are far from white. The so-called "white man" is himself often so dark and people of the darker races are often so light that it is all sometimes like Wonderland, very, very confusing. An honest man frequently has great difficulty in deciding whether or not to exhibit prejudice against some particular individual whose color is unclassifiable!

PASSING

Some "Negroes" are so light—lighter than some "white men," in fact — that they cannot be identified by even a "finished" racist. Thus thousands of them every year pass through the "wrong doors." But, of course, the vast majority can be readily identified. Without caste, this would not matter; with case, it matters terribly.

These Southern gentlemen who fulminate so loudly and recurrently in defense of "white Supremacy" are vastly more interested in "supremacy" than they are in "white." And it is "their" supremacy that they are interested in. If it happens to be "white," that is irrelevant. They certainly lose no sleep over the plight of the "poor white trash" —whose lot is barely better than that of the Negro.

BROTHERS

These poor "red necks" are almost as effectively segregated by poverty as the Negro is by color. And they are dominated politically and exploited economically every bit as effectively. The chief difference in the fortunes of these two submerged groups is one of psychology; even the poorest, the most benighted, of whites are permitted, and encouraged, to "look down on" all Negroes. But, what price prejudice!

When these Southern gentlemen thunder against color, they are really speaking with tongue in cheek. Of course they are not afraid of color! Even as their fathers and heir fathers' fathers, they have lived with it, eaten with it, loved it, slept with it, and helped procreae it. No degree of proximity to the Negro bothers them. But all of their relations with Negroes must conform strictly to the rituals of whie dominance and Negro submission.

And when, through wafts of sweet magnolia blossoms, these Southern gentlemen speak softly of the sacredness of motherhood, they do not refer to colored mothers. For their objection to "mongrelizing" their face must be qualified. They do not really object to mixing the races—as anyone can SEE. Again, the manner of doing the thing is paramount. They object only to making the act legal. Such legality would give status to the lower caste. And caste is centrally, fundamentally, vitally important. For upon this rock they have builded a pattern of life that bolsters their self-importance, satisfies their desire for political power, and furnishes them with easy economic profits.

Southern gentlemen want to keep the STATUS QUO.

will become obsolete and in trying to make them workable, will disrupt the entire government.

Then those who were in opposition will charge the promisers with inefficiency and seek to . . . so to speak . . . dethrone them. The rapid changes of this time demands minds that are flexible enough to see, and meet the changes. The "in the rut" ideas of human equality, as far as the rights of citizenship is concerned, is keeping the southern part of this nation in the rearguard of national progress. There is an ante-Bellum class of Fogies, who have been saturated with ideas of race supremacy and intolerance, who have sought political power by instilling prejudicial thinking in the minds of ignorant followers, and created conditions that have retarded progress and made the entire government of this nation the target for the world's criticism.

The world has branded our claims of democracy as the mere mouthings of hypocricy. Well, that's the ideology of the South, and it has placed a blot on the escutcheon of this nation, which it will be hard to erase. Both of the major political parties of the country have promised the groups of people, most affected, that they will exert themselves to the utmost in seeking to rectify or eliminate the unlawful conditions which have restricted the rights of full citizenship; to give to the rights . . . throughout the nation . . . guaranteed by the Constitution, which is the basic foundation of this government. One of those political parties has had many opportunities to fulfill that promise, but has failed. The other has been blocked by non-support.

Progressive Party Chairman Announces Congress Choice

Hugh Bryson, State Chairman of the Independent Progressive Party, today made public the final slate of Congressional candidates in the coming election.

"Withdrawal of five of our candidates from active campaigning leaves nine IPP candidates in the race," Bryson said. Seven of them offer the sole opposition to reactionary Republican candidates.

Districts where the IPP alone offers the voters a progressive choice are:

3rd C.D. where James B. (Bert) Willard, Vallejo newspaperman, opposes Republican incumbent Leroy Johnson.

8th C.D. where railroad engineer Paul Taylor of San Jose oppose Republican incumbent John Z. Anderson.

10th C.D. where citrus grower Sam Miller of Terra Bella opposes Republican candidate Thomas Werdel, reactionary ex-Assemblyman and friend of the DiGiorgio farm interests.

11th C.D. where photographer Cole Weston of Carmel is opposing Republican incumbent Ernest K. Bramblett.

12th C.D. where Mrs. Una W. Rice, housewife, opposes Republican incumbent Richard Nixon.

15th C.D. where attorney Maynard Omenberg alone opposes Republican incumbent Carl Hinshaw.

"In each of these districts IPP demonstrates that it alone offers the voters a choice and a chance to vote progressive," Bryson said. "A year ago we promised the voters such a choice. We have delivered on this promise as we will deliver on our campaign promises."

Impeachment Of Bary Case Judge Sought

The action of Federal Court Judge J. Foster Symes in jailing Arthur Bary, chairman of the Communist party of Colorado, to the equivalent of a life sentence for refusing to turn over a list of Communist party members in that state, aroused progressives all over the country to make a demand for the impeachment of the federal judge.

William L. Patterson, national executive secretary, and George Marshall, chairman of the executive board of the Civil Rights Congress, characterized the barbarous action of Judge Symes as: "An action that even the Hitler courts in Nazi Germany would have hesitated to attempt in the early days of fascism in that country."

Len Goldsmith, national director of CRC, in Denver on behalf of Mr. Bary and other victims of the red-baiting hysteria sweeping that city, declared: "Mr. Bary has been given an indeterminate sentence by Judge Symes for refusing to violate his, Bary's, own constitutional rights. Mr. Bary was not in contempt of Judge Symes' court or any other court.

"His refusal to turn over the list of members of a legal political organization was simply an act of contempt against such government agencies as the Un-American Activities Committee of Thomas, Rankin and all others who have shown an actual contempt of the American judicial system, and the civil liberties of the people."

Southeast Symphony Promotes Community Orchestra Interest

The Southeast Symphony Association is organized under the same by-laws that govern many other Community Symphony Associations, such as Glendale, Highland Park, Burbank, and others.

Its purpose is to promote a Community Orchestra, to see that sufficient funds are kept in the bank to pay the personnel of the Orchestra, for all performances; to keep the public informed about its concerts; to keep the public interest aroused; that audiences are well informed, and is acquainted with each Symphony, in short tell the public the story of the Symphony to be played.

The Symphony Association membership is not made up of musicians only, although the Orchestra must be. The Association seeks such memberhips as musicians, business men and club women, professional men, that man and woman . . . that builds or seeks an opportunity to build the monuments in the locality. In short it takes the big man and the little man to make up the whole.

The Southeast section of the county takes in all within these boundaries, from Nintieth Street on the north to the Imperial Highwawy on the south, and from Santa Fe on the east to Crenshaw on the west. This takes in all nationalities, denominations, and all are invited to join the Southeast Symphony Association and Orchestra. Within this boundary we find churches, insurance companies, banks, mortuaries, conservatories, hospitals, health centers; all these "monuments" had their small beginnings, but are towering high today. Sturdy men and women built these monuments, and sturdy men and women will build to this community the Southeast Symphony Orchestra, a Musical Monument, a tribute to all humanity.

So that all might enjoy each concert, there will be study units formed and all are invited to come and learn about the Symphony Orchestra. All the instruments will be shown and demonstrated. This information will enable us all to enjoy a Symphony Concert.

NAACP Re-Affirms Neutrality, Defends Walter White's Acts

NEW YORK — Answering charges that NAACP staff members had engaged in partisan political activity, the board of directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People adopted a resolution at its regular monthly meeting here last week reaffirming the association's non-partisan policy.

The resolution was in response to charges made by Val J. Washington, assistant campaign manager of the Republican National Committee, accusing Walter White, secretary, and Leslie Perry, administrative assistant in the Washington bureau, of supporting Democratic candidates.

Mr. Washington asserted, in a letter addressed to Dr. Louis T. Wright, board chairman, that Mr. White had written "biased" articles "calculated to bolster Mr. Truman's political fortunes and strengthen his candidacy for President among Negro voters." He further charged that Mr. Perry, in his tour of branches, was "urging support of Democratic members of Congress."

In reply, the board said that Mr. White has expressed his "personal evaluations," and added: "The association has made no evaluation of these candidates." Mr. Perry, the board maintained, had "clearly and objectively reported the voting records of members of Congress on the NAACP legislative program—in accordance with the association's responsibility to publicize the voting records of legislators on issues vital to racial advancement and national welfare."

The board reaffirmed the association's political policy: "It supports no candidate for political office; no officer or member of the association may endorse any political candidate in the name of the association; and no paid executive may endorse any political candidate or political party either as an individual or as an officer of this association."

A critic of the organization stated: "What Walter White does is 'personal evaluation'; what Dr. DuBois does along the same line got him fired."

White Sees Progress

NEW YORK — Although welfare issues have been overshadowed by the East-West conflict over the Berlin blockade and by the Palestine settlement, "progress of human rights and colonial issues is being made in the face of many difficulties," according to a report received here from Walter White, NAACP secretary now serving as a consultant to the U. S. Mission to the United Nations General Assembly meeting in Paris.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Accused of beating and blinding a Negro truck driver while he was imprisoned in a jail cell, a white policeman was this week indicted by a Federal Grand Jury sitting here. James Simpson, the victim, told the Grand Jury that he had been blinded in one eye and severely beaten by Patrolman James Swift in the Rock Island, Ill., prison on the night of November 23, 1947.

He had been arrested by Rock Island police when he became involved in an accident while driving along the highway between Rock Island and Moline. A Vote for Proposition 13 Will End Bossism Jurist Says

"In its present method of electing its state senators, California is in bad company. Only one of the 12 principal states has the tem that California has. That one state is New Jersey, where "bossism" under Boss Frank Hague of Jersey City holds full sway."

This statement was made public today by Hon. John W. Preston, former Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of California and chairman of the committee supporting Proposition 13 on the November ballot for reorganization of the California State Senate.

"All of the other 12 leading States of the Union have the same or similar 'population' method of electing state senators as we are proposing in Proposition 13;. These states are: New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Massachusetts, Missouri, Indiana, Texas and North Carolina," Judge Preston said.

"California was formerly in the same class with these other leading states, but mistakenly changed to the New Jersey method in 1926. Texas, with no very large cities, elects its state senators on a combined population and county basis. No member of the Texas State Senate represents less than 100,000 people. In California some senators represent as low as 14,000 people."

Protest Over Biased Form Gets Results

WASHINGTON—Following the protest by Leslie Perry, Washington bureau, NAACP, the U. S. Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization has abolished the practice of reserving the passport designation, "American" for white citizens alone while requiring Negro Americans to designate themselves as "black."

The bureau had sent out the following instructions for forms required of all Americans seeking foreign travel:

"Native-born citizens of the United States of all Caucasian or white races, departing for permanent residence in a foreign country, should be recorded by race as 'American.' Other native-born citizens of the United States, viz: African (black), Chinese, Japanese . . . should be classed under their respective designations."

In a recent letter to Mr. Perry, the deputy commissioner of the Bureau of Immigration, John Boyd, wrote:

"You are advised that this form together with the abovementioned instruction appearing thereon has been abolished."

Auto Insurance Company Grows

Last Monday night before a capacity crowd of stock salesmen of the Loyal Automobile Insurance Company, the nation's only Negro automobile insurance company, Wendell E. Larson, president, pointed out that the Loyal Automobile Insurance Company was nearing its goal in the current sale of stock.

The Department of Insurance of California has shown great interest in getting the Loyal Automobile Insurance Company started and has reduced the amount of stock sales required in order for the Loyal to petition for a certificate of authority to do business as automobile insurers.

Since the enactment of the new state law for automobile insurance, it has been increasingly difficult for Negroes to obtain adequate automobile insurance protection at equitable rates.

The support of the public in pushing the Loyal past the goal will do much to alleviate this present existing problem of lack of automobile insurance protection, continued cancellations, and other inconveniences to members of minority groups.

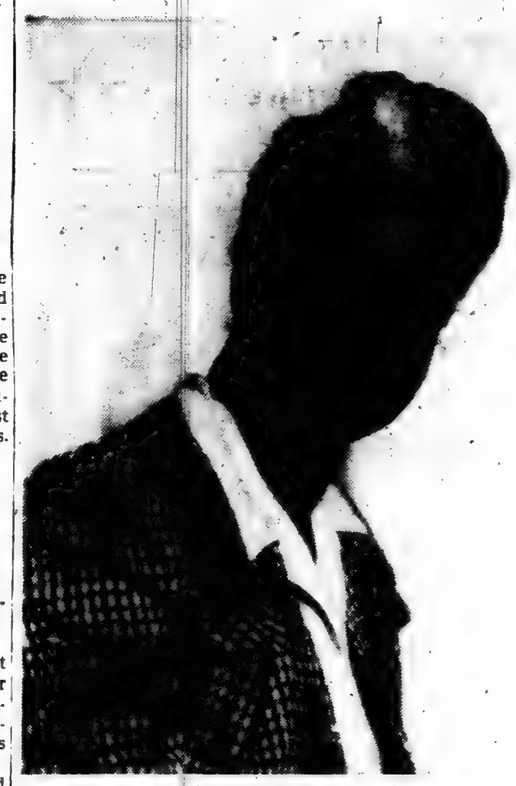
DuBOIS DISCHARGE UNDER FIRE; CALLED 'SHAMEFUL INJUSTICE'

NEW YORK—The recent discharge of Dr. W. E. B. DuBois by the directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People came under heavy fire in a statement released by more than 100 prominent leaders in cultural and educational fields.

Signers of the statement, which said that "we must raise our voices against this act of shameful and injustice and indefensible suppression," included Dr. E. Franklin Frazier, head of the Sociology Department, Howard University; Dr. Joseph Johnson, Dean, Howard University Medical School; Dr. Horace Mann Bond, president of Lincoln University, Lincoln, Pa.

Dr. Leslie Pinckney Hill, president of Cheney Teachers College, Cheney, Pa.; Dr. Lorenzo Turner, English Department, Roosevelt College, Chicago, Ill.; Dr. Charlotte Hawkins Brown, president of Palmer Memorial Institute, Sedalia, N. C.; Dr. Alain Locke, professor of Philosophy, Howard University.

Louis Adamic, writer; Professor F. O. Matthiessen, Harvard University, Shirley Graham, author and N. Y. State Secretary of the Arts, Science and Professions Council, and Dr. Vada J. Somerville and Dr. J. A. Somerville of Los Angeles.



DuBois' discharge from his post of research director was characterized in the statement as "not only an injustice to an 80-year old scholar and fighter for the democratic rights of an oppressed people, but an act which strikes at the heart of freedom itself. It gravely compromises the fundamental principles of human rights."

Carl Murphy, president of the Afro-American Newspapers and a member of the NAACP's national board, was one of the first to protest. He declared he did "not approve of the premptory dismissal of Dr. DuBois" and was making a protest to the NAACP Board of Directors.

The ouster of DuBois by vote of the NAACP directors came following his request for the adoption by the organization of what the statement's signers described as "a definitive foreign policy that would honestly serve the best interests of the Negro and Colonial peoples everywhere."

His request followed President Truman's appointment of Walter White, NAACP Executive Director, as a consultant to the American delegation at the Paris meeting of the United Nations.

Dr. DuBois, with a long record of research on the status of African and other colonial peoples, had criticized U. S. State Department policies regarding colonial areas. The world renowned scholar has spent thirty years in building the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Boy Scouts Help Fight Forest Fires

This is the forest fire season! The Boy Scouts of the Los Angeles Area Council are being enlisted along with the others of the nation's 2-141,984 Scouts and Leaders to do what they can to lick this dreaded national problem. Each year an average of 210,000 fires burn over thirty million acres of forest land, causing fifty millions of dollars damage to commercial timber—enough to build 86,000 five-room homes with enough pole size timber left over to furnish newsprint for every newspaper in the nation for a year.

Whose Job Is It?

In a democracy such as ours it is easy to say that the responsibility for fire safety rests with state and municipal officials elected or appointed for that purpose. That is not enough. Fire safety requires organized public support from all possible sources and a greater sense of responsibility on the part of every citizen.

CHAPEAUX TO RENT—Hard to believe, but the highly sanitary system that is being used in New York and Paris, was introduced to local women of style at Breakfast Sunday morning, when noted milliner, Beulah Johnson had her fall showing. In above picture, Miss Johnson discusses the system with Mrs. Johnson who served as M.C. (See story.) —Vera Jackson photo.

Iotas Rush New Material At Unique Monte Carlo Party At Peterson Home

The annual fall rush party for Iota Phi Lambda Sorority was held on Friday in the form of a gay night in Monte Carlo. The setting for the affair was the home of Mary Peterson, 1918 S. Harvard Blvd.

The early part of the rush was devoted to the gaming room, where many interesting new games were introduced along with bridge and other familiar games.

The highlight of the evening was the make believe court session that was used as a method of interviewing each guest wishing membership in the Iota Phi Lambda Sorority. Following a very enlightening talk on the history of Iota, by Lucille Reynolds, Dean of Pledges, and the welcome speech by chapter president, Marion B. Jackson, the court was in session with Evelyn Brown as Bailiff and Jessie Mae Beavers Judge. The jury was made up of Iota Phi Lambda sorors. Plaintiffs included: Margaret Black, Philura V. Kenner, Helen Grundy, Camille C. Steverson, Doris Booker, Idelle Moore, Phyllis Allen, Helen Wright, Odessa Jones, Mildred McGhee, Cloriann Young and Katherine K. Alexander.

When the court adjourned, the Iotas and guests enjoyed a delightful repast in a perfect Halloween setting.

The regular meeting of the sorority was held on Saturday at the home of Dell Rhodes, who climaxed the business session with a full course dinner.

Beulah Johnson Gives Points Renting Custom Made Hats

On Sunday morning, Oct. 17, milliner, Beulah Johnson introduced to the fashion minded ladies of Los Angeles a system by which her exclusive creations might be rented.

Each time the chapeaux is let from the Beaulah Johnson Hat Box, it is something different. The system was displayed by such models as Mary Yarber, Julia Harrison, Bonnie Jennings, Gwendolyn Pressley and Stella Rae Williams. Commentating in a perfect manner was Faustina Johnson.

Throughout the session the ladies attending enjoyed sipping coffee. Pouring was charming Thelma Houston who wore black satin. Hattie Saunders and Dolores Johnson were hostesses. The Coffee Hour was well ateended and enjoyed by all, who quite agree that if they rent hats in Paris and New York, the same thing should certainly be done locally.

The Urban Grasses Receive Friends

Sunday evening, October 17, friends of Mrs. Cassie Desarmes of 1360 E. 94th St. and Mr. Urban Grass of 1458 E 43rd St. gathered at the request of Mrs. Desarmes at her home. They were surprised to see on the door a little card with the announcement, "The Urban Grasses."

True, it had been in the wind for some time this Desarmes-Grass union but the actual culmination caused a flutter of excitement. The marriage took place on Monday, October 11, as the result of years of friendship.

Guests were treated to a delectable repast of turkey, ham and all the trimmings and the bride and groom were toasted on rounds and rounds of sparkling beverages.

THIS BEVY OF LOVELINESS links beauty with brains, and were "rushed" for future membership into Iota Phi Lambda Business and Professional women's Sorority. The gay "Night in Monte Carlo was given in their honor on Friday evening. First row, (bottom) Lucille Reynolds, Iota Dean of Pledges; Phyllis Hoxie Allen, Helen Wright, Odessa Jones, Helen K. WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

BEFORE UNVEILING the week's mad surge of dances, concert preliminaries and cocktail parties let's look briefly over the political side of life that is by far holding the spotlight over the most brilliant of social gatherings nowadays. It is interesting to note that groups of club women have taken steps to study carefully the different party promises and propositions. Most of them are not being prejudiced by limiting their thinking to one sole party, simply because their parents before them always voted that way. Many are the occasions to date that outstanding speakers from each party have been invited to discuss pro and con their democratic, republican or third party respectively. So goes the October 21 meeting of the Executive Board and Reciprocity of the California State Association of Colored Women. Their meeting will be held at the Sojourner Truth Home and is expected to be one of the most informative of the season. It's true that election time is just around the corner, but believe me, it isn't too late for some of the other organizations of the city to follow suit and be prepared to cast their votes in an intelligent manner. . .

FORMAL RECEPTION

La Casita del Arroyo will be the picturesque Pasadena setting for the formal reception honoring Mrs. Ida L. Jackson, past Supreme Basileus and Founder of National Health Project of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, and the hostess of the evening will be the charming Dr. Edna Griffin, who has headed the local Sorority health project. The ingathering has been slated for 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. Sunday and will be a strictly formal affair. Sharing honors will be international singer, Carol Brice, who as we all know, will be singing in concert at Philharmonic that afternoon. Miss Brice, who requested that the usual Patrons reception not be given in her honor this year arrives in the city tomorrow (Friday) and will be house guest of Dr. and Mrs. John Somerville.

Wedding bells will ring out on Sunday afternoon for popular Ruth Ford and James Smith, wno have courted since their high school days. Mt. Zion Baptist Church will be the center of activities prompely at 4:00 p.m. The six bridesmaids will he richly garbed in late fall colors, and Ruth's lovely sister, Thelma Houston will serve as matron of honor. The reception will follow immediately at the Ford residence on East 45th Street. The bride's grown will be an exquisite creation with yards of train, flowing veil, and of course, the traditional seed pearl and orange blossoms. . . .

Lovely Vivian Beck, debutant daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Beck decided that all the fuss that goes with wedding preperations was not for her, so on last Saturday, along with the handsome Dr. Delo Overstree Gray, formerly of Kansas City, she hied off to San Diego and there Rev. Hampton announced them man and wife. Not only were the many friends of the young couple taken by surprise but so were the Senior Beoks, for though they had an inkling Dan Cupid walked hand in hand with the two, they never dreamed wedding bells were so close. So happens that Vivian and Dr. Gray were quite a twosome while she attended Fisk University and he, Meharry Medical College. Vivian moved out west with her parents and continued her education at UCLA, where she received her B. A. in music last June. Dr. Gray received his D.D.S. in June '48, then made his way to our part of the country. By the way, Vivian is a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and her husband, who received his B.A. at Lincoln University in K. C. and his B.S. Degree from Cornell University in Ithaca, New York, is a member of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity. . . . So goes the Beck-Gray love story. A reception is being planned by the bride's family for the near future. . . . Congratulations are in order. . . .

THE WEEK END

A Night in Monte Carlo, gave a very gay note to the Friday night Rush affair given by Iota Phi Lambda at Mary Frances Peterson's home atop Sugar Hill. The gaming room was the busiest spot of the evening, with Gloria Vaughn of the pledge group, doing her bit as official instructor. Among the honored guests taking part in the affair were Phyllis Allen, who topped her red new length dress with a smart stole; and was one of the most outstanding candidates for membership, holding her masters degree in Library science; Helen Wright who studied at UCLA and has five years to her credit as a legal stenographer; Idell Moore, who holds her degree in Music from UCLA, but has spent the past

One Thousand Attend Rally Opening NCNW's Yearly Meet

WASHINGTON.—Necessity of more social education for children of all races was emphasized at the mass civil rights rally of the National Council of Negro Women at the Commerce Department auditorium.

One thousand women from every section of the United States and Canada attended the rally which opened the Council's 13th annual convention in Washington.

Mrs. Sadie T. M. Alexander, attorney and member of President Truman's Committee on Civil Rights told the delegates that she would "sacrifice everything . . . for the freedom of Negro children in generations to come."

Equal education, beginning in kindergarten and the early grades is the easiest way of improving the Negro race and the country in general, she said.

She expressed the opinion that the American people face an era of purges and "Gestapo restrictions" unless they immediately narrow the gap between what we preach and what we practice."

She pointed out that our Constitution and Federal laws provide equal opportunities — both education and employment—for all people, but that in many sections of the country this tradition is not practiced.

Mrs. Alexander was followed on the program by Dr. Ethel J. Alpenfels, associate professor of education at New York University, who has recently completed a Nation-wide study of social education in public schools.

Dr. Alpenfels urged that children be taught early in their lives human relationships between nationalities and races. Education—and particularly education at a very early age—is the surest way of combating group inequality and prejudice, she continued.

Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, founder and President of the N.C.N.W., made the welcoming address and presided at the meeting. Mrs. Julia West Hamilton, President of the Phyllis Wheatley Y.W.C.A., gave the invocation, and Emmer Lancaster of the Commerce Department and Dr. Charlotte Hawkins Brown, President of the Palmer Memorial Institute offered greetings at the rally's opening.

Mary Caldwell Dawson, founder and president of the National Negro Opera Company, sang two operatic selections with accompaniment by John R. Hoskins. Helena Mayle of the department of fine arts in religion of Howard University, also sang. Her accompanist was Ethel Ramos Harris.

Mrs. Muriel Johnson, chairman of the program committee, introduced the special guests who included Mrs. Olga Margolin, representing the National Council of Jewish Women; Miss Elizabeth Christman, executive secretary of The Women's Trade Union League, and Georgia Ellis Jones, a Chicago, Ill., attorney.

At the close of the program, Miss Mary Church Terrell, prominent Negro educational and civic leader presented the council with an oil painting of its president, Mrs. Bethune, painted by William Sylvester Carter.

Mrs. Claude McAdams, Membership Chairman; Mrs. Milton Walton, Character Education Chairman; Mrs. Samuel Lankford, Welfare Chairman; Mrs. Eleanor Washington, Magazine Chairman.

A musical program was presented by pupils from Mrs. Ethel Bell and Mrs. O'Dell's rooms. Mrs. Bernice Barnum, principal, welcomed parents and urged more participation in P. T. A. Award for having the largest number of parents present went to Miss Green.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Clarence Jackson, wore a luxurious white satin colonial gown with bouffant skirt. Her 21 yards of lace trimmed train ended with a heart-shaped lace insert. Her elbow-length fingertip veil of net was trimmed in white lace. The bride's gown was designed and made by Mrs. Lula Marsha Nelson who also produced the gowns and bonnets of the bridal attendants.

Native of India To Speak Sunday At Woodlawn 'Y'

Miss Raj Rallia Ram, Pakistan YWCA leader, will speak at the Woodlawn Branch YWCA World Fellowship Vesper, Sunday, October 24 from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Miss Ram will speak on "India" and show interesting objects from her native land. This is the second in a series of Sunday afternoon vespers being sponsored by the World Fellowship Committee of the YWCA. Mrs. Gertrude Reese Hicks is chairman of the sponsoring group.

Miss Ram is here in the United States to study administrative methods of the Los Angeles YWCA. She will also study in Pasadena, Santa Ana, San Diego and Riverside before going to Tucson and on to New York.

Miss Ram states there is a movement to have Pakistan women, which is the Moslem state since the partition of India, give up the sari, traditional Indian dress which she will wear at the vesper, and return to the ancient Punjabee costume with full trousers, shirt and veil. However, she and other women of India believe this to be a backward movement and should a showdown come, the women plan to unite and fight this measure that would thrust them into subjection again.

Sunday, October 24, promises to be a most interesting and entertaining affair at the Woodlawn YWCA, 4260 Woodlawn Avenue. Members and friends are invited. Tea will be served.

Fall Fashion Forecast Slim Lines

The coming event of Fall Fashions cast a slimmer shadow. They came, we wore them —yet they have not quite conquered. That, in a word, sums up the reign of the overpowering and billowering skirts.

The Fall silhouette will be pencil slimness in skirts, and hipped in empire waistline, Are you ready for this quick change? Even tough they are making more and better girdles, one cannot hope to look well in the new Fall fashions unless you have kept the natural body conture through physical exercise.

Even the corset and brassiere Association of America places emphasis on the importance of physical exercise to correct posture and help to strengthen, develop and equalize chest muscles.

The Association reminds us that if we allow the chest muscles and ligaments to lose tone, or if you have a tendency to slouch, or if you wear an improperly fitted bra, then we cannot have a figure to be admired.

They also advise that the tape measure will prove that the majority of women are more or less out of proportion in the chest area . . . Also that the bust should be 10 inches larger in circumference than te waist measurement and exactly the same as the hip measurement.

That is what it will take to do justice to the new Fall silhouette.

6 years with the P.O. Odessa Jones, who is in her second year of teaching at Wadsworth, and we could go on for the party honored a host of qualified young ladies, who were all smartly garbed and enjoyed the gay affair. Carrying out the Halloween motif, the appointed dining room was artistically decorated in an orange and black color scheme. . . .

Hen parties are always so much fun, especially when the hostess has a certain charm of putting her guests at ease and letting the evening run rampant in a feminine manner. The fun really started when Mrs. Nathaniel Cole (Marie) sent invitations that uniquely stated "Roosters" must be left at home on Friday evening between the hours of 10 p.m. and 1:30 a.m. Believe me, not one gent would even stick his nose in the main room when the party reached its climax, and if was time to pick up the better half. The Coles' Muirfield Road Home, that has been newly decorated is the last word for beauty and convenience. The colors used throughout and the modern design of the furnishings with a special emphasis on the luxuriousness of the master bedroom are definitely things to write about. Marie Cole, received in a smart pair of oriental lounging Pajamas. Among the hens taking part in the session were, Dorothy Nicholas and sister-in-law, Jerry Nicholas, Angelle Stratton, Mamie Anderson and her younger sister, Mildred, just can't think of her last name, petite Helen Wright, Mrs. Les Hites, Corinne Ashby and of course a host of others. It was a perfect evening, and the proverbial grand time was had by all. . . .

The Bar-B-Que honoring Tamlin and Thelma Harris on Saturday was quite an affair, according to my girl Friday. Dancing held sway until the wee hours, and the guests enjoyed the popular menu. Hosts for the affair was Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Johnson, Godparents of the little Harris bundle of Joy. . . . Same night Odessa and Vance Jones had guests in and Girl Friday jots that Bobby and Arthur Herndon were there along with Lorenzo Morris, R. B. Porter and his lovely bride Gloria, and many another. Most of the gents were Vance's good Kappa brothers. . . .

WELL! WELL! WELL!

It's a little girl for Ann and William Dickerson, and the whole family is thrilled, for the little lady is the first second cousin to make entry in the family that is one of the few pioneers left in the community. The malernal grand parents are the David Cunninghams Sr. . . . Dr. and Mrs. W. Clyde Allen had as house guest for one week Mrs. Allen's father Mr. J. H. Abernathy of Kansas City, Kansas. Little grandsons, Clyde, Kanati, and Eric monopolized most of his time. . . . Fellow scribe, Phyllis Scott is on the sick list. The staff joins in wishing her a speedy recovery. . . . Vivian Dandridge planed off for an engagement in the Hawaiian Islands last Monday Morn. . . . Earl Carter is eagerly awaiting the return of Gloria LaBauve who is visiting in New Orleans. Wouldn't be a bit surprise if these two decided to take the center aisle. . . . Vivian Wilson is back in town from her recent sojourn in Monterey and Carmel by the Sea. She also visited folks in Oakland before returning to L. A. . . . Peaches and Algenard Coleman took time out on last Thursday to help their two year old son Tony celebrate his birthday in grand style. . . . New members to be welcomed into the Doll League club tonight when president, Nellie Brown entertains will be, Eloise Duke, Gladys Clark and Ruth Ball. . . . Rose Bairpaugh, who has a hobby of taking part in radio contests has won at least 50. Her last prize was a pair of 71 gauge hose Wally originals that sell at $25.00 a pair, quite an addition to her new fall wardrobe. . . .

We are looking forward to the B.V.A. Benefit at Earl Carrolls on November 27. This will be one of the most outstanding and entertaining affairs of the current season. . . . The Alturistic Club's first Debutante Formal Ball on Oct. 30 at Elks Hall and the Les Matronettes' Masquerade Ball at the Pasadena Civic on Oct. 28. . . . We make deadline this week extending deepest sympathies to the Brown family, Irma, Juanita and Iona Armstrong, in the passing of their mother. . . .

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

Someone said to me, not long ago, that I must like high prices. For the subject had not appeared here before. Of course, I replied that not only the things I dislike appear here, but some that are pleasing as well. But then I started to think about high prices and reached the following conclusion. And here, too, is a little real-life drama enacted by Mr. Cash and Mrs. Tookes.

As long as wages are 'high', prices will remain at least one third higher. The only difference and satisfaction comes from the fact that there is money in circulation and if you're a good hypster, you can latch on to some of it. And there is always the bargain basement, which is seldom to be found during times of depression. Too, prices will always remain higher than wages under capitalism.

The drama: Mrs. Tookes, entering store: 'Oh dear, Mr. Cash, things are so dreadfully high. Eggs ninety-seven cents a dozen. Butter a dollar a pound. And hamburger sixty-nine cents! Bread twenty-one cents when once it was ten!"

Mr. Cash: "That's right, Mrs. Tookes. Prices are high. But, after all, we're all making more."

Mrs. Tookes—eyes widening: "But remember the days of the thirties? Eggs forty-cents a dozen. Butter about the same. And hamburger twenty-five cents a pound . . . gee—those were the gold old days . . . I guess they're gone forever . . ." Mrs. Tookes is growning sad as though tears will flood her eyes.

Mr. Cash—also sad: "Well—I guess those days are gone . . . Mrs. Tookes . . . too bad—too." And now Mr. Cash is really sad.

"I tell 'ya what us do," Mrs. Tookes suggested tearfully. "Mr. Cash. Let's re-live those days . . . sob—sob—just the two of us . . boo-boo . . ."

Mr. Cash—his face looking like Salt Lake: "All right . . . what do we do to re-live those days?"

Mrs. Tookes—bawling like a brat: "you sell me all these things . . . just like you did then . . . and I'll —bo-hoo—give you the same money . . . sob . . . pay the same prices An.d—sniff —we'll be happy again — snort —just like we were in the thirties!"

Mr. Cash—looking like an exploding atom bomb—"Why you sinful old halloween witch! You thief! shyster! Hypster! Get out and don't come back, or I'll grind you and sell ya for veal!" Curtain, for the rest is censored.

TWO MORE WEEKS

Two weeks from election time, and all is noisy—very noisy. The candidates are making themselves hoarse by the day with freedom and justice and equality flowing from their mouths like brooks. Folks behind the propositions in the state of California are busy, too. And in the distance there is the continuous sound of pork dropping flabbily into the barrel.

Many sources will emphasize the "importance of the wise choice" of leaders and choosing of new legislature. And, so help us all, practically every one will have behind it a common purpose. That purpose is to put over the candidate or the proposition in which they are interested. So to say the least, all will not be advice that might appear in that form. And that's why I say be careful.

On the polictical calendar, there are two items of great interest. First of all, we have Mr. Truman, the President, approving the appropriation of two billion dollars for more extensive military preparations. With the threat of Republicanism drawing upon us like a "gathering storm," we wonder what the inside of the taxpayer's pocket will look like if that storm does break. While at the same time, Dewey is traveling about the country talking about jailing COMMUNISTS AND THEIR SYMPATHIZERS. I think it's greatly important that you notice they've added and their sympathizers to their list of prospectives for the pen. And everytime they mention it, someone throws in the line: It would not be a police state. . . ." And they are so blinded by the "Communist Party Line" they can't see the mile-wide pit that Hitler dug for them to fall into. And who mentioned a police state? Was it a product of a guilty conscience?

If there still be such thing as freedom of speech, may I ask you whether or not most dictators are highly educated people. Was Hitler? And so your answer is no. I agree. Then seem to be people who get themselves into power through unusual means, sometimes even revolution. And they seldom are elected honestly by the people. Generally, they have great desire to make the world their own oyster, although they are unable to do so through domineering, diplomatic means. They turn to a large peacetime army. And in this country, the atomic bomb. They would divide the world into two warring camps and let the daily press and the people do the rest, only after they had created thorough war hysteria. Then come the shows of strength and the actual battlefield.

Yes, the voters will decide a great deal in November.

Hallowe'en at L. A. City Playgrounds Saturday, Oct. 30; More Than 300 Events

Promising fun and excitement for everyone, giant community Halloween carnivals today were being made ready for the night of Saturday, October 30, at playgrounds and recreation centers throughout Los Angeles, under plans set in motion by the City Recreation and Park Department.

Since October 31, which is All Hallow's Eve, occurs this year on Sunday, the custom will be followed of celebrating the event the preceeding night. All L. A. city playground carnivals will be in line with this tradition.

At dusk on Saturday night, October 30, great bonfires will blaze up at the playground centers, lighting the way for the arrival of troupes of costumed ghosts, hobgoblins, witches, and other eerie characters, of all sizes from the tiny toddlers to the full grown spooks.

Costume parades will be staged and prizes awarded to Halloween sprites most ingeniously dressed. Then carnival booths will be thrown open, and there will be music and entertainment, contests, stunts, treasure hunts, trips through "haunted houses," and dancing on lighted tennis courts and in community clubhouses, seasoned by popcorn, hot dogs, lemonade, and other ingredients to add up to a carnival of fun for the whole neighborhood of children, youth and adults.

There will be 330 events all told, and in many of the playgrounds there will be activities during the entire week ending Saturday. Some of the events will be:

G. W. McLaurin, 54-year-old Negro, broke a segregation rule of more then half a century when he entered the University of Oklahoma last week and enrolled in the school of education. McLaurin was accompanied by his wife, his attorney, Amos T. Hall; and Roscoe Dunjee, editor of the Black Dispatch, Oklahoma City, and national director of the NAACP.

The new enrolle decided to take the following subjects; Educational Psychology, Methods and Techniques in Guidance, Problems of Teaching in Secondary Schools, Principles and Practices in Guidance, and Individual Studies in Education.

"I have nothing but praise for the cordial reception given me on the campus of the University of Oklahoma," declared Mr. McLaurin when interviewed by reporters in the president's office. YMCA Youth Division Mothers Organize Elaborate Program

For the first time in many years, the Youth Division of the 28th Street "Y" has a representative mothers club, whose motto is "Service to Youth is Service to the Community."

Two weeks ago, a group of twelve mothers met at the "Y" to discuss the needs and problems of our community boys and girls as well as some of the problem of the "Y" as related to these young people. As a result of the discussion these women decided that the best way to be of service was to organize into a service club of mothers, and organize they did.

Three additional meetings have been held and a very forward program outlined for the next nine months. Outstanding program features are: securing two hundred new boy "Y" members by the end of November, redecoration of club rooms, sponsoring of youth forums on health and sex education, sponsoring Christmas and Easter programs and many other program specials.

Club officers are Evelyn Flood, president; Cora N. Herd, vice president; Florence S. Williams, secretary treasurer, and Ezrolyn Washington, chaplain. Members are Mrs. Jack Copeland, Roberta Moore, Celeste Cooper, Mrs. John H. Manley, Dessie Arnette, Alice George, Mrs. Berthram Johnson and Myrtle E. Drayne.

THE REALM OF RELIGION

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: History in the Old Testament: Lesson Text and Outline: 1 Kings 4:21-29; 11:6, 9-11. Motto Text: Psalm 33:12.

Introduction

The first seventeen books of the Bible contain Old Testament law and history and span the first thirty-five centuries of human history, the time covered in Genesis being longer than that embraced in all the other books combined. The Hebrew monarchy reached its height under Solomon who, during a reign of forty years, attained eminence as a scholar, a builder, a commercialist, and an internationalist. But his marriage with pagan princesses and consequent permission of idol worship in Jerusalem were steps downward, showing a lack of piety at the time and leading into the darkness of later years.

Comments

1. Such a kingdom, and such a court, surely never any prince had, as Solomon's are here described to be. Never did the crown of Israel shine so brightly as it did when Solomon wore it, never in his father's days, never in the days of any of his successors; nor was that kingdom ever so glorious a type of the kingdom of the Messiah as it was then. Solomon reigned not only over all Israel, who were his subjects by choice, but over all the neighbouring kingdoms, who were his subjects by constraint.

All the princes from the river Euphrates northeast to the border of Egypt southwest, not only added to his honour by doing him homage and holding their crowns from him, but added to his wealth by serving him, and bring him presents. David by his successful wars, compelled them to this subjection, and Solomon, by his admirable wisdom, made it easy and reasonable; for it is fit that the fool should be servant to the wise in heart.

His father in the Psalms had led his people into the comforts of communion with God, and now he led them into the comfortable use of the good things of this world. Such a court Solomon kept as can scarcely be paralelled. We may guess at the vast number of his attendants, and the great support there was to him, by the provision that was made daily for his table. Of bread there were so many measures of flour and meal as, it is computed, would richly serve 3000 men (Carellus computes above 4800 men) and the provision of fesh was rather more in proportion.

It added much both to the strength and glory of Solomon's kingdom that he had such abundance of horses, 40,000 for chariots and 12,000 for his troops, 1000 horses, perhaps, in every tribe, for the preserving of the public peace. God had commanded that their king should not multiply horses, nor, according to the account here given, considering the extent and wealth of Solomon's kingdom, did he multiply horses in proportion to his neighbours; for we find even the Philistines bringing into the field 30,000 chariots and the Syrians at least 40,000 horses.

The same officers that provide for his house provided also for his stable. Solomon's wisdom was more his glory than his wealth, and here we have a general account of it. The fountain of his wisdom: God gave it to him. God gives the powers of reason, preserves and improves them. The ordinary advances of them are owing to his providence, the sanctification of them to his grace, and this extraordinary pitch at which they arrived in Solomon to a special grant of his favour to him in answer to prayer.

It is very desirable that those who have large gifts of any kind should have large hearts to use them for the good of others; and this is from the hand of God.

2. Solomon grew cool and indifferent in his own religion and remiss in the service of the God of Israel. We cannot suppose that he quite cast offf the worship of God, much less that he restrained or hindered it (the temple-service went on as usual): bue he grew less frequent, and less serious, in his ascent to the house of the Lord and his attendance on his altar.

He lelft his first ove, lost his zeal for God, and did not persevere to the end as he had begun; therefore it is said he was not perfect, because he was not constant; and he followed not God fully, because David had many faults, but he never neglected the worship of God, nor grew remiss in that, as Solomon did (his wives using all their arts to divert him from it), and there began his apostasy.

He tolerated and maintained his wives in their idolatry and made no scruple of joining with them in it. Pharoah's daughter was proselyted (as is supposed) to the Jews' religion, but, when he began to grow careless in the worship of God himself, he used no means to convert his other wives to it; in complaisance to them, he built chapels for their gods, maintained their priests, and occasionally did himself attend their altars, making jset of it.

3. Here is God's anger against Solomon for his sin. The thing he did displeased the Lord. Time was when the Lord lovved Solomon and delighted in him, but now the Lord was angry with Solomon, for there was in his sin. The most base ingratitude that could be.

He turned from the Lord who had appeared unto him twice, once before he began to build the temple and once after he had dedicated it. God keeps account of the gracious visits he makes us, whether we do or no, knows how often he has appeared to us and for us, and will remember it against us if we turn from him.

Those who have dominion over men are apt to forget God's dominion over them; and while they demand obedience from their sin inferiors, to deny it to him who is the Supreme, God passed his sentence upon Solomon, that since he had revolted from God, part of his kingdom should revolt from his family; he had given God's glory to the creature, and therefore God would give his crown to his servant.

This was a great mordification to Solomon, who please himself no doubt with the prospect of the entail of his rich kingdom up on his heirs for ever. Sin brings ruin upon families, cuts off entails, alienates estates, and lay men's honor in the dust.

Comments on the Motto Text

We are to give God the glory of his special grace. In the midst of his acknowledgments of God's providence he pronounces those blessed that have Jehovah for their God, who governs the world, and has wherewithal to help them in every time of need, while those were miserable who had this and the other.

Baal for their god, which was so far from being able to hear and help them that it was itself senseless and helpless.

It is the Christians happiness that they are the people whom God has chosen for his own inheritance, whom he is please with, and honoured in, and whom he protects and takes care of, whom he cultivates and improves as a man does his inheritance.

The object of punishment is threefold: for just retribution; for the protection of society; for the reformation of the offender.

THE JORDAN AIRS will appear in a Cavalcade of Gospel Music, with many other renowned artists ofthe city, Sunday, October 24, at 2:30 P.M. in the Shiloh Baptist Church, 52nd and Compton Ave. Rev. Arthur Smith is president of the Jordan Aairs, Mrs. Edna Moten, musical director and pianist.

Membership Conference at First AME Zion Church, Mon.

A special membership conference will be held at First A.M.E. Zion Church, Paloma street and East Pico Blvd., on Monday, October 25, at 7:45 p.m.

The Rev. Dr. S. H. Marion, pastor of the church, begins the 5th year of his pastorate. During the past four years, 327 members have been admitted to the church, and a total of $87,-873.48 was raised. More than $20,000 of this sum was raised for repairs to the church after the explosion of the O'Connor plant February 20, 1947, which virtually wrecked the building.

During the five months following the explosion, members of First A.M.E. Zion had no place of their own to worship. Mr. Prince, secretary-treasurer of the 28th Street Branch Y.M.C.A.; Elder Robertson, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, East 40th Place; and Rev. E. S. Johnson, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church, Hemlock street, gave them the use of their buildings during this time, and they have been forever grateful for their generosity. They are also grateful to their many friends, the pastors and churches of the city, and many from even back East, both white and Negro, who gave for the repairing of their church.

The Annual Conference of the A.M.E. Zion Church was held in First Church two weeks ago. Bishop W. C. Brown said this was the largest he had attended on the West Coast. The W. C. Brown Club, Mrs. Emma Kinard, president; and the Retired Usher Board Progressive Club, Mrs. Mattie Morton, president, did special work in getting ready for the annual conference.

Refreshments will be served free to all at the conference Monday night by the Stewards Board, Warren Hall, chairman.

Rev. Marion will preach two special sermons Sunday, Oct. 24, at 11:15 a.m. and 8:15 p.m. on "The Power of Prayer to Heal." C. H. Cox is chairman of the Trustee Board; Sherman J. Warren, treasurer; and Mrs. Maggie E. Shepard, clerk.

Christian Science Text 'Probation after Death'

The Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Probation after Death" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, is from II Corinthians: "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new."

It is related in The Acts that as Saul journeyed toward Damascus, "suddenly there shined round about him a light from heaven: And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying, unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest: . . . And Saul arose from the earth; and when his eyes were opened, he saw no man: but they led him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus. . . . And Ananias . . . said, Brother Saul, the Lord, even Jesus, that appeared unto thee in the way as thou camest, hath sent me, that thou mightest receive thy sight, and be filled with the Holy Ghost. . . And he received sight forthwith, and arose, and was baptized."

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy says, "Saul of Tarsus beheld the way—the Christ, or Truth—only when his uncertain sense of right yielded to a spiritual sense, which is always right." "Every day makes its demands upon us for higher proofs rather than professions of Christian power. These proofs consist solely in the destruction of sin, sickness, and death by the power of Spirit, as Jesus destroyed them."

SURPRISE PARTY

Last Friday a surprise party was given for the Harold M. Kingsleys at their new home, 2656 W. Raymond Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Hanley and Dr. and Mrs. John A. Somerville. There were refreshments, felicitations and a purse presented to Mrs. Kingsley.

Santa Monica Air Carnival, Oct. 23

SANTA MONICA—The Santa Monica Junior Chamber of Commerce will present its second annual free air carnival at Clover Field, Santa Monica Airport, October 23 and 24. This air show was enthusiastically acclaimed by over 20,000 persons last year as one of the most unusual spectacles of its type ever presented in Southern California.

Feature attractions now arranged for the Air Carnival include the top performers at the Cleveland Air Races. Paul Mantz will exhibit his record breaking P-51 Mustang, Joe De Bone and Jimmy Stewart will display their contender for the Bendix Trophy which gave Mantz some of his closest competition this year. The most modern air liners will be open for inspection. Major Dick Johnson will fly the Air Force's new F-86 North American jet fighter. Special events have been set up for the many motion picture stars in the show.

One of the outstanding attractions will be the participation by the Southern California Soaring Association. They will stage two performances each day demonstrating the various methods of launching and towing gliders.

In keeping with the "audience participation" theme of this air show, many local doctors, lawyers, business men and their wives, and high school students will compete for a dazzling array of trophies in flying contests like those that caused so much interest last year. Entrants will be scored on their ability to break balloons, hit a target with flour sack bombs and spot land in simulated forced landings. Last year, Jon Hall and Frances Langford were winners in these events.

Again by popular demand, airplane rides will cost one and one-half (1½c) cents per pound. Junior Chamber officials indicate that no lady will be considered to weigh more than 125 pounds. Helicopters will fly passengers in planes similar to those seen daily overhead carrying the U.S. mail.

Grandstand seats will be free while they last as will the general admission and programs.

Baha'i World Faith

A Door to Freedom will be the subject discussed by Mrs. Florence Mayberry at the public meeting of the Baha'i World Faith to be held at their Los Angeles headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue, on Sunday, October 24, at 11:00 a.m.

Mrs. Mayberry states that every one of God's messengers has revealed verses which open the doors of the minds and souls to the appearance of spiritual virtues and holy deeds.

Brown's Youth Center Plans Hallowe'en Party, Oct. 30

Brown's Youth Center of Jordan Downs, 2116 East 98th street, is planning a pre-Hallowe'en party for Saturday, October 30, from 6 to 9 p.m., and will greatly appreciate apples, weiners, or what have you, to help with the party.

Mrs. E. M. Brown, the founder and the president-director of the Center, is also hoping to give the youth of Watts a real playground in Jordan Downs project, and says they are very much in need of a typewriter, piano, sewing machines, playground equipment and funds. They are holding a membership drive at present with dues $1.00 per year.

Mrs. Brown began the Brown's Youth Center about 4½ years ago. She gives half of her salary toward this. When she began in 1944, in her own backyard, she had 8 children for whom to plan games. That number has increased today to 206. They are still in the Brown backyard. She has classes for these youngsters, too, and has fashioned class rooms by partitioning off sections of the yard with bed spreads!

Mrs. Brown is extremely anxious to have her now large Center expand still further, until as a fully organized playground, it can accommodate at least 2000 children. And anything from toys to pennies and dollars will be very welcome.

Eastside Community Again in Lead

Keeping the lead in their usual spectacular fashion, Eastside's Community Chest volunteers last week came forth with some new "firsts" in the persons of Miss Evangeline Woodfolk, Mrs. Wilhelmina Monroe and Mrs. Cora Alexander.

Miss Woodfolk, executive director for the Sojourner Truth Home, an Eastside Chest agency, is a member of Miss Nettie B. Reese's advance gifts committee for the Community Chest. She has obtained the minimum goal set for her to attain and is well over her quota at the present time.

Mrs. Monroe, a major in Mrs. Claudia Q. Munford's battalion, and Mrs. Alexander, major in Mrs. Charles Blodgett's organization, have obtained their captains and are now enlisting lieutenants for their respective divisions. These women are the first to have their full staff of captain workers.

Mrs. Gertrude Hicks, Chest Headquarters Vice Chairman for the Eastside, announces that more volunteers are urgently needed in many divisions of the campaign organization and requests interested persons to visit the offices at 4504 Central Avenue or phone Adams 3-4186.

ENLIST TO ASSIST.

We like Mary Poole's defination of a pessimist, she say's "A pessimist is a man who backed an optimist." . . . Joe Adams we hear is purchasng another car, . . . Gee! how much moola can a disc jockey make? . . . The Jubaliers soon appearing on the Phil Harris show. . . . Don't know whether we like the new Amos and Andy show or not, but we sure don't like those BLACK faces they've got glued on all of the city's transit lines advertising it. . . . Don't know when I've seen a cute doll face like that of Jerry Nicholas, she's the spouse of Fayard Nicholas (as if you didn't know). . . . The B.V.A.'s Earl Carrol show, still the talk of the town with tickets selling like mad, if you miss this show, well shame on ya. . . .

NOTES, NEWS AND NONSENSE

There always has to be a little color added to anything to make it sparkle, the color we're talking about now is that which has been added to the American College of Surgeons, convening now at the swanky Biltmore Hotel, with more than two thousand members attending. . . . Some of the outstanding Negro Surgeons attending are Dr. Sinkler, Dr. Mitti, Dr. Hamton, Dr. Rodgers, Dr. Sands and others whose names we don't have right now, to be a member of such an organization one must pass an examination and be fully qualified as a surgeon. . . . Leon Hardwick co-owner of the Consumers Mart informs us that the Mart has been reorganized carrying a full line of women's apparel. . . . Winni Brown's recording of "My Man" send shivers up and down the spine. . . . The war of nerves is still on along Hep-Cat Row, fella's are all wondering who'll be next. . . . The pleasing personality of Nancy Skillman makes you like her almost instantly. . . . J. D. Crawford and Inez Carter, smiling and tellin' friends how wonderful marriage can be. . . . John Pettigrew says he's in love with Johnnie Jr. and Rockie, that's his two cute little boys. . . . Well 'tis about that time again, so till next week, there ain't no more.

Joe Lutcher's Band Signed To Play "Wedding" March At Elks Hall Halloween Night

In the letter sent by Henry Armstrong, former holder of three world's boxing titles, the two noted wrestlers, Gorgeous George and Nature Boy, have been asked to judge the Drag Ball and Fashion Show at the Elks Hall on Oct. 31, Halloween night, being promoted by impressario Bill Hfeflin.

In the Fashion Show the female impersonaters will model $100,000 worth of the latest in furs. This alone will be an eye-filler and magnet to lure the crowd into the Elks.

Of course, the big treat of the evening will be the spectacular "wedding" between the "bride" and "groom." Wedding rehearsals are now in full sway. The affair looms as a complete sell-out with many reservations coming in daily. To make your reservations call CEntury 25629 day, and ADams 9665 night.

Joe Lutcher, famous sax star, and his Capitol Recording band, whose record "Rockin' Boogie" swept the country like wildfire, has been signed to play for the "ball," and will furnish music and entertainment throughout the evening.

This "wedding," with all the carmarks and trimmings of the real McCoy, is the first and only one of its kind to be put on here in the city by an All-Female Impersonators cast, so you are really in for some good entertainment. The bride and the rest of her bridal party have completed their fittings for their wedding gowns, and plan to look their prettiest.

For an evening of unusual entertainment and good fun, plus dance music by Joe Lutcher's band, it's the Elks Hall on Halloween night, Oct. 31!

The wedding "reception" will be held following the wedding dance at Jack's Basket room.

LEE WESLEY JONES, one of the most exciting piano players in the local Kingdom of Swing, is toying with the Ivories nitely at the Downbeat club with Joe Lutcher's crew.

Top Names Will Appear At BVA Benefit Nov. 8

Add the names of Jack Benny, Rochester, Phil Harris, Howard Duff and Bill Day to the already growing list of top talented stars of stage, screen and radio and you have a star-studded show in store for you on the evening of Nov. 8, when the Benevolent Variety Artists stage their mammoth benefit show at Earl Carroll's famous Hollywood restaurant in Hollywood to raise funds to help indigent members of the theatrical prfoession.

As a special added attraction, members of the famous Cotton Club Cuties chorus, who made more than a reputation for themselves while dancing at Frank Sebastian's Cotton Club in Culver City, will don dancing shoes once more for this special occasion and worthy cause.

In addition to the above-named quintet scheduled to appear on the program, other famous names who have promised to be on hand to lend variety and merriment to this wonderful cause are Eddie "Duffy's Tavern" Green, Mantan Moreland, Peg Leg Bates, Lennie Hayton, Gerald Wilson's orchestra, Willie Smith, top sax star of the Harry James band, Lillian Randolph, J. T. Gipson, Bill Day, Nicodemus, Wonderful Smith, Jester Hairston and many more too numerous to mention.

Roy Porter Has Exciting New Swing Orchestra

Roy Porter, playing Sundays at Billy Berg's swing emporium in Hollywood, has an exciting young swing band that is destined to sail stratispheric heights in the field of music.

Porter has surrounded himself with 15 of the top musician's in town and dispense with some of the best and hottest music heard around these parts in ages!

Their playing can best be described as being the hottest to hit the State since the San Francisco fire!

Porter, who has been around (musically speaking, that is) nearly as long as some of Crosby's horses, is a young veteran in the music biz, and has always been superb on drums, one of the real giants of that instrument.

Those who dig the full brilliance of Be-Bop music will appreciate Roy Porter's exciting new swing band. And it is fine!

Don Fields, popular young businessman-about-town, is handling the managerial affairs of the Porter crew, and with Fields at the helm as sure as there are fours in Mississippi, the Roy Porter crew (especially with the brand of rhythm they play) will zoom across the musical horizon in a blaze of glory!

Christopher Beans

"The Late Christopher Bean," a three act comedy by Sidney Howard, will be the season opener for the Arena Theater at the East Los Angeles Junior College campus on Monday, Oct. 25. The play will be presented for six nights, Monday through Saturday.

Pete Dalton Is Dead but His Memory and Good Deeds Linger On; Hired First L.A. Negro Show

Thomas Valson Dalton is dead! To some of you the name means nothing. To nearly every Negro entertainer who has been in show business over a period of years, that first line will bring a tear to your heart.

Thomas Valson Dalton, better known as Pete, was the popular owner of the Follies and Burbank theatres, in downtown Los Angeles. Pete was a good friend. He loved everybody, and everybody loved Pete. During depression years he hired Negro performers at top salaries. He discovered more Negro stars than any other man in the Hollywood profession. Stepin Fetchit, Buck and Bubbles, Red Spikes and any number of other famous stars at one time or another worked for Pete. They didn't exactly work for Pete. They worked WITH Pete!

Pete was always ever-ready to help an entertainer in need, and during the year 1932, while playing at the Burbank theatre with Lee Young's band, Jack Dalton bought me my first gold trumpet, as a birthday present!

Pete Dalton will forever be remembered, because he never forgot to remember people!

When other theatre owners tried to convince Jack Dalton that a Negro show wouldn't "go over" in (at the time) prejudiced downtown Los Angeles, Dalton shrugged his shoulders and replied: "A GOOD show will go over ANYWHERE!" And he hired the first Negro show to ever appear in the downtown sector of the city of alleged angels.

Pete died Monday at St. Vincent Hospital at the age of 65. His survivors are: Llewellyn Katherine, wife; Betty Dalton Velarde, daughter; Frank R. Dalton, brother; two granddaughters, Linda Velardo and Sharon Dalton.

Michael Phelan Stages Drag Fashion Parade at Last Word

● J. T. GIPSON

The Bronzeville Bulletin Board: Irving Ashby's expensive Guitar was stolen during his recent engagement at Billy Berg's with the N. Cole trio . . . The Pollard doll on the UCLA campus is one of the most exciting teen-agers in town. Her loveliness leaves me limp . . . The buzz among insiders about the two "swishes" who plan a real merger following Halloween Night's Female-Impersonator's Drag Ball at the Elks. They'll elope to Yuma where one will don femme garb, with the Justice of Peace being none the wiser! . . . Joe Adams' microphone voice (daily over KOWL Santa Monica) gets better each program, but our fave air-lane voice belongs to Rev. John L. Branham, whose Sunday Night "Echo's of Eden" b'dcasts from St. Paul Baptist Church is a tonic for tired nerves! . . . The "Stars Over Israel" program—Thurz Night last at Shrine Aud. went over with a biff-bang-boom. More stars on the program than there are in Heaven. Benefit (sponsored by Henry Blankford) was to help rebuild the shattered Hadassah hosp. in Jerusalem. My interest? Walter Winchell's my adopted Pop, or didden ya' know? . . . Joe Harris will resume his colyuming in one of the local papers. Good news for Harris fans, of which I'm one . . . Phyllis Scott, the col'm's favorite Girl-Friday (whose shrewed counsel served the col'm well for many months) is on the ailing list. Her witty wordage got a reprint in one of the famed NY col'm's: "JT Gipson," she said, "can spell anything but words!" . . . Not all of Avanelle Harris' charms are poured into a sweater. She dances like a miniture Irene Castle, too! . . . If I owned a nightclub and featured Jam Sessions I'd make the Be-Bop fiddlers play shorter choruses, minus the race-track tempo. Some of the songs never seem to end, and it makes it tough on people with nervous tempers . . . Who's the UCLAngel with the kissable face? I mean the one all the guys are raving about? They say she's prettier'n a Rembrandt painting! . . . Sudden Thawt: Singers can be listenable when they sound like Charles Brown, of the Blazers. His kind of singing is my kind of kicks! . . . Oct. 17 to the 28th is National Letter Writing week. Write to those who are ill. Especially those at Olive View San.! Thanx . . . Jean Belle Lee, whose moustache is prettier than mine. And she's a little doll, too! .

J. T. GIPSON

On the Bronzeville Scene: Helen Greyco and Bandsman Jones expect a little howling bundle of noise any day now. Spike's the one who sends me those zany song titles, frinstance: "When Winter Draws On, I'll Put Mine On!" . . . Frankie Laine became the husband of his childhood sweetheart, Monday last. Her name is Nina Lombardo (no relation to Guy) . . . This will probably be denied: A big-time leader of a small musical outfit will soon air his troubles in the divorce courts. What! So soon???? . . . Our fave torchant of the moment is the corker, "Wedding Bells Are Breaking Up That Old Gang of Mine." The Red Caps' sing-sational version . . . The only way to make a nightmare disappear is to open your eyes, so Jean Robinson's wrapping her heart around music studies 'stead of trying to drown a torch over a married man named Bill . . . Speakin' of irresponsible reporting, the Los Angeles Spittune (Almeana Davis' sheet) ran a beautiful front page photo in the 10/9 48 edition of a lovely girl in a bathing suit. Nice write-up. Pretty picture, and all that sortatheeng. Irresponsible reporting? Name under the pic was Lois Fearonce—doll's name is DORTHEA, wife of the popular Dentist! . . . Peggy Lee's recording of "Don't Smoke in Bed" is a killer, sez Nadine . . . The F. B. Eyes aren't watching a Cntrl Av gasoline station, are they? In search of goofy-dust peddlers? . . . The song, "Hair of Gold," is n.s.g., even if it is one of the most widely played . . . Bobbe Caston's thrushing is ear-pleasing. She wraps her heart around a vocal and the song comes out sweeter than a dozen roses. Her vocal chords must have been dipped in honey when she was a baby! . . . Hazel Shumate, the colyum's pet pin-up pretty, coming into the office wearing a crowded sweater. Causing a lull in work. When she walks her whole figure makes eyes at you! . . . The Negro poulation of Africa is higher than the population of the United States. (See, for 10c you even getta History lesson!) . . . A local Professional man (so veddy well known!) is spending too much moola on a teen-age debutante. Her mater complained to the authorities. The story will rock the front pages with an atomic bang!

From Harlem To Hollywood: Jacqueline Pyante, the Columbus, Ohio, society beauty, tells chums she'll be in California before Xmas. Don't bet against her! . . . Who was it that said: "By the time a man collects experience enough to understand women, he's so old he doesn't have occasion to use it?" . . . A Newton street thug-hunter is under surveillance. Allegedly the recipient of gratituies from Sporting figures . . . Hey, Joey Adams! We have very few kickbacks. What we print is facts. Our enemies know it, even if they won't admit it! . . . A famous sepia star is torching over the chune, "But Maybe You'll Be There." The lyrics to the torchant is a shot in the arm for unrequited lovers! . . . Arnold Williams really has an eye for beauty. Her name is Doris Ann Matthews . . . Marilyn Holder, whose dimpled smile is even more sensational than her honey-voiced baby-talk, has most of the bachelors in town running over each other for an intro. A local society family is a-fretting over baby dghtr's newest romance. A Pimp in his fifties! Carry on, society, carry on . . . Noble Sissle is in line to write the original musical score for a forthcoming A. Jolson flicker . . . Billy Rowe was voted Harlem's Best Dressed newspaperman. Couldn't happen to a nicer guy. He nearly always look as tho he'd just stepped outuve Esquire! Aside to Alyce Key: Honey, I'm sorry Paula Watson didden show up the other evng. She wanted a job. I gave her your telephone number. She promised to be at the Cricket club the same nite. I gave you my word she would be there. She didn't show up. I was trying to do her a favor, and she diden have the courtesy to phone and say she couldn't make it! I'll never recommend another act to the Cricket club, Alyce. Some entertainers (at least the ones I know) are just too damb undependable! And I don't have the time to make excuses for them. So, angel, we'll just send for Sarah Vaughn! . . . Raymond Morrison, from Our Side of the Tracks, spends his leisure shooting marble with the 3-yr-old son of a reech Westside Widow. Ha! always say: "If You Want the Cow—Go After the Calf!" . . . Mable Jones, our answer to tall, statuesque Paulette Goddard, is a lush bundle of oomph! Her lgs? So round. So firm. So fully packed!

The Private Papers of a Cub Reporter: In answer to a query: Too many nice people would have been hurt had we printed about Satday's strip polka game at the Westside Apt. of a vedy prominent social hep chick. And then, too, it was all in fun! I don' print gossip! Hell, there's things I wouldn't want known on ME!!! And the very same people who phone and write in asking why we omitted such and such a story (because it was juicy) would yell like a stuck pig if I caught them in a headline act of some sort. People who live in glass houses—shouldn't! . . . Helen Arline's dimples are a sight for tireless orbs! She's reet. Petite.. And Gone! . . . Joe Lutcher has one of the greatest little bands in the entire kingdom of swing! Joe, as if he needs the reccommendation, is Nellie's little bro, but is making good on his own with a zippy musical outfit hotter than a forest fire in the middle of July! . . . Managing Editor John Lee's found an apartment and he's as happy as a sissy in C. C. Camp! . . . Plug here for Herb Snypes, about to open a new b'sness venture. Herb's a grand guy, and we love him heaps overit this desk! . . . Louis

Interesting Data On What To Do When Staging a Benefit Dance

By J. T. Gipson,
Theatrical Editor

To inform the misinformed, meaning, of course, various local social and charitable clubs in town who from time to time sponsor charity affairs, it is necessary to get a clearance through the Musician's Union for permission for any of their members to donate their time and talents to appear on any charity program, regardless of how worthy the cause may be.

In plain, old every day language, let me put it this way: Let's say the Saturday Night Social Function Charity Club is sponsoring an affair, with the net proceeds going to some worthy charity. Ten times out of ten, members of the club will recommend some musician or band (who happens to be a particular friend) and say, "Will you (or your band) play for our charity affair?" If it's for a good cause, the musician (any fiddler with a heart) will invariably say Yes. He, in turn, trying to help the club, will request the services of some of his brother members to appear on the program.

It's okay, girls, to ask any member of the American Federation of Musician's to appear on your program. But here's one important fact you overlook. ANY musician (and get this!) who appears on any benefit show MUST be cleared through the musician's Union, and any charitable affair must be cleared with Social service, downtown!

Mr. Ed Bailey, president of Local No. 767, will support any worthy cause, providing it is for a worthy cause and not for some personal gain.

I'm printing this notice here for all clubs to see, as it will save lots of embarrassment in the event you have a show lined up and the Musician's Union prevent their musicians from participating because of the fact you didn't clear the musician's through the musician's office!

For further information on this matter, contact Mr. Ed Bailey at PRospect 5418, or call your California Eagle Theatrical Editor, ADams 9770.

With my partners, Joe Shipp, Bill Day and Joe Adams, we will gladly donate our time and talents (at any time) for any worthy cause, but get your affair cleared through Social Service, and your musicians through the Musician's Union!

Otherwise, uh-uh.

Mr. Day and Gipson, working together as the top master of ceremonies team in the Angel City, will line up an all-star show for the occasion and plans are in the making for the popular Stan Kenton band to be on hand for that date, as featured guest artists. If the Kenton crew is in town that date, they will be the featured guests of the evening.

Joyce Stewart is president of the organization; Jessie Mae Beavers, vice-president, and the rest of the membership will be introduced in a very unique manner the night of the ball.

JACK DEMPSEY

(Ed's Note: Jack Dempsey, former Heavyweight Champion of the World is the week's Guest columnist. In town to aid a worthy cause, I'll let the Manassa Mauler tell you about it himself. Gip)

Hello Gip.

To check juvenile delinquency and the spread of crime; to make the men and women of tomorrow as good as, and I hope better than today's generation, more facilities must be provided where our children can receive moral and religious instruction.

Only by equipping our children with a background of moral and religious precepts can we have reasonable hopes that they will be able to withstand the temptations of life as they enter upon young adulthood. This holds true, in my opinion, regardless of whether our children happen to be born and brought up under the Catholic, Jewish or Protestant faith.

It is because I am deeply concerned about this problem that I am taking the liberty of writing to you. Ordinarily I leave the typewriter to poets and men-of-letters and use my fists for other purposes. I desire to call your attention to a Sports Event, the net proceeds from which, will be used to help make many of the boys and girls of today into finer citizens of tomorrow.

The Men's Club of the Olympic Jewish Temple of Beverly Hills is sponsoring an evening of boxing at the Hollywood Legion Stadium on Saturday October 30th. The very best fighters will appear on this program. You may take my word for it that this will be an evening of tense, thrilling action!

The money raised through this event will be used to buy furnishings for the newly-built Talmud Torah of the Olympic Jewish Temple and thus will be instrumental in molding the character of more than 600 boys and girls each year. This is as tangible and definite a way of building better citizens that I can conceive and I recommend it unreservedly to you.

I can think of no more pleasant a way of accomplishing a worthy objective than by patronizing this event, and I hope to see you at the Stadium on this night, for I will referee one of the fights, and our pal, Joe Louis, will referee another!

Cordially yours,
(Signed) Jack Dempsey.

JOE LOUIS

NEW YORK—Joe Louis announced this week that he definitely will defend his boxing title in June against the winner of the Ezzard Charles-Joe Baksi fight. The news is official.

The Los Angeles and San Francisco Hakoah teams will present the sport festival exhibition and will also engage in their second annual soccer tilt for the pleasure of those assembled.

Popular Clothier Buys 25 Grand in Tickets for Fight

BURT BURTON, popular owner of BURTON'S STUDIO CLOTHES, 414 So. Main St., who is well known and highly respected by the Latin American population of Los Angeles, and who in addition to having a few of the prominent Latin-American fighters work for him in his stores, knows the fight game here in Los Angeles just about as well as anyone. Nothing escapes BURTON when it comes to knowing in advance the tip fight programs. Somehow or another, Burton got wind that the October 30th, "NIGHT OF MAIN EVENTS" fight program at the Hollywood Legion Stadium is going to be a sell-out. The fact that Jack Dempsey is in charge of this promotion, and Joe Louis is going to referee one of the four main events, gave BURTON added reason to believe the event will be a sell-out.

BURTON checked with the management of the Hollywood Legion Stadium yesterday, and found out that the house is already about half sold out and 2 weeks still remain before the event takes place. BURTON, thereupon purchased from the Legion Stadium management fifteen hundred dollars worth of gallery seats and one thousand dollars worth of choice ringside seat, $2,500 worth in all. Asked why he did this, BURTON'S answer was quick and to the point. "I know that the Legion will be turning away from five to ten thousand people on October 30th. It is to the benefit of my business that my customers be able to see this fight on October 30th, if they want to. Everybody is welcome to come to my store and buy these fight tickets for the 'NIGHT OF MAIN EVENTS' at no extra cost, as I will be amply repaid many times just by having these fellows become acquainted with the boys who work for me and the merchandise I have on display in my store."

Houston Taken to Task

(Ed's Note: The following article appeared in the Daily News under Gordon Macker's by-line. It also expresses the opinion of the Eagle Sports Editor, J. T. Gipson, therefore we're re-printing it.)

Well, Willie Bean finally got his money Thursday. Commissioner Norman Houston conducted a one-man commission hearing (his three confereres still "are out of town on business") and ruled that Bean was innocent of any collusion in his fight last month at the Olympic against Turkey Thompson. Okeh, fine. But Houston fined Bean's manager, Ralph Gambina, $200.

Can't quite figure it.

Does that mean that Gambina was the party, then, who was guilty of "collusion"?

That's about the only conclusion a fan can draw.

The commission decision — vague and doubleworded — said that Gambina didn't "encourage his fighter enough."

Pray tell me, what does that mean?

Was Ralph supposed to tell Willie to go out there and keep his hands at his side so Turkey could take a good shot at his chin, or was he to tell him—which he did — to protect himself against a more seasoned foe, a gentleman generally credited with having the most vicious left hook in heavyweight ranks?

If anybody was to be fined, it should have been the matchmaker.

and the matchmaker — my cousin McCoy—I feel sure would have been very happy to give his side of the story had he been called in.

Of course, he wasn't.

He, like almost everybody else, wasn't even informed of the hearing.

If I happened to be the manager in this case, I'd get myself an attorney and sue the State Athletic Commission for the 200 cherries.

The commission doesn't have a leg to stand on.

If there was any "collusion" on the part of Gambina, he should have been fined — as the law provides — either $5000 or five years in jail or both.

Ralph Gambina, I'll go to court on, is a 100 per lent dead honest guy.

This $200 fine levied at him by the commission gives him an undeserved black mark.

The Managers Association should really go to court on this one.

It's time somebody "took on" this commission.

They're shoving around the fighters and managers—especially the small fry — just too much.

Norman Houston

Let me present you another case to prove my point about this "shoving around" business.

Watson Jones fought the main event at Ocean Park Monday night.

He had to borrow $20 after the fight so he could pay his landlady back rent!

If somebody hadn't come up with the double-saw, Watson would have had to sleep on a park bench.

His purse was held up by one of the typical acts of our commission.

Watson, who is in dire straits, showed up at the commission hearing Thursday to see if he couldn't get his money.

He was told that "there wasn't time" to give him a hearing. My, an extra five minutes sure would have hurt, now wouldn't it?

Later, Mr. Houston amplified that statement to the Thumb to this extent: "I couldn't give Watson a hearing because all the parties involved in the Monday night fight weren't present."

Well, may I ask, how could they be present when they were not informed of the hearing?

But, let's go on.

Houston then told the man with the 22,000,000 readers: "As far as I can ascertain, Watson is strictly in the clear."

Okeh, then, why not pay him?

What's he supposed to do between now and the next time a hearing is called?

Sleep on a park bench—or steal?

Don't any of these gents on the commission know what it means to be broke:

If Norman Houston hasn't enough giblets to stick up for his own people, he should get off the board.

There is no law in the book, Norman, against helping people of your own race, creed or color.

Net meeting of the commission is skedded for Fresno.

Do they have boxing any longer in Fresno? ? ?"

Los Angeles Dons Travel East for A 4-Game Swing

When the Los Angeles Dons concluded what was obviously their roughest game of the season last Friday against Baltimore, there were many who witnessed the carnage who felt some sort of a wake was in order.

Carted off the field, and subsequently to the hospital, were Herman Wedemeyer and John Kimbrough. When these two were checked out early in the game, the Dons' attack plummeted to the zero point. This because the great Glenn Dobbs had a painful rib injury that in some way connected itself with every strenuous muscle action and prevented him fro mrunning with the ball.

Reports from the Dons' camp indicate that Wedemeyer will be ready to roll against Buffalo Sunday, with his ankle responding, beautifully to the minstrations of trainer Bill Kapela.

Glenn Dobbs, taped like a mummy in the Colt game, seem mummy in the Colt game, seemed actually to get a little benefit out of the battering he took, for the ailment is practically gone, and will be a thing of the past come Sunday.

George Ratterman and the Bills will be the first afternoon performance of the season for the Dons, all others being night games. Kickoff is at 2:00 p.m. It will be the last Dons home game for a month as Phelan's boys head east for a four game swing.

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—The Fisk Bulldogs are looking forward to their Homecoming game with LeMoyne College of Memphis this Saturday with memories of the 19-0 shellacking handed them last year by the Memphis team.

Watts Playground To Hold Party For Boys 'N Girls

The Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department will celebrate a "special" Halloween for the kiddies on Oct. 30, with an entertaining program for the boys and girls in our community.

Any self donations and contributions to help make the Halloween party a success for the boys and girls will be appreciated and should be sent to Mr. Stafford E. Lott, of the Watts Playground, and Mr. Carl O. White, of the 109th Street Playground.

ON THE TURF

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—Bumtybump, a much-improved horse during the summer racing season, scored a hollow victory in the feature attraction last Sunday. Installed favorite by the public, the son of Pasha-Fair So took the lead at the three-eighth pole to win by two lengths, although he had to be shaken up to stall off the closing bid of Harihar, who finished second a half length in front of Indian Watch. The winner paid $4.40. The time was 1:12 flat.

In the secondary event, Novelito, following the early pace set by Double Regrets, came to the outside in the stretch to win hanadily. As favorite he paid $6.40. Five favorites were able to make the form players happy. The star jockey of the day was A. Guadarrama. He scored with four winners.

The crowd of nearly 6000 that was swelled by 19 buses from Los Angeles witnessed some real close finishes. The daily double combination of Better Nut, winner of the second race, and Little Upie, victor in the third, paid its lucky backers $197.40, while the quiniela holders of tickets on Disto-H and Mineral King, who finished in that order, received $17.20.

General Manager Walter C. Marty has arranged another fine program of 12 races for this Sunday. Featured by "The Balboa Handicap" at 1 1-16th miles. The secondary will be "The Ramona" at six furlongs. For Los Angeles fans Manager Marty has arranged Tanner buses that leave fro mthe Biltmore Hotel Sunday mornings at 8 a.m. directly to the track. Fare includes admission to the track.

After 108 nights of greyhound races the season closed last Sunday. General Manager William (Bill) Collier was well pleased with the meeting. Beach Comber was the outstanding greyhound of the meeting, winning tured the Au Revoir Handicap in easy style. The only time he was beaten was by his stablemate, No Refund. During the season some of the largest payoffs both in the mutuels for straight bets and quinielas set a record for greyhound races.

Next season the popular general manager plans some new events that really please the fans. So Manager Collier says, y adios, amigos y buena suerte a todos los africionados Mexicanos. So good-bye and good luck, friends and patrons of Tijuana greyhound park. Until next season when I'll be back.

Fans Will Shower Satch With Gifts; Game Starts at 2:30

Satchel Paige, the legendary sports figure whose name will go down in the sports records as being the first Negro pitcher to ever pitch in a world series, will receive the deserved plaudits of the baseball public next Sunday afternoon, Oct. 24, at Wrigley Field when appropriate ceremonies and gifts, the famed "Satch" will be introduced to the fans as the Wonder Athlete of the year.

The Merchants on the Eastside have donated gifts to the popular hurler, one of the greatest pitchers of all time. It is fitting and proper that the public be allowed to pay homage to a fine athlete and it is just that he be allowed to finish a long and brilliant career in the major leagues where he has belonged for the past 20 years.

After the festivities Paige will take the mound for his Kansas City Royals against the season's World Series teammates, Gene Bearden and Bob Lemon, and their major league all-stars.

Paige played a major part in bringing to Cleveland their first pennant in 28 years by winning six games and appearing in 11 others with only one defeat.

Paige has been pitching summer and winter baseball since 1929, his first full season in the colored Major Leagues with the Birmingham Black Barons, owned by a fabulous character named "Uncle" Joe Rush.

Bob Hope, Cleveland stockholder, is expected to be on hand to wish "Satch" the best of luck.

On hand trying to "spoil" Satchel's day will be Bob Lemon, Gene Bearden and the rest of the major leaguers. Trying just as hard to make his day a complete success will be Jesse Williams, Chet Brewer, all on the Royal club.

The game starts at 2:30 and the progame ceremonies 30 minutes earlier. Reservations at Wrigley field now.

Marcel Cerdan to Fight Somebody; May Be Belloise

NEW YORK—If Steve Belloise shows well in his coming bout with Ray "Sugar" Robinson on Dec. 2 at Jersey City, he will be in line for a title fight with Marcel Cerdan in January. If his showing is the nadir of nil, Cleveland Chuck Hunter will meet the fighting Frenchman, who wrested the 160-pound crown from Tony Zale several weeks ago.

Dudley Dickerson Retired from Show Biz Rich; Returns

After an absence of too-long from show business, Dudley Dickerson, a name theatre-goers can't possibly forget, recently completed a star role in the soon-to-be-released Warner Bros. First National picture, "Night And Day." He also completed a series of untitled shorts for Columbia pictures and has been cast for a role in a forthcoming 20th Century-Fox film production.

Dickerson's name blazed forth on all fronts of the theatrical world first as a comedian-dancer at Frank Sebastian's Cotton Club in Culver City, then successive flings in other big time smart spots across the country. Then came pictures, riches and Dickerson's voluntarily retirement.

But now he's back in the profesh' and that's welcome news!

ALBERT J. McNEIL
Music Critic of the California Eagle

THE DIRECTOR OF MUSIC

This is the second in a series of articles on the activities of the church choir and the individuals who make up its organization.

Have you ever realized that building a successful choir depends almost entirely upon the Choir Director?

Mr. McNeil

In the business world there are basically two classes of people. 1st, those who look at the obstacles between them and a successful career and resign themselves to a mediocre "just getting by" attitude; and 2nd, those who loog at these same obstacles and realize that the obstacles are placed there as a challenge and as stepping stones to a victorious career. Sometimes there is a 3rd class: those who boast of high academic attainments and then proceed to use them mainly as a crutch. The first and third class of workers usually fail, the second class ususally succeed.

It seems to me that these three types of businessmen find their parallel in three different types of choir directors. There are those who spend most of their time complaining about the lack of singers or other inadequacies in their choir and are either too lazy to do anything about it ro resign themselves to their lot.

The third class of choir directors are those who, having had excellent musical training in all phases of the work, except their choir to grow because of their musical achievements—a sort of a crutch with very definite limitations.

The second kind of choir directors often achieve surprising results. They know and understand people and are willing to pay the price of success in hard work and genuine, sincere interest in their singers.

One of the biggest jobs in building a choir lies in the realm of "human relations." What do you know about this most important factor? Have you won the respect and admiration of those who sing for you and of those who listen? Have you ever honestly studied the matter of "human relations" with someone who knows, or have you taken any kind of a course in this most important subject? If you have a good working knowledge of this subject, are you constantly putting your knowledge into operation?

This is a tremendous subject and lack of space forbids more than just a hint or two. First, let me say the human conduct and behavior of your choir members is not predictable but their human reaction is. You as a choir director have it in your power to control the emotions of your singers almost at will. You can cause your people to become elated over your presence or you can cause them to become elated when you are out of their presence. Learn how to obtain a positive response to your presence among them, for when they respond negatively, they close their minds against everything you attempt to do.

The finest thing about all of this for the director is that he finds his own Christian graces being developed through constant exercise. What is more important to a growing choir than a director who radiates the enthusiasm and personality of Christ? Such a man or woman will grow. You will find that your choir will rise only as high as you have risen yourself.

In addition, these potatoes offer vitamins B and C, some minerals, and high energy or fuel value because of their starch and sugar.

Jacquet and Sarah To Get 50% of Half Million Smackers!

Fifty per cent of half-million dollars will go to Illinois Jacquet and Sarah Vaughn, at the close of a theatre tour of 63 cities.

Jacquet and Vaughn is giving the music business one of the greatest hypos it has had in a long time, and the grosses being turned in by the two great stars are convincing even the most cynical concert and dance promoters that even a general business slump can't hurt a hot box office attraction.

Top Show Is Held Over at Downbeat Club on Central

And when I reached into my briefcase for swooning salts and found I'd left them at home, I simply fell into a dead faint. That's after hearing a gal name Bobbe Caston sing.

The lights were soft. The guys and gals were an appreciative audience, and I was finishing my second scotchandsoda with my sister, Tootsie. We were at the Downbeat club, on 42nd and Central avenue, where the lovely Miss Caston is being held over for a second week, along with Joe Lutcher's famous Capitol recording orchestra.

Miss Caston chirps with class, and the Downbeat club management went to great expense in building a terrific show around the tall, shapely, and personable Miss Caston.

In Joe Lutcher's band, the Downbeat club can boast of having the brand of rhythm you'd literally walk a mile to hear. Musical arrangements of the Lutcher crew are subdued; the sax phrasing is effective and listenable.

On hand nitely, to keep things moving along at a merry musical and entertainment clip is the ever-popular Bill Day, who turns in a neat job as master of ceremonies.

It's a good show at the Downbeat, and here at last is a band on Central avenue whose playing doesn't give you cauliflower ears!

NEW YORK CITY — Erksine Hawkins initial effort as a producer has proven very successful. The famous bandleader, who just closed his own stage show at the Paramount, has been receiving wires from the managers of vaudeville houses thruout the country asking if he would bring the full Paramount stage show to their theatres intact.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I have never been a resident of your state, but my late mother and two sisters were. I still have other relatives there, and have made nine trips to your city.

I enjoy reading the EAGLE, because of your stand for the fellow lowest down, so to speak. I enjoy so very much reading your article, "The Sidewalk", from time to time as well as your timely editorials.

Then, too. I was glad to read the write-up concerning a certain lady editor and her association with the son of a former Houstonian. When reading about her and what Westbrook Pegler had to say about her in a complimentary way, I thought she was a member of his race. But when the truth was told — well, "birds of a feather will flock together." No wonder her tirades against her own people.

May you keep up the good work, and may God bless you and your work.

I am, Yours truly,
Rev. John H. Watkins.

EAGLE Class Gets Results

Senator Glen Taylor to Tour California for Progressives

Senator Glen Taylor, Progressive Party vice-presidential candidate and running mate of Henry A. Wallace, will make a whirlwind tour of California just before election day, Elinor Kahn, State director of the party announced this week.

Senator Taylor and his party will fly to Los Angeles from a mass meeting in Alberquerque, N. M., arriving at Burbank airport on October 27. Following a tour of key areas in Los Angeles, the senator will speak at a mass meeting in Ventura at the Junior College Auditorium on Wednesday night, October 27.

The Ventura appearance will be the first of several in the 11th Congressional District in support of the candidacy of Cole Weston, IPP leader who is the sole opponent to incumbent Republican Ernest K. Bramblett.

On Thursday, October 28, Senator Taylor will appear at a noon day plaza rally in Santa Barbara and will lunch with campaign leaders there. That evening he is scheduled to appear at a mass meeting in San Luis Obispo, also in the 11th Congressional District.

Friday, October 29 will find the Senator back in the 8th Congressional district campaigning in Santa Clara and San Mateo counties with his brother, Paul Taylor, IPP candidate for congress. Paul Taylor alone opposes the present Republican incumbent John Z. Anderson who like his fellow-Republican Bramblett won the Democratic nomination as well at the June 1 primary.

Appearances in the 8th district will include one at noon in San Jose, an afternoon appearance in Palo Alto, and an evening meeting in the north end of the district, probably at San Bruno. The tour will end with Senator Taylor's brief appearance at a rally in San Francisco. Full details on the schedule will be announced shortly.

Blood for Israel to Support Red Cross

Fully cognizant of the importance of the Los Angeles Red Cross' community and regional blood service program, leaders of the steering committee of the Blood for Israel project have pledged all-out support to the mammoth project.

With the discontinuance of the collection of blood for Israel, effective the first of the month, the committee and leaders of Jewish organizations in charge informed Chapter Manager Bowen McCoy of the plan to "refer all donors to the Red Cross blood service center at 925 South Western Avenue."

Ike Greenberg—who was the initial donor for the Blood for Israel project—scored another "first" when he visited the Red Cross center to launch the new arrangement of blood giving.

POWER

Power is a great thing in the physical world, for we need power to do things. The house from which our electric is manufactured represents how necessary power is.

We often come very short in our lives of attaining our own ideals, how feeble our grasp has been because we failed to realize that the power needed was within, all we needed to do was to bring it out.

All the longing and desires in our heart, can be brought to the surface if we just heed this power and give it a little encouragement. We should not deplore our own weakness for we are given the privilege to apply the power necessary. Prof. Herman is willing to help you, why not write him today.

E. B.—Will this person keep his promise?

ANSWER—Probing into the matter I find that this man you speak of is married, and I don't vision him fulfilling the promises he made to you sometime ago. It is obvious from his actions that you should interest yourself in someone who is free to give you the companionship and love you desire.

* * *

S. T.—Dear Prof Herman: You have given me advice before which has helped me in so many ways. Once again I find it very necessary as I am faced with a difficult problem. What should I do?

ANSWER—I am of the opinion that you will be able to solve this problem much easier if you will stop worrying. Much happiness lies ahead for you and your family; so look to the future.

P. O.—Will we be able to make a success of our marriage?

ANSWER—As the head of the family you should show more interest in your wife and assume more of the responsibility. As long as she has to put forth more effort than you, there will always be friction and confusion. I feel that she has been very faithful to you in every respect and if you will not try to correct the prevailing situation that now exist your marriage will terminate.

I. M.—Who is the author of "O Captain, My Captain" and to whom was it written?

ANSWER—Walt Whitman was the author of "O Captain, My Captain," and it was written to Abraham Lincoln.

California is producing 94 percent of the total national crop, with raisin varieties taking the lead as usual.

FEDERAL JURY'S PERSECUTION POINTED OUT

"We demand the immediate disbanding of the illegally constituted Federal Grand Jury ostensibly investigating alleged crimes of Federal employees," said Ann Shore, Executive Director, Civil Rights Congress. "This Grand Jury is not investigating crimes but is persecuting those called to testify," she said.

"This latest act is another attempt to destroy the constitutional rights of a minority political party, the Communist Party, and all constitutional guarantees, by Truman and his hatchetman, Tom Clark.

"The purpose of this type of Grand Jury investigation is to force individuals to give up their basic constitutional rights of free association and freedom of conscience, or else go to jail. In other words, 'you act as an informer against your organization or you go to jail.' We are convinced that the citizens of this city will recognize that all organizations which may in the future incur the disfavor of this or that official can be smashed if witnesses can be forced to become stool pigeons or face imprisonment.

"Such an obvious attempt to do by legal trickery, what no one has been able to accomplish through due process in the past—that is, smash a legal political party—will undoubtedly be met by the outraged protests of thousands of Los Angeles citizens.

"Our organization will defend legally the latest victims of witchhunting; we will also inform the citizens of what this means to them and urge that they protest to Attorney General Clark, President Truman, and to United States Attorney James Carter in Los Angeles."

The SIDEWALK

By C. A. B.

This week I got by way of my Uncle Sam a neatly sealed envelope containing three buttons of the Dixie presidential candidate, Strom Thurmond, wrapped in an editorial. That is, it is written editorial style, but under the caption "What Does the Negro Really Want?"

It is a loosely thrown together vitriolic criticism of the Negro people's struggle for civil rights.

The verbal tirade is from the pen of one David Lee, publisher of the Telegram at Newark, New Jersey. However, the package was mailed from Los Angeles.

David Lee is just about the worst political scavenger remaining in the gallery of Uncle Toms.

No investigation is needed to discover who is hiring Mr. Lee, and to understand his mission of corruption and deception.

David Lee is a ready tool in the hands of a gang of political Fascists, seeking to get control of the government and sink the American people into an abysmal state of fear, depression, and the ultimate end—slavery.

I know why your Los Angeles friends sent me your editorial dribble, Mr. Lee. To you and to them my answer is, "I don't scare easily."

My introduction to the KKK was more than twenty years ago. I know the Klan doesn't like my kind. And I don't like its gospel of white supremacy and tactics of intimidation practiced against me and my kind.

Your question: "What Does the Negro Want?" You, yourself answer by asking this other question: Is he in search of some imaginary Utopia, a land of milk and honey, void of poverty, sacrifice, racial differences, and prejudice?

No, the Negro wants bread and meat, the same kind eaten by the bosses from whom you accept filthy fucre to smear and malign that segment of the American people described as Negro.

When you say that the average Negro leader goes around with a chip on his shoulder, that the leaders are not sincere or consistent in their struggle for freedom from fear, prejudice, discrimination and segregation, you are not speaking the truth. And you know it.

Starting with the Negro churches, newspapers and businessmen, down to the last penny a man owns in any business or enterprise, you describe this as Jimcro.

Your analysis and summary of the Negroes' place in the American life, is that it is of his own making or planning. He has segregated churches, schools, newspapers, etc., etc. He is denied facilities and accommodations in hotels, cafes, swimming pools, dance halls, even churches, because this is what he wants, you say.

You forget to speak about lynching, the poll tax, and the fact that Negroes have been killed for trying to vote. Do you mean that they want these, too. or did your bosses tell you to forget to

Oppose Rea's Appointment

Mayor Bowron's community redevelopment program which will vitally affect all minority citizens was announced this week, and with it the names of the men who will carry out the rehabilitation in connection with it.

One of the Mayor's appointments, Philip M. Rea, was objected to by numerous minority forces, and Tuesday evening, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People met at the call of Association President Thomas L. Griffith to formally draw up a protest to the Mayor, and ask him to withdraw Rea's name from the list of appointees.

The objection to Rea is his devotion to restrictive convenants, a device that has been outlawed by the United States Supreme Court. Because the covenants were based on racial differences, and because they were directed

Taylor Says Progressives Helped Peace

The Progressive Party vice presidential candidate Glenn Taylor, flew into Los Angeles Wednesday afternoon and he made a brief stop at the Town House for a press conference before embarking on a last-lap speaking tour in California.

At the press conference, Taylor said there would not have been a voice for peace in the present campaign had not the Progressive Party candidates been in the field.

"The Cartel boys, who helped Hitler," he said, "are still trying to take over the world's economy.

"How can anyone expect Russia to trust us so long as we have Forrestal and Dulles, the men who helped bring Hitler to power, in our State Department?" he asked.

Klan Threat To Judge In Vote Hearing

CHARLESTON, S. C.—Ku Klux Klan pressure was put on the United States Judge who earlier this year ruled that Negroes have a right to participate in South Carolina's Democratic Primary elections. The Klan demanded 'a favorable decision for the white people,' in an injunction hearing in the case brought by an Aiken County Democratic County Democratic Committeeman.

Judge J. Waties Waring, who elected to hear the petition without a jury, made public a letter he received post marked at Columbia, South Carolina, and signed, 'Knights of the Ku Klux Klan members,' in red ink. One paragraph read:

"We again trust that we will have your cooperation in

Oklahoma Student Hits School Bias

NEW YORK, —"It looks as though I may become an old woman before I become a lawyer," declared Mrs. Ada L. Sipuel Fisher before the 17th annual New York Herald Tribune Forum held last week at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria.

Mrs. Fisher, who has been unsuccessful in her thirty-four month attempt to secure a legal education in Oklahoma, is denied admission to Oklahoma University's law school solely because she is a Negro.

Stating that her decision to study law was "tantamount to a fight against segregation," Mrs. Fisher reviewed her case, which has been carried by attorneys to the District and Supreme Courts of Oklahoma and the United States Supreme Court.

Election Hope:

HENRY WALLACE VS. WALL STREET IS VOTE CHOICE

The choice in this election is between Wall Street and Henry A. Wallace. A vote for Wall Street is a dingerous vote—a wasted vote. A vote for Wallace is a vote for peace, and a vote for peace is a vote for life and liberty—such a vote is never wasted.

This election is not a horse race. It is not a question of picking a sure winner. The question is backing the issue, and the most vital issue today is Peace.

No matter how loudly Truman now trumpets "gluttons of privilege" at Wall Street, the record of his 13 steps brands his spoutings of today as rank hypocrisy.

ASK YOURSELF! Why doesn't Truman come clean—stop talking about the 80th Congress — and take steps which do not depend on Congress? Fire the Wall Streeters out of his cabinet! Apply the Sherman Anti-Trust Laws to Big Business! Order an end to diserimination in the Army! Stop playing "footsie" with Franco Spain! Bust General Clay to a corporal for freeing 371 Nazis like Ilse Koch.

In the light of hapless Harry's record, free Democrats who revere the memory of F. D. R. cannot vote for Truman.

Neither can free Democrats vote for Dewey. Dewey is Wall Street's baby-faced buccaneer—no different than Truman. Behind Dewey stands the great engineer of the last depression. THE APPLE-SELLING GENIUS, HERBERT HOOVER. Behind Dewey stands the architect of Truman's foreign policy, monopoly's lawyer, John Foster Dulles, the bi-partisan advisor who spoke so highly of Hitler and Mussolini, and even to this day is on the payroll of the Nazi cartelists.

There is no choice between the Wall Street apple-polisher Truman and the Wall Street apple-advertiser Dewey.

Free Democrats, fearless and unafraid, must act and vote their real convictions. Free Democrats do not frighten by threats, terror or intimidation. Free Democrats together with the great body of silent voters not recorded by the polls will use the sanctity of their secret ballot to express their deep hatred against Wall Street and war by marking their ballots for the one and only man with the courage and vision to carry forward the good fight of F. D. R.—Henry A. Wallace. He is the one and only candidate who gives voters a choice, who fights for you, your home, your rights, your wages, for your pursuit of happiness and peace.

He Gave All For Freedom

Mr. Joseph Mitchell was granted an interlocutory judgment of divorce from his wife Lillie, last Friday, by Judge Thurmond Clarke.

Attorney Earl C. Brody was questioning his client, Mr. Mitchell, about the $1,000 and the household furnishings that comprised the community property of the parties, when Mitchell turned to Judge Clark and said, "Judge, that woman can have all the money and the furniture, if you will just give me my freedom. I can't live with her any longer and my freedom is worth more than the stuff we accumulated while we were married."

The judge acceded to Mr. Mitchell's wishes. The wife got the money and furniture; Mr. Mitchell got his much desired freedom.

Court Orders Payment in Bob Hall Case

After a spirited contest Monday in Department 8A of the Superior Court, Judge Margaret P. Harpstrite, presiding, Bob Hall, noted sportsman and landowner was ordered to pay the sum of $20 per week for the support of what is claimed to be his illegitimate child, Leta Frances Hall, and $200 attorney fees to Attorney Walter L. Gordon, Jr.

The suit, brought by Mrs. Frances McKelvey, mother of the child, was the outcome of Hall's failure to recognize the child, Leta Frances, and to contribute to her support, and pay for hospitalization and medical care incident to her birth.

Mr. Hall attempted to prove that despite the fact that he had vast land holdings, all of his property was heavily mortgaged. However, Attorney Gordon was able to discredit this statement to the Court. He further attempted to show that he was not the father of the child and that his only contact with Mrs. McKelvey was when she was a servant in his home, and that he had no relationships other than that of employer—employee. The trial date to establish paternity has not yet been set.

Civil Rights

REQUEST NEW INQUEST IN BURNS CASE

In view of two important events which have taken place since the handing down of the Coroner's Jury verdict in the Herman Burns' case on September 13, the Justice for Burns Citizens Committee has requested Coroner Ben H. Brown, in a letter written this week, to order a new inquest held on the killing of Herman Burns "at the earliest possible moment."

Last week attorneys from the Civil Rights Congress had the body of Herman Burns exhumed from his grave. X-ray pictures proved conclusively that Burns died of a "cervical fracture"—broken neck.

The letter also pointed out that "the Coroner's Inquest held in the death of Alice Mosley on October 4, 1948 (Coroner's File No. 47157) brought a verdict which read in part " . . . death to be due to natural causes precipitated by the blow struck by R. C. Garrison while said person was attempting to rob the deceased, and we recommend that R. C. Garrison be held to an-

Equal Pay Ordered For Negro Teachers

Oklahoma City, Okla.—(G)—Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught signed the order last week to assure Negro school teachers of equal pay as the white instructors.

The order was signed against the Oklahoma City School Board and county officials, prohibiting discrimination in pay scales solely because of race.

The case was thrown into court by Emme Lee Freeman, Negro teacher at Douglas High School of this city.

The SIDEWALK

Eagle—The Sidewalk ..... mention such trivial matters?

The tragedy in your argument is this: You contend that if and when the Negro is integrated in all American life—which I contend is his due—he will not have an economic leg to stand on.

Now even though I am some 3000 miles from New Jersey, I am screaming across the deserts, plains, rivers and mountains that lie between California and New Jersey, that that state would be a healthier spot for all the people living therein if you and Parnell Thomas, head quizzer of the un-American Activities Committee, would pack up and leave.

For the first time in the history of our nation, a man running for office has come in the open and declared that our country, the United States of America, will have to settle its race question at home before it can make its voice heard in the affairs of other nations—that man is presidential candidate, Henry A. Wallace.

Your Jimcro castle must and will crumble, Mr. Lee.

Those who object to the new doctrine of Jimcro must go, preached by Henry Wallace, are up-coming Fascists in the United States and you are not one of their favorite sons. As an instrument in their hands to serve their present purpose, you will do. But, brother, when the reckoning day comes, you will be just another slave.

The fight for freedom is on the march, and the people will win.

Latest Slam At Douglas Peters Out

Attempts to intimidate the voters of the 14th Congressional District out of voting for incumbent Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas petered out so far as official action is concerned when the Board of Supervisors refused to order flying squadrons of deputy sheriffs to supervise the voting on Tuesday.

The "sympathetic ear" Grand Jury which recently gave up after several months of hunting for an excuse to indict someone after Mrs. Douglas almost walked away with the district, recommended the "supervision" idea to the board. It was rejected in favor of letters to all poll workers asking strict adherence to the rules.

Mrs. Douglas is indicated as an overwhelming victor despite last-minute smears and intimidation attempts.

Mrs. Owens Elected State Historian at AMW Convention

Mrs. Christeale L. Owens, well known civic worker and a loyal American War Mothers worker, was elected State Historian at the recent state convention of the AWM held in Hotel Alexandria.

This is the first time a colored woman has held an elective office in the State Chapter. Mrs. Owens first ran for fourth vice-president, but was defeated by a small margin. Undaunted she ran for state historian and was successful.

Unity and Friendship Chapters, two of the colored chapters of this city, secured the music for the memorial service held the second night of the convention. Several hundred women from all parts of the state were registered.

Ten American Citizens Cited at Night Session of Court for Refusing to Answer Questions of Grand Jury

Monday, October 25, marked a dark day on the calendar of liberty in the United States of America.

On that day fourteen persons, friends or relatives of federal employees, who had been served with subpoenas over the week-end, some of them as late as 7 o'clock Monday morning, were ordered to appear in court. Ten of them came. All ten declined to testify before the Federal Grand Jury after Federal Judge Pierson M. Hall denied a motion to quash the subpoenas.

They refused to testify during the day sessions of the court. They again refused when a special night session was called. The questions they refused to answer the Grand Jury had to do with the names of county officers of the Communist Party, the table of organization of the Party, and whether or not they knew Ned Sparks and Vincent Russo.

The ten stood firm in refusing to answer each question, standing upon their Constitutional rights to do so, and they were shuttled back and forth from Judge Hall's courtroom to the room where the Grand Jury was sitting.

At one point in the proceedings of the night session, six police officers of the city of Los Angeles, and six county deputy sheriffs, marched into the courtroom. Judge Hall was visibly annoyed. "Do I hear any chains rattling?" he inquired.

A deputy responded lamely that there were no chains, but Judge Hall refused to be placated. "I do not know who is responsible for the presence of these men here," he said. "I didn't send for them."

The special grand jury session was convened suddenly upon the arrival here from Washington of a special assistant to Attorney General Tom Clark—U.S. Attorney James M. Carter.

Council for the ten are Attorneys John McTernan and Ben Margolis.

The ten who were brought before the Grand Jury are: Mrs. Margaret Noble, Henry Steinberg, Frank E. Alexander, Mrs. Dorothy B. Forest, Phillip Bock, Mrs. Miriam Sherman, Mrs. Delphine Smith, Ben Dobbs, Wesley Bissey, and Samuel H. Kasenowitz.

Vandalism Grows Worse In Compton

A wave of vicious vandalism, marked by fire, the marring of property with tar and black paint, and the flooding of cellars and rooms in unoccupied homes purchased by Negroes in the Compton section, is being investigated by the California EAGLE.

Beginning with an isolated incident or two, the vandalism has taken on alarming proportions in recent days, and there is every evidence that an organization, seemingly immune to the law, is responsible for the attacks.

Appeals to the police have been to no avail, and criticism is being leveled against Mayor Bowron for his refusal to instruct the police to protect minority citizens rather than subject them to the intimidation they have been enduring for the past several months.

So bitter is the campaign of hate in Compton, attacks have been made on the homes of white families who have sold property to Negroes, or who do not object to Negroes buying and living in the community.

Attempts will be made to have the police act, and some form of protest will be made to higher sources to forestall what will become serious disorder unless it is checked, according to leaders in the community.

Diphtheria Drive Enters Second Week

Los Angeles' second week of its annual diphtheria immunization drive began Monday with 21 schools slated for protective inoculations, Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, said today. Last week, the first of the drive, saw 7,500 youngsters immunized against diphtheria, Dr. Uhl reported. The goal this year is 90,000, he said.

Wallace Blasts 'Cold War' And Lop-Sided Opinion Polls

NEW YORK—Madison Square Garden was the scene of one of the most memorable political rallies in its history Tuesday night when Henry Wallace spoke at the final progressive Party rally for this area.

Paul Robeson, singer, actor and associate director of the Progressive Party presidential campaign, sang, and spoke. The audience broke into a bedlam of applause with Robeson's appearance and the rafters in the old fight palace echoed with the cheers of the overflow crowd.

Stanley Isaacson, former Manhattan Borough President, was also a speaker.

In one of the most effective speeches of his campaign, Wallace blasted the war-mongers, and declared it is the Progressive Party that forced the calling off of the 'cold war.'

He repeated his oft-made assertion that the Progressive Party is in business to stay, and he promised that the action of hi party would force the Republicans and the Democrats to merge under one banner.

Mr. Wallace ridiculed the one-sided poll reports and he said the election results would show how distorted their figures are.

Hahn Supports Proposition 14

Councilman Kenneth Hahn, of the 8th District, who believes in better housing for the citizens of Los Angeles, recommends that Proposition No. 14 regarding housing be passed by the people of California.

Councilman Hahn, who is chairman of the Public Health and Welfare Committee of the City Council of Los Angeles, states that there is approximately 162,000 people who are ill-housed or not in adequate sanitary homes in the Los Angeles area.

Poor housing, declared the Councilman, breeds crime, delinquency, disease and other misfortunes that normally would not exist, and the public has to pay for these in taxation through the jails, reformatories and other institutions.

Oil Executive Favors Proposition Thirteen

"There is no reason to penalize people who live in metropolitan areas by depriving them of an equal voice in the government of our state," John B. Elliott, civic leader and independent oil company executive, said in urging a Yes vote on Proposition 13 for reapportionment of the State Senate on a population basis.

Progressive Party Statement Says Wallace Will Not Quit

Commenting on published reports that Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas had urged Henry Wallace to withdraw from the presidential race in favor of Harry Truman to serve the cause of world peace (San Francisco, Oct. 20), the Los Angeles County Committee of the Independent Progressive Party made the following statement through Bert Witt, Executive Vice-Chairman.

"Hary Truman is due for such a licking come November 2nd that he ought to withdraw so as not to cut into Henry Wallace's vote. That would constitute Truman's only significant contribution to world peace.

"Were Henry Wallace in the White House, the plan to send Supreme Court Justice Vinson to Moscow would never have been vetoed by generals and bankers representing special interests in the cabinet. There would be no brokerage houses with front men in Washington protecting private investments at the expense of world understanding and peace.

"We hope Mrs. Douglas will return soon to her own district in Los Angeles to continue personal participation in her own difficult campaign for re-election. Because of the tremendous support for Wallace in the 14th District, Mrs. Douglas will better serve her own re-election by hitting her reactionary opponent hard on the issues of prices, housing and civil rights.

"If the Democrats are already trying to alibi Truman's impending disaster by blaming Wallace and the Progressive Party, they are barking up the wrong tree.

"Let them instead inquire why Truman has not strengthened his election chances by disavowing his expenditure of half a billion tax dollars in Greece, where there are now reportedly more anti-royalist guerillas than when he started two years ago.

"Let them inquire why Truman has allowed the Impor-Export Bank to pigeonhole the pending $100,000,000 loan to the State of Israel which he, himself, promised that nation last May.

"Let them inquire why Truman has not repudiated the moves of his own State Department and of several Democratic congressmen to reverse a UN decision of 1946 and welcome fascist Franco's Spain back into our friendship list, complete with money and guns from America.

"Let them inquire why Truman has refused to call for the defect of the dozens of Democratic congressmen who voted for the Taft-Hartley Law, since Truman claims he is interested in its repeal.

"Let them inquire why Truman attacks 'Wall Street' while his show is on the road, and then rushes back to Washington to continue appointing associates of Dillon, Read, Inc., and of Brown Brothers, Harriman and other international investment and banking houses, to key government jobs.

"For none of these failures and refusals can Truman blame Congress. He could have done them by himself.

"Harry Truman threw this election beginning three years ago. It is unfortunate that Mrs. Douglas, whom we are supporting for reelection in the 14th Congressional District because of her own fine record, does not yet realize how strongly the special interests control the Democratic Party and its presidential candidate.

"Not only will Mr. Wallace not withdraw, but we are redoubling our campaign in his behalf, with national network radio programs almost every night until Election Day. And thereafter we shall go on building the Progressive Party into an ever stronger and more effective movement for peace, security and abundance."

These totals top by more than 20,000 the previous influx peaks of 760,389 cars and 2,111,988 passengers established during the similar months of 1947's record travel year.

Junior League Will Crown 'West View Queen' Nov. 11

The popularity contest currently sponsored by the West View Junior League ends Nov. 11, with the crowning of the "West View Queen" at a coronation ball at the Avodon Ballroom. Benny Carter and his orchestra will furnish the music and many guest artists will help to make this a gala occasion. All proceeds of the affair will go to help complete construction of West View Hospital, Los Angeles' first inter-racial, non-sectarian, non-profit hospital.

During the contest prizes have been awarded every two weeks to the contestant who raised the largest amount of money during the preceding period. These prizes were contributed by businessmen in the community. At the report meeting on October 8th, a heart-shaped locket, contributed by the Howard Diamond Company at 555 S. Broadway, was won by Miss Ophelia Huff; and on October 21 a bottle of Bracelet perfume, contributed by Allums Drug Store at Vernon and Central, was won by Miss Winnie Pumphrey. Earlier winners of prizes were Mesdames Geraldine Ray and Olimptha Spencer.

Miss Jewell Lockett, president of the Junior League, announced this week that "it is still not too late to enter the contest and every contestant still has a chance to win." Information may be secured and tickets purchased at West View office, 5131 S. Main, Century 2-6717.

FRANCES WILLIAMS TO SPEAK ON PROGRESSIVE STAND AGAINST BIAS

Frances E. Williams, IPP candidate for Assembly in the 63rd District, will be the speaker at an outdoor campaign rally to be held Saturday, October 30 at 8 p.m. at Arlington and Jefferson. Miss Williams will speak on the stand of the Independent Progressive Party against all forms of racial, religious or national discrimination. In particular, she will discuss the acton taken on the recent cross-burning in the community and against future acts of intimidation.

Also scheduled on the program is Maynard J. Omerberg, IPP Congressional candidate in the 15th District, who will speak on the most recent attack on civil rights—the imprisonment of 10 people in Los Angeles who refused to answer Grand Jury questions on the ground that the investigation was political in nature.

The street meeting will also provide free movies, singing and dancing.

Have Fun But Be Careful Too

Witches, fire breathing dragons and boiling pots of potent brew are all traditionally associated with Halloween observance. Past experience has indicated that over-realistic imitation of these imaginary characters and rituals can produce very real tragedies in the form of painful and disfiguring burns or serious property loss.

Halloween celebrants, old and young, are urged to avoid combustible costumes and decoration and to use extreme care in order to prevent fire from candle-lighted pumpkins and mantle displays, bonfires, and all other open flames.

Election Films

With a general national election just around the corner the next program in the series of documentary films being presented at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park ,the theme of which is "Elections," should prove to be an unusuelly interesting one, according to Museum officials. It will be given Friday, October 29 at 8 p.m.

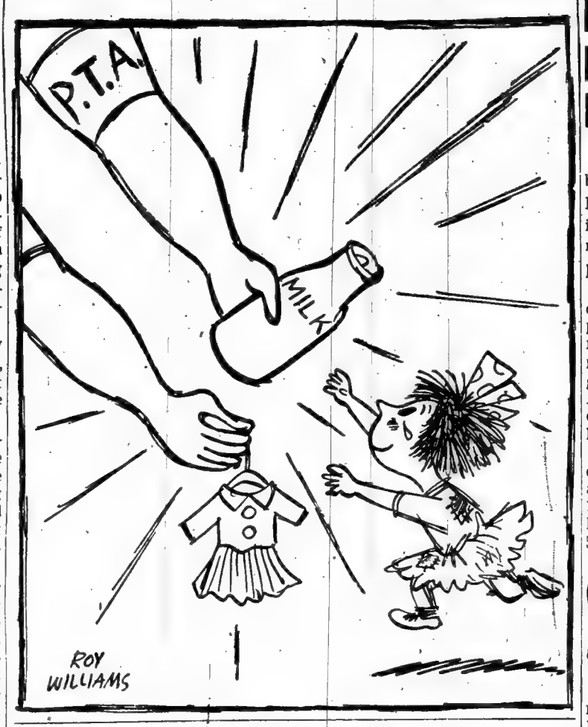
NAACP Board Dispute Over Secretary

A dispute between the local NAACP president and the Executive Secretary that came into the open recently with the publication of the secretary's side of the controversy in an out-of-town weekly, came up for an airing at the meeting of the Association's Board of Directors Tuesday night.



Labelled internal politics by neutral observers on the Board, the controversy hinges on what is and what is not the Executive Secretary's duty.

Involved in the dispute are letters written by supporters of the secretary's point of view to the New York office, complaining about the local president, and letters addressed to the president that were exposed to forces supporting the secretary.

It was somewhat difficult for observers to determine just how the battle lines were drawn since supporters on both sides are supposed to have crossed their line to take pot hots at their comrades-in-arms. It is all confusing to the Board members who feel the drive for membership is suffering because of the machinations of individuals who seek to control the organization.

Clarke Is Promoted

Polio Nurses Needed At L.A. General

Los Angeles Red Cross has been requested by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to recruit 25 "replacement" nurses for assignment on the polio wards of General Hospital.

"Scores of the nurses who have come to Los Angeles from all parts of the United States must now return to accept commitments interrupted by the emergency appeal for aid here in Los Angeles," Miss M. Louise Floyd, director of nursing service for Los Angeles chapter, stated.

Registered nurses who can accept duty in the polio wards are asked to contact Red Crnss at 1200 South Vermont Avenue in Los Angeles, phone Fltzroy 5261, Ext. 68.

Open House Planned At Hollywood High

Views and previews of the next generation will be yours at Hollywood High School where DAP's will hold their annual open house extravaganza featuring their all-year activities highlighted by their midget football teams, social events, and summer and winter camp at Valcrest. This program will start at 8:30 p.m., Friday, October 29th.

The DAP program sponsored by the Los Angeles Police Department was given its original impetus in 1942 by Mayor Fletcher Bowron. Since that time it has grown to a membership of over 7,000, and is considered as the outstanding youth project undertaken by any police department.

Health Officer Urges Passage Of Proposition K For Safety

A warning of grave dangers to health was made to the people of Los Angeles as local organizations issued resolutions supporting the city sewer bond issue on the election ballot to wipe out conditions at the disease-laden beaches.

Seven diseases, including polio, were listed as possible dangers of the inadequate sewer system now contaminating Southern California beaches.

Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, in a strong statement urging passage of Proposition K on the November 2 ballot, called the polluted beach waters the "world's greatest cesspool."

"These filthy waters will never be purified until the Hyperion sewer plant is completed, and until the voters make that possible, the beaches will remain potential sources of polio, typhoid and paratyphoid fevers, amoebic and bacillary dysenteries, as well as skin and eye infections," Dr. Uhl said.

Now is the time of year to have ignition wires checked on cars, advises the Automobile Club of Southern California. When sparkplug wires look cracked, have them replaced as damp and rainy weather causes hard starting.

The poinsettia plant is highly sensitive to light and darkness.

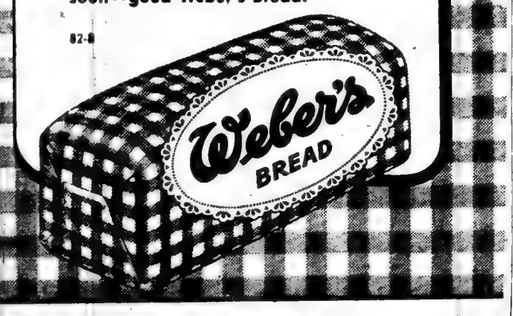
RECIPE

TAFFY APPLES



3 c. sugar
1 c. light corn syrup
2⅔ c. evaporated milk
Small Jonathan apples

Combine sugar, ⅔ cup of milk and corn syrup in top of double boiler. Stir to blend well. Heat slowly over direct heat until sugar melts, then boil to thick syrup. Add rest of milk slowly so mixture will continue to boil. Boil until mixture makes a firm ball in cold water (242°). Set pan over boiling water. Meanwhile, wash and dry apples, stick on wooden skewers. Dip apples in mixture and twirl for a smooth coating. Stand apples in meshes of cake cooler to dry. Add an additional tablespoon or two of evaporated milk if mixture gets too hard for coating.

Police Use 'Hot Sheet' Plan In War On Night Criminals

While you sleep at night, policemen from Newton Street Division watch over your family, and keep them from harm.

Every night, by using the "hot sheet" and the field interrogation procedures, your policemen apprehend criminals before they have a chance to burglarize or destroy your property.

Many times it is only a minute or two from the time he stops them till the radio tells him this particular person is wanted for some crime. Many times he may let the person go, but the information he has may tie that person to a crime not reported till later in the day.

If a law-abiding citizen is stopped, and a field interrogation made, he will understand that it is to protect his family and his neighbors. Only the criminal is afraid of, and resents the field interrogation made by the policemen on patrol.

The field interrogation is made on a form issued to each policeman to obtain standardized information on those he suspects. He stops only those who in his opinion have committed a crime.

The "hot-sheet" is a daily list of wanted cars, kept up to the minute by the police radio, on which each officer keeps a constant check. When you see police stop a car for no apparent reason, you know that car is similar to one on the hot-sheet.

Propositions Opposed By NAACP Head

Propositions 6 and 15 were strongly opposed today by Dr. Carlton Goodlett, president, San Francisco Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Said Dr. Goodlett:

"My examination of Propositions 6 and 15 convinces me that there is no such excuse for these two measures which would do such grievous damage to our fishing industry, throw many thousands out of work, and raise the price of an important food at a time when many working families are having trouble making ends meet.
